When during a period of one year all herds selling breeding stock have been validated and 90 per cent of the sows, boars and stags presented for slaughter have been tested for brucellosis and all herds found to be infected have been tested negative or sold for slaughter the state will be recognized as a validated brucellosis-free state.

Known swine concentration points have been contacted and assigned the tattoo codes they are to use in identifying slaughter swine. Technicians have been employed to collect and test blood samples from the sows, boars and stags slaughtered in the major Minnesota packing plants.

Custom slaughter plants are being contacted and asked to collect blood samples from sows, boars and stags slaughtered in their plants. Known owners of "herds selling breeding swine" will be contacted in January informing them of the necessary steps they must take to validate their herds.

Past experience of the state livestock sanitary board in swine brucellosis testing indicates that the number of infected herds should be very small. Cooperation of the pork producer, transporting agents, concentration points, slaughter establishments and the government agencies should result in the eradication of swine brucellosis in a relatively short time.

South St. Paul Stockyard Has Year Of Growth

South St. Paul stockyard enjoyed a year of growth in 1973 and expanding services and new facilities at the market prompt expectation of another progressive year in 1974.

South St. Paul receipts in 1973 at 2,667,382 head were five per cent over 1972. Significantly the growth occurred during a period of reduced slaughter nationally, a period of government intervention and resulting sharp price fluctuations. Again South St. Paul showed as a volume leader ranking second nationally, about 20,000 head behind South St. Paul's sister market at Sioux City.

A computerized weighing facility has been installed in the livestock sales pavillion. Operational since September the electronic weighing-video display system is the first of its kind in Minnesota.

Buyers now know the average weight of animals in the ring before the auction begins. The entire auction ring serves as the scale platform. The new system includes a visual display board simultaneously providing buyer and seller gross weight, number of head and average weight per head for livestock on the platform.

Once the selling price has been determined the entire transaction on the sale ticket is publicly displayed through the use of closed circuit TV camera and display screen. This unique operation eliminates possible confusion over weights, selling prices, parties to the trade and ill increase the efficiency of trade at the auction. The state of Minnesota continues to provide weighmaster service at the market place.

The weighing system proves to be another successful new service provided for regional livestock producers. Since its inception in 1964 over a million head of stock and feeder cattle have been sold at the South St. Paul auction.

A new incinerator is in the process of being installed which will burn 70 tons of yard waste per day. The end product is dry ash offering convenient disposal and thus solves in large measure the solid waste disposal problem in the stockyards.

Various forms of pelleted feeds have been tested for use as holding ration for livestock within the stockyards. The new feeding method holds promise to provide adequate nutrition with minimum solid waste producton.

This past summer Metro Packing's new hog slaughter facility added dimension to the South St. Paul livestock industry. Opening of the new facility generated employment for over 200 persons and increased South St. Paul hog slaughter producton by 10,000 to 15,000 head per week.

Bridge Repair Work Will Set State Record

Largest bridge repair program in the history of the state highway system, estimated at $4,320,000, will get underway this spring, highway commissioner Ray Lappegaard has announced.

Classified as "bridge improvements", the projects are subject to bids by private contractors and represent jobs outside of regular maintenance work of highway department crews. In 1973, bridge repair contracts totaled $2,114,615. The 1972 figure was $1,191,950, and in 1971, bridge repair contracts were $1,411,006.

The 1974 bridge repair projects will involve 51 structures throughout the state and range in scope from deck resurfacing to repainting. Included is the replacement of two bridges built more than 60 years ago in Swift county.

The only two projects planned in the northwest Minnesota district are in Cass and Norman counties.

Religious Overseas Aid Feeds Hungry Kids

The haunting beauty of this child's eyes would have dimmed--then dulled from hunger--and the youngster might have died--if help had not come from one of America's three great faiths--Protestant, Catholic or Jewish.

Each year the three faiths conduct a national symbolic appeal together via press, television and radio while raising funds separately in their own places of worship. Millions of needy children and grown-ups overseas are helped year-around by Church World Service (Protestant), Catholic Relief Services and the United Jewish Appeal.

You can help through your place of worship. These three appeals are, respectively, the Protestant "One Great Hour of Sharing," the "American Catholic Overseas Aid Fund," and the United Jewish Appeal.

Unemployment Rate Rises In December 1973

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for December was five per cent, up 0.4 of a percentage point from November but 0.3 of a percentage point below December a year ago, commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the Minnesota department of employment services reported recently.

The department of employment services, formerly known as the department of manpower services, operates a no-fee state employment service and administers the unemployment compensation program.

Cushing said the Minnesota rate for December was slightly above the national rate of 4.9 per cent, up 0.2 of a percentage point from the previous month.

The number of unemployed rose from 75,400 in November to 84,800 in December, an increase of 12.5 per cent, Cushing said. This compares with an average November-to-December increase of 4,400 or 6.6 per cent for the previous five-year period.

"Although the energy crisis contributed to this increased unemployment, the exact impact cannot be gauged accurately," Cushing added.

During December, nonagricultural wage and salary employment decreased 9,500 workers or about 0.7 of a percentage point from November. Manufacturing showed a net decrease of 3,500; nonmanufacturing categories, a decrease of 6,000.

Construction industries employment declined more than 9,000 due to colder weather, which closed down many projects. However, this decrease was partly offset by a net increase of 3,000 in wholesale and retail trades.

Although nonagricultural wage and salary employment was down from November, it was up 33,000 over December a year ago. The most significant increases were in service (14,000), trade (7,700) and government (6,600).

The rise in Government employment was concentrated in local government as State government employment declined and Federal employment remained stable.

The average weekly wage of production workers in manufacturing was $178.87 for 41.7 hours of work at $4.36 an hour, up $2.94 from November and $9.18 from December, 1972.

MPCA Requires Reports On Any Waste Discharge

Failure by Rochester city officials to report to the Minnesota pollution control agency (MPCA) on the escape of raw sewage from a city sewer line to a nearby creek has prompted a reminder from agency officials that all such incidents must be immediately reported to the MPCA.

The broken line resulted in "significant" leakage to Cascade creek beginning about last October 15, according to Willis Mattison, MPCA district representative in Rochester. Mattison said Rochester city officials apparently knew about the problem as early as October 9, but did not report it to him.

Mattison added he did not learn of the problem until October 24 when several residents called his office to complain. Mattison said he then contacted city officials and the line was repaired by November 2.

Under Minnesota law (M.S.N. 115.061), any such discharge of waste material to surface waters must be immediately reported to the MPCA, and immediate steps to minimize the problem must be taken.

On Feb. 14, 1932, Ruth Nichols, in a Lockheed "Vega", set the new world altitude record for diesel-powered planes, 19,928 feet, at Floyd Bennett Field, N.Y.

Man or Statue?

Today we see Lincoln in heroic size. He appears almost more of a statue than a man—a great figure cast in bronze, with a furrowed brow and solemn countenance.

Yet Lincoln was a man. He walked the earth, and felt love and joy, but he knew tremendous frustration and almost insurmountable sorrow. He prayed, earnest and effectively.

Throughout each crisis in his life, and there were many, he was sustained by faith. God seemed close to him, and he turned to Him often. He didn't pause to think about whether he'd go to church or not. He went.

Do you?

Test Programs On Flax Will Continue At 'U'

Flax breeding and testing programs are continuing at the University of Minnesota, St. Paul with funding from the Minnesota and South Dakota agricultural experiment stations.

This past fall it appeared that Minnesota would be without a flax research program when the U.S. department of agriculture's agricultural research service transfered its flax investigations project from the St. Paul campus to North Dakota State university, Fargo, N.D.

But, impressed with the importance of flax research, University of Minnesota officials decided to continue the project on a part-time basis as part of the state agricultural research effort. The South Dakota agricultural experiment station is helping to fund the Minnesota flax program.

University-USDA cooperative flax project was established on the St. Paul campus in 1936 with research benefits extending to neighboring states. Al Moseman, the first USDA project leader, served from 1936 to 1944 when he was transferred to Beltsville, Md., as assistant chief of the bureau of plant industry, soils and agricultural engineering. Joe O. Culbertson served as project leader and flax investigation leader for the USDA from 1944 until 1957 when he was transferred to Beltsville as assistant chief of the oilseeds and industrial crops research branch. Agronomist Verne E. Comstock, who headed the project from 1957 until this past fall, will continue the flax research at the University of Minnesota part-time.

Ten improved disease resistant varieties for the North Central region have been developed in the Minnesota program, starting with Biwing in 1943. Norstar, named in 1969, was the latest release. New rust resistant varieties are being developed at Minnesota to help meet the threat of new flax rust races discovered last fall. These races attack all but one of important commercial flax varieties available to growers in the region.

Research on genetics, physiology, seed quality, production practices and flax diseases has been part of the project. Seven master degree research projects and ten doctorate research projects have been conducted under the flax project.

Flax is made into linseed oil which is used in paints as a drying ingredient. Linseed oil-based exterior paints withstand widely varing weather and climatic conditions on several wood surfaces without premature cracking, checking or adhesion failures. Linseed oil coatings have been found effective in preventing salt solutions from entering concrete surfaces, thus protecting concrete highways. Flax straw is used for cigarette papers and linseed meal is used by some cattle feeders.

Minnesota's 1973 flax crop was slightly more than three million bushels, an increase of 74 per cent from 1972. The 1973 yield per acre of 13.5 bushels compares with 11.5 in 1972. The 1972 Minnesota flax crop's value was about $9.3 million.

RRV Winter Show Schedules Family Show At Armory

"Around the World in Seven Days" has been selected as the theme for armory events at the 1974 Red River Valley Winter shows. Visitors will find that there is a particular emphasis on the arts during the first three-day segment, February 15, 16 and 17.

February 15, is set aside as Senior Citizen day with groups from up and down the Valley invited to attend a special Senior Citizen luncheon and program at the armory.

Friday evening features an 8 p.m. concert by the Grand Forks "Sweet Adelines" and the "Harmony Reunion" Barbershop Quartet, also of Grand Forks. The concert, "Around the World in Song", is open to the public at the regular Winter Shows admission fee. Armory exhibits will also be open Friday evening.

An Arts and Crafts Festival highlights events on Saturday and Sunday, February 16 and 17. Twenty-four craftsmen from Minnesota, North Dakota and Mainitoba will feature continuous demonstrations from their booths and offer a variety of handcrafted items for sale. The Festival will be open until 9:00 p.m. Saturday and will close at 7 p.m. on Sunday.

A special feature of the Arts Festival will be Frances Karlsson's One-Woman Art Show. Mrs. Karlsson is a well-known artist from Roseau, Minnesota, who describes her work as "realistic, not abstract". Her exhibit, which will be hung in the armory classroom February 15, 16 and 17, will include a number of pieces available for sale. The artist, who studied commerical art at the American Academy of Art in Chicago, will be on hand all three days and will also offer five different one-hour demonstrations.

Teen-agers will find two new events especially for them on Saturday, February 16. A teen style show by the UMC Fashion Merchandising students and the Climax high school home economics department is set for 3 p.m.; and the armory rifle range has been set up as a "Teen Center" for Youth Day participants from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Pioneer home exhibit, which was so successful last year, will be back again this year for a six-day run. Cream separating, butter churning and a variety of other pioneer crafts will be demonstrated in special shows several times each day.

A Children's Art exhibit is a new event this year and will be displayed in the armory February 15-20. Grade schools throughout the Valley have been contacted and invited to submit entries relevant to the "Around the World" theme. The drawings will be judged and ribbons awarded to the winners.

The Town and Country Art Show will be on display in the armory February 15-20. Entries will be judged and cash prizes awarded. The competition is open to both amateur and semi-professional artists in the Red River Valley. It should be noted that this Town and Country Art Show has no connection with the Minnesota Art Exhibition, which is sponsored by the University of Minnesota Extension Service. For full information and entry blanks, write Mrs. Elwood Dewhurst, Chairman, 712 North Front, Crookston, Minn. 56716.

The Women's Division of the Red River Valley Winter Shows has planned an action-packed week of events of special interest to women, children and the family. Other activities will be featured in the news media in the weeks ahead. For a detailed, daily schedule of armory programs for February 15-21, contact the Red River Valley Winter Shows office, Box 402, Crookston, MN 56716.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

Caring for people seems to be the trademark of the 70's. Slogans are everywhere telling us to care for our neighbor. "Give the United Way", "Ely United because We're Friendly!", "Give a Hoot, Don't Pollute!", "Fight Cancer with a check-up and a check". The list is endless and I have mentioned no word from those who "care" the most. I'm thinking of the government employee, whether politician or civil servant who spends entirely too much of his time and effort thinking of ways to help us. Here the list really is endless. The problem is too much money to spend. The cause is a willing politician and a selfish and a gullible public.

At the present time health care is facing total government takeover. Some who have paid large medical bills will say it's about time, and I agree the bills are too high. The bills, however, if everyone is to receive the medical care Washington wants to give him, will be something else. Advertising by government agencies whether for the farmer or the consumer is a continual and an everyday effort. Just the cost of such "information" indicates that government will help us in every way, and if there is no demand for this help, the advertising will create the demand.

Such a plan as "Chronicare" by Hubert Humphrey is a good example. This is a plan that really cares. In fairness it must be admitted that the author is concerned about the blind, the lame, the deaf, the victim of multiple sclerosis, the terminal cancer patient, the mentally ill, etc. In this plan all the victims of a chronic disability would be covered for a total care program.

It would be a super agency paid for by federal funds and controlled by the federal agency through appointment by the President. It would set up the usual methods of control and provide for a nation-wide system of reviews and utilization evaluation. It would replace all the agencies that are now involved in all the disabilities mentioned. It sounds good and it obviously cares for people. It would be over and above federal plans that have been very costly and which have given health care to millions that could have paid for their own medical care without any worry or strain.

It resulted in increasing the costs of medical care almost overnight by over 85 per cent. How this happened is another story and a long one, but I do not believe medicare has been anything but a big failure for two simple reasons. It includes chronicare and any other socialistic method of providing free medical care.

The first reason is that the care was provided for everyone within a certain class or age group. Chronicare will do just that as it will cover everyone with a chronic ailment that is disabling. In other words it would not be subject to ability to pay.

The second reason is that the program is a federal one and subject to political power. It builds a pyramid of power for the politician and the government worker. This will bypass local and state government control and centralize power.

In my opinion the only National Health Insurance plan we need and certainly the only one we can afford is a graduated deductible plan which will protect us from catastrophic or long term illness. This should replace medicare and medicaid and it would not only be much cheaper, it would leave medicine free to take better care of the sick. It is a system that would return our country toward free enterprise and set the tone for industry in general. If medicine is socialized, other industries will gradually be involved and "Big Brother" is here to stay.

Satchmo Louie Armstrong once said that what the world needs most is a clear note. He blew more clear notes than most, but what I think he really said was, "What is most important is real love and concern for our neighbor." In spite of the barriers and problems of race, he was able to sound a philosophy of compassion and artistry that the world will not forget.

People follow a sound that is true. I remember a very honest and successful chemist asked me one day, "Is Billy Graham an honest man?" He had just been through some nerve shattering experience in his own church and he was; although a little wary, very willing to cling to a "true note". It is agreed that America has more to offer in material things than any country in history, but I believe it is also true that America has more to offer spiritually and morally than it has in things. We have a history of many steady clear notes. Looking back, this country has exported tens of thousands of Christian missionaires, teachers, and doctors whose footsteps for the most part show a straight path throughout the world. There has been a steady chorus of voices coming from Christian leaders speaking from the premise that the Bible is true and righteousness is more precious than gold. The good news is clear and strong from many pulpits.

Our secular culture is permeated with genuine effort to create better ways of showing our concern for the unfortunate. Those who volunteer their time to the United Way are impressed with the multitude of separate agencies and groups not only interested, but actually doing good for those in need. Whether it might be the Red Cross Worker taking a rest home patient to the doctor for an examination, or a volunteer group bringing "Home Delivered Meals" to shut-ins, the motivation is one of good will. Most of the leg work is done by volunteers. The adults who work with scouting do it because they feel the children need the guidance and they are paid only with satisfaction. I haven't mentioned more than a small fraction of all that is being done, but there is a steady clear ideal showing through it all—the compassion of some person for his neighbor.

Radio and TV broadcasts programs for religious groups that not only sound true, but again are based on the eternal truths found in our Christian faith. On Sundays there is a nation-wide saturation by the voices of faith in Christ, faith in doing what is right and honorable, and faith in ourselves. We still have radio stations that are exclusively dedicated to improving our spiritual life. Since it is inherant to the American way of life to preserve free speech, there are no immediate threats to this freedom. We have a country that encourages and wants to preserve what is true and eternal. There are voices of evil to be sure and they are in fierce competition with the "clear note" I think the great Satchmo had in mind. The sounds are there—it is a matter of choice which one we hear.

Legislator Goes To Attack On Anderson Fund

In a letter to Gov. Wendell Anderson recently, Rep. John W. Johnson has asked the governor to explain how his $250,000 "slush fund" or "expense fund" was accounted for on his income taxes.

According to Johnson all funds received are includable as gross income unless specifically excluded by the tax law, and it appears that this entire sum is taxable income, less allowable deductions for some legally deductible office expenses not already paid by the state.

"This money certainly cannot be passed off as a gift but, on the other hand, if this money was a gift, are you then entitled to your $250,000 'office expense' which the state does not recognize and pay?

"Calling for and supporting limits on campaign funds on one hand and freely soliciting and raising unlimited 'slush funds' for private use between campaigns on the other, appears to be the 'ideal' way to deceive the people, circumvent present laws and avoid campaign reporting reforms present or proposed. This scheme devised by you and your aide Tom Kelm must not be allowed to continue."

Johnson also questioned the propriety of public officials using their office to solicit funds for their expenses in office particularly when so many of those solicited either do business with the state, or want to, and are consequently put under undue pressure to give.

To close the "candor gap" Johnson has asked for a reply from the governor as soon as possible.

Thought For The Day

No doubt, the greatest symbol of Valentines Day, which will be celebrated next Thursday, is the figure of the heart. In a spiritual sense, the heart of man can be defined as the seat of God-consciousness. It is that part of us which enables us to be conscious of God and of our need of God.

The heart of man is described, in God's Word, as being desperately wicked and man is cited as being unaware of this fact (Jer. 17:9). Because the Psalmist David did not know what was in his own heart he asked God to cleanse him from secret faults (Psalms 19:12). In Prov. 4:23 we are admonished to "Keep our heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life."

I find myself frequently praying a prayer contained in Psalms 139:23 and 24: "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me, and know my thoughts: And see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting."

Northwest, Too!

Although no overtures have been heard regarding closing of our community colleges in northern Minnesota, the powers that be in the metropolitan area could turn their attentions from southwestern Minnesota to our area at any time.

In the southwest, the state college at Marshall has been under metro attack. The editor of the Marshall Messenger sums up the situation there in words which might well be applied to northern Minnesota. He writes as follows:

Here we go again. Southwest Minnesota State College is under atack again from voices in the metropolitan area.

Last January in his State of the State message to the legislature, Gov. Wendell Anderson cited empty classrooms and half-filled dormitories as the "newest facility in the system" and called it poor planning.

This fall, an aspiring Jack Anderson on the staff of a metro newspaper came up with an "expose" on overstaffing at Southwest and other colleges.

This week, a policy analyst for the University of Minnesota said the state should reconsider its educational policies and contemplate closing some outstate institutions.

Southwest is on his list of schools to be included in the "reconsidering" area. Thursday, he mailed a copy of his report to the Messenger Independent, but summarized a few of the salient points.

His contentions are apparently based on the fact that students attend schools near their homes; this area is suffering from a declining birth rate; high school students are not entering college at their previous rates; and the continuing attendance by students in college is not as great as it was in the 1960's.

Without actually seeing the report, it appears the smaller colleges are being pinpointed as economically unfeasible and recommended to either close or consolidate.

In the 1950's when the push started in southwestern Minnesota to have a college in the region, the term "educational void" surfaced on many occasions. The July 15, 1959 St. Paul Pioneer Press said: "Southwestern Minnesota high school graduates do not go to college at all because of a lack of college facilities within a reasonable distance."

A study by the Marshall Higher Education Committee in 1960 pointed out 24 per cent of high school graduates in our area attended college, while the state average was 37 per cent and the national 46 per cent.

Most of those attending college from the 19-county area went to Mankato State during that period. Recent figures indicate 59 per cent of the enrollment at SMSC is from the immediate 19-county area.

Schools nationwide are experiencing an enrollment decline, but for a variety of reasons including ending of the draft, desire for vocational school training and dissatisfaction with the general college curricula.

Aside from already knowing the declining enrollment factors, making adjustments in curriculum and shaving the faculty level as much as possible, the last thing needed for officials to hear is another closing scare.

Enrollment at SMSC actually rose this fall and winter quarters above previously thought levels, a point of optimism among college officials. Now it's gloom again.

The college is also not a mere diploma mill to grind out people for the job force. As one area legislator noted, it should be the basis for information regarding southwestern Minnesota, as the University is for the metro area.

Another legislator noted out-migration and cited SMSC as helping to build a sound economic base for the area. A recent history of the state will show the metro area taking increasing precedence over rural Minnesota in all matters.

The allegations of declining population being a cause for considering closing the school shores up a sometimes heard contention—there is Minnesota and there is the metro area.

It again appears the school of Metro-thought is ignoring the needs and people of the rural areas. After seeing Twin Citians fight crises of too many people, too much crime, too many problems, it would seem feasible for them to open their eyes and ears to rural Minnesota or at least let us work on our own problems without additional monkey wrenches.

Other Benefits

Following editorial is from the Grafton Record:

Many folks have questioned our expenditure of millions of dollars for our space program. "What good is it," they ask, "to launch men into space or put them on the moon? Couldn't we spend the money better back here on good old earth?"

Of course, the answer is the money is being spent right here on earth, providing jobs for thousands of workers and scientists, who in turn spend their money for necessities of life, thereby providing jobs for hundreds of thousands of others.

In addition, however, there is the factor of secondary "spinoffs" from our space research and development programs—scientific discoveries which provide very direct and material benefits to our people. Without the extreme demands and far-out requirements of space exploration, many of these discoveries might not have been made—at least, in the forseeable future.

For example, to monitor how well our astronauts rest, space research developed a miniaturized "broadcasting station" the size of a tiny pill, no bigger than a vitamin capsule. Now it is being used by the medical profession to detect and broadcast information as it travels through a person's alimentary tract. During its two day trip it can often reveal internal disorders, thus constituting a very valuable diagnostic aid.

Another electronic device was invented to solve problems of a film drive system for aerial photography. Today, the instrument, called a multiple microprobe, has been adapted for the recording of electrical activity in the brain. Medical researchers have thus been provided with a new tool to gain understanding of the complex patterns of brain response to various stimuli, which ultimately may lead to improvements in the treatment of epilepsy and various forms of mental instability.

Since communication has been a major factor in space flights, an enormous number of new discoveries have been made and it may take years to apply all of them to practical use. For example, one microelectronic, two-way radio circuit contains the equivalent of 93 separate components, but is no larger than a pencil point. From this space technology has been produced a pocket-size, highly reliable two-way radio which weighs less than 18 ounces; a valuable assist for police departments, industrial firms and others requiring high quality, portable communications.

To solve space requirements in electro-optics, a device was designed to measure only one half inch by one quarter inch by one eighth inch, yet it contains 300 glass tubes, each having a diameter less than that of a human hair. This tiny block of microsopic glass tubes, installed in a standard hearing aid microphone, greatly improves the hearing ability for those who wear hearing aids.

Many hundreds of other, similar achievements could be cited. Clearly, the interplay between our highly exotic aerospace technology and our very down-to-earth requirements of day-to-day living is paying off handsomely.

Hard To Believe

For parents of teenage youngsters who belive their children will eat almost anything, consider the questionable dining habits of a shark as noted in Thomas Helm's book entitled "Shark".

Helm states in his book that the stomach of one blue shark contained (in addition to the usual garbage and fish) two soft drink bottles, an aluminum soup kettle, a carpenter's square, a plastic cigar box, a screwtop jar partly filled with nails, a two-cell flashlight, several yards of one-fourth inch nylon rope, a rubber raincoat, a worn-out tennis shoe, and a three-foot roll of tarpaper with 27 feet of it still wound on the spool.

Although apparently authenticated, that story is still hard to believe. As one wag commented, the shark should have had a couple rolls of antacid tablets as well.

Borrowed Nonsense

A guy walked into a bar and sat down next to a rather surly looking character. After a few minutes the late-comer, hoping to strike up a conversation, asked the surly one if he wanted to hear a good joke. "Listen," the man replied, "before you tell any jokes, I want you to know that I'm half Polish and hlaf Norwegian."

"O.K.", the newcomer replied. "I'll take it real slow."

Do you know what good clean fun is? No, what good is it?

When Congress passed the law providing for year-around Daylight Savings Time last year, it did so in the expectation that the action would produce a significant savings in our nation's energy resources.

This expectation, on the basis of available evidence, was overly optimistic. The savings in consumption of electricity, according to a recent survey of utility officials, has been less than 1 per cent since the law took effect January 6. State Civil Denfense Director James Erchul believes the savings on home heating fuel will be minimal in Minnesota.

While the impact of winter DST as an energy conservation measure has been disappointing, the national time switch has caused serious safety problems for children who must go to their schools in the early morning darkness.

In Minnesota, winter DST has been blamed for the death of at least one child and the serious injury of several others. In Florida, eight children have been killed in early morning accidents since January 6. The story elsewhere is similar.

Many Minnesota schools have moved their starting times back a half hour as a safety precaution. Distribution of reflectorized strips for clothing by school officials has increased dramatically. School safety patrols have been augmented. Yet the safety problem persists.

States that fall in two time zones can, through legislative action, be exempted from winter DST. However, present regulations of the U.S. Department of Transportation give no such option to Minnesota and other states which lie in but one time zone.

It was for these reasons that I have urged the Minnesota congressional delegation to support federal legislation that provides for the repeal of year-around DST.

At the state level, I am supporting a bill in our Legislature which would memorialize Congress to approve the winter DST repeal.

The federal bill has the support of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and other congressional leaders, and I am very hopeful it will pas.

Senate Report

— by —

Senator Richard Fitzsimons
Minnesota District One

The Capitol has been a very busy place this week with very large crowds attending both committee meetings and House and Senate sessions.

On Tuesday the Minnesota Citizens Concerned for Life held an observance ceremony on the first anniversary of the supreme court decision legalizing abortion. Over 5,000 people quietly formed a slow moving circle around the Capitol to symbolize the circle of life and the concern for life. The ceremony was brief and conducted in a dignified manner in an effort to demonstrate to the legislature and the National Congress the concern for life as expressed by so many people in Minnesota.

The halls of the Capitol and the legislative office buildings have been bustling with people seeking support for and against a bill on "ban-the-can". This bill was scheduled for a vote on Friday of last week. The AFL-CIO has taken a strong stand in oppositon to the bill because of the potential loss of jobs associated with its passage. Many enviornmental groups, as well as the League of Women Voters and the state Jaycees, were working actively for its passage.

I am in agreement with the ever growing need to conserve our mineral resources, but I fear the economic impact from loss of jobs and adjustments in distribution of many products is more than our economy can stand at this time. I do not intend to support the bill at this time.

The third bill drawing a lot of attention is the so-called Spannaus gun registration law. This bill would require the registration of handguns and has provoked a lot of discussion and debate.

A bill providing for a mandatory three-year minimum jail sentence for the person committing a crime after the first offense with a gun was passed by both the House and the Senate this week.

I firmly belive the knowlege of a mandatory jail sentence as a penalty for committing a crime with a gun will be a deterrent to such use.

Keep Your Car In Top Shape To Save Money

"Shape up your car and your driving habits and you'll save a lot of gas and money," advises Chrysler vice president Bob McCurry.

Keep your engine tuned. If the ignition timing is off just 5 degrees from the proper setting it can cost you about half a mile per gallon in highway economy. Fouled spark plugs also waste gas. One plug misfiring half the time at 60 miles per hour (mph) can cost you about 1.2 miles per gallon (mpg).

Tires play an important role in fuel economy. If tires are 4 pounds below recommended pressure you can lose a half to one mile per gallon.

Wheel alignment hits your pocketbook two ways. If the wheels are out of line the tires wear out faster, and you can lose about one-third of a mile per gallon.

"Follow the book, and it'll save you money," says McCurry. "The owner's manual gives the best advice on how to make your car run better and use less gas."

The government has called for lower speed limits, and there's a good reason. You lose about one mile per gallon for every five miles per hour over 50.

In boating there is a phrase "hold her steady as she goes". The same theory works for cars: maintain a steady speed and you can really save gas and money. If your foot flutters on the accelerator....and your 50 mph plus cruising speed varies plus-minus five miles per hour....it will cost you up to 1.3 miles per gallon.

Anyone who has carried weight, from grocery sacks to a bag of cement, knows that extra weight slows you down. Extra weight also reduces your gas mileage. Don't carry extra weight (such as golf clubs, ballast or tools) in the car or trunk because for each 100 pounds you can lose .2 mpg.

'Easy does it' when driving. Accelerate slower and plan your driving so that you have to make fewer stops. Those dragrace starts from traffic lights can cost you as much as 1.6 miles per gallon.

"You can save yourself quite a bit of money if you take good care of your car and drive thoughtfully, McCurry stated. "At the same time, you'll be doing your part to help America cope with the energy problem."

Thursday, January 31, was another cold day, and I'm sure we all hope February will come in warmer. The Senior Citizens met this day at the Legion hall, but it was sort of a lazy day. First was the election of new officers, and Mildred Nelson read the yearly reports. Mildred Nelson was elected president, Polly Stallock, vice-president, Irene Larson, treasurer, and Mabel Borsvold was reelected secretary and reporter. During the lunch hour many things were discussed, such as what new things to be made to replensih the shelves, and more quits to be mede. For next Thursday, Valentines will be made. Janette Onger joined us for lunch and give $1 to the Center. Mabel Borsvold won the door prize. The Center furnished the lunch, Irene Larson the cake, and Mabel the cookies. Mabel Borsvold, Reporter.

Coffee Cake For Get-Togethers

Happiness is sharing with others and this moist and tender coffee cake is perfect for morning get-togethers. Its delightful flavor comes from the Orange Flavor Tang Instant Breakfast Drink as an ingredient in both the cake and crumb topping.

SUNNY COFFEE CAKE

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon orange-flavored instant breakfast drink
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
1 egg, well beaten
¾ cup milk
Crumb Topping

Sift flour with sugar, instant breakfast drink, baking powder, and salt. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk; add to flour mixture and mix only until flour is dampened. Spread half of batter in greased 8- or 9-inch square pan. Sprinkle half of crumb topping over batter in pan. Spread remaining batter over crumb mixture in pan; top with remaining crumb topping. Bake at 400°; 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 9 servings.

Crumb Topping: Combine ¾ cup soft bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons chopped nuts, 1 tablespoon orange-flavored instant breakfast drink, and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Add 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine and mix well.

Local Building Declines In Dec.

Construction, repair and remodeling has declined in Thief River Falls, according to the valuation of building permits issued during December and all of 1973, as reported recently by the Minneapolis federal reserve bank.

Three permits representing a valuation of $15,000 were issued locally during December. That compares with seven permits issued in December 1972 for a valuation of $23,000. None of the December permits were for residential building.

The total number of permits issued during 1973 increased by about 23 per cent from 1972. However, the valuation represented decreased by about 51 per cent during the same period. There were 219 permits representing $1,457,000 issued in Thief River Falls during 1973. In 1972 there were 178 permits issued valued at $2,950,000.

Residential permits, unlike non-residential, showed a numerical decrease as well as a significantly smaller valuation for the year. In 1973 there were 26 permits issued for 33 housing units with a valuation of $791,000. In 1972 there were 57 permits issued for 67 housing units with a valuation of $1,299,000.

Non-residential permits increased numberically by nearly 60 per cent but their valuation decreased by about the same percentage. There were 193 non-residential permits issued in 1973, compared to 121 in 1972. However, the valuation of permits issued in 1973 was $666,000, significantly less than the $1,651,000 valuation for 1972 permits.

The number and valuation of permits issued in Minnesota during December both declined significantly. The number of permits issued decreased from 4,006 to 1,820 for a loss of 56 per cent. Their valuation dropped 55 per cent from $230,242,000 to $104,063,000.

Residential permits contained the majority of the December losses for the state. The number of residential permits issued during the month dropped by 83 per cent from 2,904 in December 1972 to just 499 in December 1973. The number of housing units involved also dropped by 83 per cent from 8,169 to 1,416. Their valuation dropped almost as much with a loss of 80 per cent from $149,049,000 to $29,527,000.

Although the state recorded only a seven per cent decrease in the number of permits issued during 1973, the number of residential permits dropped 30 per cent for a 41 per cent reduction in the number of housing units and a valuation reduction of 36 per cent. However, the number of residential permits issued increased by three per cent for the state during the same period and gained 25 per cent in valuation.

The entire federal reserve district, consisting of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Upper Michigan, and Northwestern Wisconsin; also recorded losses for the month with 2,489 permits issued.

General Clinic For Handicapped Here Feb. 28th

A general clinic sponsored by Thief River Falls federated women's clubs Crippled Children services will be held on February 28 at United Methodist church, in Thief River Falls, for any Minnesota child under 21 years of age with history of delayed speech and-or language development, premature birth, heart lesions, cystic fibrosis, convulsions, mental retardation, club feet, scoliosis, and other physical handicaps.

Appointments should be made two weeks before the clinic comes to town. The appointment chairman is Miss Bertha Hastad 111 Kendall Av. S. (phone 218-681-4752) or Mrs. Gary Lofberg, 609 East 8th. Street, (phone 218-681-2094).

The general clinic is available to all families of handicapped children. There is no clinic charge. Children requiring periodic followup and whose parents cannot provide the necessary care may return to the clinic. Written referral from a physician is recommended for each new patient.

Each child in the clinic is examined by either a pediatrician or orthopedist, or both. A speech consultant is also available to evaluate children. A report of their findings is sent to the family physician. A public health nurse will be in attendance to assist families in planning to carry out medical recommendations. A medical social worker will also be available to help parents with any emotional, social, or financial problems.

Dr. David Brown Interested In Congress Seat

Three men suggested as possible Republican candidates for Congress in Minnesota's 23-county 7th district including Dr. David Brown of Goodridge—were interviewed by the Republican party's congressional search committee late in January as it continued a series of meetings begun last fall.

The three most recently interviewed are Dr. Brown, school superintendent in Goodridge, who expressed a clear interest in running; Erland Charles, rural Hancock farmer, who indicated he may be interested; and Herman Natwick, rural Ada farmer and immediate past chairman for four years of the 7th district GOP.

Chairing the 20-person committee is former state senator Robert Leiseth of rural Detroit Lakes. He and other committee members are urging any independent or Republican, woman or man, who may be interested in running or who knows of someone they believe should be considered to contact any committee member. Committee member for senate district one is Aurel Parenteau of Brooks.

Committee members have been stressing in their meetings the vulnerability of incumbent 7th District Congressman Robert Bergland, DFL, because of the discrepancies between his talks and pronouncements back home and his voting record in Washington. Leiseth has sharply criticized Bergland for his continuing and expansive campaign efforts during his first three years in office.

Dr. Brown, 55, has been superintendent at Goodridge for 20 years. He is a Fergus Falls native who graduated from North Dakota state university, served as an army officer in World War II, was secretary of the Todd county GOP and active in the Young Republican League in Pennington county before joining the Pennington county Republican party, in which he has been active for many years and presently heads as chairman.

TRF Development To Be Discussed Wednesday Night

Thief River Falls' downtown development committee of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged for a local meeting with Michael Auger of the state planning agency. He will speak at a 7:30 p.m. meeting Wednesday in the council chambers of the municipal auditorium.

Auger is expected to participate in a detailed discussion of the do's and don't's of community development. He may also make suggestions for improving Thief River Falls.

Persons specifically invited to this meeting include local municipal officials; members of the Thief River Falls planning commission, housing and redevelopment authority, downtown development committee, and the board of Northwestern hospital; and others with an apparent interest in community develoment.

Three Directors Renominated For Red Lake Co-Op

As a result of three Red Lake Electric cooperative district meetings held the past week, the members of the respective districts renominated directors from districts 3, 6 and 9.

At the Dorothy church on February 4, Richard Weiss was renominated. At the Black River church on February 5 Leonard Melin was renominated and Helmer Lind was renominated at the Newfolden school on February 6.

The three directors are the official candidates of their respective districts to be placed in nomination for election at the annual meeting in Thief River Falls on April 3. They are nominated for three-year terms on the board.

Other Directors of the cooperative are Manvel Moe, Raymond Parnow, Stanley Radniecki, Millard Dalley, Lanis Karel and Joe Brunelle. Charles M. Kleven is the cooperative manager.

6th Grade Leads 2nd Honor Roll

Sixth graders led the Franklin middle school honor roll for the second quarter with 118 of the 316 honor students at the school being from that grade, according to Dr. Milton Hoff, principal.

The class had 17 straight A students, 12 A average students, 54 students with no grades lower than a B and 34 B average students. Eighth graders placed 101 students on the honor roll while the seventh grade recorded 97 honor students.

Roll of honor students includes the following:

Grade 8

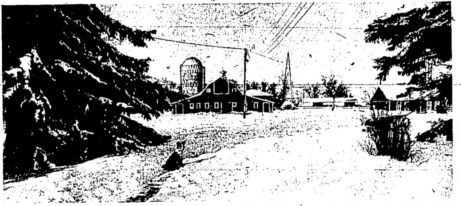
4-H PUBLIC SPEAKING contest was held Saturday in Thief River Falls with only juniors in the 9-13 age group participating in the event. First place winner was Tom Reep, speaking on "What 4-H Membership Means to Me", while second place went to Kristie Brosseau, speaking on "Love". There is no further competition for the junior group. Left to right in the photo above are the following contestants: Front row, Kristie Brosseau, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Brosseau and member of the Steiner 4-H club; Tawnya Hamre, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Hamre, City View; and Tom Reep, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Reep, Black River; back row, Karla Olson, 13, daughter of Mrs. Audrey Olson, Star; Kari Jo Peterson, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson, Star; and Wendy Noreen, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Noreen, Black River.



LEAVING THE HOUSE on the Martin Hanson dairy farm, this is the scene that confronts the visitor. The Hanson dairy herd has been doubled to include 50 cows through the use of an enclosed loose housing shed. Milking is done in two shifts of 25 cows at a time with a three-unit milker and milk transfer system employed to facilitate the twice daily ritual. The farm has been in the Hanson family for 63 years and was purchased by Martin from his father, Syvert Hanson, 26 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson have been selected as Pennington county's honor dairymen for 1974 and will represent the county at the dairyman's banquet to be held Friday at Crookston.

Trophies Arrive For Marathon On March Of Dimes

Trophies to be awarded in the 1974 March of Dimes marathon in Thief River Falls have arrived and are on display at Eighth Street service. Pledge sheets to be used in obtaining sponsors for the marathon may also be picked up there.

Trophies will be awarded for the oldest man and oldest woman making the ride, youngest boy and youngest girl, most pledges obtained by a man and by a woman and Hard Luck Hannah and Hard Luck Harry.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hible will be attending the celebrity marathon to be held February 15-16-17 in Carlton county. Another local snowmobiler may earn the opportunity to participate in the celebrity event next year.

Martin Hansons Honored As Pennington Dairymen

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

When Syvert Hanson bought a farm northeast of Thief River Falls 63 years ago, he started an enterprise which has remained in the family until the present time. His son Martin, who purchased the farm from his father 26 years ago, was named last week as Pennington county's honor dairyman for the Red River Valley winter shows.

There have been dairy cattle on the Hanson farm for virtually all of the 63 years it has been in the family. Martin and his wife, the former Alice Wold, now operate 460 acres of land and milk 50 head of grade Holsteins on the farm located four miles east of Thief River Falls and a mile north in Silverton township.

As honor dairymen for Pennington county, Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will be recognized at the dairyman's banquet to be held Friday evening as part of the Red River Valley winter shows at Crookston. At that time they will be awarded a plaque to commemorate the event.

Martin grew up on the farm he now operates and worked with his father until entering service with the 99th Infantry battalion in World War II. He trained as a ski trooper in the Colorado mountains and saw service in England, Germany, France, Belgium and Norway. After three and one-half years in the army he was discharged in 1946.

Returning to Thief River Falls he continued to farm with his father and then bought the home quarter from him in 1948. He rented an additional 160 acres of land and acquired the dairy herd which numbered about 20 milk cows. It was also in 1948 that he married Alice Wold who was working as a telephone operator in Thief River Falls, a position which she held for 15 years.

Among the earliest participants in the farm management program offered through the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school, the Hansons have continued in that program for 19 years. Martin considers it a very necessary part of his farming operation. He is also a member of the Pennington soil and water conservation district and has an overall farm plan and soils map of his farm.

Since joining the Pennington Dairy Herd Improvement association (DHIA) 12 years ago, he has increased his herd average from less than 400 pounds of butterfat per cow to an average of 536 pounds last year. The 20-cow herd has also been increased to 50 milk cows.

To handle the additional milking load without adding to the main dairy barn, Hanson has built an enclosed pole barn for loose housing and runs his cattle into the main barn in two shifts for milking. He uses a three-unit milker and has a milk transfer system to carry milk from the barn to the 400-gallon bulk tank. He sells his Grade A milk through Land O'Lakes Creameries in Thief River Falls.

Last year his top producing

HONOR DAIRYMEN for Pennington county who will be recognized at the Red River Valley winter shows Friday are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hanson of rural Thief River Falls. They are shown reviewing information on their 50-cow dairy herd from DHIA records and farm managment program account book. They farm four miles east and a mile north of Thief River Falls in Silverton township.

Council Posts Must Be Filled By Appointment

Appointment of councilmen to fill the unexpired terms of William Froiland and Arthur Rambeck, both killed in an airplane crash two weeks ago, will likely take place in the next week or two, according to Ambrose Wysoski, council chairman.

The council meets for its regular session tomorrow (Tuesday) and it is expected the vacancies will be discussed at that time, Wysoski said. Some interest has been shown in the positions, he added, and council members have been giving consideration to possible candidates.

City attorney Robert Wurst noted that the council is required by law to fill the vacancies by appointment and may not call a special election even if it would prefer to do so. Froiland, fourth ward alderman, and Rambeck, alderman at large, were both reelected to three-year terms last fall.

Replacement of Roy Pederson, chief of police also killed in the crash near Winger, will be the task of the police civil service commission which operates under the office of Mayor Robert Carlson. Kenneth Froschheiser, who had been deputy chief under Pederson, is now acting chief of the department.

Owen Is Elected To Head Concert Ass'n. Next Year

Morris Owen was elected president of the Thief River Falls Concert association at the annual meeting of the organization held Thursday evening at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute. He succeeds Orin Green as president of the organization.

Succeeding Owen as vice president is Dr. William Corliss, superintendent of schools. Mrs. George (Pat) Martin was reelected treasurer and Merle Smith was reelected secretary. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Orvel Stocks will be in charge of membership, Owen and Dr. Corliss are in charge of artists contacts and Mrs. Donald L. (Sylvia) Olson will direct publicity.

Discussion was held on possible 1974-75 concerts. Officers and members were also informed that David Ray Smith, who had been scheduled to perform at the final concert of the year, will be unable to appear. He will be replaced by Robert Anderson, also a bass-baritone soloist.

Concerts for the coming year are expected to be announced in the near future.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

P.M. Country Club To Assist In Cooky Project

P.M. Country club will participate with other homemakers clubs in this area in providing cookies to residents at the rest homes for Valentine's day. This decision was made at a recent meeting of the club held at the home of Mrs. Obert Grovum. Mrs. Kenneth Sanders volunteered to make the cookies for the club.

It was also decided that the 1973 secret pals indentification should be made at the February meeting, providing the meeting is held before or on Valentine's day. If the meeting is scheduled after the 14th, the Valentines should be sent by mail.

Announcement was made of meetings of interest to homemakers. On Tuesday, February 6, beginning at 1:30 p.m., there will be a meeting at the court house meeting room on the topic "Consumer Protection." The following day a Home Furnishing show is scheduled at the city auditorium. Information at Wednesday's meeting will be given on kitchen planning, living with wood, paneling, lighting, wall covering, floor coverings, paint and energy. Each presentation will be approximately one hour in length. Hours will be from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. Members were urged to attend both meetings.

FDA fact sheets, giving information on labeling of foods, were distributed by Mrs. Harold Nething. A discussion followed.

The February meeting of the P.M. Country club will be held at the Kenneth Sanders home.

Zehlian Group Views Film And Studies Crewel Art

Zehlian art group met February 6 at Northland Community college to view the film "Future Shock." Following a discussion period, the group assembled at the Dee Trudeau home for a demonstration on the art of crewel embroidery. Mrs. Trudeau presented the demonstration, giving instruction on the various stitches needed. A business meeting followed and lunch was served.

Present were Kathy Winjum, Renae Englert, Sam Rasmussen, Darlene Mortenson, Mary Evans, Rosie Worner, Ann Duckworth, and Vonnie McHamm.

The meeting of the Book division will be held February 20. The book, "Go Ask Alice" will be discussed. The March meeting of the Art group will be held at the Kathy Winjum home.

Lambertson And Nordvick Vows Said At Puerto Rico

Marriage vows were exchanged at the Bella Vista Seventh-day Adventist church in Mayaguez, Puerto Rico on Christmas day by Miss Darlys E. Lambertson of that city and Darold M. Nordvick of Grygla.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lambertson of Mayaguez, P. R. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nordvick of Grygla.

For the seven o'clock ceremony, attended by approximately 450 relatives and friends, the church was graced with flocked trees with blue balls, potted palms, bougainvillea and an archway covered with ferns.

Rev. Rolland Howlette officiated at the ceremony. Ken Hill of Trinidad, a friend, was the organist. Soloists were Mr. Miller, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" in Spanish, and Mrs. Gerrans, who sang "Wedding Prayer" and "Think On These Things."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white organza over satin which she had bought in Washington, D.C. The gown was styled with a fitted bodice with V-neckline and long, full sleeves. Lace motifs in daisy pattern were appliqued on the bodice, sleeves and fitted cuffs. Her headpiece, which the bride had made to correspond with her gown, was of sheer organza, edged with daisy trim. She carried a natural colored basket with white carnations and pompons, accented by maidenhair fern.

Norma Japs of Argentina, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Nancy Echeverria of Puerto Rico and Alvina Nordvick, sister of the groom. The maid of honor was attired in a gown of royal blue organza in gingham print accented flocked daisies. Identically fashioned gowns, only in solid royal blue whipped cream were worn by the bridesmaids. Each attendant carried a basket of pompons and mums in a mist of blue babies' breath.

Flower girl was three-year-old Candy Hobanicht of North Carolina. She wore a floor-length ruffled gown of blue gingham topped with a white eyelet pinafore. Accompanying the flower girl was three-year-old Warren Davis, attired in blue bib overalls and white shirt. He pushed a wheelbarrow filled with fresh flowers.

Attending the groom were the best man, Marvin Lambertson, a brother of the bride, and the groomsmen, Elern Rodriequez and Lon Gerrans. All reside in Puerto Rico but are presently attending Southern Missionary college at Collegedale, Tenn. The men of the wedding party, together with the father of the bride, wore deep blue trousers, long-sleeved wine-colored shirts, deep blue velvet bow ties and white pompon boutonnieres. The groom's bow tie was of white velvet.

Following a custom of that area, that a married couple serve as sponsors at the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hobenicht were the Padrina and Madrina. The Madrina was attired in a royal blue crepe gown complimented by a corsage of deep red gladioli. The Padrina's bow tie matched her gown.

The mother of the bride was attired in a bright orange and pink print gown styled with a floor-length butterfly pleated skirt. The mother of the groom wore a floor-length gown in a navy blue and white print. Their identical corsages were composed of orchids.

Special guests at the ceremony were the bride's maternal aunts: Mrs. M. Rosler of Saginaw, Mich., Mrs. F. Pangman of Cedar Lake, Mich., and Mrs. P. Breaker of Napa, Calif.; and the groom's maternal aunt and uncle: Mrs. Maynard Molskness of Thief River Falls and Daniel Jankouski of Bemidji.

The parents of the bride hosted a reception on the church veranda following the ceremony. Mrs. Molskness and Miss Cristy cut and served the three-tiered wedding cake featuring a bridge over a mirrored lake. Swans graced the lake and a miniature wedding party, the bridge. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Pangman and Mrs. Agnes Christy.

Serving the punch were Mrs. Rosler and Mrs. Pangman, assisted by Dr. Newton and Mr. Rodrieguez. Diane Priddy presided at the guest book and Faye Anderson of Washington, D. C., cousin of the groom, and Mrs. Priddy served as waitresses.

For traveling on the wedding trip to Orlando, Fla., the bride wore a floor-length gown of sky blue crepe.

The bride is a graduate of the Antillian Union college in Mayaguez, P. R., and the Shannadoah Valley Seventh-day Adventist Academy in Virginia. She was employed by the Bella Vista hospital in Puerto Rico and is now employed at Northwestern hospital. The groom is a graduate of the Middle River high school and Northland State junior college in this city. He also attended Union college at Lincoln, Neb. He is engaged in farming and is employed by Steigers, Inc.

The couple is at home in Thief River Falls at 307 East First street.

VFW Auxiliary Reaches Paid-Up Membership Goal

Thief River Falls Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary achieved its 100 per cent paid-up membership by the December 15 deadline, according to a report given at a recent meeting of the unit. It was also announced that the Ninth District had also reached its 100 per cent paid-up membership goal.

Evelyn Homewood was welcomed into the auxiliary as a member. It was noted that payment of dues to the auxiliary covers the premium for cancer insurance.

Several donations were made. Two $50 scholarships were given to the Thief River Falls Area vocational technical institute; a flag and stand were given jointly with the VFW post to Mayor Robert Carlson's office; and a donation was sent to the Prodigal House at the Minnesota Veterans home. It was explained that Prodigal House is a place maintained only for veterans with drug problems. Of those seeking aid to withdraw from drugs, 89 per cent have been successful and have returned to their communities, families and jobs.

It was also announced that the National home was still in need of Betty Crocker coupons which they will exchange for a fire engine. Members were asked to bring coupons to the next meeting.

The women were also reminded to wear long gowns for the uniform dance set for February 14. The Mid-winter conference will be held February 22-23 at the Leamington hotel in Minneapolis.

The meeting began with a pot luck supper and concluded with a belated Christmas party with an exchange of gifts.

Gander And Ahmann Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. James Gander of East Grand Forks announce the engagement of their daughter, Cindi Ann, to Steven Jerome Ahmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ahmann, also of East Grand Forks.

Both are attending school in Thief River Falls. Miss Gander, a 1971 graduate of the East Grand Forks Senior high school, is attending Northland Community college and the Area vocational-technical school and will receive an Associate of Arts degree in audio communications in May. Her finance is a 1970 graduate of Sacred Heart high school in East Grand Forks. He is in his second year of carpentry at AVTI and will also graduate in May.

A summer wedding is planned.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. John I. Nelson
Rt. T West Trailer Court

Whenever one writes articles about controversial subjects, such as abortion and alcoholism, there are repercussions. Since the articles on alcoholism, several have called, inquiring if I am a member of the WCTU (Women's Christian Temperance Union) or if I use vanilla or cough syrup.

Although the WCTU is a fine organization, I'm not a member. If I were to hold membership in all the fine organiztions in this city, there would be no time left for family and home. For those who rasied the questions regarding vanilla and cough syrup, both can be found in our home. The vanilla is used for baking purposes and the cough syrup for medicine.

Although I have my own reasons for not drinking, it was a little white folder, a little larger than a match book cover, that inspired these three articles. The folder was published by Alcoholics Anonymous (AA), a kind of fellowship group that has achieved an enviable record in rehabilitating alcoholics. Since it began in 1935, the membership has grown to several hundred thousand. This puzzles some organizations as they can't understand how AA can function so well with so little formal organization. AA has no officers, requires no dues, and has no constitution or by-laws. Each group functions independently without control of others—yet all work towards one goal, to help alcoholics. It encourages them to stop drinking and to refrain from ever drinking again.

An alcoholic is not a dim-wit just because his or her wits have been dimmed by drink. They know their weaknesses, have feelings of guilt, and have known the loneliness of social isolation. At AA meetings, he or she finds acceptance, compassion and hope for recovery. From a physical and psychological viewpoint, he is taught about his affliction, and if he fails in his efforts, he finds someone there to help him back on the road to recovery. The program he enters is based on 12 points, which form a kind of confession.

The points of their program were printed on the inside of the folder, they are:

(1) We admit that we were powerless over alcohol; that our lives had become unmanageable. (2) Came to believe that a Power greater than ourselves could restore us to sanity. (3) Made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood Him. (4) Made a searching and fearless moral inventory of ourselves. (5) Admitted to God, to ourselves, and to other human beings the exact nature of our wrongs. (6) Were entirely ready to have God remove all these defects of character. (7) Humbly ask Him to remove our shortcomings. (8) Made a list of all persons we had harmed and became willing to make amends to them all. (9) Make direct amends to such people whenever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others; (10) Continued to take personal inventory and when we were wrong promptly admitted it. (11) Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood Him, praying only for knowledge of His will for us and the power to carry that out. (12) Having a spiritual awakening as the results of these steps, we tried to carry this message to alcoholics, and to practice these principles in all our affairs. (Wouldn't this be a better nation, if everyone followed these principles?)

AA therapy is not always successful, but its great degree of success demonstrates that alcoholics need fellowship and brotherly love, grounded in kindness and understanding.

The success of the AA program proves that alcoholism isn't hopeless and that alcoholics aren't worthless. Since alcoholism knows no social or economical barrier, recovered victims have returned to their work as teachers, attorneys, lawmakers, doctors, ministers or priests, housewives, or general laborer. (To assist families of alcoholics, there are two groups: Al-Anon, to help wives or husbands and Al-Teens, to help the children.)

This concludes this series of articles on alcoholics. I hope they have been of help to someone.

Today's recipe was given by Mrs. John I. Nelson of this city. She recommends it highly. Thanks.

Sea Island Tuna Salad

1 pkg. 7 oz. macaroni
½ cup mayonnaise
1 can tuna
2 or 3 hard cooked eggs
1 large can sweet peas, drained
Pepper and salt to taste
¼ teaspoon celery seed, celery salt or ½ cup chopped celery
½ cup diced cheddar cheese

Method: Boil macaroni in salted water for 7 minutes. Rinse in cold water and drain well. Combine ingredients. If the mixture seems too dry, add more mayonnaise or a little milk. Bake in a 350 degree oven until bubbly.

The Nelsons are retired farmers. They have lived in Thief River Falls since 1970 when they left their farm southwest of Grygla. Since they felt too active to retire completely, they have since been custodians at Northern State bank. Nelson also is part-time custodian at the post office. Mrs. Nelson stated that although she doesn't do as much baking as she did, she still bakes lefsa, the year around. Moving to Thief River Falls was like coming home for Mrs. Nelson. She and her first husband lived here for a time until his death. A son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman (Elaine) Bruneau, live at Warren. They have five adopted children. The Nelsons are members of Trinity Lutheran church.

BPO Does Meeting Is Scheduled For Tuesday

Regular meeting of the BPO Does will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m., at the Elks club. Newly installed president Esther Gausen will preside at the meeting. All members are encouraged to attend. Lunch and entertainment will follow.

Mrs. Gausen, together with the other officers were installed at the last meeting of the Does. Serving as installing officers were Bernice Looker and Ferne Williams. The president's pin and gavel were presented to Mrs. Gausen by out-going president Lorraine Morben, who received the past-president's pin from trustee Elba Collins.

Hostesses at the meeting were Tillie Carlson, Loretta Helle and Guida Solheim. Mrs. Gausen was in charge of entertainment. Prizes were won by Elba Collins and Bernice Looker.

Container Gardens Studied At Deer Park Garden Meet

Container Gardening was studied at the meeting of the Deer Park garden club held Tuesday evening at the Orlando Chervestad home.

Mrs. Chervestad was in charge of presenting the topic. She stated that the advantage of container gardens was when the potted plants were in bloom, they could be moved about for viewing to the best advantage. Geraniums and petunias adapt well to container gardening.

A film, "The Busch Gardens", featuring flower gardens, lagoons and exotic free flying birds in the Los Angeles area, was shown by Mrs. Lynn Hanson. Mrs. Hanson also reported on the meeting of the Minnesota Zoology board held recently. She stated that preliminary plans have been adopted for the Zoo which will be located in Dakota county on a 460 acre tract.

In the absence of President Lavonne Radniecki, Vice-president Mrs. Bennie Svanjord presided at the meeting. Helen Chervestad served as secretary pro-tem. Roll call was answered by listing "the new seeds I intend to plant this year."

During the business session, Harold South was appointed chairman of the tree planting committee.

A dessert lunch was served by the hostess with table decorations, candles and napkins in the Valentine motif.

Attending the meeting as guests were Mrs. Signe Evenson, Mrs. Sena Chervestad and Mrs. Clarence Peterson. Members present were Mrs. Eugene Fiedler, Mrs. Mordy Morrison, Mrs. Ernest Swanson, Mrs. C. R. Appelman, Mrs. Bennie Svanjord, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold South, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hanson.

On Feb. 12, 1959, the Air Force retired the last operational B-36 bomber at Forth Worth, Texas.

Winter Shows To Offer Programs For All Women

Women visiting the Red River Valley Winter shows February 18-20 may choose seminars to improve their sewing skills, their homes, or their own self image. The seminars will all be held at the Crookston armory along with a variety of exhibits, demonstrations and style shows.

Joan Kennedy, a Minneapolis fashion consultant and speaker, headlines the 1974 women's program with two separate seminars. On Monday evening, February 18, she will discuss "The Total Woman" at the Working Women's Seminar. This is a new feature, especially for working women who are not able to attend daytime programs. The seminar, which is co-sponsored by the Crookston Business and Professional Women, will begin at 7 p.m. with dessert and coffee followed by a light-hearted look at women's fashions in a "We've Come A Long Way, Baby" style show. Joan Kennedy's talk will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are $2, including dessert and coffee, and are available from BPW members.

A "Super-Sewing Seminar" will be presented by Nancy Olson on Monday, February 18. The six-hour seminar will begin at 9 a.m. and will include pattern fitting, sewing shortcuts and sewing for men. A native of Fertile, MN, Nancy is an author, lecturer and educator with a master's degree in textiles and clothing.

Bonnie Clark, home economist with the Pellon Corporation, will give a 90-minute demonstration on "Interfacings", beginning at 9 a.m.

"Fashion Around The Clock" is the theme of a style show presented by the Polk county homemakers council at 12 noon on Monday. Home-sewn garments will be featured.

As many area schools observe the President's Day holiday, a special children's program has been arranged for February 18 at 2 p.m. The program, presented by the Museum of Arts and Science in St. Paul, will include a film and live animals of some endangered species.

The traditional Women's Seminar is set for Tuesday, February 19, beginning at 10 a.m. Joan Kennedy will again speak at this seminar on "The Total Woman".

At 12:30 Tuesday, following an informal luncheon, Hair and Things of Crookston will present "American Woman" showing the newest look in hair styles. Judy Farrell, a distributor for Vivian Woodard cosmetics, will give make-up tips.

"Woman Alone" is the topic to be presented by Sally Hirsch, psychologist at the Northwest Mental Health center, when the seminar resumes at 2 p.m.

Also at 2 p.m. is a presentation by the Northwestern Minnesota Cowbelles, "Know the Facts About Beef". At 3 p.m. Phyllis Shurz, home economist for the Creamettes Co., will demonstrate "Cooking with Protein-ettes".

Wednesday, February 20, features an Interior Design clinic beginning at 11 a.m. with "Using Antiques In Your Home" by Beulah Klein, Interior Designer, Crookston. The Clinic will continue at 1 p.m. with a panel of interior designers discussing different aspects of furnishing a home. Jack Akery, Fargo, will speak on "Psychology of Color"; Jane Rogstad, Fargo, "Liberated Interior"; and Glenn Cunningham, Grand Forks, on "Designing, Not Decorating". A question and answer session will follow their presentations. "Say It With Flowers" is the topic of a presentation by Wy Shepard, East Grand Forks, set for 3 p.m.

The Mount St. Benedict Music Dept. will present a short concert Wednesday noon.

Cooking demonstrations are also scheduled for Wednesday in the armory classroom with Ernie Franklin, instructor, HRI division, UMC, demonstrating "Flaming Foods" at 11 a.m. Allene Goll, home economist for the Otter Tail Power Co., will present "Energy-Saving Small Appliances" at 1 p.m. At 2:30 Ernie and Allene will team up for a demonstration on "Chinese Cookery".

Food Assistance Continues For SSI Recipients

U.S. department of agriculture (USDA) recently announced that recipients of supplemental security income (SSI) will continue to be eligible for family food assistance unless they reside in those states which include the bonus value of USDA food coupons in a state supplement to SSI payment.

The following states have informed the secretary of health, education and welfare that they intend to provide the bonus value of food coupons as part of their state supplement: California, Massachusetts, Nevada (only the aged and blind categories), New York and Wisconsin. SSI recipients in these states are no longer eligible for family food assistance. In all other states SSI recipients are eligible for USDA's family food programs regardless of income and resources.

The recent announcements implements legislation (Public Law 93-233) signed by President Nixon January 3. The law applies to participants in USDA's food distribution and food stamp programs. Previous legislation prohibited individuals from participating in food assistance programs if their SSI payments were above a certain level. Public Law 93-233 requires that food assistance eligibility for SSI recipients be determined for each state as a whole.

State agencies which administer USDA's food programs have been notified of the above legislative changes. Regulations governing the administration of the food programs and the removal of certain SSI recipients from food assistance rolls are scheduled for publication in the Federal Register January 30.

Food assistance provisions of Public Law 93-233 will expire June 30, 1974.

Fuel Shortage Forces Building Design Changes

Fuel shortage is forcing architects into some fresh thinking on how to design buildings which use energy more efficiently.

This is reported in an article in the current edition of "Petroleum Today", by Architect Richard G. Stein, who says:

"The growing shortage of fossil fuels has forced a reexamination of many attitudes and architectural forms we have formerly accepted unthinkingly."

Stein says many building methods and designs not only waste energy, but also lead to "monotonous standardization."

"Countless buildings of all types," he says, "have the characteristic sealed glass skin on all sides—apartments, colleges, high rise office buildings, for example. Two and four story suburban office buildings are truncated versions of their taller city cousins.

"Merchandise centers, shops, department stores and supermarkets—the same buildings spring up in New Mexico, Vermont and Florida with little thought given to energy needs and external conditions that vary from one location to another."

"We're looking with renewed interest at the ingenious ways ancient builders used natural forces," Stein writes. "The thick walls of an adobe pueblo soak up the heat from the sun during the day while keeping the interior cool. During the evening when the temperature drops, the walls release the heat, warming the inside. By sunrise, the walls have cooled, and the whole cycle begins again. This is an effective and subtle form of solar heating."

He contrasts this with the design of many modern buildings where there is no difference between the northern, southern, eastern and western exposures.

"The rooms on the south or west sides can be extremely uncomfortable when the sun is on them, summer or winter," Stein points out. Characteristically, there isn't a window that can be opened. Massive use of air conditioning has been the only way out."

Here is what Stein recommends:

"The outer covering or 'skin' of a building should be able to maintain the difference in temperature between inside and outside with a minimum of heating or cooling. It should allow light to enter in the amount and location desired. It should allow outside air in when it is desired and keep it out when it isn't.

"When the sun, wind, rain or snow bear down on the surface, the skin should admit only the desirable elements and convert the others into a form of energy that can be used, possibly as heat."

National Guard Started Winter Training Feb. 1

Some 900 National guardsmen from eight Minnesota communities will arrive this month at Camp Ripley for two weeks of intensive training in winter operations.

"The best winter training facility available to active army troops, National guardsmen, and reservists", is how Minnesota Adjutant General, Major General Chester J. Moeglein, described the Minnesota Army National Guard's Camp Ripley, a 53,000-acre, state-owned military reservation near Little Falls.

Additional winterized barracks, a new ski tow, and a new lighted slope will enhance the training this year of approximately 4,000 army guardsmen from Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Illinois. In addition, a 44-man platoon from the Norwegian home guard will accompany the Minnesota guardsmen during their training period this month. During this same period, a platoon of Minnesota Army National Guardsmen will train near Oslo, Norway at the Norwegina home guard training center.

According to General Moeglein, "This unique exchange program is one more indication of the international reputation Camp Ripley has earned over the past years of winter training".

The training, both here and in Norway, will include military skiing techniques, snowshoeing, emergency shelters, survival methods, and rifle range opeations, as well as first aid, map reading, and use of proper clothing in cold climates.

The Minnesota troops beginning training this week are from the 2nd Battalion, 135th Infantry, with units in Mankato, Worthington, Pipestone, Tracy, Redwood Falls, Marshall and Fairmont. Accompanying the infantrymen will be members of Battery C, 1st Battalion, 151st Field Artillery, Minneapolis.

Training of 137 junior instructors who will be working with the various units during the four two-week encampments was conducted prior to arrival of the first troops.

The training was supervised by members of the senior instructor pool, composed of experienced Minnesota National Guard skiers, which is growing each year and which has placed Minnesota's 47th Infantry "Viking" Division in the unique position of being one of the few military units in the country with skills in winter training.

Boy Scouts Are Observing Scout Week Feb. 10-17

Boy scouts from the Thief River Falls area, like more than 6.5 million others in the United States, are observing Scout week with activities planned for February 10 through 17.

The first event of the week, which has been observed annually since 1911, is Scout Sunday. Yesterday was designated for this church observance.

Scout leaders will hold a district roundtable and committee meeting Wednesday in Thief River Falls at St. Bernard's Catholic church. Oscar Elshaug will lead a discussion and present a training film on communications for Cub scout leaders. Robert Stotts, a highway patrolman, will conduct a first-aid discussion for Boy scout leaders. A special meeting will be held for camping, advancement and finance chairmen.

On Sunday there will be a court of honor for all scout troops in Thief River Falls. This will be held in the basement of Trinity Lutheran church at 7:30 p.m. Morris Owen, veteran scouter from this city, will conduct the ceremonies and present merit badges and announce advancement earned by local scouts.

During Scout week troops are encouraged to plan activities which will tell others about the Boy scout program. Suggested projects include window displays, outdoor demonstrations and school displays.

St. Olaf Choir In Grand Forks

Evaluate Right To Read Success In 11 Schools

Elementary pupils enrolled in schools with Minnesota Right to Read programs tend to achieve more reading objectives correctly than those pupils in non-Right to Read schools who were used as a comparison, says Aton Greenfield, assistant director, Minnesota Right to Read.

The results were revealed recently in an evaluation of the first phase of the Minnesota Right to Read program, the state's literacy campaign. Tested were students in 11 Right to Read schools and 11 non-Right to Read schools who volunteered to act as a comparison group.

A total of 3,000 students in Grades two, four and six were evaluated on reading skills. Right to Read students outperformed their counterparts in non-Right to Read districts in 40 to 55 "significant" comparisons, a 2.5:1 ratio.

"The evalution data of Phase I indicates tht the Right to Read program is worthwhile as far as improving pupils' achievement levels in reading," Greenfield said.

The evaluation was conducted by the Minnesota department of education in cooperation with the McGraw-Hill Corporation.

Phases II, III and IV (1973-75) of the Right to Read program will be assessed and evaluated through the Minnesota state educational assessment program, Greenfield said. Because state educational assessment is "a relatively new program in Minnesota," the Phase I evaluation was conducted by an outside agency, he said.

The evaluaton was not broken down by such variables as family background, sex and socio-economic conditions of the pupils. The evaluation also does not contain a school-by-school comparison. "Rather," Greenfield said, "it views the first phase of the Right to Read program as a whole."

Phase I of the Minnesota Right to Read program began in May 1972. A total of 120 school districts and nonpublic schools applied for the pilot program and 22 were selected to represent the state's 11 development regions.

Eleven Right to Read schools were chosen for the Phase I evaluation by the Minnesota Right to Read staff and 11 non-Right to Read schools were selected from the 98 which originally made application for Phase I but were not chosen at that time.

Founders Dinner Set By Valley History Society

Three significant events in the history of the Red River Valley and region, the official commencement of the 1974-75-76 Red River Valley International Centennial, the official activation of the Heritage Interpretive centers of Red River country program and the 10th anniversary of the founding of the Red River Valley historical society will be marked at a RRVHS founders dinner to be held at the University of Minnesota, Crookston, dining hall, beginning at 6:30 p.m., Saturday.

A social hour will precede the dinner beginning at 5 p.m. at the Elks country club near the campus. A. Gordon Pruden, Winnipeg, president of the society, will preside.

Preceding the evening's activities will be a unique joint founders day business meeting of friends, members and board of directors of the society, the Minnesota Valley heritage commission, the Eastern North Dakota Valley heritage commission, and County Heritage interpretive center—Centennial-Bicentennial commissions.

All of the day's events are open to the public.

Main speaker for the dinner will be Dr. E.C. Shaw, Winnipeg physician, president, Manitoba historical society and vice president, RRVHS. His topic will be "The Red River Valley and Its People—100 Years of Major Contributions to the Region." He will also bring greetings from Manitoba.

Lieutenant Governor Wayne Sanstead will bring greetings from the state of North Dakota and Representative William Kelly, East Grand Froks, will speak on behalf of Minnesota. E. Neil Mattson, president, Minnesota historical society and vice president of the Red River group, will bring greetings from the state society.

Other dignitaries who will briefly participate in the program will include representatives of the North Dakota and South Dakota historical societies; representatives of the University of Minnesota and Crookston; the Rt. Rev. Kenneth Povish; Rev. James Hanson, pastor, Trinity Lutheran church, Crookston; Dr. Martin Lutter, professor of history, Concordia college; and Rev. Gerald Foley, Red Lake Falls, all past presidents of the society.

Representatives of historical societies and organizations from throughout the three states and one province will be present. Hosting the event will be the Polk County historical society and the University of Minnesota.

Reservations may be obtained by calling or writing to Don Myrold, Executive-Director, RRVHS, Minard Hall, North Dakota State University, Fargo, North Dakota 58102.

Enrollment Is Up For Winter Quarter At UMC

With a winter quarter enrollment of 728 students, the University of Minnesota Technical college, Crookston (UMC), shows an eight per cent increase over enrollment figures for winter quarter a year ago, according to official University of Minnesota figures.

UMC has gained students consistently. The present figure of 728 compares to 674 students a year ago at this time. Overall, the University of Minnesota has 47,611 students registered on all campuses.

Twin Cities campuses have 38,902 students registered for winter quarter. The University of Minnesota, Duluth has 5,556; the University of Minnesota, Morris, has 1,572; Mayo Medical school has 433; and the other technical college, the University of Minnesota, Waseca, registers 420.

UMC's student population is predominantly from an agriculturally oriented area, and students often enroll during winter quarter following a busy harvest season.

UMC offers a two-year collegiate-technical training, with an associate in applied science degree conferred to graduates. Students are prepared for mid-management level positions in agriculture, business, home and family services, and hotel, restaurant, and institutional management majors.

Enrollment For Winter Quarter Up At U Of M

Winter quarter enrollment at the University of Minnesota increased by 122 students compared to last year at this time. Although decreases occurred at both the Twin Cities and Morris campuses compared to last year, they were more than offset by increases at the Duluth, Crookston and Waseca campuses.

When the enrollment figures are compared with the previous fall, all campuses except Waseca show declines—normal behavior, according to a University administrator.

"We seem to be following a pretty normal pattern," said Stanley Kegler, vice president for administration. He said it was usual for fall quarter enrollment to drop about five or six per cent by winter quarter.

Kegler also said that enrollments at the technical colleges, Crookston and Waseca, generally increase by winter quarter, since students at those colleges frequently take fall quarter off for agricultural duties. Crookston enrollment for winter of 1974 was up 54 to 728. Twin Cities enrollment was down 110 to 38,902.

Taxpayers May Call IRS For Tax Assistance

Free income tax assistance is no further away than your telephone, Richard C. Voskuil, district director for internal revenue for Minnesota, said recently.

Voskuil said that most taxpayers should be able to prepare their own returns by following step-by-step instructions that come with their Form 1040 or 1040A. If taxpayers need additional help, they can call the IRS, toll-free, for tax assistance, he said.

Researchers At UM Clear Half Heart Mystery

University of Minnesota researchers have cleared up half the mystery of round heart disease in turkeys. Now the scientists are tackling the other half and hoping they can shed light on causes of human heart maladies.

"Round heart" refers to the greatly enlarged organ found in turkeys with the disease.

This symptom also is present in some human heart conditions. Among them are viral myocarditis (inflammation and subsequent damage to the myocardium) and other unexplained diseases of the heart muscle.

The puzzle surrounding turkey heart conditions is described in the current Minnesota Science, published by the University agricultural experiment station. The magazine is available from the Bulletin Office, 3 Coffey Hall, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, 55101.

A mysterious outbreak of round heart disease on a Minnesota turkey farm turned up a clue in University researchers' hunt for causes of the disorder. Investigating the situation, Dr. Edward Jankus, a veterinary physiologist, advised the grower to change feed rations.

The change greatly reduced the death toll.

Searching for the reason for the success of this tactic, Dr. Jankus discovered a startling fact. Someone had made an error in mixing the feed that involved an anti-bacterial drug known as Furozolidone. Apparently, the drug, which is used to treat and prevent several diseases, was fed to the flock at levels three or six times higher than acceptable.

Subsequent tests with Furazolidone led Dr. Jankus to the conclusion that round heart disease can be drug induced. But he still doesn't know what causes spontaneous or naturally occurring round heart disease—the other half of the mystery.

However, he and his colleagues have an "educated guess" that surrounds the finding of viruses in heart muscle of round heart diseasedturkeys. They believe the spontaneous disorder may be induced by a virus.

How this process might occur is a matter of speculation. One possibility is that both types of round heart disease are set off by an "auto-immune" reaction.

The researchers know that drugs are potentially toxic and can cause cell damage. Material leaking from these injured cells might trigger the body's immune system. This system produces anti-bodies to ward off "foreign" bodies, called antigens. The resulting antigen-antibody reaction can damage the heart and other organs.

University turkey research already has alerted comercial growers to a danger that could have continued to cause economic losses. But if the scientists can solve the other half of the mystery, humans who never have seen a turkey farm could benefit.

Olson To React To Discussion At Education Day

Dr. Malcolm Moos, president of the University of Minnesota, will be guest speaker at the Higher Education day noon luncheon to be held in Bede hall at the University of Minnesota Technical college; Crookston (UMC) on February 22. His topic will be "How the University Serves the State".

Prior to the luncheon, a higher education seminar will be held in Kiehle auditorium, with registration and coffee at 10 a.m. and a panel discussion at 10:30 a.m. The topic will be "The Place of Technical Education in Minnesota".

Dr. Donald Sargeant, head of academic affairs, will serve as chairman. The panel will consist of Dr. Ervle Glick, chairman of the general education division; Phyllis Solee, chairman of home and family services division; Brian Harron chairman of the division of hotel, restaurant, and institutional management; and Dr. Gary McVey, chairman of the division of agriculture. Reactors will be Dr. Lewis Wangberg, superintendent of Bemidji high school; Whitey Olson, counselor at Thief River Falls high school; and Rod Bergen, administrative assistant, Moorhead public schools.

Higher Education day is sponsored by UMC and the Northwest Educational Improvement association, in conjunction with the Red River Valley Winter shows.

All persons interested in higher education are welcome to attend the seminar and luncheon. Price of the meal is $1.75 per plate.

Minnesota Helps Offset Meat Shortage In U.S.

December livestock slaughter statistics show that Minnesota's livestock industry is continuing to do an outstanding job of offsetting the red meat shortage, agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald said today.

"While national red meat production during December was three per cent less than for the same month in 1972, Minnesota came through with an estimated 7.2 per cent increase, or about 11.3-million pounds more meat than a year earlier.

"Minnesota's pork producers made the most important contribution to this achievement by increasing December out put by over 22.9 million pounds or 32.6 per cent greater than the same month a year earlier," Commissioner Wefald stated.

Staff analysis of the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service December slaughter report produced an unofficial estimate of Minnesota's red meat output at 168,406,963 pounds. Calculations were based on the average percentage of meat dressout yield per animal nationally, applied to Minnesota animal numbers and average live weights.

The official estimate shows that Minnesota slaughtered 23 per cent more hogs than in December 1972, while national hog slaughter was six per cent less. Minnesota farmers also sent cattle and hogs to slaughter at heavier weights than national averages.

Commissioner Wefald said that Minnesota's unofficially estimated 93-million pounds of pork production in December represented 8.2 per cent of the national total.

Entry Deadline Extended For RRV Horse Show

Horse enthusiasts planning to show at the Red River Valley winter shows still have an opportunity to get their entries in without the $5 post entry fee. Horse show chairman Everett Solheim of Crookston reports the entry deadline has been extended to February 12 because many horsemen in southern Minnesota had not been informed of the show. The show is set for February 22 to 24.

4-H exhibitors take the spotlight the first day of the three-day show on February 22. A 4-H horse clinic will get the day underway at 10 a.m., followed at 11 with complete 4-H horse show with halter, performance and game classes. Open performance classes will begin at 7 that evening.

Quarter horse and Appaloosa performance, halter and youth activities classes will begin on Saturday, February 23. Halter classes get underway at 7 a.m., with performance classes following at 1 a.m. Roping classes—including AQHA, ribbon and breakaway—will headline the Saturday evening program, starting at 8.

Sunday's program will include the fast-moving gymkhana events and a few pleasure classes to conclude the 64th annual show.

For more information contact the Red River Valley Winter Shows Horses Show office at 218-281-1843.

Ann Whaling Services Today

Ann E. Whaling, 76, sister of Mrs. Clara Benson of Thief River Falls, died Friday at the Hillcrest Nursing home in Red Lake Falls where she had been a resident for the past 12 years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ann Whaling are being held today (Monday) at 2 p.m., at the Immanuel Lutheran church at Plummer with Rev. Max Dietze officiating. Music will be provided by organist Mrs. Nels Vigstol and vocalists Mrs. Wayne Leining and Mrs. Goodwin Kvasanger. Interment will be in the Emardville cemetery with the Sinding-Belmont-Petterson Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers will be Nels Vigstol, Ben Schjeldrup, Elmer Lee, Elmer Schjeldrup, Clayton Larson and Gust Westerlund.

Mrs. Whaling, the former Ann Froiland, was born June 15, 1897 at Park River, N.D., to John and Ida Froiland. As a child, she moved with her parents to the Plummer area where she received her elementary education. She was a graduate of Lincoln high school and Bemidji State college. In June of 1929, she was married at Grand Rapids to Edward J. Whaling. He died three years later. Following the death of her husband, she was a special education teacher in Coloraine for a number of years.

Surviving are four sisters: Mrs. Clara Benson of Thief River Falls, Mrs. Alma Blake of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Mabel Bradshaw of Arvilla, N.D., and Mrs. R. G. Williams of Harrisburg, Pa; two brothers: P. E. Froiland of Grand Forks, N.D., and Arthur Froiland of Plummer; and a number of nieces and nephews.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by a step-son and five brothers.

Services Held Today For Mrs. H. Bruggeman

Mrs. Herman Bruggeman, 72, of Mentor died Thursday at a Crookston hospital.

Liturgy of the funeral for Mrs. Herman Bruggeman was offered today (Monday) at 10 a.m., from St. Lawrence Catholic church at Mentor with Rev. Keough Patnode officiating. Interment will be in the St. Anthony's Catholic cemetery at Terrebonne. The Petterson Funeral home at Red Lake Falls is in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Tom, Robert and David Super, Charles and Michael Bachand and John Bruggeman.

Mrs. Bruggeman, the former Deneige Turgeon, was born Jan. 22, 1902 in Lambert township, Red Lake County to Ferdinand and Roseanne Poulin Turgeon. She was united in marriage to Herman Bruggeman at Oklee on June 2, 1924. After their marriage the couple lived for a number of years at Oklee. They then lived for several years in Milwaukee, Wis., and for the past 20 years have resided at Mentor.

She was a member of St. Lawrence Catholic church and St. Anne's Sodality of Mentor.

Surviving are her husband, two sons: Donald Bruggeman of Annandale and Robert of So. Milwaukee, Wis.; two daughters: Mrs. Jerry (Eris) Super of Mentor and Mrs. Richard (JoAnn) Bott of Bellview, Wash.; and 17 grandchildren.

Also surviving are five sisters: Mrs. Tom (Angeline) Yahner of Homewood, Ill., Mrs. Adelaide Johnson of Enumclaw, Wash., Mrs. Archie (Alice) Poulin of Yakima, Wash., Mrs. John (Maybelle) Eller of Salem, Ore., and Mrs. Onezime (Mae) Bachand of Brooks.

Three brothers and two sisters preceded her in death.

RRV History Group Plans Organization Of Heritage Centers

What will potentially become a multi-million dollar network of Heritage Interpretive Centers of Red River Country in the Manitoba, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota Valley region was launched officially as the major project of the 1974-75-76 Red River Valley International Centennial by the board of directors of the Red River Valley historical society recently at its January meeting held in the Hotel Ft. Garry in Winnipeg, it was announced today by Don Myrold, Executive-Director of the Society.

The Centennial years mark the 100th anniversary of the period of the greatest initial settlement of the Red River region. Today over one million people reside in this three state, one province, two nation area.

Architectual Resources, Inc., of Hibbing and Duluth was hired by the society as the overall project planner and management firm.

Phase I of the project, preliminary planning for the center's network, is already underway and will be completed in June or July, 1974. Phase I will include background research and analysis of the entire Red River region, comprehensive planning program outline, graphic analysis and reconnaissance survey of the Red River study area, recommendations for potential sources of funds to make the comprehensive planning program a reality and project coordination and promotion.

Phase II, comprehensive planning program and research will include one of the largest regional heritage research projects in the history of the nation, selecting the parts of Red River Heritage themes to be assigned to various county and community centers, center site selection, etc. No duplication of its kind in the world.

Phase III will involve actual centers construction and promotion.

County heritage interpretive center commissions have been or will be shortly established in 25-35 eastern North Dakota, South Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota valley counties and in Manitoba. Each county has or will appoint two representatives to the boards of directors of the Eastern North Dakota Valley heritage commission or the Northwestern Minnesota Valley Heritage commission which will, through the society, become the project governing and coordinating boards.

Planners will deal with county HIC commissions at the grass roots level and with the END-VHC, NWMVHC and the RRVHS during all phases of the project. In most cases it is anticipated that once the centers are completed, county HIC commissions will govern their operations and the state heritage commissions will coordinate their activities and programs and promote them world-wide.

Neil Mattson, Warren, RRVHS vice president and president of the Minnesota Historical society, described the program as "a project for developing a comprehensive interpretation of Red River country."

The centers will interpret the history of the entire region by focusing on the economic, social, agricultural, religious and ethnic history of the area.

A center could consist of a new building, or reconstructed historical buildings such as forts, churches, pioneer villages or homes or an old trail that will be reblazed for modern pioneers.

Centers could consist of a mixture of these; the society hasn't assigned historical themes to any areas as yet. Nor has the number of centers been decided upon, although the society does feel that the more constructed, the better for the area and the project.

The first center will be built starting in 1974. Although it will take decades to complete the project, the directors hope that within five years a significant number will have been built.

The millions of dollars for the plan will come from many sources, but principally from the federal governments, state and provincial governments, foundations and industry.

Myrold stated that the plan "is probably the largest heritage research and interpretive project" done on a regional basis on the continent and will "involve dozens of scholars to research heritage themes assigned." He said the plan is a unique approach to interpreting the heritage of a huge, international, multi-state area.

A major added benefit of the project will be the potential for vastly increased tourist traffic built around the centers network.

Myrold said the society's principal aims are to preserve and encourage the preservation of the rich pioneer heritage of Red River country and to interpret and make this heritage known all over the world and to people from all over the world.

The RRVHS, now celebrating the 10th anniversary of its founding, is a compostite of local, county and state historical societies whose memberships total in excess of 15,000.

Weekly HEALTH TIP

Oily nose drops should be avoided. If the oil is inhaled into the lungs while sniffing, it can form a "pocket" in the lung tissue. There is no way for the lung to rid itself of the oily coating and so degeneration of the area sets in — surgery may finally be the only remedy. Aqueous (water soluble) nose drops avoid this risk and are preferred.

HOMEMAKING TASKS for Mrs. Martin Hanson sometimes require more than her own two hands can manage. Here she gets help from her daughter Grace, a junior at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, to finish some curtains for a portion of the house which has been remodeled. The Hansons have been selected as Pennington county's honor dairymen for 1974.

DAIRY COWS on the Martin Hanson dairy farm northeast of Thief River Falls are milked in two shifts, thereby doubling the capacity of the existing dairy barn which has 25 stanchions. Martin Hanson, honor dairyman for Pennington county in 1974, is shown at left with some of his milk cows. Also pictued is Virgil Carlson who assists with the farm chores.

Johnson Bill Would Put Lid On State Taxes

Representative John W. Johnson of Minneapolis introduced a bill in the state legislature Thursday to limit state taxes and spending.

In supporting the need for such a limit, Johnson pointed out that the biennial state budgets have increased from $1.4 billion in 1967-69, to $2.0 billion in 1969-1971, $2.9 billion in 1971-73, and $3.6 billion in 1973-75.

The bill which is a constitutional amendment requiring the approval of the people of Minnesota, makes it more difficult to impose new taxes or to raise old ones, and, except for emergencies and inflation, freezes state taxes at the rates that will be in effect on 1-1-75.

It will also eliminate personal income taxes for individuals with less than $4,000 annual income and married persons or heads of households with less than $8,000.

This bill, according to Johnson, is an extension of the same philosophy that resulted in the Legislature freezing most real estate tax levies at the local level. Up to this point, according to Johnson, the Legislature has done a good job of attempting to hold down taxing and spending at the local level, but has done nothing to restrict its own taxing and spending programs. It is time this action was taken.

The principal provisions of the bill are:

1. Establishes a tax revenue limit and prohibits expenditures in excess of that limit.

2. Establishes a tax surplus fund and provides for refunds to taxpayers from that fund if tax revenues exceed spending limits.

3. Requires a two-thirds vote of both Houses to impose any new tax or increase any old ones.

4. Eliminates state income taxes for single persons with an income of less than $4,000 per year and for married individuals or heads of household with income less than $8,000 per year.

5. A two-thirds vote of the House and Senate can refer to the people the question of whether or not the state tax revenue limit should be increased or decreased.

6. Provides for limited flexibility in the tax limit for emergencies and inflationary cost increases.

7. Provides that the state must give money to any school district or municipality if the state enacts laws imposing new responsibilities on those local subdivisions.

8. Provides that if the state or federal government assumes responsibilities previously carried out by municipalities or school districts that local taxes must be cut accordingly.

Too many laws, too much taxation and too much spending is done all in the name of "for the good of the people" or "in the public interest" and it is evident that lawmakers all to frequently give little heed to those taxpayers who foot the bill for all that is done "in their best interests".

This bill would finally give the people the right to decide whether or not they want to have direct control over the taxing and spending of their government. If they vote to exercise that control through approving this constitutional amendment, they will then have a much louder voice in the future on how much taxes they pay and how much their government spends.

Social Security District Manager Is Appointed

A new social security district manager has been selected for the Grand Forks office. He is William H. Pahlen, who has been assistant manager at Grand Forks since last April.

His social security career began in 1952 in the Fargo office as a claims representative. He has since served in different positions in South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and Illinois. He was district manager at Marshall, for three years and immediately prior to coming to Grand Forks, he served two years as district manager at East St. Louis, Ill.

Phalen succeeds Clifford Kittelson who retired last December. He is a navy veteran and a graduate of South Dakota state university. Phalen and his wife Bonnie are natives of the Black Hills. Their three children, Roxann, Tim and Tom, were also born in South Dakota.

The Grand Forks social security district is comprised of 16 counties in North Dakota and Minnesota with a total population of about 221,000. It also includes full-time offices at Grafton, N.D., and Crookston.

Greenbush Ships Largest Volume To West Fargo

Greenbush shipping association was the leading organization patronizing the West Fargo facilities of Central livestock association during November. At the same time, the Middle River shipping association handled the fifth largest volume through Central's South St. Paul operation. The Greenbush association consigned all of its 2,309 animals to West Fargo while the Middle River association sent 1,283 head of livestock to South St. Paul and 137 to West Fargo.

Thief River Falls livestock cooperative shipping association sent 1,028 animals to South St. Paul.

The Grygla co-op shipping association consigned 622 animals to South St. Paul and 67 to West Fargo.

Roseau co-op shipping association sent 1,121 head to South St. Paul and 372 animals to West Fargo.

Karlstad co-op shipping association sent 1,121 head to South St. Paul and 372 animals to West Fargo.

Erskine shipping association sent 116 animals to South St. Paul and 37 to West Fargo.

Paint the energy crisis in shades of gray, says Susan Meyers, extension family life specialist at the University of Minnesota. If we classify activities or energy-consuming life styles in terms of good or evil, black or white, we oversimplify.

This is the stage many of us are now in, she says. We rush for simple answers and overlook subtle factors. We may condemn snowmobilers or owners of large cars for wasting fuel without recognizing our own less obvious but equally fuel-hungry activities. Intolerance results, Mrs. Meyers says.

"Each person may be doing something to conserve, but we're doing different things. One person's solution may be all wrong for his neighbor," Mrs. Meyers says. "The snowmobiler may shun TV and ride to work on a bus while the leisure time skater may have a houseful of appliances and uses tremendous numbers of plastic disposable itesm."

She predicts a greater understanding of energy and its many uses will make us more tolerant of others' conservation attempts. "Right now we're concentrating on short-term benefits. But is it really worth saving a few dollars' worth of fuel oil to have an elderly person suffering in a 65 degree house? His or her other energy uses are so limited."

Some grumbling and resentment may stem from a person's insecurity about how he will fare in rationing or an extreme shortage situation, she suggests.

"The immediate concern in a crisis is usually 'What will I do?' or 'How can I protect myself,'" Mrs. Meyrs says. "If voluntary conservation efforts reassure people that we can make do without any real suffereing, there may be less complaining and hoading and more cooperative spirit. This may lead to greater tolerance of others' fuel-use habits, even if different from our own."

Martin Hansons Are Selected As Honor Dairymen

cow turned out 701 pounds of butterfat, an enviable mark although it didn't measure up to the 797 pounds which she produced the previous year. A quick check through the DHIA records for last year also showed individual records of 650, 633, 624, 680, 563 and 551 pounds. All records are based on 305-day lactation, although some of the cows may be in production longer and improve on those butterfat totals.

Hanson uses artificial breeding in his program, selecting from among the top sires offered through American Breeders by technician Carl Krohn of Viking. He has developed a feed mixture that utilizes urea and feeds according to DHIA computer recommendation and condition of the individual animals.

The Hanson farm has two silos 14x35 and 18x55 in size which are used for haylage in the summer and corn silage in the fall. Alfalfa hay is also baled for winter feed. The approximately 30 acres of pasture is fenced so that an electric wire can be moved every couple of days to provide new grazing area for the herd. Haylage is also fed in the summer. Cement slabs are being installed in the barnyard area and a hay shed has been built to protect the baled hay.

In addition to the dairy operation, the Hanson farm in a normal year would about about 50 acres of wheat, 65 acres of oats, 30 acres of barley, 35 acres of sunflowers, 33 acres of corn, 100 acres of hay and haylage and 45 acres of summer fallow. Some of the grain will likely be used as feed for the cattle or sold for cash and lower quality grain purchased. Alfalfa is used in the rotation every year and plowed down as a soil conditioner.

Martin and Alice take an active interest in the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls where they have served as deacon and deaconess. Alice teaches Sunday school and their daughter Grace, a junior at Lincoln high school, serves as organist and pianist on a number of occasions as well as having been a member of the Christanoes singing group.

Other Hanson children are Mark, married to the farmer Audrey Johnson and now in the air guard at Hector airport in Fargo, and Gary, a student at Oak Hills Bible institute at Bemidji. Mark and Audrey have a 14-month-old son, Ehren.

Martin serves on the board of directors of the local milk producers group and Alice has held nearly all the offices of the WMS at the Evangelical Free church, including its presidency. She also does cake baking and decorating and has been a member of a neighborhood homemakers group. They are also members of the Farm Bureau.

There have been a number of changes at the Hanson farm since Syvert Hanson—now 86 and a resident of Valley home in Thief River Falls—purchased the property 63 years ago. When one of the recent changes is a 140-pound boost in butterfat average, it is easy to she how the Hansons qualify as honor dairymen.

NORDEN . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Feragen of Thief River Falls were Saturday evening visitors at the Ardell Liden home.

Dwight Ortloff of Sanders, Marvin Moen, and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Olson and Steven were Thursday evening visitors at the Russell Lane home.

Legislative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

The response to the opinion poll which I ran in the paper recently has been most gratifying. I thought the people of the area would be interested in the results of that poll.

Of those responding to date 84 per cent oppose establishing a new department of energy; 81 per cent favor giving this responsibility to an existing department.

The gun control bill is favored by 22 per cent with 78 per cent opposed.

Legislation permitting the use of public funds to finance political campaigns has been widely publicized recently but only 32 per cent favored this approach.

The use of highway trust funds for urban mass transit was opposed by 76 per cent.

There were 77 per cent who favor a tax on non-returnable beverage containers.

Strong support was also found for limiting the taxing power of the state; 81 per cent being in favor.

The new daylight saving time is supported by 35 per cent in our area.

An overwhelming 87 per cent would like to see railroads taxed on the same basis as other corporations.

The final question on the survey: Should parimutuel betting be allowed in Minnesota? 34 per cent favored and 66 per cent opposed.

I am always interested in your views on pending legislation and if you wish to contact me my address at the Capitol is State Representative Andrew Skaar, Room 383, State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

Discharge From Electric Plants Could Be Used

One way to increase the supply of energy might be to explore the possibility of using the warm water which flows from electric power plants, the magazine "Petroleum Today" reports.

The water, usually taken from a nearby river, lake or ocean bay, is used to cool the condensers of the power plant. As the magazine points out, the water is returned to its source several degrees warmer which "can be a problem or it can be a resource—a vast one. More research is needed to find constructive uses for waste heat. Experiments and projects now under way may point the way to more efficient energy use in the future."

Among the uses to which warm water has already been put:

—Heating experimental greenhouses operated by Dr. Merle H. Jensen of the University of Arizona's environmental research laboratory. Dr. Jensen humidifies, heats and cools his air-inflated greenhouses with waste water channeled through long plastic tubes.

—Controlling the environment in open-field agriculture. In Springfield, Ore., fruit and nut trees sprayed with warm water were not damaged by frost, while half the unsprayed trees were damaged. At Oregon state university, cauliflower and corn yields have been increased by more than 50 per cent by raising root and soil temperatures.

—Raising oysters 12 months a year. The idea was developed when a Long Island power company consulted the New York state department of environmental conservation on the possible effects of warmed sea water on marine life. The result—an oyster hatchery on the discharge lagoon.

Although waste water is a resource of large potential, there are problems to be overcome, says "Petroleum Today".

"Most power plants," it notes, "are located near cities, while many of the proposed uses (for warm water) are agricultural or aquacultural—far from cities. Low-grade heat must be used close to its source, or otherwise the heat is dissipated during transportation."

Thought For The Day

Sometimes we are not as self-reliant or self-sufficient as we would like to think we are or should be. In such situations what do we do? Where do we go? To whom do we turn? There are times when it may be well to go to some trusted friend, professional or nonprofessional for advice. Or it may help just to open up to someone else.

At other times it is good to go to God alone for a time of thinking, meditating and soul-searching. We need to get away sometimes from our busy schedules, from our daily routines. Jesus Himself felt the need to get away at times to be alone with His Father in meditation and prayer.

A pastor friend, formerly a missionary to India, said the people there practiced mediation frequently spending hours at a time in quiet contemplation. After returning to this country he tried to continue this practice which he too had begun in India. But he found it difficult because of the busyness of his parish ministry. Yet he felt the need to spend time alone with God in peace and quiet for strength, renewal and encouragement.

To whom shall we go? He alone has the words of eternal life.

Another Gap Widens

Talk all you want about a communications gap, a generation gap or a credibility gap, one of the main concerns in the agricultural areas of the United States is the spread between what a farm product brings and what it sells for in the store. In spite of higher farm prices than normal, the gap continues to grow wider.

"A new report discloses that the spread between what farmers got and what consumers paid widened even further in November with middlemen grabbing 56.7 per cent of the consumer food dollar," states an article in a current issue of the "NFO reporter".

Without listing the source of the report, the NFO publication continues:

"The widening spread continued the steady erosion of the farmer's share that began in August. Farm price advances at that time had given farmers more than 50 per cent of the consumer food dollar for the first time in 20 years.

"Price gouging reported for November dropped the farmer's share from an August high of 50.7 per cent back to only 43.3 per cent. Processors and other middlemen increased their take from 49.3 per cent to 56.7 per cent.

"The report showed the price of choice steers dropped from $53.83 a hundred (pounds) in August to $39.91 in November. Although the farm value dropped 26.3 per cent during that period, the price at the meat counter dropped only 6.4 per cent. The farm retail spread, as a result, widened 53.8 per cent.

"The story is similar for hogs with the spread widening 35.1 per cent during the three-month period. The report shows the farm value dropped 27.6 per cent during the three months, the wholesale price dropped 22.2 per cent and the retail price dropped 12.2 per cent," the NFO story concluded.

Few farmers are complaining about the prices they are now receiving for their products, but they are troubled that the retail market doesn't reflect the same degree of fluctuation which they must accept in the farm market. We feel they have a very legitimate concern.

Thoughts To Ponder

Louisiana Democratic Congressman Otto E. Passman provides some thoughts for the public to ponder in an article which appeared January 10 in the Phoenix, Ariz., Gazette:

Without intending to be offensive, the record should be put in the proper perspective. Let us look at the record:

When certain segments of the Democratic Party (and there is available information to support this contention) stole the election from Richard M. Nixon in 1960 by the manipulation of the votes in New Mexico, Illinois and probably Texas, did the Republicans try to impeach and destroy President Kennedy for the actions of certain segments of the Democaratic Party? The answer is no!

Of course, as unpleasant as it is to mention the episodes of Billy Sol Estes, Bobby Baker and others, I cannot find that the Republicans exploited these issues in trying to destroy Democratic candidates for any public office.

I say without equivocation or mental reservation that in my considered judgement, President Richard M. Nixon's integrity is unimpeachable. His greatness has been established—so much so that certain segments of the Democratic Party, of which I am a member, and for political reasons, are trying to destroy his greatness. It appears that there are many Democratic appointed judges who, through a subconscious urging, may be making themselves a party to the scheme to destroy President Nixon.

When Mr. Nixon was sworn in as President, we were in the midst of one of the most destructive and expensive wars our nation had ever been engaged in. Evidently, President Johnson could not develop a formula to conclude the war so he left the White House a broken-hearted man, and I believe that President Johnson felt he was turning the nation over to a man who had the ability and determination to conclude this terrible war that was claiming 300 precious American lives weekly. Could this have so embarrassed the Democrats that they are trying to blot out this great accomplishment?

When Mr. Nixon was sworn in as President, crime was running rampant in this country we love so much. He is slowly but surely bringing crime under control. Will this trend be reversed by present-day court decisions? What is the explanation for a Democratic appointed judge to sentence a man to 35 years in prison for the Watergate break-in, a crime that was not an act of personal violence, and in the same city or same court, a Democratic appointed judge released those who have confessed to armed robbery, rape and arson, maybe with the trail judge blaming society for the criminal acts? Where is justice?

When Mr. Nixon was sworn in as President, the Supreme Court was so distorting the Constitution by erroneous interpretations that they were turning our nation into a semi-socialistic state. Mr. Nixon is replacing such justices with men who render opinions based upon the Constitution, and such a court will ultimately benefit all Americans.

When President Nixon assumed command, he recognized that China with its 800 million population, representing 25 per cent of the total population of the world, was developing in every sense, even in the nuclear field, at an unbelievable pace. He knew that for the preservation of our nation we could not afford to permit China to affiliate with the Russians.

Mr. Nixon is trying hard to put our fiscal affairs back on a business basis, but somehow without exception, every time he moves in that direction the liberals and socialistic-minded try to embarrass him and stop him, and in too many instances they have been successful.

What is going on in our country? Look at those who are trying to destroy our President! Do you wish to turn this country over to the type of people who by majority nominated George McGovern as the Democratic nominee in Miami? We are being misled, and some of our best people are having their minds slowly by surely shaped by prejudiced commentators, and the radical segment of the news media.

I am thoroughly convinced that President Nixon had no knowledge whatsoever of the Watergate break-in. Let us prosecute the guilty, but not involve our President when there is no indication that he had any knowledge of their actions.

I am a lifelong Democrat, but I am an American first...I am proud that my President has the courage, wisdom and determination to do what is right, knowing well that his greatness will shine as a bright example to generations yet unborn...

Finally, may I urge you to read the Constitution of the United States and then ponder this question prayerfully. What crime has our great President committed to warrant the abuse heaped upon him by lunatics, liberals and bloodthirsty haters and, in many instances, misguided good Americans? Please do your duty and get your communication off to leaders of the House of Represdetatives, protesting the unwarranted action that a few propose.

Borrowed Nonsense

"I've never seen such a boy for asking questions," cried the father impatiently. "I wonder what would have happened if I had asked as many questions when I was your age."

"Maybe," suggested the lad, "you'd be able to answer some of my questions now."

Tenants of an apartment building were disturbed one night by sounds of someone running in the apartment above. The noise stopped after a few minutes, but occurred again on the next two nights.

On the fourth night, instead of the noise of running, there was a series of heavy thuds and thumps. The angry tenant marched upstairs, pounded on the door of the apartment and demanded of the woman who came to the door to know what was going on.

"I wish people would mind their own business," said the woman. "My husband has been ill and the doctor gave him some medicine and told him to take it three nights running and then skip one night."

The personnel director, interviewing a job applicant, said, "You ask pretty high wages for a man with no experience."

"Well," said the man, "It's harder work when you don't know anything about it."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Hidden campaign funds—perjury—recession—credibility—big business monopoly—we lap up these words like a cat goes after a bowl of fresh milk.

We pick up the paper or turn on the "Boob Tube", and if someone isn't blaming somebody for the terrible mess we are in we consider the day a total loss.

We have to face the fact that we are living in an era of instant communication with any number of politically ambitious "Simon Pures" telling us what is wrong with our government—our system—our country—our courts or anything else that will get their picture either in the paper or on television.

Oh! How we love to hear how we are suffering and how much better it will be when "Tricky Dick" is buried in disgrace and when honesty and justice shall (AGAIN?) prevail in our land.

What's in it for me?—Seems to be the point that rules our vote and gets our support.

I do not know what the answer is, but I would be willing to bet that if at this time the Good Lord were to say, "Let be who is without sin amongst you cast the first stone", he would have 90 per cent of the American people looking for a rock to toss. I have mine ready, just in case.

To the Editor:

We enjoy high school athletics very much and attend every game and meet we can. We live twenty miles from town and it does take effort to be there on time.

We do give the wrestling and football squad our best support, but this is natural because of blood participation, along with other young men from our church and area.

We feel these young men are some of the most dedicated athletes in our school. They train very hard and when its time for their match they cannot pass off to a teammate. The same is true of our swimming team. When your guts start to churn you know its all up to you, no one can help you.

Here's a challenge to all parents to attend a dual meet if you haven't done so. The fans have a good time with plenty to cheer about; we have a good team! Often the final score does not show how close the matches are. The wrestlers usually are well represented in the regional and state tournament too.

Our district meet is on February 16 at Thief River Falls so lets fill the gym and cheer these guys on. The cheerleaders work almost as hard as the boys and sure could use some help from a fan section to encourage Ed K. and Kenny J. and their gang. The student manager deserves recognition for his help to the team too.

And Mike, let's get some pictures in the paper. In the last issues there are many on hockey and basketball; why so little coverage on wrestling?

How come no pep band for the Virginia meet on Saturday?

Warren Spannaus
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

Failure of mail order houses to deliver prepaid merchandise is the largest single source of consumer complaints received by the Consumer Division of the Attorney General's Office, and is exceeded nationally only by complaints about auto repairs.

Consumers complain of loss of money, inconvenience, necessity of buying duplicate items because of immediate need, frustration and time loss in communicating with the seller and, generally, loss of faith in the marketing system.

Because the buyer and seller are often considerable distances apart, the seller can exercise much latitude in dealing with the customer with rather certain knowledge that he will not have to come face to face with him.

Late shipments or no shipments, failure to answer inquiries concerning orders, and a general marginal effort to be responsive to postal customer buyers, particularly when the buyer is likely to be a one-time customer, are causes for considerable complaint from those who buy by mail.

If you have a problem with a mail order firm try writing to the president of the company. If this approach fails and you feel your order is worth the expense, call the company long distance. If the telephone company does not have a listing for the mail order company, send a card to the postmaster in the city where the company is located requesting the company's address (often a post office box number) and telephone number. The U. S. Postal Service obtains this information when it rents post office boxes and will, upon request, distribute it to the general public. If these approaches fail to resolve your problem, contact the Attorney General's Office.

You might avoid some mail order problems by:

(1) Doing some comparative shopping and pricing to determine whether this product is available locally at the same or nearly the same price.

(2) Does the company offer a money back guarantee? Even if the company does not honor this guarantee, the statement of a guarantee could be the basis for legal action.

(3) Is the company reliable? Ask your friends about their experiences with the company. You should check with your local Chamber of Commerce or the Better Business Bureau and request that they contact their counterpart in the city where the mail order firm is located to determine the company's reputation. In addition, you can contact the Consumer Affairs Department, U. S. Postal Service, Washington, D. C. 20260. These precautions should be taken BEFORE sending any money to the company.

(4) Keep copies of both the advertisement where you found the particular product you want to order, and the order form which was transmitted to the company.

(5) Pay only by check or money order.

The Postal Authorities and the Federal Trade Commission are aware of mail order problems and are trying to alleviate some of these problems. The companies involved are many, and the merchandise is varied. If you have a consumer problem, please contact the Consumer Division of the Minnesota Attorney General's Office at 102 State Capitol Building, St. Paul Minnesota 55155.

Casimirs job is going okay but slow as the Argentines move so slow, lots of time in the U.S. they'd be fired before they start. Wylma states we Americans lead to fast a life. Thats the reason there are so many heart attacks and strokes. Mike their son from Redwood, Minn. who is a teacher spent Christmas with his parents in Argentina. But it was very hot there, 90 degrees. Casimir and Wylma plan to come home in June on a short vacation.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

America's two party system faces extinction and certainly the local two party system faces the same unless people learn quickly what they personally have to lose. Polarization of philosophies and attitudes fade a little in the light of political reality. It is now time for the Republicans to realize they face a totally dominant one party Democrat machine. What are the reasons for a free country to float into an attitude of dependence on the majority party which we know as the Democrat Party?

With the growth of government through necessity and the insidious power of the progressive income tax, dependency has grown with it. Almost every major industry has to deal directly with the government through controls, contracts, tax refunds, health and safety regulations, etc.

The list of involvement is almost endless and as one businessman after another throws up his hands in despair over the harassing and meddling of government, he learns to survive through bitter realism. This is true of dictatorships and it will be more and more true here as the Democrats continue to control legislation and the purse strings.

The checks and balances of the two party system have all but ceased to function except through such spectacular events as in Watergate. Here there is quite another mechanism working—that of a majority party seeing a chance to reverse the election process through endless investigation and impeachment.

Locally the survival of the Republican Party is entirely dependent on busy low and middle class working people. The city and county party organization is the only means through which the control of the party can mean anything. It is an exciting time for this to happen because with the disclosure of the large gifts by corporations to President Nixon's campaign, it will be quite obvious this will be drastically different in the next election.

It is also possible that the country will remember the 68 million dollars spent by COPE for their hand picked candidates on the Democrat side of the problem. The Republican Party locally has no regrets or apologies for the candidates presented in Minnesota in recent elections. For the 25 odd years I have worked in politics, I can truthfully say they don't come any more honest, more able, and more dedicated to good government than Walter Judd, Odin Langen, Jon Haaven, and Phil Hansen.

It is perhaps their honesty that hurt them. They had no price on their heads, they were not for sale and thus they lacked the backing of interests who buy and sell favors. What the Republicans lacked was a strong organization to back the excellent candidates that were given to them.

If the interest in the Republican Party stays as it is today, it won't matter who runs for office as Republicans because they will be defeated. The one party system will get stronger, but I don't think this is healthy for the country and it will be a disaster for local politics.

In my opinion the independents who hide behind the cliche, "I vote for the man", need to help the Republicans. Also it is obvious that those who consider themselves Republicans should think about a one party system when the next chance to get involved comes around.

Tailgate Special

Cheer your favorite football team to victory after a pre-game picnic featuring roast beef sandwiched between slices of a robust horseradish bread. If you can make muffins, you can bake this easy, quick mix bread which also contains mustard and mustard seed. Its lively flavor makes a beautiful accompaniment for Swiss or Muenster cheese, for ham or luncheon meats.

Tailgate Special
1 loaf

3 cups enriched flour*	¾ cup milk
¼ cup sugar	¼ cup oil
2 tablespoons baking powder	1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon mustard seed	1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1½ teaspoons salt
3 eggs, beaten

Stir together dry ingredients. Blend remaining ingredients. Add liquid all at once to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Pour into greased 4½ x 8½-inch loaf pan. Bake in preheated 375° oven 65 to 70 minutes, or until done. Cool 15 minutes before removing from pan.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Chet Engelman's talented Northland community college basketball team was nearly assured of a first ever MCCAA state tournament berth during the weekend even though the Northmen didn't play a game Friday or Saturday.

Last week Northland, Fergus Falls and Crookston were all bunched together in the Northwest Division standings seeking the two state tournament berths offered to the first place and runner-up division teams.

Northland's state tournament quest was given a big boost when Mesabi stopped Fergus Falls 79-70 Friday and Rainy River stunned Crookston 74-62 Saturday.

Although Mesabi and Rainy River are members of the MCCAA's Northeast Division, the weekend games counted in the Fergus Falls and Crookston conference standings.

Under an MCCAA master schedule, drawn up by Engelman in 1971, all Northwest Divison teams play each other twice and play all members of the Northeast Division at least once. Under MCCAA regulations, if a Northwest Division team plays a Northeast Division team twice during the regular season, the second game will count in the conference standings. So, although Crookston beat Rainy River in their first meeting, Saturday's game will count in the league standings.

A single Northland win over either Fergus Falls tonight (Monday) or over Hibbing on Saturday, February 23, will clinch a state meet position for the Northmen. Fergus Falls and Crookston will likely knock each other out of the pennant chase Wednesday when the Trojans play on the Spartans' court.

The MCCAA state tournament will be held February 27 and 28 at North Hennepin community college in Brooklyn Center.

Northland's hockey team, already promised a state tournament berth since it hosts the 1973 event February 28 and March 1 in the Thief River Falls sports arena, will play at Lakewood in White Bear Lake this week in what could be termed a "face saving" series for the Northmen.

Normally the MCCAA state hockey tournament field includes the top four teams from the regular season seven team conference standings. However, the host school is awarded a spot in the tournament field even if it finishes lower than fourth—knocking out the fourth place team.

Standings going into the weekend activity found Mesabi on top with a 12-2 record for 18 points; followed by Itasca 11-4, 16 points; Hibbing 7-7, 10 points; Lakewood 6-6, seven points; Northland 5-6, five points; Crookston 2-9, four points; and Rainy River 0-13, no points.

Iron Range powers Mesabi, Itasca and Hibbing have clinched state tournament appearances. Lakewood would normally get the fourth spot, but Northland will knock the White Bear Lake school out of tournament play. A Northland two game sweep over Lakewood Tuesday and Wednesday would provide an opportunity for the Northmen to rightfully earn their way into the state event.

The Northwest basketball conference owns an impressive 40-5 record against non-conference opponents this winter, according to a report from NWAC publicist Sam Moscatelli of Crookston.

Only Fergus Falls and Breckenridge have lost to non-conference teams this winter with the Otters losing games to strong St. Cloud Apollo and Alexandria squads while the Cowboys have lost three non-conference games.

LHS Swim Team Competes Sat.

Coach John Kopari's Lincoln high school swimming team competed in a large 23 team invitational meet at St. Cloud Apollo Saturday, finishing in an eighth place tie in the final team standings.

A strong Hibbing squad won the all-day meet with 90 points, followed by Hutchinson with 61, Brainerd 55, Fridley 35, Willmar 33, Northfield and Fergus Falls 31½ and Thief River Falls and host Apollo with 28½. Moorhead rounded out the top ten with 27 points.

The top Prowler individual finish was a third place in the 50 yard freestyle by Doug Williams in a time of 23.6.

The Prowler medley relay unit of Neil Sjulson, Jeff Carter, Williams and Dave Borning was clocked in fourth place time of 1:52 to set a new Lincoln high school record.

The other Prowler point producing finish was a fifth place by the freestyle relay team of Borning, Sjulson, Dan Cork and Williams in 4:34.4.

Thief River Falls will close out its 1973-74 regular season schedule this week when the Prolwers swim at Bemidji Thursday and at Fosston Saturday in a pair of 7 p.m. dual meets. Thief River Falls will compete in the first annual state qualifying West Central regional meet Friday and Saturday, February 22 and 23, at Fergus Falls.

PROWLER FORWARD Randy Dallmann found himself being tackled by Bemidji's Perry Dreyer (10) during a scramble for a loose ball in Friday night's basketball game played in the Lincoln gym. Bemidji's Jack Schwartz appears to be ready to snatch the ball away from Dallmann while Thief River Falls' Jerry Sandahl (11) decided to throw his weight around too. Bemidji won the Northwest Conference game 60-47.

TRF Turnovers NWAC Win To 'Jacks 60-47

Thief River Falls committed 26 glaring turnovers Friday night, most of which led directly to Bemidji points, as the Prowlers suffered through a frustrating 60-47 Northwest Conference basket ball loss to the Lumberjacks in the Lincoln high school gym.

The Prowlers committed their initial turnover in the game's first 20 seconds and Bemidji responded with a quick bucket by shooting ace Don Hubbell. Those two factors combined throughout the rest of the long game as the Lumberjacks completed a two game season sweep over the Prowlers.

A 5-10 floor general in Bemidji's wide open offense, Hubbell tormented the Thief River Falls zone defense as he dipped and dived his way to ten eye catching field goals to accumulate a game high 21 points.

Thief River Falls held just one lead in the ball game when Duane Dicken tapped in a rebound and Jerry Sandahl popped a ten foot jump shot for a 6-4 Prowler advantage with 2:30 remaining in a closely played first quarter.

After patiently working for their baskets with their recently developed time consuming series passing, the Prowlers watched dejectedly as Bemidji scored immediately on an easy fast break lay-up by rugged Stan Drew who was shifted from forward to center for the game with Bemidji's regular 6-7 pivotman Steve Vogel still suffering from a week-long bout with the flu.

Drew's bucket tied the game at 6-6 and the Lumberjacks were never again headed. Hubbell's twisting off balance driving lay-up at the seven minute mark gave the Lumberjacks an 11-8 lead at the end of the opening stanza.

Bemidji sprinted to a startling 19-8 lead at the start of the second quarter when Perry Dreyer and Hubbell each scored four points as the Prowlers tossed the ball away four straight trips down the court.

The Lumberjacks mounted a 14 point 24-10 bulge with 4:02 remaining in the first half before Thief River Falls suddenly reeled off nine straight points on four free throws by Sandahl and Randy Dallmann, a long base line jumper by Dicken and a field goal and free throw by Wayne Peterson to pull the Prowlers back into the ball game at 24-19 with 1:53 to go in the half.

Bemidji's offense managed to hold together, despite a sudden rash of their own turnovers, for a 29-23 halftime edge.

Coach Jack Luoma's Lumberjacks expanded their unsteady six point halftime lead into a more comfortable 35-23 spread at the outset of the third quarter as Drew, sophomore Jack Schwartz and Hubbell all hit from the field.

The two long time athletic rivals bobbled their way through a ragged third quarter with the Prowlers still clinging to a catchable point margin of seven, 42-35, at the third quarter break.

Bemidji quickly dispelled any thoughts of a Prowler victory at the beginning of the final quarter when the suddenly hot-shooting Lumberjacks rattled off ten straight points to balloon a seven point advantage into a 17 point 52-35 cushion.

A short jump shot by Dicken finally snapped the Bemidji quarter-starting scoring spree with 5:13 remaining, but Hubbell came right back to score twice in 20 seconds to give the Lumberjacks their biggest point spread of the ball game at 56-37 with 4:24 left.

Thief River Falls finally found its outside shooting eye in the game's final moments and trimmed the difference to a more respectable 60-47 margin.

The Prolwers shot 42 per cent from the field for the game by making 20 of 48 attempts. Surprisingly Bemidji shot only 39 per cent on 26 of 67 tries. Thief River Falls made seven of 11 free throw attempts and Bemidji sank eight of 15 gift tosses. The rebounding battle ended in a 29-29 tie, but the turnovers—26-14—proved to be fatal for the Prowlers.

BEMIDJI GUARD Don Hubbell slipped behind Thief River Falls center Wayne Peterson to score on a driving lay-up shot during Friday night's Northwest Conference basketball game played in the Lincoln high school gym. Hubbell poured in 21 points to lead the Lumberjacks to a 60-47 triumph over the Prowlers.

Prowler Rally Earns 6-3 Win Over Lakers

Thief River Falls spotted Detroit Lakes an early 3-0 first period lead Saturday before the Prowlers rallied with six straight goals to beat the Lakers 6-3 in an important two point region eight hockey game played in the Detroit Lakes fieldhouse.

Coach Bill McGann's Prowlers improved their 1973-74 season record to 11-5 by beating the Lakers and can clinch the region's north half point standings title with a win on Warroad ice tomorrow (Tuesday). Thief River Falls will close out its regular season schedule Friday when the Prowlers host region seven power Virginia in the sports arena in a 7 p.m. game.

The upstart Detroit Lakes sextet stunned the heavily favored Thief River Falls squad at the start of Saturday night's game as the hustling Lakers scored three goals before the game was seven minutes old.

Junior wing Jeff Johnson ignited the quick Laker start by scoring on a long range shot just 44 seconds after the opening face-off.

Detroit Lakes made it 2-0 just 25 seconds later when starry junior Mike Neitzke scored on an assist from Dan Yocum with still only 1:09 elapsed.

The Lakers, who surprised Thief River Falls 8-7 in a memorable first round region eight game last year, really worried the slow starting Prowlers when Yocum scored on an assist from Scott Bellefevile with 6:26 gone to hike the difference to a startling 3-0 margin.

Thief River Falls, outplayed despite outshooting the Lakers 14-3 in the first period, finally turned things around in the middle stanza as the Prowlers scored three times to tie the game 3-3.

Senior defenseman Mike Onkka scored the first Prowler goal 5:25 into the second period on a long shot from the point. Jeff Tunberg earned an assist on the play.

The margin remained at 3-1 throughout the rest of the period until seniors Tim Engelstad and Tony Dorn scored just three seconds apart in the waning moments to tie the game. Engelstad scored on assists from linemates Pete Hess and Max Thrall with 1:06 remaining and Dorn wasted no time whatsoever in getting the equalizer when his long bouncing shot eluded Detroit Lakes goalie Ed Sprague in what must be a school record three seconds later. Mike Noel assisted on Dorn's goal.

Thief River Falls carried its sudden found momentum into the third period by scoring three more times to wrap up the win.

Defenseman Greg Sorenson scored what proved to be the game winning goal on an assist from Jim Elleson with 5:41 gone in the final canto.

Junior wing Tom Barry scored the game's final two goals to assure the Prowler victory. Barry stole the puck from a Laker defenseman and scored a Prowler short handed goal at 8:09 on an assist from Sorenson for a 5-3 game before adding a second goal just seven seconds before the end of the game. Noel and Elleson picked up assists on the last goal.

Prowler goalie Joel Folger kicked out 15 shots in the game while Sprague was outstanding in the Laker nets, turning aside 37 drives and making several near sensational saves.

Matmen Outlast Mahnomen 24-14

Coach Ed Krystosek's Lincoln high school wrestling team closed out its 1973-74 dual meet season schedule on a winning note Thursday as the Prowlers bounced a strong Mahnomen squad 24-14.

Thief River Falls finished the year with a solid 8-4 dual meet record and will be trying to carry its' winning season momentum into the district 31 tournament scheduled to be held in the Lincoln gym Saturday beginning at 10 a.m.

Wrestling aggressively in the lower weights, Thief River Falls jumped out to a gapping 21-5 lead over the Indians, but still had to stave off a Mahnomen come-back effort in the upper weights to nail down the satisfying triumph.

Senior Lonnie Olson started the Prowlers out on a winning note with a 3-1 decision over Mahnomen's Rick Staw at 98 pounds. Staw led 1-0 on a second period escape before Olson rallied with an escape and a takedown late in the third period to give Thief River Falls a 3-0 edge.

The scoreboard margin remained the same following the 105 pound match when Prowler freshman Dan Hallstrom and Mahnomen's Rick Collison wrestled to a 3-3 draw. Hallstrom led 3-1 on a first period takedown and a second period escape, but had to settle for a tie as Collison rallied with a third period reversal.

Thief River Falls took an 8-2 lead at 112 as Mark Swanson scored five first period points on a takedown and nearfall to beat Mahnomen's Perry Doerfler 6-2.

At 119 Barry Newton of Thief River Falls broke open a scoreless match by gaining a pair of second period nearfalls enroute to a one-sided 7-0 lead over Mahnomen's Loren Francis. But Francis came back to match Newton's second period scoring and the Prowler grappler needed a third period escape to escape with a slim 8-7 win.

Elroy Hanson picked up the first Mahnomen win with a 6-4 triumph over Lyle Swanson at 126 for an 11-5 match score. Hanson earned a 5-1 second period lead but needed third period points on an escape and penalty call to win as Swanson rallied with a final period escape and takedown.

Sophomore Dale Furuseth made his varsity debut for the Prowlers at 132 and promptly disposed of Mahnomen's Dean Spaeth 10-5 for a 14-5 Thief River Falls lead. Furuseth's point accumulating effort included a pair of two point nearfalls.

Thief River Falls moved in front 17-5 in the 138 pound match as Daryl Myers outlasted Mahnomen's Mark Bruggeman 10-8. The two wrestlers traded points throughout the high scoring match with a final period reversal by Myers clinching the victory.

The Prowler lead climbed to 21-5 at 145 when Bryan Steiger manhandled Mahnomen's Dave Olson 11-1 for a four point superior decision. Steiger included three nearfalls in his performance while Olson managed to score only on a second period penalty call.

Despite trailing by 16 points the Indians were still in contention to win the match with Mahnomen's stronger upper weight wrestlers still in a position to pull out a triumph.

Mahnomen's talented Doug Spaeth scored two points in every period to decision Steve Nordhagen 6-2 at 155 for a 21-8 margin.

Rugged Gary Kjos nearly put the match well within Mahnomen's grasp when he had the Prowlers' Steve Sorvig on his back in the 167 pound match. Kjos wasn't able to record a pin, though, and had to settle for a 6-1 win for a 21-11 margin.

Although Lee Rolland of Thief River Falls lost a 4-3 decision at 180, the Prowlers clinched the meet victory with the verdict since Mahnomen needed a pair of final match pins to overcome the host school. Brad Francis of Mahnomen earned a third period escape to snap a 3-3 tie for a 4-3 win over Rolland to account for an uncatchable 21-14 Prowler advantage.

Thief River Falls heavyweight Dave Panek wrapped up the night's activity with a 5-3 win over Mahnomen's hefty Jim Choc. Panek earned four second period points on a reversal and nearfall to claim the victory.

Northmen Seek State Meet Berth Against Fergus Falls Tonight

Northland will try to clinch its first ever MCCAA state basketball tournament berth tonight (Monday) when the Northmen host Fergus Falls in a key Northwest Division game in the Northland gym starting at 7:30 p.m.

Heading into last week's play Northland, Fergus Falls and Crookston were involved in a tight three way first place scramble in the division standings. However, both Fergus Falls and Crookston suffered a pair of unexpected division counting losses to strengthen Northland's state tournament hopes. Fergus Falls lost to Mesabi 77-70 and Crookston was stunned by Rainy River 74-62 in weekend activity while the Northmen rested.

As a result from the weekend play, Northland holds a full two game lead over both Fergus Falls and Crookston with one win in the final two Northland conference games assuring the Northmen of a state tournament appearance.

Northland already owns a 98-95 win over the always strong Spartans. Tonight's confrontation could be another high scoring affair with the two teams ranking one-two in the Minnesota community college offensive charts. Both teams specialize in fast break offenses.

"It should be a heck of a good ball game," confirmed Engelman. Fergus Falls likes to run and they play excellent defense. They have probably the best full court press defense in the state."

The veteran Fergus Falls line-up is headed by 5-10 play making guard Paul Wenino, an outside sharpshooter. Inside scoring punch is added by 6-4 Pete Kruise and 6-3 Dennis Pieske. Wenino, Kruise and Pieske supply most of the Spartan scoring punch, but 6-5 Cal Schmidt and 6-0 Dan Olson have also made their presence felt at times. Blessed with talent-deep bench, Fergus Falls normally plays about 10 different players during a game.

The defending division champion Spartans own an unimpressive 9-9 season record, due mostly to the fact of a rugged non-conference schedule and the importance coach Dave Retzlaff puts on league games instead of all games.

"I think Fergus is as good as they've always been," commented Engelman about the perennial Northwest Division champs. "The only difference this year is that we're finally catching up—along with Crookston. We both have our best teams ever and we're pressing Fergus."

Northland's starting line-up will include 5-11 David Dickey and 6-0 Joe Brown at guards, 6-2 Bill Gusa and 6-1 Dave Kjos at forwards and 6-4 Burnie Stephens at center. All five Northland starters are freshmen. Sophomore Tom Kays, a 6-2 forward, and freshman Mike Peterson, a 5-9 guard, are also expected to see playing time tonight.

Northland will finish its 1973-74 regular season schedule with nonconference road games at Hibbing and Itasca February 15 and 16 before hosting Hibbing in a division counting game Sat., Feb. 23.

Duane Dicken

Duane Dicken Is Named To WCCO All-State Team

Duane Dicken became the first Lincoln high school player to be named to WCCO radio all state basketball team of the week squad when he was picked to the team announced Thursday on the station's Prep Parade program.

Prep Parade is a 30 minute weekly show devoted to the coverage of high school sports activities on a state wide basis. The series is hosted by Ray Christensen and Sid Hartman.

Each member of the all state squad receives a parchment certificate suitable for framing from WCCO.

Dicken, a 5-11 senior guard, scored 36 points in two games last week to earn a spot on the honor squad. The Prowler co-captain scored 16 points in a 51-49 win over Crookston, including the game winning final shot in the last second, before pumping in 20 points in a 57-38 triumph over Warren. Dicken carried an 11.7 season scoring average into Friday night's game against Bemidji.

Three other Northwest Conference players named to the latest WCCO all state team last week included Steve Wald of East Grand Forks, Perry Dreyer of Bemidji and Randy Johnson of Fergus Falls.

Bemidji Defeats Prowler B Squad Hoopsters 61-59

Lincoln high school junior varsity basketball team had its modest four game winning streak snapped Friday as Bemidji claimed a narrow 61-59 preliminary game win.

Bemidji led at all stops in the tight game by posting quarter leads of 16-15, 30-29 and 44-42.

Four Thief River Falls scorers reached double figures with Brian Waale scoring 21 points, David Grothe 13, Dick Johnson 12 and Don Forney 10.

The loss left the Glen Peters coached Prowler JV squad with an 8-6 season record.

Prowler Hockey B Squad Beats Lakers By 5-1

Lincoln high school junior varsity hockey team stretched its winning streak to 11 straight games Saturday with a 5-1 triumph over Detroit Lakes.

Five different Thief River Falls players scored, including Mike Jury, Bob Forberg, Tim Loeffler, Dave Wysoski and Kent Ehrenstrom.

Coach Dale Wennberg's Prowler Bees are unbeaten in their last games, boasting a 14-1-1 season record.

ITASCA GOALIE Bill McBride effectively covered the corner of the net with his leg on this play to thwart a scoring attempt by Northland center Al Eisenzimmer (10) during Saturday's MCCAA hockey conference game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Rob Elsinzimmer waited in front of the goal mouth for a pass or a rebound that never materialized. Itasca won the game 6-1 after claiming a Friday night series opener 5-3.

DALE FURUSETH of Thief River Falls stacked up Mahnomen's Dean Spaeth to record a two point nearfall in Thursday night's wrestling match in the Lincoln gym. Referee Doug Dahl of Greenbush kept a close eye on the action while signifying the points in the 132 pound match. Thief River Falls finished its dual meet season with a 24-14 triumph over the Indians.

Nordic Quint Trips Middle River 44-43

Newfolden outlasted Middle River 44-43 in North Border Conference basketball action Friday night on the Skippers' home court to boost the Nordic season record to 10-4.

The two basketball rivals traded strong performances in the first and second half as Newfolden opened up a one-sided 30-15 halftime bulge but was outplayed by a rejuvenated second half Middle River effort.

Newfolden led 8-4 at the first quarter stop and 30-15 at halftime before Middle River cut the difference to 36-26 after three quarters and outscored the Nordics 17-8 in the final stanza.

Dave Strandquist and Gary Kujanson, two starters who missed the Nordics' 46-34 upset loss to Greenbush last week because of sickness, paced Newfolden against Middle River as Strandquist scored 15 points and pulled down 10 rebounds and Kujanson scored 10 points. Mark Nelson led the Skippers with 14 points.

Newfolden shot only 27 per cent from the field for the game, making 17 of 63 attempts. Middle River shot a little better at 36 per cent on 18 of 51 tries. Newfolden made 10 of 18 free throws while Middle River made seven of 16 gift tosses. Middle River held a 31-26 rebound edge.

Newfolden will return to action tomorrow (Tuesday) when the Nordics host Warren.

Goodridge Beats Oslo Hoopsters By 71-53 Margin

Goodridge climbed over the .500 level Saturday night as the Huskies claimed a 71-53 Polar Conference basketball win over Oslo, improving the Goodridge season record to 8-7 for the first year head coach Mike Borgman.

Originally scheduled to be played Friday at Oslo, the game was changed to Saturday night because of stormy weather.

The Huskies' fast breaking offense supplied Goodridge with a 22-9 first quarter lead and the Huskies were never headed. Goodridge led 40-25 at halftime and 54-40 entering the fourth quarter.

Guards Arden Hyland and Howard Vigen spearheaded the wide open Goodridge offense as both backcourt players recorded nine assists to go along with a double figure scoring night. Tom Bendickson led the Huskies' offense with 20 points, followed by Hyland with 16, Vigen 14 and Don Grabowska with 12. Grabowska also led the Huskies with 10 rebounds.

Goodridge snapped out of a poor shooting spell by hitting 55 per cent from the field against the Bobcats as the Huskies made 30 of 55 attempts. Goodridge made 11 of 19 free throw tries while Oslo sank 15 of 23 gift tosses. Goodridge held a 40-30 rebound edge.

The Huskies will be back in action tomorrow (Tuesday) when Goodridge hosts Red Lake Falls. Goodridge will also be at home Friday when the Huskies entertain Middle River. Friday's game has been designated as senior's parent's night.

Itasca Topples Northland Six Twice, 5-3 And 6-1

Minnesota community college hockey power Itasca swept a pair of MCCAA hockey conference games from Northland over the weekend as the Grand Rapids school posted 5-3, 6-1 Friday-Saturday night wins in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

The twin losses dropped Northland's season record to 7-11 while lowering the Northman conference mark to 6-8. Northland will travel to the Twin Cities this week when the Northmen journey to White Bear Lake to face Lakewood in a pair of league encounters.

Itasca 5
Northland. 3

A strong Northland effort in Friday night's weekend series opener enabled the Northmen to outplay the smooth working Vikings until Itasca wrapped up the win with four third period goals.

Northland snapped a scoreless game at the start of the second period when freshman Jon Jensen scored on an assist from Randy Schmitz with 13:56 remaining. Itasca tied the game less than a minute later, though, when Rick Brown scored with 13:09 left to send the contest into a deciding third period deadlocked at 1-1.

Coach Swede Lund's Northmen began the wild third period outburst when freshman Tony Demarias scored an unassisted goal with just 42 seconds elapsed.

Once again Itasca responded immediately as Rick Christy scored just seven seconds after Demarias to tie the game 2-2. Moments later the Vikings enjoyed a 3-2 lead as Brown scored his second goal with 18:33 remaining.

Northland tied the game 3-3 on a second goal by Demarias, on an assist from Schmitz, with 10:57 left, but Itasca scored the game's final two goals. Bob Anderson scored only 55 seconds after the third Northland goal and Dan LeClair added an insurance goal with 3:36 to go.

The Northland game dominance was reflected in the final goalie save totals as Northland's Gordin Landin handled only 16 shots while Vern Nelson of Itasca was peppered with 31 shots.

Northland. 1

Saturday's game began in similiar fashion to the first contest as the two teams skated to a scoreless first period and Northland opened the scoring at the start of the second period.

Demarias scored the game's first goal, this time on an assist from Jensen, with 14:13 remaining.

Itasca then asserted itself by dominating the fast paced game and rattling off six straight goals. LeClair and Anderson both scored three goals in the Itasca outburst with Anderson also picking up three assists. LeClair scored twice in a 28 second span to wipe out Northland's 1-0 lead as the Vikings skated to a 3-1 advantage at the end of the second period.

Northland goalies Pete Sullivan and Craig Carter were tested with 20 shots while Itasca's Bill McBride kicked out 38 shots.

Northmen Finish UMTC Sweep 9-4

Sophomore defenseman Mike Protz collected a three goal hat trick and assisted on another Northland goal Wednesday to spark the Northmen to a 9-4 MCCAA hockey conference win over Crookston.

The victory marked the fourth straight Northland triumph over the defending state champion Trojans this winter after the Northmen claimed the first three meetings by identical 7-3 scores.

Northland opened up a 2-0 first period lead on goals by Al Eisenzimmer and Protz, but were forced to settle for a 2-1 margin at intermission. Eisenzimmer scored on an assist from Jon Markstrom with 12:28 remaining before Protz, on assists from both Al and Rob Eisenzimmer, chalked up his first goal with 6:09 left.

A goal by Moran near the end of the first period and a marker off the stick of Sutherland at the start of the second period enabled Crookston to tie the game at 2-2.

Freshman Pete Jerome scored just a minute after the second Crookston goal to put the Northmen back in front 3-2 with only 2:14 elapsed in the middle stanza. Mike Drury and Protz earned assists on Jerome's goal.

Crookston skated back to tie the game again at 3-3 on Sutherland's second goal midway through the second period before Northland rattled off five straight goals enroute to an easy win.

Randy Schmitz, Dick Penning and Protz bunched three goals together in the final five minutes of the second period to provide the Northmen with a 6-3 lead heading into the third canto. Schmitz scored on assists from Tony Demarais and Jon Jensen with 4:53 remaining and Penning scored with help from Arlan Tveit with 1:55 left. Protz scored on assists from Rob Eisenzimmer and Tveit with only four seconds remaining while Northland owned a five to four man advantage.

The Northland scoring barage continued into the third period when Demarais and Penning increased the scoreboard margin to 8-3. Demarais scored with assists from Jensen and Schmitz at the halfway mark of the period to account for a familiar 7-3 score. Penning knocked in an unassisted marker with 6:07 remaining to assure a different score this time around, though.

Crookston finally snapped the Northland scoring outburst as Bergman scored with 4:56 to go, but Protz capped a strong performance by scoring his third goal of the night with 3:40 left. Schmitz earned an assist on the final Northland goal.

Northland coach Swede Lund employed all three Northman goalies in the game with Craig Carter kicking out 13 shots in the first period, Pete Sullivan made 12 saves in the second period and Gordon Landin stopped 13 drives in the third period for a Northland game total of 38 saves. Crookston goalie Bud Smith handled only 20 shots successfully.

Lakers Clobber E. Kildonan 12-4 In Sports Arena

Bryan Grand scored four goals Sunday to spark the Warroad Lakers past the East Kildonan Screaming Eagles 12-4 in a Canadian Central Hockey league game played in the Thief River Falls Sports arena.

The win kept the Lakers momentarily atop the CCHL standings as the league winds up its 1973-74 regular season schedule. East Kildonan is the CCHL cellar dwellar.

The game was part of a two-part package sponsored by the Thief River Falls amateur hockey association.

Boat Show Will Fill St. Paul Civic Center

Even in the face of Minnesota's bitter cold, outdoor enthusiasts by the thousands will thaw out their summer vacation plans in the warm-weather world of the fourth annual Minnesota boat and sports show, February 20-24 in the St. Paul civic center.

Sportsmen's equipment of every imaginable variety will fill the 150,000 square foot civic center complex throughout the five-day run of the Cenalko Productions show and will include boats ranging in size from the huge cabin cruiser and giant houseboat to the lightweight canoe or inflatable rubber dinghy. The show will also include outboard motors for fishing or water skiing, hunting gear for the archer or sharpshooter, fishing tackle and accessories, water skis, taxidermy, scuba diving equipment and even materials for the dedicated flytiers.

A large selection of sailboats and sailing accessories will present a highly enjoyable way to experience the warm-weather fun of Minnesota's lakes and streams without any worries over fuel shortages.

The vacation-minded visitor will also find a great representation of resort owners from wilderness areas throughout Minnesota, Canada, and the surround-states. Wheather the preference is for a luxury resort spa or a quiet wilderness retreat one of these exhibitors will be able to assemble just the right package for a memorable summer family outing. Other resorts and lodges catering to sportsmen will outline their specialties to anxious fishermen and hunters searching for the perfect place to pursue their favorite pastimes.

In all, over 180 brand names of boats, motors and sportsmen's equipment will be represented in the show and many of the manufacturers—who have participated in other trade shows in the midwest—are reporting optimistic sales trends in light of the publicized "gasoline shortage."

Of particular interest is the strong sales showing of large cruisers and houseboats. Industry reports also show outboard motor sales holding very well in these early days of 1974. In Minnesota and Wisconsin, where outdoor recreation and tourism is so widely enjoyed and waterways are so plentiful, boating is expected to retain its popularity following a record sales year in 1973.

Boat and sports show visitors will be entertained with an hour-long stage show featuring a wide arrary of headliner attractions. Starring will be "The Life" singers, a multi-talented group of ten young musicians, who will delight the crowd with their varied musical repertoire and lively presentation.

Other acts will include the Clementis with their intricate feats of balance on bicycles; the aerial precision of the daredevil Reynoso Brothers; the Pompoff Thedy family—Spain's royal family of comedy; the expertly trained hunting dogs and retrievers of Loral I. Delaney; and the holder of 54 national and world casting championships—Bruce Brubaker—with an exhibition of his skills.

The entire houf of family entertainment, which will be presented Wednesday through Friday at 9 p.m., twice Saturday at 3:30 and 9 p.m., and twice Sunday at 3:30 and 7 p.m., will be emceed by veteran sports show personality Dean Sherman.

The Boat and Sports Show will be open from 5 to 11 p.m. Wednesday through Friday (February 20-22); noon to 11 p.m. on Saturday, and noon to 10 p.m. on Sunday. Admission, including the stage show performance, is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for juniors under 16, and free to preschoolers under five years of age.

2 $500 Rewards Given Reporters On Eagle Kills

Two awards of $500 each have been given by the National Wildlife federation to two men whose information led to convictions for shooting bald eagles.

A Fall Creek, Wisc. resident was rewarded by the NWF program when he notified officials that he witnessed two men kneeling in a field. He then noted their auto license number and later found a two to three-year-old dead eagle at the same spot in the field.

As a result, Robert Small, 39, Portage, Wis., was fined $109, the maximum allowed under state statutes, and his hunting license was revoked. Small pleaded guilty to a charge of killing a protected bird, but told conservation agents that he thought it was an owl or a hawk. Both hawks and owls are also protected birds in the state.

In the other incident, Lloyd Thynes of Petersburg, Alaska, was convicted on two counts of shooting bald eagles, fined $2,000 and sentenced to 180 days in jail after a witness provided authorities with information about the killings. Half of the fine and two-thirds of the concurrent jail sentences were suspended.

The $500 awards are the third and fourth to be given under the NWF program. Authorities have asked that the names of the awardees be withheld as it could place the witnesses in some danger.

The NWF continues to offer the reward upon verification that the claimant's information was substantial assistance in obtaining a conviction for shooting a bald eagle. The claimant must request the reward by writing to the National Wildlife federation within six months after conviction. If more than one bald eagle was shot by the convicted person, $500 will be awarded for one bird representing the total number shot.

Defeat Of Gun Bill In Senate Reviewed

(Editor's Note: The following account of defeat of the gun control bill in the Minnesota Senate was provided by Bill Richardson, public information officer in the state capitol, in a column entitled "News From the Minnesota Senate".)

A bill that would have regulated the sale and possession of handguns was defeated Wednesday (January 30) by the State Senate on a 22-40 vote.

Nineteen DFLers and three Republicans voted for the bill while 16 DFLers, 23 Republicans and one independent voted against it.

Majority leader Nicholas Coleman (DFL—St. Paul), chief author of the bill, said the four-hour debate and defeat were part of "the painfully slow educational process" the legislation must undergo.

The bill would have required persons desiring to purchase a handgun to obtain a permit from the local chief of police who would have investigated the application during a waiting period and prohibited alcoholics, drug addicts, mentally ill persons and those convicted of violent crimes from being issued such a permit.

Opponents asserted the bill would have been the first step to stricter gun control and that the discretion granted to the police in investigating permit requests was too great.

Senator Coleman stated at the outset of the all-day debate that he did not expect the bill to gain approval because "there are not 34 people in this chamber who have the courage to vote their conscience."

But some senators replied they felt they could not vote for the bill because of their constituents' belief about the effect of the legislation.

"You haven't told my people the story," Senator Myrton Wegener (DFL-Bertha), explained. Senator Wegener ultimately voted for the bill, saying Senator Coleman and his allies explained the legislation to his satisfaction.

Most of the bill's supporters represent metropolitan-area districts while senators from rural areas opposed the bill. Only three outstate legislators voted for the bill—Senators Wegener, George Conzemius (DFL—Cannon Falls) the majority whip and Alec Olson (DFL—Willmar).

Senator Coleman argued that the bill would reduce the chances of a handgun coming into the possession of a person who is likely to commit a crime thereby making policemen's jobs easier, that it would reduce the incidence of murder because "it's much more distasteful to have to kill someone with some other kind of weapon;" and that the persons opposing the legislation are a vocal minority without support from most Minnesotans.

"Ninety-nine per cent of those asking you to vote against this bill don't know what's in it," Senator Coleman asserted. "They make it sound like you're arrested by the Gestapo, and taken in the other room to be tortured."

Senators Coleman and William McCutcheon (DFL—St. Paul), a deputy St. Paul police chief, cited figures indicating that strict handgun control laws serve as deterrents to crime in other American states and cities, while Senator Harmon Ogdahl (R—Minneapolis), a cosponsor, compared gun control in other nations.

"But Minnesota," Senator Coleman said, "has the weakest gun control regulations in the country."

Senators Carl Jensen (R—Sleepy Eye) and Rolf Nelson (R—Golden Valley) countered that the state regulation of handguns has not resulted in inordinately high ranking in per capita violent crimes and that the legislation would not have much of an effect on those crimes that are committed.

"This is misdirected attention," Senator Nelson said. "It's a crime problem, not a gun problem."

Senator Thorup said it was the first step in disarming the public: "By 1984 there will be a movement to remove all weapons," he said. "The rationale will be that crime is getting worse so we need to get tougher and tougher gun laws."

But Senator Joseph O'Neill (R—St. Paul) one of three Republicans to vote for the bill said it "is not a confiscation bill. It simply puts guns in their proper place."

The bill would not have required registration of guns already purchased, Senator Coleman pointed out, or restricted possession of a handgun in a home or other controlled circumstances, such as exhibitions, contests or transportation. Voting was as follows:

DFLers Absent or Not Voting: Senators Jack Kleinbaum, Roger Moe, Clarence Purfeerst.

Republicans Absent or Not Voting: Senators Richard Fitzsimons, Douglas Sillers.

Earlier Wednesday the Senate gave final approval to a bill requiring three-year minimum sentences for persons convicted twice of commiting violent crimes with firearms.

The bill was passed on a 51-8 vote and sent to Gov. Wendell Anderson for his consideration.

Chief Senate sponsor of the bill was Senator Edward Novak (DFL—St. Paul).

Deadline Nears For Wolf Control Plan

Time is running out on Minnesota's last chance to retain management control over its timber wolves, the department of natural resources reported.

A federal law has been passed by congress and signed by the president which in effect says that unless the present Minnesota legislature approves a bill authorizing the DNR to implement its wolf mangement proposals, the federal government will take over March 28, 1975.

Minnesota commissioner of natural resources, Robert Herbst said "the timber wolf is a resident Minnesota wildlife species and should be managed by the state."

Under the federal act, the timber wolf is classed as an endangered species and subject to federal control, unless the state demonstrates its ability and willingness to protect it with an approved plan of managment.

Herbst, who made two trips to Washington to speak on the federal bill in congressional committees, said strong pressure is being brought to bear on the U.S. department of Interior by groups to ban the taking of wolves for any reason.

He said he is "virtually certain" that if the federal government takes over wolf managment in Minnesota, the state sould not even be allowed to permit taking of timber wolves preying on livestock or raiding wintering concentrations of deer.

"While we support protection of the wolf population there is a need for some carefully regulated control as well," said Herbst.

Under the federal law, a fine of $10,000 and six months in jail could be imposed on anyone found guilty of taking a timber wolf.

The house of representatives in the Minnesota legislature passed a bill in the 1973 session authorizing the DNR to implement its wolf plan but the measure has not moved ahead in the senate.

Herbst said the DNR wolf management plan was received favorably in Washington and that he believes that its enactment would satisfy the U.S. department of Interior that the timber wolf is being given adequate protection in Minnesota.

The plan calls for the creation of a 2,350 square mile complete sanctuary area extending beyond the borders of most of the boundary waters canoe area. No wolves could be taken within this zone.

Outside of that area, the wolf would be treated as a game animal with a strict limit set on the total number that could be taken during a given year.

With the current wolf population, the plan provides that during the first year the commissioner will issue an order halting the taking of wolves after 150 have been registered. Since some animals may be taken between the time the order is published and its legally effective date, the actual number taken the first year under the plan may exceed 150, but game officials say it will be less than 200.

The number authorized to be taken during following years would depend upon the status of the wolf population and the need for protection.

Each wolf taken would be registered with an agent of the commissioner and he would have the authority to close the season at any time after the established quota for the year had been reached.

Hunting and trapping seasons would be established during the fall and winter. The seasons would bracket the hunting dates for other game species and protect wolves during the time they are raising their young.

A big game license and trapping license would be required to take the animals during the respective seasons.

Currently, the timber wolf is classed as an unprotected species and enjoys little protection outside of the Superior national forest in northeastern Minnesota, which has been closed to the taking of wolves by the U.S. forest service.

Herbst said the only other protection afforded the wolf in Minnesota is a state ban on the use of snares or the taking of any wildlife species by airplane.

While there are few timber wolves in states other than Minnesota and Alaska there is a healthy population of the animals in both of these states and in Canada.

NORTHLAND WING Jon Jensen flipped the puck toward Itasca goalie Bill McBride on this close range scoring attempt during Saturday night's MCCAA hockey conference game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. McBride made the stop, however, to help preserve a 6-1 Itasca win. The Vikings won Friday night's series opener 5-3.

Minnesota Outdoors

Popular Activities

The five most popular activities, reported in a recent survey comprised by groups from U.S. bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife revealed sight seeing as the most popular outdoor activity. The study covered 40 areas in 13 states to determine different types and amount of annual outdoor use.

They listed 86 outdoor activities in their report. The five most popular activities and their percentage of use included Sight seeing, 28.3; fishing, 19; picknicking, 18; camping, 15; and hunting, 9.

Nearly three and one quarter million acres of state game lands purchased with revenue from hunting license sales and excise tax on sporting arms and ammo prove hunters' dollars purchase much more than just hunting.

An 11 per cent federal excise tax on long guns and ammo produced $41.5 million for conservation fiscal 1973. An increase of 15.9 per cent over the 1972 figure. Excise tax rose to $8.3 million, on handguns an increase over 1972 by 10 per cent. This amounts to over $50 million tagged for conservation-connected projects.

Mille Lacs Lake 300

The national snowmobile endurance derby will be held on Lake Mille Lacs March 2 and 3 out of Garrison. It will be run on a 100 mile oval track and sponsored by the Garrison commercial club. The time of race is 11 a.m.

Fisherman's guide for 1974

Any reader who wants a copy of the 1974 fisherman's guide may have one free by writing to Shep, p.o. box 1060, Antigo, Wisconsin 54409. It will be sent to you free if you mention Stu and Dee Mann.

Fish House Laws

All dark houses, fish houses, shelters or similar structures must not be allowed to remain on the ice after February 28 except in Minnesota-Canada border waters (March 31), Minnesota-Iowa borderwaters (February 20), Minnesota-South Dakota and Minnesota-North Dakota border waters (March 5) and Minnesota-Wisconsin border waters (March 1).

If not removed structures will be confiscated and removed or destroyed by a conservation officer. Contents of the structures will be seized and held for 60 days, and if not claimed by the owner by then, they become the property of the division of game and fish."

After February 28, structures may be placed on the ice and used during the hours between 7 a.m. and 12 midnight if the season is open on any species of fish in the lake and at the location of the structure. Structures found on the ice before or after these daily time limits are subject to the provisions described above."

New Directory Of Conservation Groups Offered

The "1974 Conservation Directory," 19th edition of the nation's most comprehensive listing of organizations, agencies and officials concerned with natural resources, is now available for $2 per copy from the National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

The directory includes entries for about 1,400 organizations and over 7,000 individuals. Sections listing members of Congress, Congressional committees, federal agencies, international, national and interstate conservation organizations, and government agencies and citizen groups of the U.S. and Canada are listed.

Additionally, a separate listing of U.S. and Canadian fish and game administrators, a guide to major colleges and universities offering professional conservation training, an index of periodicals and directories of interest, a list of some of the foreign governmental conservation environment offices, and references to certain audio-visual and bibliographic materials are included.

When ordering a single copy of the Conservation Directory, enclose a check or money order. Others for multiple copies may be submitted on official stationery or purchase order forms.

Boat Show Will Fill St. Paul Civic Center

Even in the face of Minnesota's bitter cold, outdoor enthusiasts by the thousands will thaw out their summer vacation plans in the warm-weather world of the fourth annual Minnesota boat and sports show, February 20-24 in the St. Paul civic center.

Sportsmen's equipment of every imaginable variety will fill the 150,000 square foot civic center complex throughout the five-day run of the Cenaiko Productions show and will include boats ranging in size from the huge cabin cruiser and giant houseboat to the lightweight canoe or inflatable rubber dinghy. The show will also include outboard motors for fishing or water skiing, hunting gear for the archer or sharpshooter, fishing tackle and accessories, water skis, taxidermy, scuba diving equipment and even materials for the dedicated flyties.

A large selection of sailboats and sailing accessories will present a highly enjoyable way to experience the warm-weather fun of Minnesota's lakes and streams without any worries over fuel shortages.

The vacation-minded visitor will also find a great representation of resort owners from wilderness areas throughout Minnesota, Canada, and the surround-states. Wheather the preference is for a luxury resort spa or a quiet wilderness retreat one of these exhibitors will be able to assemble just the right package for a memorable summer family outing. Other resorts and lodges catering to sportsmen will outline their specialties to anxious fishermen and hunters searching for the perfect place to pursue their favorite pastimes.

In all, over 180 brand names of boats, motors and sportsmen's equipment will be represented in the show and many of the manufacturers—who have participated in other trade shows in the midwest—are reporting optimistic sales trends in light of the publicized "gasoline shortage."

Of particular interest is the strong sales showing of large cruisers and houseboats. Industry reports also show outboard motor sales holding very well in these early days of 1974. In Minnesota and Wisconsin, where outdoor recreation and tourism is so widely enjoyed and waterways are so plentiful, boating is expected to retain its popularity following a record sales year in 1973.

Boat and sports show visitors will be entertained with an hour-long stage show featuring a wide array of headliner attractions. Starring will be "The Life" singers, a multi-talented group of ten young musicians, who will delight the crowd with their varied musical repertoire and lively presentation.

Other acts will include the Clementis with their intricate feats of balance on bicycles; the aerial precision of the daredevil Reynoso Brothers; the Pompoff Thedy family—Spain's royal family of comedy; the expertly trained hunting dogs and retrievers of Loral I. Delaney; and the holder of 54 national and world casting championships—Bruce Brubaker—with an exhibition of his skills.

The entire hour of family entertainment, which will be presented Wednesday through Friday at 9 p.m., twice Saturday at 3:30 and 9 p.m., and twice Sunday at 3:30 and 7 p.m., will be emceed by veteran sports show personality Dean Sherman.

The Boat and Sports Show will be open from 5 to 11 p.m. Wednesday through Friday (February 20-22); noon to 11 p.m. on Saturday, and noon to 10 p.m. on Sunday. Admission, including the stage show performance, is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for juniors under 16, and free to preschoolers under five years of age.

2 $500 Rewards Given Reporters On Eagle Kills

Two awards of $500 each have been given by the National Wildlife federation to two men whose information led to convictions for shooting bald eagles.

A Fall Creek, Wisc. resident was rewarded by the NWF program when he notified officials that he witnessed two men kneeling in a field. He then noted their auto license number and later found a two to three-year-old dead eagle at the same spot in the field.

As a result, Robert Small, 39, Portage, Wis., was fined $109, the maximum allowed under state statutes, and his hunting license was revoked. Small pleaded guilty to a charge of killing a protected bird, but told conservation agents that he thought it was an owl or a hawk. Both hawks and owls are also protected birds in the state.

In the other incident, Lloyd Thynes of Petersburg, Alaska, was convicted on two counts of shooting bald eagles, fined $2,000 and sentenced to 180 days in jail after a witness provided authorities with information about the killings. Half of the fine and two-thirds of the concurrent jail sentences were suspended.

The $500 awards are the third and fourth to be given under the NWF program. Authorities have asked that the names of the awardees be withheld as it could place the witnesses in some danger.

The NWF continues to offer the reward upon verification that the claimant's information was substantial assistance in obtaining a conviction for shooting a bald eagle. The claimant must request the reward by writing to the National Wildlife federation within six months after conviction. If more than one bald eagle was shot by the convicted person, $500 will be awarded for one bird representing the total number shot.

Defeat Of Gun Bill In Senate Reviewed

(Editor's Note: The following account of defeat of the gun control bill in the Minnesota Senate was provided by Bill Richardson, public information officer in the state capitol, in a column entitled "News From the Minnesota Senate".)

A bill that would have regulated the sale and possession of handguns was defeated Wednesday (January 30) by the State Senate on a 22-40 vote.

Nineteen DFLers and three Republicans voted for the bill while 16 DFLers, 23 Republicans and one independent voted against it.

Majority leader Nicholas Coleman (DFL—St. Paul), chief author of the bill, said the four-hour debate and defeat were part of "the painfully slow educational process" the legislation must undergo.

The bill would have required persons desiring to purchase a handgun to obtain a permit from the local chief of police who would have investigated the application during a waiting period and prohibited alcoholics, drug addicts, mentally ill persons and those convicted of violent crimes from being issued such a permit.

Opponents asserted the bill would have been the first step to stricter gun control and that the discretion granted to the police in investigating permit requests was too great.

Senator Coleman stated at the outset of the all-day debate that he did not expect the bill to gain approval because "there are not 34 people in this chamber who have the courage to vote their conscience."

But some senators replied they felt they could not vote for the bill because of their constituents' belief about the effect of the legislation.

"You haven't told my people the story," Senator Myrton Wegener (DFL-Bertha), explained. Senator Wegener ultimately voted for the bill, saying Senator Coleman and his allies explained the legislation to his satisfaction.

Most of the bill's supporters represent metropolitan-area districts while senators from rural areas opposed the bill. Only three outstate legislators voted for the bill—Senators Wegener, George Conzemius (DFL—Cannon Falls) the majority whip and Alec Olson (DFL—Willmar).

Senator Coleman argued that the bill would reduce the chances of a handgun coming into the possession of a person who is likely to commit a crime thereby making policemen's jobs easier, that it would reduce the incidence of murder because "it's much more distasteful to have to kill someone with some other kind of weapon;" and that the persons opposing the legislation are a vocal minority without support from most Minnesotans.

"Ninety-nine per cent of those asking you to vote against this bill don't know what's in it," Senator Coleman asserted. "They make it sound like you're arrested by the Gestapo, and taken in the other room to be tortured."

Senators Coleman and William McCutcheon (DFL—St. Paul), a deputy St. Paul police chief, cited figures indicating that strict handgun control laws serve as deterrents to crime in other American states and cities, while Senator Harmon Ogdahl (R—Minneapolis), a cosponsor, compared gun control in other nations.

"But Minnesota," Senator Coleman said, "has the weakest gun control regulations in the country."

Senators Carl Jensen (R—Sleepy Eye) and Rolf Nelson (R—Golden Valley) countered that the state regulation of handguns has not resulted in inordinately high ranking in per capita violent crimes and that the legislation would not have much of an effect on those crimes that are committed.

"This is misdirected attention," Senator Nelson said. "It's a crime problem, not a gun problem."

Senator Thorup said it was the first step in disarming the public: "By 1984 there will be a movement to remove all weapons," he said. "The rationale will be that crime is getting worse so we need to get tougher and tougher gun laws."

But Senator Joseph O'Neill (R—St. Paul) one of three Republicans to vote for the bill said it "is not a confiscation bill. It simply puts guns in their proper place."

The bill would not have required registration of guns already purchased, Senator Coleman pointed out, or restricted possession of a handgun in a home or other controlled circumstances, such as exhibitions, contests or transportation. Voting was as follows:

DFLers Absent or Not Voting: Senators Jack Kleinbaum, Roger Moe, Clarence Purfeerst.

Republicans Absent or Not Voting: Senators Richard Fitzsimons, Douglas Sillers.

Earlier Wednesday the Senate gave final approval to a bill requiring three-year minimum sentences for persons convicted twice of commiting violent crimes with firearms.

The bill was passed on a 51-8 vote and sent to Gov. Wendell Anderson for his consideration.

Chief Senate sponsor of the bill was Senator Edward Novak (DFL—St. Paul).

Deadline Nears For Wolf Control Plan

Time is running out on Minnesota's last chance to retain management control over its timber wolves, the department of natural resources reported.

A federal law has been passed by congress and signed by the president which in effect says that unless the present Minnesota legislature approves a bill authorizing the DNR to implement its wolf mangement proposals, the federal government will take over March 28, 1975.

Minnesota commissioner of natural resources, Robert Herbst said "the timber wolf is a resident Minnesota wildlife species and should be managed by the state."

Under the federal act, the timber wolf is classed as an endangered species and subject to federal control, unless the state demonstrates its ability and willingness to protect it with an approved plan of managment.

Herbst, who made two trips to Washington to speak on the federal bill in congressional committees, said strong pressure is being brought to bear on the U.S. department of Interior by groups to ban the taking of wolves for any reason.

He said he is "virtually certain" that if the federal government takes over wolf managment in Minnesota, the state sould not even be allowed to permit taking of timber wolves preying on livestock or raiding wintering concentrations of deer.

"While we support protection of the wolf population there is a need for some carefully regulated control as well," said Herbst.

Under the federal law, a fine of $10,000 and six months in jail could be imposed on anyone found guilty of taking a timber wolf.

The house of representatives in the Minnesota legislature passed a bill in the 1973 session authorizing the DNR to implement its wolf plan but the measure has not moved ahead in the senate.

Herbst said the DNR wolf management plan was received favorably in Washington and that he believes that its enactment would satisfy the U.S. department of Interior that the timber wolf is being given adequate protection in Minnesota.

The plan calls for the creation of a 2,350 square mile complete sanctuary area extending beyond the borders of most of the boundary waters canoe area. No wolves could be taken within this zone.

Outside of that area, the wolf would be treated as a game animal with a strict limit set on the total number that could be taken during a given year.

With the current wolf population, the plan provides that during the first year the commissioner will issue an order halting the taking of wolves after 150 have been registered. Since some animals may be taken between the time the order is published and its legally effective date, the actual number taken the first year under the plan may exceed 150, but game officials say it will be less than 200.

The number authorized to be taken during following years would depend upon the status of the wolf population and the need for protection.

Each wolf taken would be registered with an agent of the commissioner and he would have the authority to close the season at any time after the established quota for the year has been reached.

Hunting and trapping seasons would be established during the fall and winter. The seasons would bracket the hunting dates for other game seasons to protect wolves during the time they are raising pups.

A big game license and trapping license would be required to take the animals during the respective seasons.

Currently, the timber wolf is classed as an unprotected species and enjoys little protection outside of the Superior National forest in northeastern Minnesota which has been closed to the taking of wolves by the U.S. forest service.

Herbst said that the only other protection afforded the wolf in Minnesota is a state ban on the use of snares or the taking of any wildlife species by airplane.

While there are few timber wolves in states other than Minnesota and Alaska there is a healthy population of the animals in both of these states and in Canada.

NORTHLAND WING Jon Jensen flipped the puck toward Itasca goalie Bill McBride on this close range scoring attempt during Saturday night's MCCAA hockey conference game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. McBride made the stop, however, to help preserve a 6-1 Itasca win. The Vikings won Friday night's series opener 5-3.

Minnesota Outdoors

by Stu and Dee Mann

Popular Activities

The five most popular activities, reported in a recent survey comprised by groups from U.S. bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife, revealed sight seeing as the most popular outdoor activity. The study covered 40 areas in 13 states to determine different types and amount of annual outdoor use. They listed 86 outdoor activities in their report. The five most popular activities and their percentage of use included Sight seeing, 28.3; fishing, 19; picknicking, 18; camping, 15, and hunting, 9.

Nearly three and one quarter million acres of state game lands purchased with revenue from hunting license sales and excise tax on sporting arms and ammo prove hunters' dollars purchase much more than just hunting.

An 11 per cent federal excise tax on long guns and ammo produced $41.5 million for conservation fiscal 1973. An increase of 15.9 per cent over the 1972 figure. Excise tax rose to $8.3 million, on handguns an increase over 1972 by 10 per cent. This amounts to over $50 million tagged for conservation-connected projects.

Mille Lacs Lake 300

The national snowmobile endurance derby will be held on Lake Mille Lacs March 2 and 3 out of Garrison. It will be run on a 100 mile oval track and sponsored by the Garrison commerical club. The time of race is 11 a.m.

Fisherman's guide for 1974

Any reader who wants a copy of the 1974 fisherman's guide may have one free by writing to Shep, p.o. box 1060, Antigo, Wisconsin 54409. It will be sent to you free if you mention Stu and Dee Mann.

Fish House Laws

All dark houses, fish houses, shelters or similar structures must not be allowed to remain on the ice after February 28 except in Minnesota-Canada border waters (March 31), Minnesota-Iowa borderwaters (February 20), Minnesota-South Dakota and Minnesota-North Dakota border waters (March 5) and Minnesota-Wisconsin border waters (March 1).

If not removed structures will be confiscated and removed or destroyed by a conservation officer. Contents of the structures will be seized and held for 60 days, and if not claimed by the owner by then, they become the property of the division of game and fish."

After February 28, structures may be placed on the ice and used during the hours between 7 a.m. and 12 midnight if the season is open on any species of fish in the lake and at the location of the structure. Structures found on the ice before or after these daily time limits are subject to the provisions described above."

New Directory Of Conservation Groups Offered

The "1974 Conservation Directory," 19th edition of the nation's most comprehensive listing of organizations, agencies and officials concerned with natural resources, is now available for $2 per copy from the National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

The directory includes entries for about 1,400 organizations and over 7,000 individuals. Sections listing members of Congress, Congressional committees, federal agencies, international, national and interstate conservation organizations, and government agencies and citizen groups of the U.S. and Canada are listed.

Additionally, a separate listing of U.S. and Canadian fish and game administrators, a guide to major colleges and universities offering professional conservation training, an index of periodicals and directories of interest, a list of some of the foreign governmental conservation environment offices, and references to certain audio-visual and bibliographic materials are included.

When ordering a single copy of the Conservation Directory, enclose a check or money order. Others for multiple copies may be submitted on official stationery or purchase order forms.

Skarsten Tells Of Fair Thrills

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles from an autobiography of M. O. Skarsten, early Thief River Falls educator.)

Chapter Three

Baseball, in those days, afforded me a delight and a satisfaction that I have never experienced in equal measure since. The greatest thrill of all, though, came when we boys were permitted to watch our home team, Thief River Falls, play other teams, and especially so the White Earth Indians.

Of course, we did not have the money that would admit us to these games. So, more often than not, we would congregate outside the gate to the ball park and wait until about the fifth inning, when the gate keeper would generally abscond and we could enter. Sometimes it happed that a big-hearted businessman came along and gained admittance for us by paying the gate keeper a small amount.

The county fair, and the carnival that came with it, afforded us boys many an opportunity for fun and excitement. I can see yet that big black balloon as it ascended high into the heavens, with a mere man dangling underneath. I can experience anew the thrill that came to me when that mere man disengaged himself from that balloon and streaked downward toward Mother Earth like a bolt of lightning, until his parachute opened, when he would descend toward terra firma as gracefully as a soaring hawk on outstretched wings.

Meanwhile, the balloon, as if angry at having been thwarted, tipped over, disgorged itself of the black smoke that had lifted it aloft, and began its descent to the ground like a meteor with a wagging tail.

An even more daring stunt, though, it seemed to me, was the performance of the high diver. From a tiny platform at the top of a ladder, this man would hurl himself head first toward a net at the foot of the ladder a hundred feet below him. He would land in that net on his back. The net would bounce him into the air, not once but two or three times, when he would regain his feet and hop to the ground. What if some slight miscalculaton should have caused him to come down from that tremendous height and hit one of the posts of the net insteqd of the net itself? I almost shiver yet when I think of it.

Another daring stunt, to me, was that of a young woman in tights who was pulled up by a pulley to a water tank a hundred or more feet above the ground. Had this young woman performed such a stunt today, she probably would have been attired in a bikini. In those days, though, customs of a mid-Victorian era would not permit her so to expose herself. So, of course, she had to wear tights. These concealed her body from her neck to her ankles, but they did not come near to concealing her curves. For, as you might expect, that young woman did have curves. And, of course, she was beautiful.

I doubt if there was even one man in that crowd of spectators who did not fall in love with her. I know I did, boy though I was. And so close was I to the platform on which she stood, while being made ready for her stunt, that I could have touched her.

I recall that she stood, facing the water tank. A rope extended from the ground behind her to the tank itself. A collar was placed around her neck. The collar was hooked on to the pulley on the rope above her head. Thus hooked up, she was hoisted, on that pulley, all the way to the water tank, a good one hundred feet above the ground.

Was she afraid as she stood there while they made her ready? How could she help but be? She did not speak. She did not smile. She did not even look at anyone. And soon was she on her way, dangling in mid-air, until, finally, she reached the top, when she let go of the rope onto which she had clung.

Then down she came, on that screeeching pulley, with terrific speed. Nor did she come to a stop until she had landed with a whack against a heavy blanket held by four stout men who had properly stationed themselves for the purpose while she was being pulled aloft. I can hear yet the loud applause—even cheers—that came from that crowd of spectators after she had made her daring descent and had stepped onto the platform and raised an arm and smiled.

Family Events At RRVWS Set For Feb. 15-17

"Around the World in Seven Days" has been selected as the theme for armory events at the 1974 Red River Valley Winter shows. Visitors will find that there is a particular emphasis on the arts during the first three-day segment, February 15, 16 and 17.

Friday, February 15, is set aside as Senior Citizen Day with groups from up and down the Valley invited to attend a special Senior Citizen luncheon and program at the armory.

Friday evening features on 8 p.m. concert by the Grand Forks "Sweet Adelines" and the "Harmony Reunion" Barbershop Quartet, also of Grand Forks. The concert, "Around the World in Song", is open to the public at the regular Winter Shows admission fee. Armory exhibits will also be open Friday evening.

An Arts and Crafts festival highlights events on Saturday and Sunday, February 16 and 17. Twenty-four craftsmen from Minnesota, North Dakota and Manitoba will feature continuous demonstrations from their booths and offer a variety of handcrafted items for sale. The festival will be open until 9:00 p.m. Saturday and will close at 7 p.m. on Sunday.

A special feature of the arts festival will be Frances Karlsson's One-Woman Art Show. Mrs. Karlsson is a well-known artist from Roseau, who describes her work as "realistic, not abstract". Her exhibit, which will be hung in the armory classroom February 15, 16 and 17, will include a number of pieces available for sale. The artist, who studied commerical art at the American Academy of Art in Chicago, will be on hand all three days and will also offer five different one-hour demonstrations.

Teen-agers will find two new events especially for them on Saturday, February 16. A Teen Style Show by the UMC Fashion Merchandising students and the Climax High School Home Economics department is set for 3 p.m.; and the armory rifle range has been set up as a "Teen Center" for Youth Day participants from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

The Pioneer Home Exhibit, which was so successful last year, will be back again this year for a six-day run. Cream separating, butter churning and a variety of other pioneer crafts will be demonstrated in special shows several times each day.

A Children's Art exhibit is a new event this year and will be displayed in the armory February 15-20. Grade schools throughout the Valley have been contacted and invited to submit entries relevant to the "Around the World" theme. The drawings will be judged and ribbons awarded to the winners.

The Town and Country Art show will be on display in the armory February 15-20. Entries will be judged and cash prizes awarded. The competition is open to both amateur and semi-professional artists in the Red River Valley. It should be noted that this Town and Country Art show has no connection with the Minnesota Art exhibition, which is sponsored by the University of Minnesota-Extension Service. For full information and entry blanks, write Mrs. Elwood Dewhurst, Chairman, 712 North Front, Crookston, MN 56716.

The Women's Division of the Red River Valley Winter Shows has planned an action-packed week of events of special interest to women, children and the family. Other activities will be featured in the news media in the weeks ahead. For a detailed, daily schedule of armory programs for February 15-21, contact the Red River Valley Winter Shows office, Box 402, Crookston, MN 56716.

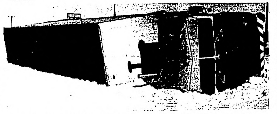
"VOCATIONAL EDUCATION Is For Everybody" is the theme of vocational education week being observed nationally February 10-16. Joel Folger, right, vocational center student, and Carolyn Trontvedt, post-high school vocational student, show the poster proclaiming the week to (left to right) Donald Lindquist, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce; Arnt Aune, director of the area vocational-technical institute; Robert Carlson, mayor who signed the proclamation designating the week locally; and John Tofte, director of the Northwest vocational center for high school students.



TRUCKERS' problems aren't limited to the price of fuel and speed limits. The driver of this rig, Gary Dreyer of Winnipeg, was driving south on Highway 59 shortly after midnight Saturday and pulled onto the shoulder to stop. He reportedly drove too far into the snow which disguised the edge of the ditch and his tractor and trailer rolled. No injuries or damage was reported when Dreyer contacted the local police department at 1:40 a.m. yesterday (Sunday).

VA To Pay Out $6.67 Million In Dividends

A record $6.67 million in dividends will be paid during 1974 to 88,260 Minnesota veterans insured under World War I and II government life insurance policies, the Veterans Administration announced recently.

Leo A. Bodde, acting director, VA center, Fort Snelling, said increased dividends result chiefly from higher interest earnings in national service life insurance (NSLI) and United States government life insurance (USGLI) trust funds.

He emphasized that veterans who expect checks need not contact the VA about their dividends since payments will be made automatically through the year on the anniversary dates of the individual policies.

In Minnesota, 85,192 World War II veterans with NSLI policies will receive $6.19 million, averaging $73 per policy. A total of 3,068 World War I USGLI policyholders in the state will receive $481,000 in dividends, averaging $157 per policy.

Dividends will vary from a few dollars to several hundred dollars, depending on the policy plan, amount of policy, age of the insured and age of policy.

Bodde said that 915,000 World War II veterans, nationally, have chosen to purchase additional insurance coverage rather than receive their dividends in cash. These veterans previously asked to buy the paid-up insurance under a program adopted in December 1971.

Dividend payments will continue throughout 1974 on policy anniversary dates of "participating" NSLI policies with a prefix "K."

He said that on a national basis, nearly 4.2 million veterans are carrying $27.3 billion worth of NSLI, while 161,300 veterans are insured for $685.4 million under USGLI.

SELECTED as one of a 15-member board of trustees for KGFE, Grand Forks educational television station which will begin broadcasting early this spring, is Robert Poissant of Thief River Falls. Poissant is a certified public accountant and partner in the firm of Holcomb, Knudson & Co. The company's transmission facilities are being constructed under a $305,163 federal grant to North Central Educational Television, Inc., Fargo, N.D.

Minnesota Wool Growers To Hold Meet At RRVWS

"Wool growers who would like to hear about expected wool prices in 1974, learn how good wool preparation receives better prices and help commemorate our 50th year, are invited to attend the Minnesota Wool Growers annual meeting," said Earl Cunningham, president of the association. This year's meeting is being held in conjunction with the Crookston Winter shows.

All wool growers and friends are cordially invited to attend the meeting to be held at the Kiehle auditorium at the University of Minnesota Technical college, Crookston, with registration beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday, February 16.

Cunningham said that a very fine program has been scheduled for the day. Dr. B. Youngquist, superintendent of Northwest Experiment station in Crookston will talk about "Past and Present Research Efforts." A special color slide presentation will give members a look at the association's facilities.

There will be a complimentary lamb luncheon at 12:30 p.m. at Bede hall. All-wool door prizes will be given.

Cunningham concluded the statement by saying the meeting will adjourn after lunch so growers will be able to participate in the Crookston Winter shows Bred Ewe sale scheduled for 2:30.

World To Enter "New Era" In Crop Production

World food supplies may get a lift from a "new promising era in crop improvement," according to Sterling Wortman, vice president of the Rockefeller foundation.

Wortman delivered the first annual H.K. Hayes memorial lecture on the University of Minnesota's St. Paul campus Tuesday evening, February 5. Hayes was a distinguished international plant breeding scientist who was affiliated with the University's department of agronomy and plant genetics for over 40 years.

Establishment of a "series of new international, apolitical research and training centers is a most promising innovation," he said. "These institutes deal primarily with the basic food sources—rice, wheat, maize, sorghum, millets, food legumes, potatoes, cassava, yams, sweet potatoes, beef and swine.

The new centers are located in the Phillipines, Mexico, Colombia, Nigeria, Peru, India, Taiwan, Kenya and Ethiopia.

This series of "independent but cooperating international institutes is being established and supported by the consultative group for International Agricultural research, which consists of some 26 governments, international banks and assistance agencies, and three foundations."

New forms of international cooperation also may bolster food supplies in poorer countries, he said. "At the international level, growing numbers of crop and soil scientists are working together....with people of varied backgrounds." This has resulted in a "growing world fraternity of people with an improved understanding of the importance of agricultural science and the agricultural development processes. And at national levels, we see similar interactions."

New breakthroughs also can improve the world food picture, he said. Some scientists say the protein content in rice can be raised by 20-25 per cent without loss of yield or a reduction in protein quantity. This would enable both children and adults on rice diets to get the minimum daily requirement of dietary protein just from rice.

"Although world food stocks are now low....and much of the world's land has been brought into production, there remains one great food reserve—the tremendous gap between existing low agricultural yields in much of the world and the high yields we seek."

Jesse St. Clair Awarded Degree

Jesse John St. Clair of Thief River Falls received the Master of Science degree in counseling from Bemidji state college at the end of fall quarter, according to Dr. William Sellon, dean of graduate school at BSC.

Bemidji state college awarded 16 masters degrees at the end of fall quarter, with two mater of arts and 14 master of science degrees confereed on successful candidates.

Land O'Lakes Reports Sales Up 25 Per Cent

Land O' Lakes, Inc. sales for 1973 set an all-time high of $935-million, up 25 per cent from the previous year, and pre-tax earnings of $14.6-million, up 15 per cent, reached a near all-time high. The announcement was made at the farm supply and food processing and marketing cooperative's 53rd annual meeting in Minneapolis on February 8.

According to D. H. Henry, president of Land O'Lakes, "This growth becomes more meaningful when we consider the operating conditions we experienced during the year. These included product allocations, highly volatile markets, adversely tilted dairy support programs, reduced milk production and a detrimental government economic program."

In 1973, Land O'Lakes made payments to members totalling $7.6 million for patronage redemptions and retirement of equities. Total assets are now $238 million, up from $199.5 million the previous year, and member equities are nearly $107 million, up from $101 million.

Land O'Lakes is owned by 175,000 upper midwest farmers, either through membership in approximately 900 local cooperatives or through direct membership.

On Feb. 19, 1936, former Brigadier Gen. Billy Mitchell died in New York City. He was buried at Milwaukee, Wisc.

Fred Sorensen
Treasurer

Vic Kalinoski
1st Vice President

Don Lindquist, manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone company in Thief River Falls, was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce here for 1974 at the annual board of directors meeting held Monday evening at Noper's Motel. He succeeds Jon Larson as president of the organization.

Norris Melander, owner of Home Lumber company, was elected vice president and president-elect. Vic Kalinoski, owner of Ace hardware, was elected second vice president to succeed Dennis Wojahn and Fred Sorensen, vice president and agricultural representative of Frst Northwestern state bank, was reelected treasurer.

Melander and Kalinoski are new members of the board, declared elected along with Bill Dee, owner of the Ben Franklin store, and Dave Voelx, manager of the Bostwick's store. All were nominated by the nominating committee and declared elected when no other nominations for directorships were received from the general membership. Nomination forms were mailed to Chamber of Commerce members for that purpose.

Completing their terms on the board are Dwight Tangquist, Dwight's Hartz supermarket; Orin Green, mortician; Victor Charles, president of Northland community college; and Milton Reierson, president of First Federal Savings and Loan association.

Continuing on the board in addition to the officers and first-year members previously noted are Larson as past president, are Robert Ekeren of Ekeren Drug, Dennis Wojahn of the Credit Bureau of Thief River Falls, Dr. A.F. Scheuneman of Falls Clinic PA, Tony Dorn of Tony Dorn, Inc., Mrs. Betty Walton of Mr. Duane's and Richard Trudeau of Arctic Enterprises.

Annual meeting of the general membership of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday, March 5, at the National Guard armory with Frank Rose of Minnkota Power cooperative in Grand Forks, N.D., as the guest speaker. The dinner will be catered by Lon's Cafe.

45 Scholarships Awarded By AVTI

Scholarships were presented yesterday (Tuesday) at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute (AVTI) during the annual awards ceremonies held in conjunction with national vocational education week. Award winners, parents and representatives of sponsoring businesses and organizations were guests at an informal coffee hour served by AVTI faculty wives. Dr. W. S. Corliss, superintendent of schools, and A. M. Aune, director of the Thief River Falls AVTI, were also present.

Recipients of scholarships were selected on the basis of school performance as well as financial need. Selections were made by the AVTI faculty scholarship committee consisting of Mrs. Julie Thorson, Mrs. Lova Kraemer, Patricia Meglich, Dennis Wilkens, Dean Paskewitz, Donald Hermanson and Robert Reeve (chairman).

The sponsor awarding the largest number of scholarships was the L. B. Hartz foundation with checks going to Virgil Dufault, Crookston, auto body repair; Cindy Homstad, Hallock, clerical; Steve Hagen, Lowry, audio communications; LuAnn Dietel, Fosston, general secretarial; Susan Stock, Crookston, medical secretarial; Louise Evans, Roseau, medical secretarial; Amy Olson, Oklee, general secretarial; Carole Johnson, Kennedy, medical

Mongoven Talks To NCC Class

Mike Mongoven, Thief River Falls park and recreation director, was recently guest speaker at the introduction to recreation class at Northland community college.

Mongoven explained his duties, the career opportunities in recreation and certification standards for the position of a director in parks and recreation.

After his presentation, students were given the opportunity to ask questions and hold a discussion. The appearance by Mongoven provided excellent first hand information about a career in recreation to Northland students.

Action Deferred On New Building For Oakland Park

Agreement to defer a final decision on new construction for Oakland Park nursing home for not more than two months was made at the annual meeting of the joint board Tuesday in Thief River Falls, according to Mrs. Sherryll Irvine, administrator of the home.

During the interim between the annual meeting and a special meeting to be called to decide on construction, dual ownership of the home by Pennington and Mrshall counties is to be resolved. Joint board of Oakland Park consists of the welfare boards of Pennington and Marshall counties.

At the meeting Tuesday the executive board of the home was reelected and includes commissioners Julius Kleinwachter of Strandquist and Uno Rantanen of Middle River, Marshall county, and commissioners Glenn Tasa of Trail and Odin Hanson of Thief River Falls, Pennington county.

Hanson, who presided at the joint meeting, was reelected chairman of the executive board. Kleinwachter was reelected vice chairman and Rantanen was reelected secretary.

ICC To Hold Monthly Meet

Board of directors of Inter-County Community Council, Inc., will hold its regular monthly executive meeting at the B-B lunch at McIntosh on February 20.

The business meeting will be held at 7 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

Offices Close On Monday For Legal Holiday

President's day holiday on Monday will result in closing of county, state and federal offices and some area schools, although Thief River Falls public schools and St. Bernard's school will be in operation that day.

Schools announcing President's day closing are Goodridge, Plummer, Viking and Marshall county central at Newfolden.

County offices at the Pennington county courthouse will be closed as well as all offices in the new federal building. Post office will observe holiday scheduling with no rural or city delivery or window service although mail will be dispatched as normal and also distributed to postal boxes.

St. Hilaire And TRF To Receive Mantoux Testing

Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire schools will be giving the skin test for tuberculosis next week, according to Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse.

The school health council on January 29 voted to continue the same Mantoux program of the past few years. Even though this area has found very few new tuberculin reactors, the committee could see no reason for cutting the testing program at this time Mrs. Race said.

Mantoux test will be offered to grades twelve, seven, and one. The continuing Mantoux permit card, which has been in use for several yars, allows testing of the school child throughout the 13 years of school attendance."

Hazel Huot

Frank Gillespie

Mrs. Huot Heads IWA Local 4-348

Mrs. Ernest (Hazel) Huot has become the second woman in the five-state region to head an International Woodworkers of America local. The Thief River Falls employee of Arctic Enterprises advanced to the presidency of Local 4-348 this month when former president Frank Gillespie resigned to accept a position as regional organizer.

Gillespie was appointed to his new position with the union by regional director Ross Burnell and a national vice president. He will cover the five-state Midwestern states regional council but concentrate on Minnesota and work out of his home in Thief River Falls. Regional office is in Wausau, Wis.

Mrs. Huot was elected first vice president of the Thief River Falls-based local in 1972 for a two-year term and was advanced to the presidency officially on February 1. She began working for Arctic Enterprises in 1968, joined the union two months later, was appointed recording secretary and plant steward in the fall of 1970, and since June of 1973 had served as president pro tem of the organization when Gillespie was on leave for region service.

According to Wayne Bjornrud, business agent for Local 4-348, the local has the highest percentage of women members of any local in the five-state region. Local 4-348 has close to 2,000 members from nine operations in Thief River Falls and area communities, including Arctic Enterprises and Polaris Industries. Mrs. Huot works in the Arctic Enterprises and Polaris Industries. Mrs. Huot workes in the Arctic assembly plant and her husband in the sheetmetal department.

Other changes in officers of the local include elevation of Allen Walsh, Badger, from second vice president to first vice president and appointment of Richard Van Camp of Thief River Falls to fill the second vice president vacancy. Walsh is an employee of

IN PREPARATION for an area meeting of school board representatives on teacher negotiations held in Thief River Falls Tuesday evening, Jim Jacobs (center), assistant executive director of the Minnesota School Boards association, met with Curtis Charlson (left), chairman of the local board of education and Dr. William Corliss, superintendent of schools. An estimated 150 or more school board representatives and superintendent from northwestern Minnesota attended the meeting last night. Jacobs covered new areas of law regarding negotiations and problems which boards may anticipate in financing increases in salaries. He noted that the organization negotiating for teacher salaries has the authority to assess non-members for representation and reviewed such items as unemployment compensation, strike potential and technical aspects of negotiation and settlement. Thief River Falls school district has not yet entered formal negotiation procedures.

School Board Hears Thorfinnson Monday

Thief River Falls board of education heard a report from Vaughn Thorfinnson, vocational adjustment counselor, and approved criteria for termination of teaching positions at the regular meeting held Monday evening at the school district service center.

Next meeting of the board will be held Monday, February 18, at 8 p.m. in the Franklin and Mark Twain school complex.

Thorfinnson, who has his headquarters in the school district service center here and was recently selected counselor of the year for the division of vocational rehabilitation in the state department of education, reviewed his program and case load.

Although he serves a number of school districts in Northwestern Minnesota the largest case load is from the Thief River Falls district, he said. He has responsibility for all handicapped age 16 (or down to age 14 in special cases) or older to assist them to become gainfully employed. Depending on type and severity of handicap and availability of employment, he said, each case can be of short duration or up to seven years in process.

Thorfinnson said he is presently working with a case load of about 60 people. Letters from area school districts were shown to the board as they relate to sharing cost of the program in excess of state support.

Resolution on determining which teacher contracts will be terminated in effecting discontinuance of positions due to reduction in enrollment, discontinuance or curtailment of program was adopted on a 3-2 roll call vote. Clyde Christensen, Kenneth Murphy and Harry Sjulson voted in favor with Rev. Paul Biegner and Wallace Sparby opposed. Curtis Charlson and Maynard Wedul were absent. The criteria states:

"Services terminated by discontinuance or lack of pupils; preference given. Any teacher whose services are terminated on account of discontinuance of position or lack of pupils shall receive first consideration for other positions in the district for which (s)he is qualified. In one or more positions, in making such discontinuance, teachers shall be discontinued in any department in the inverse order in which they were employed."

Disagreement among board members concerned the last sentence which set seniority as the only criteria for termination or job retention. Supt. William Corliss projected termination of three elementary positions and other positions in other schools due to reduction in enrollment and program participation.

Resignations were received from Ken Grundhaus and Don Koury, bus drivers, and Sylvia Rondorf, clerical aide at Knox elementary school. Hired were; Ruby Beauchamp, cafeteria worker at Franklin, $2 per hour; Velma Holmes, speech technician, $4 per hour; Charles Hanson and James Peterson, bus

THORFINNSON

VAUGHN THORFINNSON, seated, has been selected counselor of the year for the division of vocational rehabilitation in the Minnesota department of education. He is shown with Warren D. Green, his area supervisor. As state winner of the award he will now compete on a regional level. Thorfinnson headquarters out of the Thief River Falls school district service center and serves handicapped in finding employment or further training toward employment in northwestern Minnesota.

Council Favors Bill To Issue Liquor Licenses

At last night's (Tuesday's) regular meeting, Thief River Falls' city council went on record supporting special legislation to allow this city's governing body to issue up to six on-sale liquor licenses without requiring approval by local voters. Thief River Falls and two other cities have had similar bills introduced in the state legislature. Only the one for Grand Marais contains provision for a referendum vote.

A number of possible projects for 1974 were mentioned and will be discussed in detail at a later date. Included were Greenwood street, the arena entrance, Red Lake boulevard, Green Hill drive, a service road for Arctic Inn and the street in the historical village.

Several names have been suggested for consideration for appointment to the vacant positions of Bill Frolland and Art Rambeck. Mentioned were Jon Larson, Bill Penning, Art Christianson and Ole Engelstad. These and others may be considered for the appointments

Five Classes For Expectant Parents Slated

First of five weekly sessions of pre-natal classes for expectant parents will be held Tuesday, March 12, at the chapel of Northwestern hospital services in Thief River Falls. Instructors will be Mrs. Wayne Martin and Mrs. Vern Isaacson.

Both instructors are registered nurses and noted that films will be used in much of the course instruction. There is no fee for the classes which will be held at 8 p.m. on five consecutive Tuesday evenings beginning March 12.

First session will deal with reproduction, card during pregnancy and fetal development, second will cover exercise and nutrition; third deals with labor and delivery, including a tour of the obstetrics department; fourth meeting will cover care after pregnancy and care of the newborn, and the final session is devoted to family planning, awarding of course completion certificates and gifts.

Couples interested in the classes may call either Mrs. Isaacson at 681-5463 or Mrs. Martin at 681-7432.

Lofton Leads Arctic Racers

Charlie Lofton of the Arctic Enterprises racing team led Arctic Cat drivers to impressive victories last weekend at the fifth annual International Pro-Am snowmobile championships at Milwaukee, Wis. Lofton won the 25-mile Bosch 40-40 feature lap race on Sunday afternoon to best Stan Hayes, Polaris racer from Roseau.

For wining the Bosch 40-40 Lofton claimed a 1974 Ford Ranchero, $1,500 in cash and a trip for himself and his wife to Hawaii. On the weekend, he also claimed first prize money of $1,500 for first place in the Sno-Pro 440cc class and an additional $600 for third place in the 650cc class.

Lofton's 40-40 win duplicated the feat turned in by Dave Thompson of the Arctic race team last year. In addition Arctic Enterprises won the manufacturer's trophy for the most points scored in the two days of racing action. All winning drivers of Arctic machines contributed to the point total.

Earning pole position in Sunday's race with the fastest time in the two-lap qualifying runs on Friday, Lofton was out in front of the 40-sled pack on the first lap and avoided an 11-machine pile-up which sent nine drivers to the hospital for treatment. The mishap forced a re-start of the

Lynette Roman-Earl Berg Vows Spoken In Hallock

Candelabras graced with yellow and bronze pompons, yellow mums and orange bows formed the chancel setting at the Grace Lutheran church at Hallock for the recent wedding of Lynette Shannon Roman and Earl L. Berg.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Roman of Hallock. Her grandmothers Mrs. Emmy Jorgensen and Mrs. Lydia Roman reside in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Jorgensen was a special guest at the wedding. Mrs. Roman, a resident at Oakland Park nursing home, was unable to attend. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Berg of Middle River. He is employed by H & M Manufacturing in Hallock.

Rev. Erland Carlson officiated at the double ring, candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Alice Pearson was the organist. She played the traditional wedding marches and also accompanied Mrs. Jim Anderson as she sang "True Love," before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace. Fluted ruffling edged the high neckline, the bib yoke, fashioned of lace, and the fitted sleeves appliqued with lace motifs. Matching lace marked the high midriff, enhanced the A-line skirt and edged the chapel length veil that flowed from the waistline. A Juliet headpiece of lace, embroidered with pearls, held her double-tiered veil, edged with lace trim. She carried a white Bible topped with a cascade of tallismen roses, yellow and bronze pompons, orange starflowers, babies' breath and orange streamers. For sentiment, she wore her grandmother's bracelet.

Mrs. Brian Hass of Stewartville was the bride's personal attendant.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister Charlette Rynning of Kennedy. Other attendents were Judy Scramstad of Middle River, sister of the groom, and Leona Cerkowniak of Red Lake Falls, friend of the bride. Tarayn Hanson of Middle River, a niece of the groom, was the flower girl. All were attired in floor-length gowns of a figured double-knit polyester, complimented by green velvet bodices. The attendants carried large, solitary yellow mums with babies' breath, and the flower girl carried a basket filled with flowers corresponding to the bride's bouquet. The attendants' earrings were gifts from the bride.

Jerome Berg of Hibbing attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Timothy Roman of Hallock, brother of the bride, and Hjalmer Hanson of Middle River, brother-in-law of the groom. The ring bearer was Troy Franklin of Kennedy, friend of the bride. All wore brown borocaded Adventurer tuxedos, orange ruffled shirts, and black velvet bow ties. The groom's boutonniere was a rose. His attendants wore boutonnieres of yellow pompons.

Serving as ushers were Wayne Koop of Hallock, cousin of the bride, and Wesley Lane of Milton, N.D., friend of the groom. Acolytes were Dale and Harlyn Hanson of Middle-Rier, nephews of the groom. The wedding programs were distributed by Heidi Scramstad and Rory Hanson, niece and newphew of the groom. Both reside in Middle River.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Roman was attired in a sleeveless crepe gown topped by a long-sleeve forest green lace coat. Her accessories were in silver. Mrs. Berg wore a floor-length gown featuring an orange knit skirt and a coordinating floral bodice. Their corsages corresponded with the flowers carried by the bride.

A reception in the church fellowship hall followed. Mrs. Floyd Franklin of Kennedy was hostess, Mrs. Daniel Arel of Moorhead, a cousin of the bride, registered the guests, as Kathy Money of Hallock and Mike Joregensen of Steven's Point, Wis., ladled the punch.

Highlighting the reception table was the new Lady Windemere designed wedding cake featuring three round tiers on a base of four round cakes. Flowers decorated the tops and cascaded down the sides of each tier. Topping the cake was a double wedding ring oranament trimmed with pearls and lace. The cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Robert Strege of Lake Bronson, was cut and served by Mrs. Rosie Roisland of Karlstad and Mrs. Pearl Olson of Alvarado, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively. Mrs. Margie Amann of Hallock, friend of the bride, and Mrs. Anita Berg of Bloomsfield, Colo, sister-in-law of the groom, poured.

Nieces of the groom, Diane Hanson and Dawn Scramstad, both of Middle River, presided at the gift table. Waitresses were Colleen Jorgensen of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Howard Hodne of Thief River Falls, friend of the groom, Kristie Jorgensen and Julie Norland. The reception was catered by Mrs. Mavis Hoenke.

Following the reception, the bride's parents hosted a wedding dance at the Eagle's club in Hallock.

Susan Scheuneman And John Bergren Vows Spoken

Miss Susan Marie Scheuneman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Scheuneman of this city, and John Harold Bergren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bergren of Park Rapids, exchanged marriage vows on Sunday, December 30, at the Bethesda Lutheran church in Moorhead. The ceremony followed the 10:30 morning service.

Rev. Philip Antilla, pastor of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Donald Ellerbusch, pastor of the Union Congregational church at Warroad. Bible verses were read by the bride and groom.

At the organ was Mrs. Dewey Posschl, the church organist, who is a friend of the couple. She presented an organ prelude, accompanied by violinist Brian Larson of this city, and also played "Joy to the World" as the recessional. Preceding the ceremony, Terri and Chris Cuppett of this city sang "Day By Day" with Terri playing the guitar accompaniment. For the bridesmaids' processional, Steve Landby of Warroad and Julie Hudson of Colfax, N. D., sang "Sunrise, Sunset," and as the bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Brian Larson played the violin solo" "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring. The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Landby as the couple knelt at the altar.

In keeping with the Christmas season, the altar was banked with potted red poinsettias. On either side, separated by arrangements of white mums, were three evergreens. At the steps leading to the altar were pink poinsettias. Candles, evergreen roping, and the marriage candle completed the setting.

For the ceremony the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of ivory satin with Chantilly lace forming the upper fitted portion of the full sleeve. Wide matching lace, threaded with satin ribbon, extended from the stand-up collar to the hemline. The skirt flowed back into a full cathedral-length train, enhanced by wide lace threaded with ribbon. Coordinating lace, and ribbon edged her shoulder-length veil, held by a headpiece of fresh holly. She carried pink and red roses, accented with holly.

Mary Gallher of Thief River Falls was the bride's personal attendant.

Maid of honor was Elizabeth Roberts. Bridesmaids were Nancy Scheuneman of Thief River Falls, sister of the bride; Bonnie Bergren of Minneapolis, sister of the groom, and Linda Robson, of Thief River Falls, a friend. They wore floor-length gowns in style and color of their own chosing. Each carried three long-stemmed roses tied with green velvet ribbon.

Joe Leitner of Fargo, N.D., was best man. Groomsmen were Michael Cummings, Eugene Marquart and David Wee, all of Moorhead. The groom was attired in a black velvet double-breasted suit with white ruffled shirt trimmed in black. His boutonniere was a red rose with holly. Like the bride's attendants, the groom's attendants were also in attire of their own chosing.

Serving as acolyte was Jim Scheuneman, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride was attired in a long-sleeved, shirt-waist, floor-length gown of Kelly green double-knit, complemented by gold chain-belt and accessories. The mother of the groom wore a cranberry red A-line gown with the bell sleeves and stand-up collar lined in white. They wore identical corsages of yellow roses and feathered carnations. Both were presented with a rose from the bride's bouquet as she paused on her way to the altar.

A reception followed. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yernberg of Fargo, friends of the couple, served as host and hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Biewer of Fargo registered the guests as Lois and Steve Boudell served the punch.

The wedding cake was a huge heart-shaped cheese cake, topped with whipped cream and inscribed with the names of the couple in cherries. It was cut and served by Mrs. Helen Bendickson of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Rose Ellerbusch of Warroad, friends of the bride's family. Pouring were Laurie Kousman, Paulette Nelson and Debbie Nelson of Fargo. At the gift table were Tobey Sollom and Louise Brandt of Thief River Falls. The reception was catered by The Deli of Fargo.

Relatives and friends attending the ceremony were from Washington, D.C., Warroad, Thief River Falls, Marshall, Minneapolis and Park Rapids.

The parents of the groom hosted a supper at the Holiday Inn in Moorhead following the rehearsal. Guests were members of the bridal party and those who participated in the ceremony.

For her going away attire, the bride wore a red chiffon floor-length gown styled with a V necklin~ and full sleeves, gathered to a ruffle at the wrists.

Following a wedding trip to Winnipeg, the couple is now at home at 1303 11th Street North, in Fargo. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and St. Luke's hospital school of nursing in Fargo. She is employed by St. Luke's hospital. The groom is a graduate of Moorhead high school and Mr. Don's State college of Beauty in Fargo and is employed by The Deli. Photo—Scherlings

Valley Home Events Include Many Activities

Several groups in the area visited with the residents at Valley Home during the month of January, provided treats or presented programs.

Presenting programs were a group from the Seventh-day Adventist church, the sixth graders from Trinity Lutheran church, who also spent time visiting with the residents; and the members of Deborah circle of Trinity, who also provided lunch following the program. The Sunshine group presented a program every Tuesday evening.

Special treats were provided by the Future Homemakers group and the American Legion. During the month, members of the Cosmetology class visited the Home every Tuesday to wash, cut or set hair for the residents.

Highlighting the activities was the monthly birthday party. Games were played, prizes were given and lunch was served. Residents observing birthdays were Minnie Roseland, Gina Belland, Anna Swanson, Rebecca LaRue, Birget Thomalla, Carl Rosberg, Mary Havlik, Sharline Gadde, Esther Holmgren, Teckla Toren and Orlando Bishop.

Representatives of the Catholic Daughters also visited the home, distributed birthday cards and spent time with the residents.

If the Shoe Fits..

Where do feet expand?

Two pairs of feet can measure the same at rest, but be distinctly different in size when supporting the body.

When bearing weight, the foot expands in all directions, the toes stretch forward and fan out a bit, the heel extends backward, and the ball of the foot widens. More of the foot in every part comes in contact with the ground-at the heel, ball, toes, arch, outer border.

All this is important in proper shoe fitting. Some feet will expand and stretch more than others due to foot weakness, or a heriditary condition or, perhaps due to body weight, or physical type of foot.

This makes shoe fitting a highly individual matter, even between the left and right foot of the same person. Both shoes should always be fitted and walked on before purchase.

Jill Peltier, 9, Dies Tuesday At Grand Forks

Jill Peltier, nine-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Peltier of Thief River Falls, died Tuesday at a Grand Forks hospital. She had been ill for the past five years with a rare lung and respiratory disease.

Funeral services for Jill Peltier are being held today at 2 p.m., at the Augustana Lutheran church in Grand Forks. Interment will be in the Memorial Park cemetery. The Adams Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

She was born in Thief River Falls on Dec. 16, 1965.

She is survived by her father, John Peltier of Burnsville; her mother, Mrs. Patty Pesch of Grand Forks; a half brother, Mike; her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Peltier; and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Ryan of Grand Forks.

C. Sund, Owner Of Beachcomber Restaurant, Dies

Cora Sund, 68, formerly of the Goodridge community, died January 8 at the Medical Center in Toluca Lake, Calif. Miss Sund, better known as Sunny Sund, was one of Toluca Lake's most distinguished women. She was the co-founder and originator of the popular Don the Beachcomber restaurant chain.

Funeral services for Miss Sund were held January 12 at the Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn in Glendale, Calif. Interment was in Forest Lawn.

Cora Sund was a daughter of the late Paul and Wilhelmina Sund of Goodridge. She grew up in that community and before leaving for Hollywood, Calif., in 1932, she taught in the rural schools. Her first employment in Hollywood was at the Tick Tock Restaurant as a hostess. In 1937, together with her partner, Don Beach, began the restaurant enterprise that grew to a chain of nine restaurants. In Hollywood, the premise behind the Don the Beachcomber was a hideout where performers could enjoy dinner without worry of autograph seekers. For 15 consecutive years her Chicago Beachcomber received the coveted Holiday magazine Dining Award. At the time of her death, she was the major stockholder of the Chicago restaurant. The other eight Beachcombers were sold to the J. Ronald Getty Investment company (son of Paul Getty).

In 1970, at a surprise party she received a special plaque and a Queen's chair as a tribute from all the people who worked for her Beachcomber restaurants.

Since 1940, she had resided in Toluca Lake, in the first house built on the original lower lake.

She is survived by one daughter, Karen Sund; a sister Hanna Sund of Van Nuys, Calif.; and three brothers: John M. Sund of Hamburg, Arthur of Gainsville, Fla., and Victor of North Hollywood, Calif.

She was preceded in death by two sisters and three brothers.

Attending funeral services from this area were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ida Sund of Goodridge, and a niece Mrs. Walter Hillman of Warren.

Mrs. Robert Kochendorfer, 36 Of Aurora, Dies

Mrs. Robert (Kay) Kochendorfer, 36, of Aurora, died January 16 at the White Community hospital in Aurora. Her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Babcock is the former Lydia Moberg who at one time lived at Holt.

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Kochendorfer were held at Aurora at the First Baptist church where she was an officer of the Women's Missionary society and assited with the youth program.

She was born Dec. 26, 1937 at Humboldt and was a 1955 graduate of the Hallock high school. On Aug. 18, 1956, she was united in marriage to Robert Kochendorfer of Pembina, N.D.

Surviving are her husband, a son, Michael; one daughter, Jeanine; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Babcock; two brothers: Lynn and Ralph Babcock, all of Aurora; her grandmother, Mrs. June Babcock of Hallock; and several uncles and aunts, including Mrs. Clarence Ness and Mrs. Oscar Lunke of Thief River Falls.

Drivers Advised To Update Their Licenses Now

Minnesota drivers who will be eligible for gas ration coupons, should rationing be imposed, must update their driver licenses as soon as possible, Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W.R. Hoaglund warned recently.

The state driver license section has been advised by the federal government that contact with licensed drivers in the state will be made through the state licensing agency. If the driver's name or address on the license is incorrect, chances are that his authorization would not reach him through the mails.

"At this time no one can definitely state that rationing will come, but we have been alerted to get our records up to date just in case," Hoaglund said.

"Our notice from the government applies only to licensed drivers age 18 and over.

DECA Survey Is For TRF Jaycees

Students in the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute's and Lincoln high school's chapters of Distributive Education clubs of America (DECA) recently announced results of a survey of 1973 Aquacade participation conducted for the local Jaycees.

Participants in the survey used 1970 census data to select a representative sampling of 250 people and 55 retailing, wholesaling and manufacturing businesses.

Of the people questioned, 86 per cent reported that they were in Thief River Falls during Aquacade and 70 per cent indicated that they participated in Aquacade activities.

The fireworks had the greatest interest with 70 per cent reporting that they watched the pyrotechnic display.

The golf tournament was the event with the narrowest appeal with only three per cent participating. Other events mentioned include the boat show (44 per cent), children's theater (eight per cent), boat races (28 per cent), teen dance (20 per cent), queen pageant (26 per cent) rope pulling contest (16 per cent), water fights (27 per cent) and talent show (32 per cent).

Fifty-six per cent of the sampling indicated they would like more activities during Aquacade. However, only 48 per cent of the total reported that they purchased and wore an Aquacade button and 53 per cent stated that other members of their families purchased or wore them.

Sixty-eight per cent of the people qustioned indicated that they believed other organizations should be involved in Aquacade, in addition to the Jaycees.

Only 59 per cent of the respondents knew that the Jaycees totally and exclusively support Miss Thief River Falls in her travels and activities.

Eighty-two per cent of the people questioned answered that they believed there were enough activities to entertain their complete family and 89 per cent stated that the Miss Thief River Falls pageant should continue to be held with the Aquacade.

Opinion was split over the question of whether alcoholic beverages should be served during Aquacade. However, 56 per cent of the people questioned were against serving alcoholic drinks while 44 per cent were in favor of it.

Sixty-four per cent of the businesses queried are located in the downtown area. Ninety-two per cent are retail establishments. Seventy per cent reported that they booked advertisements and 38 per cent indicated they supported Aquacade in their regular advertising. Other activities listed were queen sponsorship (14 per cent reported participating), window displays (30 per cent), employee participation (28 per cent) and decoration (10 per cent).

Sixty per cent of the businesses indicated that Aquacade brought additional customers into their establishments and 55 per cent stated that they encouraged employees to participate in Aquacade activities.

Minnesota On Downward Trend In Use Of Gas

Although Minnesota motorists used more gasoline last year than during 1972, the rate of increase dropped and was below the national average.

The rate of increase from 1971 to 1972 was 4.3 per cent, compared with 2.4 per cent for the first 10 months of 1973 over the 1972 figure.

Rate of increase for the nation during the first 10 months of 1973 was 4.8 per cent compared with 7.3 in 1972, and just two states showed a decrease—Alaska at minus 12.6 per cent and Pennsylvania at minus 2.5 per cent.

In addition to Alaska and Pennsylvania, only one other state showed a greater reduction than Minnesota—Nebraska at 2.1 per cent. Kansas was tied with 2.4 per cent.

"These figures prove," Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W.R. Hoaglund said, "that our people started to conserve fuel even before the serious energy crunch started in the latter part of 1973. In fact, Minnesota's gasoline consumption was less than the previous year during February, June and September.

"With voluntary speed reductions during the past few months and enforced lower limits after our legislature acts, we should experience very substantial savings during 1974. Even more important, we are hopeful of reducing highway deaths during this year."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

It is no easy job maintaining a democracy. The lesson has been taught dramatically and traumatically in Watergate. Democracy depends upon citizens protecting their rights in society.

The authority of the council to appoint aldermen to fill facancies rests upon an old 1895 law—when our city was hardly a village. With the legislature sitting—it is possible to secure a dispensation to hold special elections in our city.

With two bankers, one corporation lawyer—it can hardly be said to be representative of the working people—the backbone of the community. Too many Chiefs and no Indians makes for a poor council. It is even poorer with the loss of two distinguished veteran councilmen.

—Oreal Halland

To The Editor:

While agreeing with many parts of your "Thoughts to Ponder" editorial in regards to President Nixon's policies and Supreme Court appointments, I was interested in your statement that Mr. Nixon's "greatness will shine as a bright example to generations yet unborn..."

May I remind you that it was Mr. Nixon's court which has provided, in it's abortion decision, that the numbers of those yet unborn may be very small indeed.

Considering the loss of the rights of the unborn, the further encroachments upon what was left of our Free Enterprise system (Phase I, Phase II, etc.) and the bad name conservatism has taken, due to the actions of a man who was conservative only by comparison to his opposition, I would, at this point only wonder if we might not have been better off had McGovern won. At least the same results could have been blamed on Liberalism, where the blame belongs.

C. Neuenschwander
Rt. 3 TRF

On March 2, 1949, at Carswell AFB, Tex., a USAF Boeing B-50 Lucky Lady II, with Capt. James Gallagher as pilot, completed the first nonstop, round-the-world flight in history. It covered 23,452 miles in 94 hours 1 minute, and was refueled in the air over Azores, Arabia, the Philippines, and Hawaii.

Understanding A Car Is Helpful

The automobile is far from a mysterious machine. The basic operating principles of this dependable four-wheeled servant are really simple enough for the non-mechanical motorist to easily grasp, says the Automotive Information council.

The average car consists of some 15,000 parts, but if you consider that it is made up of a series of systems, each with its own function, then understanding the total machine becomes much less complicated.

Take the conventional braking system for example: when you push down on the brake pedal, you apply pressure to a master cylinder containing fluid. A high pressure is created in fluid lines leading to smaller cylinders at each wheel, and this pressure forces brake shoes against brake drums. Friction between shoes and drums slows or stops the wheels. That wasn't too complicated, was it?

Understanding your car's mechanical operation can help you in identifying problems that may arise, and allow you to make emergency repairs that will get you to a service facility. You also will be better able to communicate with the service technician about the problem so he can repair your car more efficiently.

While cars today generally require less periodic maintenance than those of ten years ago, failure to follow recommended service schedules can result in expensive repair bills. Knowing how your car functions will help you to more readily understand the reasons behind specific service operations—and to be more conscious of their importance than the motorist without this knowledge.

Your owner's manual explains many of the more common service operations, and several books are available which include a description of how the various systems operate.

Among the most popular is one published by the Automotive Information council called "Handbook for Automobile Maintenance" that explains how the operating systems function and includes trouble-shooting guides to help you identify pending problems. Almost three and one-half million of these handbooks have already been distributed to motorists. You can obtain a copy by mailing 25 cents (to cover postage and handling) to: AIC Handbook, P. O. Box 7593, Chicago, Ill. 60677.

Children's Clinic To Be In Roseau Tues., March 12

A free pre-school multi-county screening clinic for all well children up through the age of four is scheduled for Tuesday, March 12, at the First Baptist church basement in Roseau. The clinics are sponsored by crippled children services of Minnesota and the Roseau, Greenbush and Warroad American Legion Auxiliaries. There have been twelve previous clinics.

The clinic is designed to provide screening for speech, vision, hearing and other handicapping conditions of children and counseling for parents. There is no clinic charge and a report of findings and recommendations will be sent to the family physician. The clinic staff consists of specialists in their own field—pediatricians, nutritionist, speech consultant, dental hygienist, medical social worker and public health nurse.

Appointments should be completed at least two weeks before the clinic comes to town, or as early as possible. Appointment Chairman is: Mrs. Roland Fredrickson, 209 Second Ave. N.E., Roseau. Her telephone number is 218-463-2018 or call Mrs. Warren Hagen 218-463-2367. She will be assited in making appointments by: Mrs. Keith Kilen, Greenbush, Phone 218-782-4350. Parents may telephone their nearest appointment chairman.

It is especially stressed that this Children's Clinic is for all well children up through the age of four years in an attempt to detect any handicapping condition that the child may have so that further medical attention may be given.

U.S. Chamber Still Asks Same Energy Question

Little over a year ago, in an article discussing the need for a national energy policy, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States asked: "Isn't it time we devoted more energy to solving our national energy problem?"

The article added: "Coordination and harmony are the keys to the development of a national energy policy, since the many facets of the energy problem are now treated in an uncoordinated and often conflicting manner.

"A national policy requires consolidation of energy-related functions of the Executive branch. At least nine of the 11 Cabinet departments are exercising varying degrees of regulation over the energy industries."

Except for a superagency with emergency powers to deal with the immediate shortages, not much has changed to coordinate long-range research and development of conventional and new energy resources. The Chamber of Commerce believes now also is the time to tackle the long-range problem. It still asks the same question: "Isn't it time we devoted more energy to solving our (long-range) energy problems?"

Lofton Leads Arctic Racers In Wisconsin

race. Lofton's qualifying time for two laps on the one-mile oval track was in excess of 80 miles per hour as he exceeded 100 m.p.h. on the straight away.

After the second start he was pushed by Hayes who passed him after five laps and the two sleds continued almost side by side in the straightaway and in the turns with Lofton riding high and Hayes staying low. Several laps later Lofton took the lead again, only to lose it as the Roseau racer once again forged ahead. Coming out of the number four corner in the 18th lap the Arctic driver passed Hayes for the final time and held first place for the rest of the race.

Lofton's machine was powered by the same 650cc Kawasaki motor which he used in the 1973 racing season. "I pulled it out from under the bench, did some work on it, and by golly it held up in the Sno-Pro and 40-40 all the way." His speed for the 25-mile race was more than 72 miles per hour.

"We were passing sleds on both sides," Lofton recalls of his duel with Hayes. "Most of the other drivers were staying low but I found a groove up high where I could really pour it to her," he said. "I don't know how close the finish was because I didn't look back. I was pretty tired the last few laps because we had to fight the wind in the back straightaway and that meant holding the sled all the time. If you can relax in the straightaway it makes racing a lot easier."

The feature race starts with the fastest 40 machines who qualify in the eliminations on Friday. An estimated 80 to 100 drivers brought their 650cc machines to the track to attempt to qualify this year. Fastest 40 machines for 40 kilometers—that's where the 40-40 race gets its title. On Sunday the machines were started in 10 rows of four machines each—40 snowmobiles on the track at the same time...until the first lap accident.

Larry Coltom, who recorded the sixth fastest time in the qualifying heats, started in the second row and finished third in the 40-40 feature. Dave Thompson, also a Team Arctic racer, earned first row position in qualifying speed but did not finish among the top drivers.

Coltom finished second in the 340cc Sno-Pro race and Thompson was third in the 440cc class.

In the other races Rich Porter of Thief River Falls won first place in Mod II competition and Tom Porter was first in Mod O class. Other Arctic drivers who recorded first place finishes were Bob Elsner in Mod IV, Tom Baker in Stock B, Carol Wanta in Women's I, Kevin Welch in Junior I and Jack Borchert in Junior II.

Don Omdahl of Polaris won the Sno-Pro 340 and Larry Rugland of Polaris captured the Sno-Pro 650. Rugland was second to Lofton in the Sno-Pro 440. Only other Polaris placings (Stock A, Stock C and Women's II not official and not counted) were a second and third place finish in Mod IV.

Tom Marks, Arctic racer from Thief River Falls, was hospitalized with two cracked ribs, facial lacerations and internal injuries when he fell in the Sno-Pro 650 and was struck by a following sled. He was expected to be released from the hospital this week.

Lofton, whose earnings for the weekend were calculated to total more than $8,000 in value, was being kidded by fellow employees about his $2,000 per hour return for driving at Milwaukee. He put that figure in perspective in a hurry.

"How long does it take to spend that amount in a hospital?" he asked.

AVERAGE SPEED of more than 72 miles per hour for 25 laps around the one-mile oval track won first place for Charlie Lofton of Thief River Falls in the Bosch 40-40 feature race of the International Pro-Am snowmobile championships in Milwaukee, Wis., Sunday. Lofton earned the No. 1 designation on his machine and pole position for the race by posting the fastest qualifying time in two-lap qualifications on Friday. He said he hit speeds of 100 miles per hour on the straightaway in qualifying with a time equal to more than 80 miles per hour.

RECIPIENTS of scholarships awarded yesterday (Tuesday) at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute were (front row, left to right) Ruth Gunderson of Strandquist, Lynae Braaten of Viking, (back row) Olaf Jorland of Middle River, Charles DiPinto of Duluth and Gerald [illegible]quist of Minneapolis. All but Jorland received their scholarships [illegible] the area vocational-technical institute scholarship fund. Jorland's scholarship was from the Thief River Falls foundation.

BOB REEVE of the Thief River Falls education association presented scholarships yesterday (Tuesdy) to Lynette Souder of Stephen and Carol Lindquist of Lancaster. The awards were announced during annual ceremonies at the area vocational-technical institute.

Sally Hirsh To Moderate Panel At RRV Seminar

Sally Hirsh, certified psychologist at the Northwestern Mental health center, will moderate a panel of women in conjunction with the Women's seminar at the Red River Valley winter shows in Crookston, February 19 at 2 p.m. at the National Guard armory.

Topic of the discussion will be "Women Alone" and the panelists will include widowed and divorced women and women alone because of their husbands' jobs, like the truck driver's wife.

The panel will center around the difficulties and strengths of being alone in relationships with children, business affairs and personal feelings. Audience participation will be invited and encouraged. Sally Hirsh and RoseMary Henderson, RN, have organized this program as part of the all-day women's seminar

Gasoline Sales, Prices Checked In AAA Survey

Gasoline prices and service station hours remained stable in Minnesota this past week, according to a statewide survey by the Minnesota state automobile association (AAA).

Average price of regular gasoline remained at 46.9 while the price of premium gas dropped from 51 to 50.8 cents per gallon.

Check of stations revealed that 75 per cent were open past 7 p.m. weekdays while 60 per cent were open past 7 p.m. Saturdays. The survey showed that 18 per cent of the stations were open Sundays, which is a slight increase over the previous week.

Approximately 85 per cent of the 42 stations surveyed by Minnesota AAA and its affiliated clubs reported good to plentiful supplies of gas which is also a slight increase.

Fifteen per cent of the stations said they were limiting sales in some form.

The AAA check was made in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area and on major travel routes throughout the state.

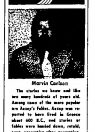
MIRACLE WATER



Marvin Carlson
The stories we know and like are many hundreds of years old. Among some of the more popular are Aesop's Fables. Aesop was reported to have lived in Greece about 600 B.C., and stories or fables were handed down, retold, sung, generation after generation. Aesop's Fables were, as we know them, written by a monk who lived about 2000 years after the supposed life of Aesop.
The story of softening water, although still a young industry in comparison to others, has been known for several generations. The water softening industry has come a long way from the heavy, galvanized tanks of several years ago to the modern, sleek, well built Miracle appliance of today. The treatment of water has done more for the modern housewife than any other appliance in the home. Today Miracle water refiners not only soften the water you use, they refine it to give you fresh, clear, odor-free water from every tap in your home. Every housewife who is the enthusiastic owner of a Miracle water refiner is anxious to tell the story of her free "maid service" to all her relatives, friends and neighbors. Why don't you become a proud owner of a Miracle water refiner? Call 681-7224.

which are expected to be made in the near future.

Frank Womack attended the meeting to speak for the Back Court club and ask that the city consider renovating the basketball court in the municipal auditorium. The subject will be turned over to the park and recreation director, Mike Mongoven, for further study.

The council approved a request presented by Sergeant Irving Swanson of the Thief River Falls Policemen's relief association asking that the maximum for survivor's benefits be raised from $75 to $100 per month.

It was noted that the city did not receive any fuel and gasoline bids in response to recent advertisements.

The resignation of Patrolman Larry Leader was received, effective Friday, February 15.

The council approved a state highway department recommendation and requested closing the approach directly across Highway 1 from the community college.

Bid advertisements were authorized for two trucks to be purchased for the utilities department.

Approval was given for a rate increase requested by Inter-City gas company. Local customers of the natural gas company will be paying about a 10 per cent higher rate on their next bill.

A mutual fire protection agreement was approved between Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls. Assistance would be provided by either city in the event of a major fire.

Deeds for four lots south of the library building were received from L. B. Hartz. The terms of the gift stipulate that the two lots immediately adjacent to the present library property must be used for library purposes. The other lots were given to the city without restriction. A resolution was passed expressing the city's appreciation for the donation property.

Normally sports writers covering teams for newspapers are a bit reluctant to praise home town individuals for fear of the prepsters becoming a bit too "big headed" in reading about themselves. Rather, the writers will lavish praise upon the opposing team to boost interest in the athletic event.

An exception to the rule might be Cal Sabantini and Ole Zupetz of the Mesabi Daily News in Virginia, both of whom type out an endless supply of superlatives about their Blue Devils hockey team, Thief River Falls' Friday night opponent in the sports arena.

Commenting on the play of senior goalie Brad Harala who made 51 saves in a recent 3-3 tie with Hibbing, Sabantini said, "At times Harala looked as if he had invented the art of goaltending and was trying to improve it. He was brilliant, performing with excellence and consistency. He played superb."

Describing Virginia's forward lines, Zupetz wrote, "Virginia, one of the quickest sixes in the state, possess speed and scoring punch, and lots of both."

An in depth report on each Virginia line by Zupetz went like this: "Brilliant Dave Joelson, a darting junior with a quick shot, centers the first line with Greg Harala, a big 6-3 skater with one of the hardest shots in the area, and Paul Belobaba, a shifty performer wo has a knack for putting the puck in the net, on the wings. John Harrington, the most consistent Virginia performer, centers a second line which closely resembles the first unit. Tony Sachetti, a strong skater and good shooter, and Mike Roskoski, a hard worker, play wings on the second Blue Devil line. Doug Coombe, a smooth junior, leads a third line of excellent skaters. Few teams have so much to work with that far down."

Hard to believe after reading about Virginia that the Blue Devils finished behind co-champions Hibbing and Grand Rapids in the strong Iron Range conference standings. Virginia was tied for second place with Eveleth going into last night's meeting with the Golden Bears.

Warriors Surprise Prowlers 5-1 In Key Region 8 Game

Warroad, outclassed earlier this season 11-3 by Thief River Falls, staggered the Prowler region eight north half point standings title hopes with a decisive 5-1 triumph on Warrior ice Tuesday night.

Coach Dick Robert's Warroad sextet completely outplayed the frustrated Prowlers as the Warriors knocked Thief River Falls from sole possession of the north's top spot into a first place tie with Roseau. A coin flip will be held this morning (Wednesday) at a sub region pairings meeting to determine whether Roseau or Thief River Falls will be named the number one team in the north and receive a seeded berth in the region eight tournament along with south champion Bemidji. The coin flip loser will have to play in the sub region event Tuesday at Roseau.

"I'm just baffled as to what happed to us," commented Prowler head coach Bill McGann after the loss. "That had to be one of the worst team efforts we've had. We had poor passes all night and even though we out-shot them, our shots were really off, anybody could have stopped them."

Senior defenseman Gordie Olson paced the improving Warroad attack with a three goal hat trick as he opened and closed the game's scoring.

Olson scored first just 3:02 into the game on an assist from Dwight Thompson for an early 1-0 Warroad lead.

Thief River Falls tied the game with its only goal of the night near the end of the first period when junior wing Jeff Tunberg scored an unassisted short handed marker with 2:12 remaining. Linemate Scott Reed was sitting in the penalty box when Tunberg scored his team leading 20th goal of the year.

Warroad grabbed a 2-1 advantage at the first period break, however, when junior wing Milt Taylor scored an unassisted goal just 24 seconds before the first period ending horn.

Olson scored the only goal of the second stanza, on assists from Mitch Knutson and Charles Foster, with only 3:36 elapsed to put the Warriors in front 3-1.

Taylor and Olson scored third period goals to wrap up the unexpected Warrior win. Taylor scored on an assist from Ray Horner with 6:55 remaining and Olson added insult to injury by scoring his third goal in the game's final second, assisted by Gary Klassen and Ron Johnson.

Prowler senior goalie Joel Folger handled 18 shots successfully while Warroad junior netminder Jim Frolander kicked out 29 drives.

"I really don't know what happened out there," questioned McGann. "I can't explain why it happened, but I do feel these kids are capable of rebounding back and will play a good game against Virginia Friday—they'll have to."

THIEF RIVER FALLS guard Jerry Sandahl scored on this fast break lay-up during Tuesday night's basketball game played against Stephen in the Lincoln high school gym. Keith Merdink (50) of the Tigers watched the Prowler junior score in the first quarter action. Thief River Falls rolled over Stephen 76-45 to increase the Prowler season record to 9-5.

Prowlers Post One-Sided 76-45 Win Over Stephen

Thief River Falls picked up its ninth win against five losses Tuesday night as the Prowlers overpowered hapless Stephen 76-45 in a nonconference basketball game played before a sparse crowd in the Lincoln high school gym.

Coach Lee Swanson's Prowler quint opened up a 10-0 lead three minutes into the game and were never remotely threatened by the Tigers who have suddenly come up talent-less after three banner years.

Stephen committed 13 first quarter turnovers in the face of a Prowler full court press to add to their own problems as the Tigers scored just one field goal in the telltale first period in which the Prowlers opened up a 20 point bulge before settling for a 23-4 command at the quarter break.

The mounting Thief River Falls lead climbed to its biggest first half margin when Prowler forward Dallas Kemmer hit a short jump shot at the buzzer to send the teams into the locker room separated by 32 points, 49-17.

Thief River Falls reserves flooded the court in the second half as the Prowler lead continued to climb to a gapping 41 point 64-23 margin after three quarters.

The Prowlers owned a pair of 42 point leads in the fourth quarter for their largest point spread, but a late Stephen scoring flurry accounted for the game's final nine points for a 31 point 76-45 difference.

Duane Dicken and Kemmer both scored 16 points in two and one-half quarters of playing time to lead the Prowler scoring while Wayne Peterson added 13 in the same time spell. Bill Hvidsten scored 17 points to lead the Tigers, with most of his points being scored against the Prowler reserves.

Thief River Falls shot 42 per cent from the field for the game as the Prowlers made 30 of 72 attempts. Stephen, forced to shoot from outside the Prowler zone defense, connected on only 18 of 49 shots for 37 per cent. Thief River Falls sank 16 of 28 free throw attempts while Stephen made only nine of 20 gift tosses. Thief River Falls held a hefty 46-27 edge in the rebound department and Stephen topped the turnover category with an unreal 39 turnovers. The Prowlers turned the ball over a whooping 27 times themselves in the ragged game.

Prowler Hockey B Squad Trims Warroad Six 4-2

Linchoin high school junior varsity hockey team kept its 12 game winning streak alive Tuesday with a 4-2 win over Warroad.

B.J. Broughton, Steve Onkka, Tim Loeffler and Jeff Lindquist all scored single goals for the Prowler Bees who increased their season record to 15-1-1 with the win.

TR Wins Hockey Coin Flip With Roseau Today

Thief River Falls, represented by Lincoln high school athletic director Russ Smith, won a special coin flip this morning (Wednesday) to earn the number one position in the region eight north half hockey standings.

Following a 5-1 set-back at the hands of Warroad Tuesday, the Prowlers were knocked into a first place tie with Roseau for the top spot in the region's north half point standings.

Smith won the flip over Roseau representative, athletic director A. J. Kramer, during the 11 a.m. sub region pairings meeting in the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls is now automatically seeded into next week's region eight tournament while Roseau must advance through sub region play.

Freshmen Split

Coach Tom O'Brien's Lincoln high school freshman basketball team split decisions in its last two outings as the Prowler frosh lost to Bemidji 66-63 Friday before beating Warren 64-48 Monday.

Coach Lee Swanson's Lincoln high school basketball team will be on the road for the first time in nearly a month Friday when the Prowlers travel to East Grand Forks for an 8 p.m. Northwest Conference game.

Thief River Falls has played five straight homes games since a January 25 trip to Ada. The month long homestand found the Prowlers playing strong basketball in beating Crookston 51-49, Warren 57-38 and Stephen 76-45 while also turning in solid efforts while losing to Fergus Falls 69-58 and Bemidji 60-47.

The Prowlers currently own a 9-5 season record with Thief River Falls standing 2-5 in conference play. East Grand Forks has a similiar good overall season record of 12-4, but like the Prowlers, the Green Wave is floundering in conference competition with a 1-3 mark.

Thief River Falls beat East Grand Forks 71-60 the first time the two long time basketball rivals played this winter.

The familiar starting line-up for coach Larry Selk's East Side quint will have 5-11 Brian Beier and 6-3 Mike Jacobson at guards, 6-2 Kim Knoff and 6-3 Dan Driscoll at forwards and 6-3 Steve Wald at center. All five Green Wave starters are seniors.

The Thief River Falls line-up will remain intact with Jerry Sandahl and Duane Dicken starting at guards, Randy Dallmann and Dallas Kemmer at forwards and Wayne Peterson at center.

LHS JV Cagers Clobber Stephen

Lincoln high school junior varsity basketball team improved its 1973-74 season record to 9-5 Monday with a 79-34 romp over Stephen.

Thief River Falls held one-sided leads at all quarter stops, 28-5, 42-11 and 61-20.

Don Forney led a raft of Thief River Falls scorers with 11 points and Terry Dyrdahl chipped in 10.

TRF Hosts District 31 Wrestling Tournament Saturday

Thief River Falls will host the 1974 district 31 wrestling tournament Saturday starting at 1 p.m. in the Lincoln high school gymnasium.

The six team tournament will include wrestlers from Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Goodridge, Warren and Plummer.

First round matches will start at 1 p.m. with semi-final round competition expected to begin at 2:30. Wrestle-backs will start at 4:30, consolation round action starts at 6:30 and the twelve championship round matches are scheduled to get underway at 8 o'clock.

The twelve district champions will advance to the region eight tournament scheduled Sat., Feb. 23, at Bagley. Weight classes in which there are six wrestlers competing will also advance the runner-up to the region meet.

Thief River Falls is rated a heavy favorite to replace Crookston as district champions with all six head coaches tabbing the Prowlers as the team to beat.

Crookston, winner of the last three district tournaments after Thief River Falls had enjoyed a five year championship reign, is expected to offer the biggest challenge to the Prowler title hopes, but even Pirate coach Richard Kramchuck is pesimistic. "Thief River Falls should be able to bring a whole team through the district if two in each weight class go to region," explained Kramchuck. "Thief River Falls is real tough. We'll probably finish second," he conceded. "Things would have to go awful right for us and at the same time things would have to go awful wrong for Thief River Falls for us to win."

"No doubt about it, Thief River Falls should take it," coach Curt Hukee of East Grand Forks flatly stated about the championship quest."

Thief River Falls head coach Ed Krystosek, while admitting his team is a favorite, isn't accepting congratulatory handshakes just yet. "It could go three ways," Krystosek pointed out. "Thief River Falls, Crookston and East Grand Forks will be right in there. Crookston the one we're most concerned about and they're the ones we have to beat. East Grand Forks always seems to come up with some surprises too."

Declining to single out individuals he felt would be serious district title challengers, since he hopes everyone would be, Krystosek instead announced his complete tenative district line-up. With season won-lost-tie records included, the Prowler line-up will include the following individuals:

98 pounds, Lonnie Olson, 13-3-1; 105 pounds, Dan Hallstrom, 8-4-1; 112 pounds, Mark Swanson, 15-2; 119 pounds, Barry Newton, 8-7; 126 pounds, Lyle Swanson, 7-2; 133 pounds, Joel Kezar, 13-4; 138 pounds, either Brad Steiger, 6-5, or Daryl Myers, 6-4; 145 pounds, Bryan Steiger, 11-4; 155 pounds, Steve Nordhagen, 9-5; 167 pounds, Steve Sorvig, 10-7; 180 pounds, Lee Rolland, 9-7; and heavyweight, Dave Panek, 10-7-1.

Thief River Falls finished the dual meet season with a solid 8-4 record, winning six of seven matches after the holiday break.

Crookston was 6-5 in dual meet competition and the Pirates own the only two returning individual district champions. Corky Hanson and Gayle Teideman won district crowns last year and are expected to push for top individual honors again Saturday.

Hanson has a sparkling 14-1 record at 167 and Teideman is 12-5-1 at 126. Ken Beich is another Crookston title threat with a 13-5 record at 138.

East Grand Forks was 5-6 in dual meet competition and Hukee, like Kramchuck at Crookston, pointed to three individuals as prime title contenders. The top Green Wave performer is heavyweight Fred Hiracheta who owns a 10-4 record with all ten wins coming by pins. He has pinned all other district 31 heavyweights he has faced this winter. At 105 East Grand Forks challenges with Todd Basgaard who posted a 14-3 season record and at 98 pounds East Side has Jeff Zak who sports a 13-4 season mark. Hukee also pointed to Jon Dostal, 11-4 at 155, and Mike Schulz, 4-1-1 at 167, as darkhorse title contenders.

An inexperienced Warren team suffered through a 1-12 dual meet season with coach Richrd Ovsak wrestling nearly all sophomores on his varsity squad. The top Pony performers are Steve Filipi and Jon Wittman. Filipi was 7-4 at 138 and Wittman finished the regular season 5-4 at 98 pounds.

Plummer, forced to forfeit three or four matches every meet, finished the dual meet season with a 2-8 record. Cardinal coach Gary Brantl expects three Plummer wrestlers to make noise in the district meet. Arne Willett posted the best Plummer record with a 10-2 mark at 180 while Neil Konickson was 8-8 at 105. Ken Amberson earned a 5-1 record at 98 pounds. Brantl indicated the Cardinals will probably be able to enter only about nine wrestlers in the district meet.

In their first full year of varsity wrestling competition, coach Roger Humbert's Goodridge wrestlers suffered through a winless dual meet season in eight matches. Humbert expects J.O. Prestbak to have a good chance in the district meet at 112 despite a 3-4 season record. Ed Hanson, 2-3 at 132; Gary Cleven, 5-3 at 180; and Howard Gothe, 2-4 at 98; are also Goodridge district hopefulls.

NCC Cagers Beat FF; Win Division Title

Northland community college basketball team received stellar performances from freshmen David Dickey and Burnie Stephens Monday to register a 90-77 win over Fergus Falls and provide the Northmen with their first ever MCCAA Northwest Division championship.

The victory, which boosted Northland's season record to an impressive 15-4 level, gave the Northmen an uncatchable 8-2 conference mark and assured a state tournament berth for coach Chet Engelman's talented quint. Northland will wrap up its 1973-74 regular season schedule with non-conference games at Hibbing and Itasca this weekend and by hosting Hibbing in a division counting game Sat., Feb. 23. The MCCAA state tournament will be played February 27-28 and March 1 at North Hennepin community college in Brooklyn Center.

Dickey, a 5-11 ball handling wizard delighted the overflow Northland crowd with his floor game as he poured in 30 points, dished out 11 assists and pulled down 13 rebounds from his guard position. Stephens, a 6-5 defensive whiz, scored only nine points, but grabbed 22 rebounds, handed out six assists, picked up eight loose ball recoveries and blocked six shots to intimidate the defending division champion Spartans. Stephens was credited with a school record 16 defensive rebounds.

Playing in NBA-like scoring spurts, both team dominted the game's activity at various times, although Northlnd dominated the game a bit more and a bit longer than Fergus Falls to complete a two game sweep over the Spartans for the first time in history. Prior to this winter Northland owned just one win in 15 games against Fergus Falls teams.

Although Northland led nearly the entire ball game, the point spread was never bigger than four points in a tightly played first half until the Northmen outscored the Spartans 12-2 over a five minute span to grab a 30-19 edge with 6:28 remaining.

Northland built a pair of 16 point leads before settling for a 47-33 halftime advantage.

The seemingly safe 14 point Northland lead at intermission quickly disappeared at the start of the second half when Fergus Falls standout Dennis Pieske scored three straight buckets and his equally as impressive teammate Pete Kruize added a two pointer to shave the difference to only 47-41 with just three minutes elapsed.

The hustling Spartans kept within striking distance of the Northmen until Northland's fleet footed offense finally jelled for eight straight points. Tom Kays, who came off the bench and shared the game's spotlight with Dickey and Stephens, ignited the Northland outburst with a fast break lay-up, followed by a pair of Dickey ten foot running jump shots, Joe Brown tapped in a rebound and Bill Gusa scord from close range to push the Northmen in front 63-47 with 11:16 left.

Northland's offense appeared to break the game wide open when Dickey, Dave Kjos, Stephens and Brown all hit consecutive field goals for a decisive 77-56 cushion with 5:51 remaining.

The spunky Spartans rallied behind Pieske, however, and outscored the Northmen by a 12-2 margin in a quick 2:32 span to slice a once safe 21 point Northland lead to just 83-77 with still 1:16 remaining.

Stephens rescured the sinking Northland ship in the game's final minute as he blocked a close range Fergus Falls shot—that would have cut the margin to just four points—leading to a Kays fast break lay-up, and moments later stole a Fergus Falls pass leading to a Dickey fast break bucket for an 87-77 Northland lead with 38 seconds left.

Three free throws by Dickey and Gusa finished the game's scoring for a 90-77 finale.

Northland shot an eye catching 52 per cent from the field for the game, making 41 of 79 attempts. Fergus Falls shot only 38 per cent on 35 of 92 tries. Northland made eight of 14 free throws and Fergus Falls sank seven of 11 gift tosses. Northland held a 58-45 rebound advantage.

Nordics Rally Past Warren Quint 50-44

Newfolden rallied from a 28-20 halftime deficit to beat Warren 50-44 in nonconference high school basketball action Tuesday in the Marshall County Central gymnasium.

The win, tenth in the past eleven games for Newfolden, improved the Nordic season record to an eye-catching 11-4 mark. Coach Ron Ueland's quint will be back in action Friday with an important North Border Conference game against league leading Roseau on the Rams' court.

Newfolden led 10-7 at the first quarter stop Tuesday, but Warren took control of the game in the second stanza to lead 28-20 at halftime. A Newfolden zone press chopped the difference to only 35-33 after three quarters before the press eventually led to a Nordic victory as Warren committed 21 turnovers.

Three Newfolden players scored in double figures with Dave Strandquist scoring 14 points, Gary Kujanson 11 and Dan Magner 10. Kevin Hanson led the Ponies with 13 points.

Newfolden shot only 30 per cent from the field for the game, hitting 16 of 53 attempts, but Nordic free throw shooting tucked the game away for Newfolden, particularly in the second half when Newfolden made 14 of 17 gift tosses. For the game Newfolden sank 18 of 27 free throw tries. Warren shot 40 per cent from the field on 18 of 45 attempts while making eight of 14 free throws. Warren held a 29-20 rebound edge.

Goodridge, RLF Shoot 81 Free Throws Tuesday

Goodridge jumped out to an early one-sided lead and coasted to a 73-45 Polar Conference basketball win over visiting Red Lake Falls Tuesday night.

The host Huskies led 20-9 at the first quarter stop, maintained a 31-19 halftime lead and stayed in front 47-29 heading into the third quarter.

Four Goodridge players scored in double figures with Tom Bendickson netting 19 points, Howard Vigen 16, Arden Hyland 14 and Don Grabowska 11. Hyland also handed out nine assists and Vigen was credited with five helpers.

Goodridge shot 41 per cent from the field, hitting 29 of 70 attempts, but from the free throw line the Huskies made only 15 of 39 tries. Red Lake Falls hit 27 of 42 gift tosses as the two teams combined to shoot a remarkable 81 free throws in the foul plagued game. Goodridge held a 55-40 rebound edge with Grabowska pulling down 16 caroms and Bendickson hauling in 10 rebounds.

The Huskies return to action Friday when Goodridge hosts Middle River.

NORTHLAND CENTER Burnie Stephens (34) blocked this close range shot by Fergus Falls forward Curt Seter during Monday night's MCCAA Northwest Division basketball game played in the Northland gym. Northland's Tom Kays (44) watched the first half activity as Stephens recorded one of his six blocked shots in the game. Northland won the game 90-77 to capture their first ever division championship and earn a spot in the MCCAA state tournament.

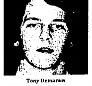
Freshman Tony Demarais of Red Lake Falls collected a three goal hat trick, including the tying and winning goals, Tuesday afternoon to pace Northland to a 5-4 MCCAA hockey conference win over Lakewood of White Bear Lake in the St. Paul Auditorium.

The two teams, holding down the fourth and fifth place spots in the conference standings, were scheduled to square off again today (Wednesday) at 1 p.m. in St. Paul as the Northmen attempt to legitimately earn their way into the upcoming MCCAA state tournament by taking the fourth place tournament seed.

Demarais opened the game's scoring 4:08 into the first period with assists going to Jon Jensen and Gary Burstad.

Northland went in front 2-0 when Al Eisenzimmer scored on an assist from brother Rob just 1:02 later.

Lakewood stormed back to score three straight goals by Johnson, Cartel and Hochule in a four minute span to lead 3-2 with 2:25 remaining.



Tony Demarais

Northland finished an offensive minded first period when Jensen, a freshmen wing, scored with help from linemate Jon Markstrom, with only 56 seconds remaining to tie the game 3-3.

Defense stole the game's spotlight in the second period as the two teams skated through 20 minutes of scoreless hockey after erupting for six goals in the opening stanza.

Lakewood went in front 4-3 at the start of the third period when Johnson collected his second goal of the game with 14:49 remaining.

Demarais then took over the scoring chores as he fired a backhand past Lakewood goalie Bruce Gilbertson who mishandled the puck to tie the game 4-4 with 5:56 left to play. Randy Schmitz and Jensen earned assists on the play.

The same three Northland skaters combined to score the winning goal as Schmitz and Jensen beat the Lakewood defense with a pair of deft passes to set up a clean breakaway by Demarais who beat Gilbertson from close range with just 13 seconds remaining. Demarais' performance was the first Northland hat trick of the season.

"We played real well," noted happy Northland coach Swede Lund after the game. "We outplayed them at the beginning, let up a little, but then came back when we needed to. It was a good all around game on our part."

Freshman goalie Pete Sullivan stopped 22 Lakewood shots in the game, with period savess of 3-6-13. Gilbertson turned aside 27 drives with period totals of 9-11-7.

The win improved Northland's season record to 8-11 and upped the Northmen conference mark to 7-8.

TRF Skates Against Powerful Virginia Sextet Here Friday

Lincoln high school hockey team will close out its 1973-74 regular season schedule Friday when the Prowlers host region seven power Virginia in the sports arena beginning at 7 p.m.

Scheduled with the intention of giving Thief River Falls a tough tune-up prior to the start of the upcoming region eight tournament, Virginia promises to provide just what the doctor ordered with the Blue Devils ranking among the state's elite hockey teams.

Virginia, after an early slump when the Blue Devils lost three of its first four games, has been benefitting from strong defensive play to win seven of their last eight games before tying defending state champion Hibbing 3-3 last week. The Blue Devils owned an 8-4-1 record going into a Tuesday night clash with Eveleth.

Defensively Virginia can reportedly knock heads with anyone if they wish, but the Blue Devils generally rely on level-headed, consistant play to carry themselves through.

Spearheading the touted Virginia defense is acrobatic senior goaltender Brad Harala who turned in an outstanding 51 save effort against Hibbing.

Relying on excellent team speed, Virginia skates three swift forward lines, paced by widely acclaimed junior center Dave Joelson. Other front line Virginia speedsters include Greg Harala, Tony Sacchetti, Paul Belobaba and John Harrington, all forwards.

The Prowler junior varsity will skate against the Red Lake Falls B squad in Friday night's preliminary game starting at 5 p.m.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Adolph Peterson, who passed away Jan. 23, 1971.

He left a beautiful memory
And a sorrow too great to be told
But to us who loved and lost him
His memory will never grow old
His life a beautiful memory
His absence a silent grief
He sleeps in God's beautiful garden
In the sunset of perfect peace

Sadly missed by his wife Mrs. Henrietta Peterson and daughter Debbie. 1t13p

NINTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT
Edwin Roos, Plaintiff
—vs—
Gustaf A. Roos, Emma Roos, Carl Roos, Albin Roos, Alexander Roos, the unknown heirs of Gustaf A. Roos, Emma Roos, Carl Roos, Albin Roos, Alexander Roos and all other persons unknown claiming any right, title, estate, interest, or lien in the real estate described in the Complaint herein, Defendants.

SUMMONS
THE STATE OF MINNESOTA, TO THE ABOVE-NANED DEFENDANTS:

You, and each of you, are hereby summoned and required to answer the Complaint on the plaintiff in the above-entitled action, which Complaint has been filed in the Office of the Clerk of said District Court, at the City of Thief River Falls, County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, and to serve a copy of your answer to said Complaint upon the subscriber at his office in the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, within Twenty (20) days after the service of this Summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to answer the said Complaint within the time aforesaid, the Plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in said Complaint and take judgment therefor against you.

You are further notified that the title to that certain real property lying and being in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

The Northeast Quarter (NE¼) of Section Twenty-four (24), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North, Range Forty-five (45) West of the 5th P.M. is affected, involved, or brought in question thereby, and that the object of said action is to determine that plaintiff is the owner, in fee simple, of said premises, and that you, and each of you, have no interest or estate therein or lien thereon and that no personal claim is made against you, or any of you.

Dated January 17, 1974.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR PROPOSALS
TWO-WAY COMMUNICATION EQUIPMENT FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

The City of Thief River Falls and the Rural Fire Association of Thief River Falls, Minnesota will receive sealed proposals for a complete system of two-way radio communication for the Thief River Falls Fire Department. Bids will be received until 2:00 o'clock p.m., February 26, 1974, at the office of the City Clerk, at which time all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Specifications and proposal forms are on file in the office of the City Clerk, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, Mn. 56701. Copies of said documents may be obtained from the City Clerk upon request.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bidder's bond acceptable to the City of Thief River Falls in an amount equal to at least five percent (5 per cent) of the total amount of the bid, payable without condition to the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, in case the successful bidder fails to enter into a contract or to provide a performance bond as required by law within the specified number of days after the award of the contract, such check or bond shall be forfeited to the City of Thief River Falls as liquidated damages.

The outside of the envelope should be marked "Bid on Fire Equipment."

The City of Thief River Falls reserves the right to hold all bids for a period of 30 calendar days after the date set for opening bids, and to waive any irregularities and to reject any or all bids as they deem to be in the best interest of the City and Rural Fire Association.

Traveling Teams

The TRF Squirt A team journeyed to Fergus Falls over the weekend to participate in a Squirt hockey round robin tourney. TRF took second place in the tourney by defeating Fergus 5-2, Crookston 3-1, but being shutout for the first time this year by Bemidji 3-0. This weekend the Squirts host East Grand Forks on Saturday and Moorhead on Sunday.

The VFW Bantam A team split a pair of games this past week. Led by Doug Dallman's hat trick and excellent goaltending by Keith Daley, the Bantams defeated Bemidji 4-3. On Saturday the Bantams were bombed by Warroad 11-5. This week the Bantams will host Bemidji on Saturday and Grafton on Sunday.

The Eagle Pee-Wee A team came on strong during the week by winning three games to bring their season record to 16-8. On Friday night the Eagles went into overtime before beating Crookston 8-7 with Tom Bjorkman scoring four goals and Wade Hoppe adding two. Other goals scored by Rick Botner and Todd Bergland. Wade Hoppe's hat trick, plus two goals apiece by Mark Huot, Todd Trickle and Scott Wiebolt, led the Pee-Wees to a romping 10-4 victory over Warroad. The Pee-Wees kept their wining ways alive on Sunday by bombing Bemidji 7-1. Goals were scored by Bjorkman (2) Dave Geatz, Bill LaSalle, Hoppe, Huot and Bergland. This week the Pee-Wee A team will host Moorhead Saturday and Grafton Sunday.

The Bantam B team had a successful weekend by avenging a 13-3 loss to the Detroit Lake A Bantam team. Led by two goals by Tim Hince and superb goaltending by Joel Klosterman, the Bantam B team tied the strong Detroit Lakes team. On Sunday, goals by Kurt Klosterman, Roger Roadfeldt, Murray Dicken and Scott Johnson led the Bantam B's to a 4-1 victory over Crookston to bring their season record to 7-6-2. The members of the Bantam B team are in store for a busy weekend hosting Crookston Friday, Moorhead Saturday, Fargo Shanley Sunday and Bemidji Monday.

The Pee-Wee B team tied Detroit Lakes on Saturday 3-3, then defeated Crookston on Sunday 3-2. This week the Pee-Wee B team will play Red Lake Falls Saturday then host Bemidji Monday.

The Squirt B team will travel to Bagley Saturday and host Fargo Shanley Sunday.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Adolph Peterson, who passed away Jan. 23, 1971.

He left a beautiful memory
And a sorrow too great to be told
But to us who loved and lost him
His memory will never grow old
His life a beautiful memory
His absence a silent grief
He sleeps in God's beautiful garden
In the sunset of perfect peace

Sadly missed by his wife Mrs. Henrietta Peterson and daughter Debbie. 1t13p

ADVERTISEMENT FOR PROPOSALS
TWO-WAY COMMUNICATION EQUIPMENT FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

The City of Thief River Falls and the Rural Fire Association of Thief River Falls, Minnesota will receive sealed proposals for a complete system of two-way radio communication for the Thief River Falls Fire Department. Bids will be received until 2:00 o'clock p.m., February 26, 1974, at the office of the City Clerk, at which time all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Specifications and proposal forms are on file in the office of the City Clerk, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, Mn. 56701. Copies of said documents may be obtained from the City Clerk upon request.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bidder's bond acceptable to the City of Thief River Falls in an amount equal to at least five percent (5 per cent) of the total amount of the bid, payable without condition to the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, in case the successful bidder fails to enter into a contract or to provide a performance bond as required by law within the specified number of days after the award of the contract, such check or bond shall be forfeited to the City of Thief River Falls as liquidated damages.

The outside of the envelope should be marked "Bid on Fire Equipment."

The City of Thief River Falls reserves the right to hold all bids for a period of 30 calendar days after the date set for opening bids, and to waive any irregularities and to reject any or all bids as they deem to be in the best interest of the City and Rural Fire Association.

Traveling Teams

The TRF Squirt A team journeyed to Fergus Falls over the weekend to participate in a Squirt hockey round robin tourney. TRF took second place in the tourney by defeating Fergus 5-2, Crookston 3-1, but being shutout for the first time this year by Bemidji 3-0. This weekend the Squirts host East Grand Forks on Saturday and Moorhead on Sunday.

The VFW Bantam A team split a pair of games this past week. Led by Doug Dallman's hat trick and excellent goaltending by Keith Daley, the Bantams defeated Bemidji 4-3. On Saturday the Bantams were bombed by Warroad 11-5. This week the Bantams will host Bemidji on Saturday and Grafton on Sunday.

The Eagle Pee-Wee A team came on strong during the week by winning three games to bring their season record to 16-8. On Friday night the Eagles went into overtime before beating Crookston 8-7 with Tom Bjorkman scoring four goals and Wade Hoppe adding two. Other goals scored by Rick Botner and Todd Bergland. Wade Hoppe's hat trick, plus two goals apiece by Mark Huot, Todd Trickle and Scott Wiebolt, led the Pee-Wees to a romping 10-4 victory over Warroad. The Pee Wees kept their wining ways alive on Sunday by bombing Bemidji 7-4. Goals were scored by Bjorkman (2), Dave Geatz, Bill LaSalle, Hoppe, Huot and Bergland. This week the Pee-Wee A team will host Moorhead Saturday and Grafton Sunday.

The Bantam B team had a successful weekend by avenging a 13-3 loss to the Detroit Lake A Bantam team. Led by two goals by Tim Hince and superb goaltending by Joel Klosterman, the Bantam B team tied the strong Detroit Lakes team. On Sunday, goals by Kurt Klosterman, Roger Roadfeldt, Murray Dicken and Scott Johnson led the Bantam B's to a 4-1 victory over Crookston to bring their season record to 7-6-2. The members of the Bantam B team are in store for a busy weekend hosting Crookston Friday, Moorhead Saturday, Fargo Shanley Sunday and Bemidji Monday.

The Pee Wee B team tied Detroit Lakes on Saturday 3-3, then defeated Crookston on Sunday 3-2. This week the Pee Wee B team will play Red Lake Falls Saturday then host Bemidji Monday.

NCC To Display Art Exhibits By MSC Artists

Northland community college art department is sponsoring a showing of art works from the Moorhead state college art department. The exhibition represents various art forms by Moorhead state faculty in drawing, painting, design, ceramics and weaving.

Dale O. Amundson, a winner of many awards in Minnesota, is exhibiting a number of air-brushed watercolors. Donald McRaven, a teacher in minority group studies as well as art, is showing his voodoo series and reflects his interest in black art.

Various drawings and paintings exploring color phenomena are being shown by Timothy Ray. The art department chairman, P.R. Szeltz, who teaches printmaking, is exhibiting some of his work in landscape design.

A ceramic display of stoneware jars is the work of Marc Stratton, a ceramics teacher at Moorhead state. Jack Youngquist who has had a number of showings at the Rourke Gallery in Moorhead and the Martin Gallery in Minneapolis showing art imagery involving the combining of human form with nautical shapes in both drawing and prints.

This exhibit represents only some of the many activites of the Moorhead state college art department which has over 200 art majors enrolled and instruction provided by 10 instructors.

The public is invited to view the Moorhead state art works, presently on display from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

County People Participate In RRV Dairy Event

Dairy Day activities at the Red River Valley winter shows, Crookston, will include open class dairy cattle judging, district Holstein show and end with an honored dairymen's banquet in the evening, according to Dr. George Marx, chairman of the dairy day committee.

Dairy Day will be on Friday and judging will begin at 8:30 a.m. Dr. Garty Miller of the University of Minnesota department of animal science will be the official judge.

Blake Peterson, extension agent from Red Lake county, will serve as dairy superintendent of the show and Wayne Odegaard, associate extension agent of Pennington county, will clerk the show. Northwest dairy princess Brenda Mathson of Thief River Falls will award the ribbons and trophies during the show.

Honored dairymen's banquet will be held at 7 p.m. at the Upper Deck in Crookston. Each county in the Red River Valley will be represented by an outstanding dairy couple who will be honored at the banquet, with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hanson representing Pennington county. The banquet is sponsored by the Red River Valley Dairymen's association. Awards, plaques and trophies will be presented to the dairy show winners at this banquet. Tickets for the banquet will be available all day in the main winter shows arena on February 15 up until the time of the banquet that evening.

CEC Suggests Participation In Precinct Caucus

In a time when both firearms ownership and hunting are endangered, your best, and perhaps only, opportunity to influence your party's platform and candidates is at the February 26 precinct caucuses, states the Minnesota committee for effective crime control.

As a citizen, you have an absolute right to attend and participate in your precinct caucus. You and your friends may elect officers and delegates and pass resolutions that collectively become part of the party's platform, the CECC states.

You will have to decide for this one night whether you are a Democrat or a Republican, for you may attend only one caucus. And you must say you voted for at least one candidate nominated by that party in the last election or state your intention to vote for the party's candidates at the next election.

Go to the caucus and introduce resolutions you want passed. Become a delegate yourself or elect delegates who support your views. To become a delegate, you must win an election, so bring friends for their purposes too. Caucuses begin at 7:30 sharp and nominations are open until 8 p.m. Arrive early.

Delegates elected at the precinct caucuses go to the ward or district caucuses, which are usually held two or three weeks later, and only delegates may vote on issues there.

Oakland Park To Get Help With Remotivation

Oakland Park nursing home staff will begin an extensive remotivation and reality reorientation training program soon through the cooperation and guidance of Oscar Elshaug, member of the day-night unit staff of Northwestern hospital services in Thief River Falls.

Elshaug will visit the home each week to train staff members and help them in the initial stages of the program, according to Mrs. Sherryll Irvine, administrator at Oakland Park.

"Remotivation is a technique of simple group interaction planned to be used by nursing personnel with their own patients," Mrs. Irvine explained. "It is a structured activity which attempts to reach the people in a meaningful and constructive way over and above their daily care.

"It is not psychotherapy in the strict sense. It is rather a method of nurse-patient or aide-patient interaction which increases, strengthens and makes more meaningful the contact between the staff and people entrusted to their care."

The day-night unit is making the new program and instruction available to Oakland Park as a public service.

Safety In Use Of Car Pool Is Most Important

"Jumping into the pool" is becoming popular, and it's not even necessary to know how to swim. Car pools are catching on today—particularly in areas where the automobile is the only viable form of transportation.

Car pooling, as an energy saving measure, is encouraged by local governments and employers, some of whom are considering tool reductions and parking benefits to promote sharing the ride.

If you are considering starting or joining a pool, the automotive information council (AIC) offers the following suggestions:

Periodically check all cars to be used in the pool to ensure they're in safe operating condition, because driving with a full passenger load place extra stress on components such as tires, suspension and brakes.

Increase tire pressures two or three pounds above your car's normal level, but don't exceed the maximum pressure recommended for your particular tires.

Make sure you have adequate insurance. The Insurance Information Institute advises motorists to check with their insurance companies to make sure they have enough liability and medical payment coverage because the chances of multiple injuries are higher in a car pool related accident, and minimum coverage may not be sufficient. Additional coverage is available under both conventional and no-fault insurance systems.

Ask your insurance company if you can qualify for premium reductions based on decreased car usage.

If any members of your car pool elect to pay a fee in lieu of their share of the driving, check with your company to determine if they consider this "commercial use" of your vehicle—ordinarily not covered by most policies.

Become familiar with the provisions and benefits of your policy. According to the Insurance Information Institute, in states using the no-fault system, other insured drivers who sustain injuries while passengers in your car generally can file a claim with their own insurance companies. If their claim exceeds the amount of their coverage, however, you may be liable for the difference.

While a successful car pool depends on many factors, such as agreeing beforehand on rules governing smoking, lowering windows, use of radios, etc., in the car, the most important factor is allowing sufficient time between pickups. Most car pool related accidents involve drivers rushing to stay on schedule or to make up for lost time.

Health Dep't. Advises Parents On Child Safety

Daylight savings time has made the task of getting children to school more hazardous than ever and heightened the need for precautions. State health commissioner Dr. Warren Lawson stresses the value of reflectorized tape on outer clothing to increase the visibility of children walking to school or waiting for the school bus. It is especially effective attached to clothing where there is motion.

Wearing light colored clothing has long been recommended because it makes a pedestrian somewhat easier to see, but reflectorized tape raises visibility substantially. Parents are urged to check local stores for reflectorized tape. If they are unable to obtain it, they can call or write the Minnesota Safety Council, 315 Hamm Building, St. Paul 55102 (Phone: 227-8797). The Safety Council has information on reflectorized tape and offers the tape at manufacturer's list price.

Minnesota Department of Health advises parents to brief their children on the basic rules of pedestrian safety. These are not new but bear repeating, especially at the present time:

Obey all traffic signals and other traffic controls.

When lights are present, cross only with new green light.

Check in all directions before stepping in the roadway.

Cross only at corner or marked crosswalk.

Use sidewalks where available.

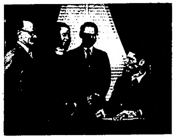
Walk on left facing oncoming traffic when walking in roadway.

Never enter roadway from between parked cars.

When crossing at intersection, watch out for vehicles that are turning. Remember, cars may turn right after stopping for a red light.

When crossing a road to board or after leaving a school bus, wait until you are sure all other traffic is stopped.

February is Heart Month



February is being observed as Heart month throughout Minnesota by proclamation of Governor Wendell Anderson (seated), 1974 Honorary Heart Fund Chairman of the Minnesota Heart Association. Pictured with the Governor are Melvin Dickie, left, of Rochester, Chairman of the Board, Minnesota Heart Association; Shelly Bushey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bushey, New Hope, 1974 Minnesota Heart Fund Princess, and Yang Wang, M.D., President, Minnesota Heart Association. Heart volunteers across the state will be calling on friends and neighbors this month and distributing educational literature on heart disease. Heart Sunday will be celebrated February 24.

Minnesota AAA Gives Reduction To Car Poolers

Minnesota state automobile association (AAA), through its insurer Millers Mutual of Illinois, is offering a substantial reduction in auto insurance premiums to its insured members who car pool beginning February 1.

"Motorists insured through AAA who are participating in a car pool for their daily commuting can receive up to an 18 per cent reduction in annual premiums," said Jim Pike, director of insurance for the motoring organization.

Insured members who currently drive more than 10 miles to their jobs and begin car pooling can save 18 per cent in premiums. Members who drive between three and ten miles can save 13 per cent. Members become eligible if they drive two or less days per week or no more than two weeks out of five while car pooling, said Pike.

He said the premium reduction is being offered in an effort to encourage car pooling and gas saving by its insured members. Widespread participation in car pooling has been proven to be an effective way of reducing traffic, accidents and gasoline use, according to Pike.

"In addition to saving on insurance premiums," said Pike, "persons in a five-member car pool can save up to 80 per cent in out-of-pocket expenses. All in all, the savings over the year can be substantial."

Chromosomes Are Clues To Birth Defects

When a child is born with a serious defect, it is normal for parents to wonder if the child inherited the problem from them and if they will ever be able to produce a normal child in the future.

At the Saint Paul Children's hospital, laboratory technicians are carefully counting the chromosomes of children with suspected birth defects to determine the cause of these problems.

The normal baby is born with 46 chromosomes: 44 autosomes and two sex chromosomes. Human chromosome makeup is the result of 23 chromosomes from the egg of the mother and 23 chromosomes from the sperm of the father uniting at the time of conception.

If the combination or number of chromosomes is not right, the new human body won't form and function perfectly.

The real cause of a faulty chromosome combination isn't known, according to doctors in the Laboratory at Children's Hospital, but heredity, they say, is one of the strongest suspects.

However, they add, radiation, chemicals and certain viruses may also cause chromosome disorders.

About one in every fifty children in the United States is born with serious physical or mental problems due to genetic factors.

Two of the most common genetic disorders seen by those who are analyzing and counting patients' chromosomes at Children's hospital are Down's syndrome (once commonly known as "mongolism") which causes mental retardation and Turner's syndrome which occurs in girls more often and causes short stature and inability to bear children.

According to pathologists at the Saint Paul Children's hospital, more than one third of the patient chromosome studies completed at the hospital since 1965, when the program was begun, have enabled doctors to rule out inherited chromosome defects as the cause of abnormalities in these children.

In many cases, they explain, mental retardation or a physical deformity is not caused by an inherited chromosome defect at all, but occurred simply because the child did not thrive or develop normally.

In about ten per cent of the cases, parents of the child are also asked to undergo the tests. If doctors find that heredity is the cause, they recommend genetic counseling.

Genetic counseling helps parents to understand their genetic problems. It helps them to know what the chances are that a deficient chromosome pattern will reappear in a future child.

If environmental causes are suspected, genetic counseling may also be useful for the parents, since these defects can also be transmitted to later children in the family.

Sometimes in genetic counseling parents of a child with a chromosome defect will be encouraged to have more children than they would have had otherwise if it is determined that the chance of having bad luck again is less than they might assume.

The original chromosome count plays an important part in this final decision.

36 Per Cent Of Minn. Students In Reading Plan

Thirty-six per cent of the total elementary and secondary school enrollment in Minnesota is now being served by the Minnesota Right to Read program, according to Dr. Hugh Schoephoerster of the Minnesota education department and director of the state's literacy campaign.

The third phase of the program began last month with 75 public school districts and nine nonpublic schools being added to those schools and districts already taking part in the program. The total number of school districts and nonpublic schools participating in the program is 270, Schoephoerster said.

Minnesota Right to Read is a four-phase, four-year program for pubic and nonpublic schools. Each phase coincides with the start of a calendar year. The state's literacy program was selected last year as the national model.

Since initial funding in 1972, the reading program has received a total of $323,000 in federal funds and $150,000 in state funds. A federal grant of $118,000 is expected in March, Schoephoerster said, and the Minnesota Legislature has been asked for additional funds to finance Phase IV of the program which starts next January.

A total of 370,000 students and 20,000 teachers are taking part in the Right to Read effort. This figure is expected to swell when the final phase begins next year. Schools in the program in this area are Erskine, Gonvick, Greenbush, Karlstad and Middle River.

Properly inflated tires not only mean better car control, they mean better gas mileage, says the Tire Industry Safety Council. Underinflated tires squirm, causing increased roll resistance, which makes the engine work harder and use more fuel.

Transient Lawyer Pleads His Case To 'U' M Law Students

Attorney William Knstler says the American political and legal systems are working against young lawyers who want social change and traveling lawyers who defend people in political movements.

Kunstler, who is in St. Paul for the defense of American Indian Movement leaders Bennis Banks and Russell Means, uses some of his time outside the courtroom to defend traveling lawyers.

"The transient lawyer is a tradition in American history," Kunstler told students at the University of Minnesota law school recently.

He traced the tradition back to 1735, when Andrew Hamilton traveled from Philadelphia to New York to defend John Peter Zenger, a publisher whose attorneys had been disbarred for daring to defend him. The Zenger case set the legal precedent for freedom of the press in the United States.

The attack on young lawyers who want social change was begun when the prestigious firms found that the best law students were rejecting high-paying corporate jobs to work with the movement, Kunstler said.

"As a result there have been three years of terrorizing of the universities by the state and local governments with a little assistance from your parents who want you to succeed and not have to work in jobs which will get your hands dirty.

"Actually if you play it their way you'll be soiling your hands all your life," he said. "Alternate life styles and alternative methods of practice are available and they are rewarding."

He said he wanted to be working for people rather than "ripping them off." "There ought to be a better way to live; there ought to be a better way to use this so-called law for people's benefit, rather than for systems' benefit," he said.

Kunstler told the students that the system is hard to overcome. "It was 41 years before I shook the shackles off. My father had told me that I had to go to law school."

He told them that they will be tempted by grades, money and prestige. "If that's the way you gauge your worth, then something terrible has happened to you."

He said that President Nixon, former Vice President Agnew and their advisors Erlichman, Krough, Stans and Dean were "all lawyers who were one way or another infected by this power."

Kunstler is involved in a case on appeal to the U.S. supreme court to test his right to defend clients in states where he is not a member of the bar.

He said that transient attorneys can take the "brunts and stones" for local lawyers who have to live in a community when the trial is over and they can add a dimension to cases that would not be possible locally.

He used the example of transient lawyers who would take black defendants in the Deep South when no local attorneys would defend them.

"There has been a three-pronged attack through me to reach you," Kunstler told the law students.

The attack on traveling lawyers began several years ago when Chief Justice Warren Burger attacked attorneys who toured the country to defend people involved in leftist political movements, Kunstler said.

"The Chief Justice railed against lawyers running around the country to create disorder and used the Chicago 7 trials as an example despite the fact that an appeals court said the disorder in the courtroom was created by the judge and the prosecutors," Kunstler said.

Kunstler said that the recent decision to charge him with contempt for his involvement in the Chicago 7 trial was made by acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork after Elliott Richardson had refused to charge the defendants and the lawyers.

"The government was guilty of 150 violations of ethics in front of the jury in that trial," Kunstler said about the case in which he was one of the lawyers.

"In addition, there has been a string of disbarment and criminal proceedings against transient lawyers," he said. "Scores of disciplinary proceedings have been begun by the American Bar association.

"They are trying to keep you out of doing the job of keeping the movements alive," he said, adding that Burger said change should come from legislators and not through court proceedings.

Kunstler said that the crippling of legal services of the office of economic opportunity (OEO) was undertaken by the Nixon administration because the young OEO attorfieys were too effective.

"It's important to make these things public and expose the attempts by the American Bar association to intimidate young lawyers," Kunstler said. "That's the theory of Judge (John) Sirica, which I think is a good one: if you're in doubt, make it public."

He cited the example of the Fayette county, Kentucky, Bar association which told law students that they would not be admitted to the bar if they invited Kunstler to speak to them. After the threat was made public, Kunstler said, the association was embarrassed, he was allowed to speak and the students were admitted to the bar.

Patient Advocate At Fergus Falls Gives His Views

In spite of the fact that there are more people in the helping professions than ever before in history, the incidence of "mental illness" is increasing worldwide. At present there are four times as many people in mental hospitals (approximately 800,000 in the U.S.) as there are people in prisons.

Citing these statistics, Bill Johnson, the advocate (patient representative) at Fergus Falls state hospital said, "An enormous credibility gap has developed because of mental health experts' failure to deliver on their promises.

"We aren't reducing the problem—we aren't even holding our own," he said. "No private or public institutions have in any way substantiated their effectiveness nor have they been effectively evaluated."

Noting that the "vast majority of mental patients are there against their will," Johnson said that involuntary hospitalization for psychiatric rehabilitation deprives a patient of his personal liberty, and "liberty is too important a matter to leave in the hands of the arbitrary judgment of 'experts'."

Reaction to Johnson's talk, delievered at a recent institute on the legal rights of the "mentally ill and developmentally disabled," ranged from warm applause to upset muttering.

The institute, attended by more than 200 psychologists, psychiatrists, nurses, lawyers and social workers, was sponsored by the Minnesota department of public welfare, the association for retarded citizens, the mental health association and the University of Minnesota's departments of continuing legal education and continuing education in social work.

Pointing out that "there's nobody we can't label," Johnson, who has personally handled almost 1,000 cases in 19 months where patients sought to obtain legal rights, said that there are approximately 3,800 retarded and 2,400 mentally ill and chemically dependent citizens in Minnesota state institutions today.

"In addition," he asked, "are you aware that these same facilities have annual admissions for 300 retarded, 3,500 mentally ill and 4,700 chemically dependent—including inebriate? This is to say nothing of the 1,200 admissions to V.A. facilities and 15,000 to private treatment or learning centers in the state."

Johnson said that he had no objections to social control when it is really necessary. "However, in a democratic society we have a moral obligation to attempt to define as narrowly as possible those behaviors which are so unacceptable as to necessitate loss of liberty."

Recalling one case which he considered a typical example of how hospital and medical records can mislead, Johnson said that he had seen a patient haggling with another patient over the purchase of some cigarettes.

"For anyone else, it would have been considered ordinary behavior," Johnson said, "but since these were mental patients, the incident was noted in the medical records as an occurrence 'brought on by the man's unresolved guilt.' If you are suspected of something, it goes on your record. For the most part, hospital records are the biggest mish-mash of plain old B.S. you've ever seen in your life.

"I've been in the psychiatric business for a number of years," he said, "and I just wish I had a nickel for every time I've heard some 'helping person' justify what he or she was doing to a client by making the claim that it was only being done in the patient's best interest.

"Little do they realize that this bit of paternalism is the same rationalization that was used to justify slavery, mistreating children and violating the rights of minority groups," he said.

Food Price Rise In Twin Cities Large In 1973

Twin Cities shoppers spent 18.9 per cent more in 1973 to fill their shopping carts than they did in 1972, the sharpest food price increase in 25 years.

And the forecast is for more price increases in 1974, says Edna Jordahl, extension home management specialist at the University of Minnesota. The steepest price hikes will chome in the first three months of the year, she says, but beef, poultry and, later, pork prices will climb toward mid-year.

There are several "ifs" in the food price picture. Food inventories are down, so if heavy demand arise, prices will soar. But if demand stays about constant, prices might go down this year.

The consumer also will feed repercussions of the energy situation. If it contributes to unemployment, prices could go down. But if production costs rise because of increasingly expensive farm equipment, fuel, fertilizers and processing, prices will keep pace.

The dollar's stability abroad and major trading efforts with foreign countries also will show on the supermarket shelves, Mrs. Jordahl says.

Meat led the price increase list in 1973. Beef and veal increased by about 20 per cent; pork by about 30 per cent; poultry by more than 65 per cent, and eggs by 50 per cent. Fish climbed in price by about 20 per cent, and dairy products increased slightly less than 10 per cent. Crop food rose at half the rate of animal foods with increases ranging from 50 per cent for potatoes to 20 per cent for vegetables and 10 per cent for fruit.

Highly processed foods such as sweets, fats and oils and nonalcoholic beverages increased only between three and eight per cent, but rising costs for raw products, processing and marketing are expected to push these grocery items higher in 1974.

Mrs. Jordahl lists three main factors involved in recent food price increases:

Strong demand spurred by low unemployment, large income tax returns and increased social security benefits.

Lessened world supplies because of unfavorable weather, lessened fish catches and relaxation of the cold war. More countries want to buy U.S food exports.

Limited domestic supplies caused by Hurricane Agnes, spring frosts in some states, livestock deaths as a result of storms and price ceiling cutbacks that lessened incentives to produce.

Safety Belts And Air Bags Can Save Lives

Given your choice, would you rather have your car equipped with an air bag restraint system or buckle your safety belt as a requirement of state law?

"This is a question most Americans must face soon as mandatory belt use laws will be proposed in at least 33 states this year," Minnesota department of public safety commissioner W.R. Hoaglund observed recently.

"Safety experts at all levels agree that the tragic number of deaths and serious injuries on our highways can be reduced only if the occupants are somehow restrained in the event of a crash. Since only a small portion of occupants use seat belts (approximately 25 per cent), the U.S. department of transportation has taken steps to insure that they will be restrained by a passive system.

When the 1976 models roll off the assembly lines, they will be equipped with air bags or some other type of passive restraint system. Another 10 years will go by before the older cars are replaced with the newer models, though all will continue to be equipped with safety belts.

"It is entirely conceivable that if some states enact mandatory safety belt use laws prior to this time, the DOT could rescind the air bag requirment.

"We believe that this would be a more acceptable solution for several reasons: (1) People are familiar with seat belts, and don't fear them, even though only a small percentage uses them. (2) Universal use of safety belts has been proven to be effective in reducing deaths and serious injuries. (Australia experienced a 24 per cent drop in deaths the first year.) (3) All cars in Minnesota beginning with the 1963 models are equipped with seat belts or safety belt combinations.

"Like it or not, the American driver and occupants are going to be protected by some type of restraining system imposed by law two years from now. At this point we may still have a choice. In just one year after the effective date of a mandatory belt use law in Minnesota, we could prove that the cars we now have are equipped to save at least 200 lives, and without a cost of one cent to the owner.

EPA Criticized For Permitting Ocean Dumping

Environmental protection agency has come under heavy fire from the country's largest conservation organization for failing to adequately regulate the waste handling practices of one of the nation's largest industrial chemical manufacturers.

The criticism came during a public hearing convened on January 28 by the Region III office of the U.S. evnvironmental protection agency at Dover, Delaware. At issue was whether E. I. du Pont de Nemours could continue to dump 20 million gallons a month of highly acidic wastes from its Edge Moor, Delaware titanium pigment operations into the ocean less than 40 miles off the Maryland Coast.

Under a 15-month-old law—the marine protection, research and sanctuaries act of 1972—no ocean dumping of wastes transported from U.S. shores may occur without a permit from EPA.

The National Wildlife federation, which claims 3½ million members and supporters, attacked Du Pont's ocean dumping practices, which have continued unabated since 1968, as not only dangerous but unnecessary. Speaking for the wildlife federation, Attorney Ken Kamlet described sand dollar and phytoplankton kills at the Du Pont dump site and laboratory studies showing lethal effects of high dilutions of Du Pont waste material on five species of invertebrates and fish.

He also cited studies inldcating that Du Pont wastes may remain in the environment for long periods before being dispersed and that long-lived toxic waste components may be accumulating at the bottom of the dump site.

Kamlet went on to blast Du Pont's failure to conscientiously investigate waste treatment alternatives and rule them out before seeking an ocean dumping permit. EPA regulations unequivocally preclude the grant of an ocean dumping permit if the applicant cannot demonstrate "the need for the proposed dumping as compared to alternative locations and methods of disposal or recycling."

According to Kamlet, by simply upgrading the ore used as a raw material—as all its competitors have done—Du Pont could immediately reduce its waste load by 80 per cent. Kamlet also cited technologies for recovering valuable metals from Du Pont's process wastes and for neutralizing the waste's high acid content.

EPA's uncritical acceptance of Du Pont's report on ocean disposal alternatives and the company's plans for indefinite continuation of ocean dumping was called "typical of EPA's shortsighted, unimaginative and timid approach to carrying out its statutory duty to save the marine environment from destruction by the garbage of man."

The National Wildlife federation spokesman urged EPA to grant Du Pont no more than a 90-day ocean dumping permit. Later reissuance would be made strictly conditional on Du Pont's taking all possible steps to investigate waste treatment alternatives and to phase out all its ocean dumping as quickly as possible.

EPA must make its decision by February 13 (when Du Pont's existing permit will expire). The hearing record will remain open for public comment for five days.

Use Of Iodized Salt Improves Iodine Intake

According to state health commissioner Dr. Warren Lawson, there is a whole new generation of consumers who should be urged to select iodized salt when choosing salt in the supermarket. The use of iodized salt has been declining in recent years, and this is a source of concern to doctors and nutritionists.

Iodine is a part of thyroid hormones which have important body roles. It is an essential nutrient to man. Iodine deficiency leads to thyroid enlargment (goiter) as a result of increase in number and size of cells in the gland.

This form of goiter is easily preventable by an adequate intake of iodine. Yet it is still relatively common in many parts of the world.

Goiter used to be quite a problem in some parts of the United States (including Minnesota) until about the time of World War I. A means of preventing goiter from iodine deficiency was provided with the introduction of iodized salt. But, of course, people must make use of iodized salt to get its preventive benefits. There is absolutely no harm possible from the amount of iodine in table salt. Buying salt which has not been iodized accomplishes nothing toward preventing goiter.

Sea food is the best natural source of iodine, while vegetables have fair, but quite variable amounts of iodine. Iodine content of food varies widely with the geographic origin of the food supply. Foods grown in iodine-poor soil contain little or no iodine.

Nutritionists at the Minnesota Department of Health stress that the most available and significant source of iodine in our state is iodized salt. They advocate that everyone make sure that the salt used is iodized. For people who are unable to eat regular salt for medical reasons, there are iodized salt substitutes available. Information would be on the label.

"FFA WEEK" IN MINNESOTA FEBRUARY 16-23, 1974

TOOT'N THE HORN FOR MILK

FFA State President, Greg Schely of Brainerd, Minnesota, is shown toot'n the horn for milk to help reinforce the "FFA Week" theme, "FFA — For Tomorrow's Agriculture". Providing the muscle for Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Lori Anshus of Canby, Minnesota, are (L-R) Curtis Rock and Larry Conrad of the Northfield FFA Chapter. Thousands of FFA'ers are involved in supervised occupational experience programs in dairy production and dairy related off farm activities. President Greg is presently attending the University of Minnesota, St. Paul Campus, Princess Kay is attending Carlton College, majoring in Pre-med and Curtis and Larry have dairy as an occupation experience program. Both plan to go in partnership with their fathers' dairy enterprises.

Emulsions To Be Used On Highway To Save Fuel

To save an additional 310,000 gallons of gasoline and fuel oil, asphalt emulsions are now to be used in state highway improvement projects instead of cutback asphalts, according to deputy highway commissioner and chief engineer W. S. Ekern.

Just recently Ekern had directed that asphalt emulsions be used in state highway maintenance work, in preference to cutback asphalts, to conserve an estimated 1,260,000 gallons of gasoline and fuel oil in 1974.

Cutback asphalts use gasoline and fuel oil 'cutter stock' as thinners, making it easier, faster and more economical to apply asphalt materials to roads. Asphalt emulsions employ a chemical wetting agent and water instead of gasoline or fuel oil, to the same effect.

In a directive to state highway department designers and project engineers, Ekern instructed them to eliminate asphalt prime coatings in projects presently in the planning stage, as well as in projects now under contract. "In many cases the prime coat has been deleted from projects with no noticeable detriment," he observed.

Asphalt emulsions have also performed well as tack-coatings, he continued, directing project engineers to encourage contractors to use them in place of cutback asphalts wherever current construction contracts provide that option.

Based on last year's use of cutback asphalts in state highway improvement projects, an estimated 310,000 gallons of gasoline and fuel oil can be saved for other uses, he said, with little adverse effect on construction costs or quality.

"For every three gallons of cutback asphalts eliminated in our highway programs," Ekern pointed out, "one gallon of petroleum fuel is saved."

Minnesota Plan For Hospitals To Be Revised

Twenty-fifth annual revision (1973-74) of the Minnesota state plan for hospitals, public health centers, and related medical facilities is now being completed by the division of health facilities, Minnesota department of health, in accordance with the provisions of the Hill-Burton program.

The plan is a public document which presents a coordinated program for the orderly development of needed health facilities and services throughout the state and is available for review and comment at the Minnesota department of health.

Major revisions in the plan concern the administration of the Hill-Burton free care provisions, program goals and policies, the Hill-Burton bed need formulas and the outpatient facilities construction program. The changes have been reviewed by representatives of Minnesota's areawide comprehensive health planning agencies, reviewed and recommended for approval by the state advisory council on hospital construction and approved by the state board of health on January 10.

The state plan serves as a basis for the allocation of grants and loans made available through the Hill-Burton program. Of all federal grant-in-aid programs, none has been more carefully geared to needs or planned to enlist initiative and investment by people at the local level than the Hill-Burton program, the health department reports.

Federal funds are granted on a priority basis and only after responsible local, state and federal officials have checked the needs for specific projects in light of health requirements and have reviewed the architectural plans in accordance with recognized standards.

To date, Minnesota has received $82,015,824 in Hill-Burton grants and has assisted with the construction of 204 projects. Because these funds are so limited, less than one in four facilities constructed in Minnesota receles Hill-Burton assistance.

Ratio of the total Hill-Burton allotment to Minnesota as compared with the total estimated cost of health facility construction completed and underway in the state since 1948 is less than 10 per cent. Consequently, the projects assisted have been those which are of a demonstration type and which establish a pattern for the development of similar health facilities and services.

The latest state plan revision will now be submitted to the public health service, federal department of health, educaton and welfare for approval.

Permits May Be Required For Farm Facilities

Minnesota pollution control agency (MPCA) is making a major effort to inform state farmers of agency-required permits and regulations pertaining to animal facilities.

"We know that many farmers aren't even aware of our regulations, through no fault of their own," said James Bosch, chief of the MPCA's section of agricultural wastes, "and we're attempting to do something to close the information gap and help farmers out wherever we can."

The MPCA regulations require farmers to obtain a state permit for all animal facilities which began operation, expanded, were modified, or changed ownership after April 16, 1971. Bosch estimates that more than 100,000 animal facilities throughout Minnesota are covered by the regulations.

"One thing the regulations emphasize," Bosch said, "is that manure can be a valuable resource to farmers and not something to think of merely as waste material."

Bosch said that many of the 100,000 some facilities technically covered by the regulations do not constitute a pollution problem and may receive a permit with no change in operation. Others, he added, will have to undergo modifications to meet the regulations.

One of the key points of the regulation is that all animal facilities shall be located so as not to constitute a potential pollution hazard, except where corrective and protective measures approved by the agency are taken.

Corrective and protective measures include such things as dikes, runoff collection, complete manure collection and clean water diversions.

"We know these regulations may worry many farmers," Bosch said, "but we are here to help and will do everything possible to assist them where a pollution problem may exist."

Besides the MPCA, farmers may also obtain help from the soil conservation service and the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service in evaluating and correcting any existing or potential pollution problem. The state offers a 10 per cent tax credit for approved pollution controls installed in connection with an animal facility.

New regulations allow counties, at the option of county boards, to help farmers meet MPCA regulations and obtain permits.

As part of its animal facility information program, the MPCA is sponsoring a series of meetings to explain the regulations and help farmers decide how best to correct any animal facility pollution problem.

Such meetings will be held at the Holiday Inn, Brainerd, from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m., February 13; and at the Holiday Inn, Moorhead, from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m., February 14. Bosch, along with Philip Goodrich, State Extension Agricultural Engineer, and a representative of the USDA soil conservation service, will speak at the meetings. Informational material on the regulations will be distributed and questions will be encouraged.

"We hope that as many farmers as possible will attend these these meetings," Bosch said.

Soil Scientist Asks Farmers To Save Fertilizer

Farmers have "little choice" but to conserve fertilizers, which are expected to be in short supply because of the energy crisis, says a University of Minnesota soil scientist.

A conservation effort would stretch fertilizer supplies and thus help U.S. agriculture respond to a record worldwide demand for feed grains and a push for a clean environment, argues William P. Martin.

Martin, who is head of the university's oil science department, makes his comments in the latest Minnesota Science, published by the University's Agricultural Experiment Station. Copies are available from the Bulletin Room, 3 Coffey Hall, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 55101.

Feed grain demand and the need for improvement of the U.S. balance of payments deficit "call for greater output in 1974," Martin says. "Needed increases may not be possible if fertilizer is scarce or perhaps unavailable this spring."

He fears a shortage because fertilizer production and transport "are dependent on petroleum." Nitrogen supplies are short already because of reduced allocations of natural gas used in its manufacture.

Calling for sound judgment and efficiency in fertilizer use, he says, "Emphasis must again be placed on soil testing for monitoring nutrient levels." Recent removal of fertilizer price ceilings will provide economic incentive for efficient use.

Martin predicts higher food prices and hampering of environmental and soil conservation efforts, if fertilizer use is seriously curtailed.

Citing Iowa state university statistics, he says a total fertilizer ban would increase food costs about 39 per cent by 1980 (from a 1969 base) and a 110 pound per acre limit would jack them up by about 22 per cent.

Soil conservation, he says, can result from recommended levels of fertilizer use because crop production is maximized on fewer acres of land.

This allows farmers to take out of production steeply sloping acreage, which is more likely than flat land to lose topsoil to neighboring waterways through runoff. There also is less temptation to farm wetlands and woodlots, which have value as wildlife habitat and recreational areas.

"Preserving and incorporating crop residues in soil, also slows down erosion and an adequately fertilized crop produces "many times more" residues than a poor crop, he adds.

Many factors "argue against" depending upon nonmanufactured fertilizers for food production, according to Martin. One big factor is, "There just aren't enough animal manures and acceptable sewage materials to go around."

A "Snacking Good" Dessert

If yours is a typical household, just about every member of the family loves dessert. It's the next best thing to "snacking".

Here's a microwave cooking idea that fills the bill for both—Crunchy Granola Bars. The natural taste and old-fashioned goodness of rolled oats and granola are combined to create a nibbler's delight. The light, crunchy bars make an ideal dessert—and when served with milk—become the perfect after-school or bedtime snack.

This recipe is another developed by home economists at Litton Microwave Cooking Products. Because the snack dessert is made the microwave way, it's ready in one-third the time of conventional baking. (Conventional baking instructions are also provided.)

Crunchy Granola Bars

- ⅔ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
- ½ cup light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 cups quick or old-fashioned rolled oats
- 2 cups granola cereal
- 1 cup (6 oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- ½ cup peanut butter

In 2-quart (12 x 7 inch) baking dish, melt butter (1 minute). Blend in brown sugar, corn syrup, salt and vanilla. Stir in rolled oats and granola until well mixed. Pat evenly in baking dish. Cook, uncovered, 7 minutes or until bubbly throughout. Cool slightly.

Melt chocolate by placing in mixing bowl and cook, uncovered, 2 minutes. Stir in peanut butter. Spread on bars. Refrigerate to set frosting, if desired. Cut into bars.

Makes about 48 bars.

Conventional preparation: Melt butter, brown sugar, corn syrup and salt; bring to boil. Follow as directed above. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Melt chocolate chips and peanut butter in small pan and spread over bars. Complete as above.

Pedestrian Curb Ramps Include Elevated Lip

As a result of several meetings with organizations for the handicapped, including members of the society for the blind, state highway department construction personnel have been advised to make sure that contractors build pedestrian curb ramps exactly to specifications.

W.S. Ekern, chief engineer and deputy highway commissioner, explained that specifications for pedestrian curb ramps call for a three-fourths inch 'lip', or rise, where the ramp meets the gutter. Apparently some contractors have omitted the lip or minimized it when finishing the concrete, in the mistaken belief that it might be a hazard to the handicapped.

Actually, Ekern pointed out, the slightly elevated lip of the ramp enables the blind to detect the curb line and the edge of the sidewalk with their canes. Aside from the occasional omission of this design feature, it was the consensus of the meetings that the pedestrian curb ramp is satisfactory.

Various "texturing" innovations will be built into pedestrian curb ramps, on an experimental basis, in a forthcoming construction project, Ekern said. After review by representatives of organizations for the handicapped, this, too, may become a standard design feature of the ramps.

The department has worked closely with organizations of the handicapped with a view to incorporating desirable features into the design of highway rest areas. Among them are ramps instead of steps, extra wide parking spaces and doors to accommodate wheelchairs, and lower telephones, water fountains and towel containers.

Trading Stamps Incentive For Car Pool Use

Free trading stamps and free bus fares are the latest incentives to carpooling and the use of public transit now offered by enterprising Minnesota businessmen.

"The incentives and initiatives provided by the business community to encourage employees to leave their cars at home are an invaluable complement to what can be done at the state level," declared highway commissioner Ray Lappegaard.

Last year the Minnesota highway department began a free computer matching service to facilitate carpooling by Twin Cities area firms, a service that will soon be extended to all residents of the seven-county metropolitan area by Governor Wendell Anderson.

Free trading stamps for customers who organize carpools for grocery shopping trips are now offered by four foodmarkets in Minneapolis. They, together with 16 additional supermarkets in central and southern Minnesota and northern Iowa, will give 100 trading stamps free to every carpool driver for each customer he carries with him.

Employees of a federal savings and loan association in Minneapolis and it subsidiary will now be reimbursed for bus fares if they leave their cars at home. Indications are that up to 65 per cent of the firms' employees, 300 of whom work in the downtown area, may avail themselves of this bounty, valued at $40,000 a year.

Some arrangement will also be made to reward employees who form carpools of five persons or more, according to the president of the institution.

AAA Fuel Gauge Report Reveals Adequate Supply

If a survey of 42 service stations in Minneapolis, St. Paul and outstate Minnesota is a good indicator, gasoline supplies in the state are adequate at present, according to the Minnesota state automobile association (AAA).

In Minneapolis 20 per cent of the stations were limiting sales in some form. In St. Paul none of the stations had limits in effect. Stations outstate had some limits in 12 per cent of those checked.

Gasoline prices were about the same as a week ago. The overall state average was 47.9 for regular and 51.8 for premium.

None of the stations surveyed said they were out of gas. A big majority said the supply outlook for the coming week was good. Two said they were "running short."

Fifteen per cent of the stations reported they were open at least part of each Sunday, some mornings and others afternoons.

The AAA check was made in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area and on major travel routes throughout the state.

Kikuchi Diary Reveals Life In Relocation Camp

In 1942, American-born Charles Kikuchi, a strong advocate of American victory in World War II, was forced to drop out of college to become a prisoner of the state.

His crime: Being born of Japanese ancestry.

For four months, a horse stall at Tanforan race track in California was home for Kikuchi, his parents and seven brothers and sisters. The home was temporary, but only until barracks in a larger concentration camp were prepared.

A diary in which Kikuchi, one of 110,000 Americans placed in "relocation" camps, recorded his experiences and thoughts has been edited by John Modell, associate professor of history at the University of Minnesota, and published by the University of Illinois Press.

Kikuchi is a Nisei, a Japanese American born in the United States. His father was a member of the immigrant generation, the Issei.

"Mr. Kikuchi was a flag-waver, but on the other hand, he was quite different from the typical Nisei in ways people would respect now," Modell said.

Modell, whose Columbia university graduate dissertation was on Japanese-American communities, said that Kikuchi was in some ways typical and in some ways an unusual Nisei. Modell said there is value in the "Kikuchi diary" because it shows Kikuchi's ethnic ambivalence and his loyalty to the U.S.

Despite his confinement, Kikuchi maintained loyalty to the U.S. cause and disgust for those who would not give up their Japanese traditions. His diary expresses his frustration at being unable to serve the U.S. as well as his alienation from the American mainstream.

"I was up in the grandstands and had a good view of the outside," he once wrote. "Maybe I was depressed, but a funny feeling of loneliness and of being out of place swept over me.

"Perhaps this was due to the fact that I walked through the men's dormitory where all those Japanese old men were jabbering away in their conversations about the war. This type of people should be evacuated, but why put all the innocent Nisei—99 per cent—in with them? This burns me up no end," he wrote.

When Japan attacked Pearl Harbor, Kikuchi wrote in his diary, "The Nisei believe that now is the time to prove their loyalty is something more than mere surface words. They want to act for America, terribly. The question is, 'Will they be given a chance!'"

The document displays Kikuchi's ambivalence to his own ethnic group as well as others. He tried to identify both with the cause of other American ethnics, but on some occasions he was distrustful of them.

Kikuchi, who spent his childhood away from his family, recorded his reaction to being thrust back into a Japanese-American community and forced confinement. His ambivalence can sometimes be seen in a distrust toward his own father.

He reacted to repression of people in the camp. "How can we fight fascism," he wrote in 1942, "if we allow its doctrines to become a part of government policies?"

Throughout the confinement, he held his view that the U.S. was correct in its war effort but showed his anger that "anyone in camp upholding the cause of democracy would be crucified."

"If the war lasts long enough," he wrote, "the Nisei manpower can become very important in the war effort, given the right kind of training...We are not war prisoners, yet our constitutional rights have been taken from us, namely fundamental civil liberties."

Much of his diary deals with everyday camp life, includng his developing knowledge of his own family, policies of the camp and reactons to confinement.

State Farmers Maintain Good Grain Supply

Agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald said that the January inventory of Minnesota and national grain stocks indicates that the state's farmers have maintained a good bargaining position for protecting long awaited and hard won price gains.

"According to the latest report from our state-federal crop and livestock reporting service, Minnesota farmers hold the dominant position on the state's total stocks of corn, soybeans, oats, wheat and barley.

"Not only do farmers hold the majority of these stocks in Minnesota, but the amount they are holding for future marketings also represents significant shares of the national grain inventory," Commissioner Wefald said.

Minnesota farmers are holding in storage 18.2 per cent of the nation's oats and 73.1 per cent of the state total; 7.8 per cent of the U.S. corn and 80.2 per cent of the state total; 5.4 per cent of the U.S. soybeans and 67.6 per cent of the state total; 7.5 per cent of the U.S. barley and 57.9 of the state total; 2.75 per cent of the U.S. what and 53.8 per cent of the state total; 6. per cent of the U.S. flaxseed and 11.9 per cent of the state total; 3 per cent of the U.S. rye and 21. 6 per cent of the state total.

At mid-January price averages the value of farmer-held grain stocks was $1,539,506,360 of the estimated $2,176,899,140 value of total state grain stocks.

January grain stocks for the state and nation were significantly lower than one year ago on all commodities except soybeans. Minnesota's total feed grain inventory (corn, oats, barley) is 17 per cent less than a year ago, compared to a seven per cent reducfion in national feed grain stocks this January.

Commissioner Wefald said that Minnesota is in the best bargaining position on flaxseed, with 50.2 per cent of the U.S. inventory, and on oats with 25 per cent of the U.S. inventory. National stocks this January are 24.7 per cent less for flaxseed and 18.3 per cent less for oats, compared to a year earlier. National soybean stocks are nearly 35 per cent greater than last year, but minnesota's soybean invetory is nearly 45 per cent larger than January, 1973.

He cautioned Minnesota farmers against "over reacting to the soybean stocks increase, "recommending that "continued orderly and staggered marketings are the best insurance aginst sharp drops in market prices."

Consumption Of Food Declines In United States

In the face of the sharpest food price increases in 25 years, Americans ate 1¼ per cent less food in 1973. This is the biggest drop in consumption in 15 years, and meat leads the list of foods consumers are avoiding, says Edna Jordahl, extension home management specialist at the University of Minnesota.

While meat consumption dropped six per cent and eggs declined by five per cent, we ate five per cent more cheese, four per cent more fruit and more canned and frozen fish. We drank a little more milk but used less butter, according to Mrs. Jordahl.

She predicts Americans will increase their red meat consumption during 1974, regaining about half of what was dropped in 1973. Poultry and egg consumption probably will be high, but dairy products will decline. Consumers will continue to seek substitutes and less expensive food items.

In dollar and cents terms, Americans spent 15.9 per cent of disposable income on food compared to 15.7 per cent in 1972. This is the first such increase in 15 years, Mrs. Jordahl says. Government statisticians say food prices in the Twin Cities, for example, increased 18.9 per cent in 1973.

Food expenditures for 1974 probably will increase moderately, Mrs. Jordahl predicts, reflecting jumps in consumption and prices. Disposable income will increase though, so consumers are likely to spend about the same percentage of their disposable income for food as they spent last year.

IRS Continues To Monitor Tax Preparers

Internal Revenue service announced recently that it will continue to monitor commercial return preparers in an effort to identify those wo are unscrupulous or fraudulent.

"We are not trying to discourage patronage of commercial tax preparers, but only trying to discourage taxpayers from using or being "taken in" by those who are incompetent or unscrupulous," said R.C. Voskuil, district director of internal revenue for Minnesota.

"This year taxpayers who use commercial preparers should notify our office if they find false deductions or omitted income items on their returns," Voskuil continued. "The number to call in the Twin City metropolitan area is 291-1422. Outlying areas should call 1-800-652-9062 toll free.

Voskuil offered the following advice to those taxpayers wo choose to use the services of a commercial preparer. Be cautious of the preparer who:

Offers or induces you to have your refund check mailed to him rather than directly to you or "guarantees" you a refund.

Asks you to sign a blank return or one filled out in pencil as he can then change or enter any figure on the return.

Wants to increase the amount of legitimate deductions by adding a fictitious amoutn or wants to enter nonexistent deductions or exemptions.

Also, insists that the preparer you choose signs your return in the preparer section.

Choosing Wood For A Fireplace Is Important

Choose the Minnesota woods for your fireplace that give off the most heat, suggests William Miles, University of Minnesota extension forester.

Rather than conifers or evergreens, use a hardwood, particularly hickory, black locust, oak and sugar maple. Hickory is rated at the top for heat, but it is not very easy to obtain. Oak, sugar maple and paper birch are readily available and good heat producers. Other possibilities incude ash, elm and aspen.

Conifers, such as pine, cedar, spruce and fir, burn readily and are excellent for starting a fire but don't produce heat as hardwoods do, Miles adds. The rapidly inflammable bark of paper birch also is good for starting a fire.

Oak and birch provide a good combination for the fireplace—oak for its heating ability and birch for its bark and good looks.

Some woods throw more sparks than others. Any green wood can throw sparks. Dry cedar and some other conifers are "sparkers," while oak, locust, sugar maple, elm and ash produce few flying sparks. Use a screen in front of a fire no matter how few sparks are produced since it takes only one spark on a rug or out of the fireplace to start a fire, Miles cautions.

Check the yellow pages of your telephone book or classified advertisements in your local newspapers to find out where to buy fireplace wood.

Some Minnesotans are burning wood in fireplaces to help reduce fuel consumption. If you burn wood to heat your home, remember that 40 per cent of the potential hat comes from burning gases in the wood itself. The most efficient furnace is one that captures and burns most of these gases—a closed-combustion chamber furance does this best. In this kind of furnace, the wood gases force themselves back into the fire where they are burned rather than escaping through the chimney.

Generally fireplaces produce only about one-tenth as much usable heat as a closed-combustion chamber furance using an equal amount of wood. Modern fireplaces with metal sidwalls and backs with space for air to circulate between the walls and the fireplace setting and Franklin stoves are about one-fourth as efficient. Some wood burning space heaters with secondary air-inlets may be as much as three-fourths as efficient as the closed-combustion furance.

Wood compares favorably with other fuels as a heating source, but unless you can get it free or cut your own, it is presently more expensive than other fuels. It is less convenient because it has to be handled more. Wood burning units must be refueled several times a day and sometimes every few hours. Ashes must be removed and disposed.

Census Bureau Says Business Receipts Are Up

Preliminary data from the 1972 census of selected service industries shows that receipts of 10,896 selected service establishments with one or more employees totaled $1,429 million, an increase of 50 per cent over the $955 million reported in the 1967 census.

The 1972 data for Minnesota, reported recently by the bureau of the census, an agency of the U.S. department of commerce's social and economic statistics administration, are shown by selected kinds of businesses. In addition to receipts, data are shown for number of establishments, annual payroll, and number of employees for limited kinds of business. These preliminary statistics cover only information for extablishments with payroll—those that represent approximately half of the service businesses in the country but which account for about 89 per cent of all the receipts in the kinds of business covered in Minnesota.

In addition to a wide variety of personal and business services, selected services covered in the census include hotels, motels, and camps; automotive service; repair services; amusement and recreation services, including the motion picture industry; legal services; and architectural and engineering services. Among the detailed kinds of business presented, the percentage changes in receipts from 1967 to 1972 range from an increase of 211 per cent for producers, orchestras, and entertainers, to a decrease of 62 per cent for barber shops.

As a result of changes in methodology and kind-of-business classifications, data for 1972 are not exactly comparable to 1967 data for all kind-of-business classifications. These differences, which will be explained in the final report for the State, are not believed to be significant for most kinds of business for which preliminary data are shown in this release.

Data for all establishments (including businesses without paid employees) will be presented in the final State report. Included will be data by more detailed kinds of business for each standard metropolitan statistical area (SMSA) and major counties and cities. Limited kind-of-business data will be shown for each county and each incorporated city of 2,500 inhabitants or more.

The final selected service industires report for Minnesota, SC72 (A)-24, will contain considerably more kind-of-business data plus statistics for geographic subdivisions (counties, cities, SMSA's) within the state. Announcements containing descriptions and publication dates of the various publications to be issued in the 1972 census of selected service industries series, as well as an order form for purchasing reports, can be obtained from the Publications Distribution Section, Social and Economic Statistics Administration, Washington, D.C. 20233.

Ice Follies To Begin March 27 In Bloomington

"A Salute to America," is the theme for the 30th edition of Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies coming Wednesday, March 27 through Sunday, April 7 to Met center in Bloomington.

Ice Follies star is Janet Lynn, five times U. S. champion, Olympic and world medalist, and current world professional champion, in her professional debut in the Upper Midwest.

The male contingent is again headed by Richard Dwyer, Mr. Frick in a new medley of cantilevered cutups, barrel-jumper and ice gymnast David Comb and Atoy Wilson, black skating marvel.

The leading ladies supporting Janet Lynn are Susan Berens, Richard Dwyer's partner and featured soloist, Karen Kresge and Christy Ito, a diminutive Japanese-American.

New faces in the 1974 "Salute to America" include Canadian stars Jay Humphry and Suzanne Russel, Viennese comic Hans Leiter, and Nancy and Leandre, ice adagio team. Comedy comes in bunches with the Funsters, in a spoof of the TV "Munsters;" the outrageous Scarecrows; Mr. Frick, Hans Leiter as a laughable Captain Bligh; Purple Cow and her matching calf, and, of course, Snoopy.

From the opening glitter of "Celebration at Large," to a red, white and blue, full-of-fireworks finale, Ice Follies is a total trip for the eyes and ears. More than ever before, it's the complete family occasion, with talent and music galore, and the most lavish sets and costumes this side of Hollywood.

Born in the Twin Cities in 1936, Ice Follies has become an institution in the world of entertainment and a source of pride for Minnesotans. It has played in the Twin Cities every year since 1938, and on March 27 will mark its seventh year at Met Center.

Tickets for 18 performances of Ice Follies are on sale at Met center at $6, $5 and $4, with $1 discount for students 16 and under. Special rates for groups are also available. For information, call Group Sales Dept., (612) 854-4411.

Performances are scheduled as follows: Wednesday, Mar. 27, Thursday, Mar. 28 and Friday, Mar. 29, 8 p.m.; Saturday, Mar. 30, 12 Noon, 4 and 8 p.m., Sunday, Mar. 31, 2 and 6 p.m., Wednesday, Apr. 3, Thursday, Apr. 4, and Friday, Apr. 5, 8 p.m., Saturday, Apr. 6, 12 Noon, 4 and 8 p.m., and, Sunday, Apr. 7, 2 and 6 p.m.

Tickets are available through mail order at Met Center, 7901 Cedar Ave. S., Bloomington, MN 55420. For ticket information, call (612) 854-8585.

VA Decreases Interest Rate On Home Loans

Veterans administration hopes that its recent reduction in the GI home loan interest rate will encourage many veterans and service personnel to re-enter the home-buying market.

The agency recently announced a one-quarter per cent decrease on VA loans, from 8.5 to 8.25 per cent. The new lower rate has also been established for FHA loans.

John R. Good, loan guaranty officer, VA Center, Fort Snelling, noted recently that the lowered interest rate can save as much as $1,530 over the life of a 30-year mortgage on a $25,000 home.

The new loan rate does not apply to VA mobile home loans, which are for shorter terms and lesser loan amounts than regular loans.

Good said that a law enacted last July authorizes the VA administrator to set interest rates on GI loans in line with market conditions following consultation with the secretary for the department of housing and urban development.

The new maximum rate was set after a series of market indicators showed that the old 8.5 per cent figure, in effect since last August, was very near the par for commercial home loans.

FANCY THAT!

Although man has put the lemon to more uses than any other citrus fruit it was Greek to the ancient Greeks who never heard of it. Originating from central or eastern Asia, the lemon was carried by the Arabs to western Asia, north Africa and Spain around 1000 A.D.

We have the Crusaders to thank for making the lemon the toast of all Europe around 1200 A.D. And ever since, lemon growers have always known they had a good thing growing!

But it took the Americans to make the lemon tree bear fruit in a new way. Typical of American ingenuity is that now a dash of lemon freshness has been added to new menthol Twist cigarettes. It tastes fresher than ordinary cigarettes and gives a smoother cool.

Industrial Bond Program Sets Records In '73

Minnesota's municipal industrial development bond program set new records during 1973, according to information made available recently by Governor Wendell R. Anderson.

"The continuing growth of the industrial development bond program indicates a similar upward trend in the growth and expansion of Minnesota industry in 1973," Anderson commented. He noted that approximately two-thirds of the bond issues were generated in communities outside the metropolitan area. He indicated that this effort was right in line with his program to promote economic opportunities for Minnesotans outside the Twin Cities and reverse the rural to urban migration of recent years.

Governor Anderson said that economic development commissioner James R. Heltzer had approved 59 industrial development bond issue applications valued at $95,308,500 during 1973. The new projects are estimated to provide 3,056 new jobs in 46 Minnesota communities.

Used primarily for land acquisition and building construction, the bonds also financed the purchase and installation of pollution control equipment for industrial facilities. There were seven bond issue applications totaling $42.55-million for this purpose in 1973.

"1973 was a remarkably successful year in the use of industrial development bonds," Commissioner Heltzer said. "More bond issue applications were approved last year than in the previous three and one-half years of the program."

Commissioner Heltzer added, "A number of communities, recognizing the value of bonds to their economic growth, have made multiple use of them. Lakeville, for instance, applied for three bonds last year. The business community, as well, has been enthusiastic about the bond program. The Fingerhut Company, to take one expample, financed expansion in three Minnesota communities by means of revenue bond issues."

Largest of the industrial development bond projects during 1973 was a $4.2-million Land O'Lakes cheese manufacturing facility in Perham. Of the bond applications exclusively used for pollution control facilities equipment, the $28.75 million Northern States Power company project in Red Wing was the most sizeable. Industrial development bonds are issued in accordance with federal legislation which sets a $5 million ceiling on tax-exempt bonds with the exception of bonds used for pollution abatement projects.

The bonds are issued under the Minnesota municipal industrial development act of 1967. Since the law was declared constitutional in 1970, there has been a total of 94 projects valued at $158,893,500, including nine pollution abatement bonds totaling $62-3-million. Industrial development bond projects have meant an estimated 5,336 new jobs.

The growth of the bond program can be illustrated by its annual results: four projects in 1970 valued at $3.175-million with an estimated 140 new jobs; 13 projects in 1971 valued at $17.1-million with an estimated 1,145 jobs; and 18 projects in 1972 valued at $43.31-million with an estimated 995 jobs.

Industrial development bonds differ from the general obligation bonds normally issued by communities in that the full faith and credit of the community is not pledged. Taxes cannot be levied against municipal property owners to pay the principal and interest of the bond issue. The bonds are amortized solely by the rentals received from the lessee of the facility.

Heltzer noted that the most recent bond applications approved, in November and December and December, were for $500,000 and $1 million pollution control and building expansion projects, respectively, for G. T. Schjeldahl company in Northfield; a $940,000 plant for Physical Electronics Industries, Inc., in Eden Prairie; and a $600,000 facility for Farmers Union Central Exchange, Inc., (CENEX) in South St. Paul. These projects are expected to generate an estimated 225 new jobs for Minnesotans.

Fatalities On Minn. Freeways Increase In '73

Traffic fatalities on Minnesota's Interstate freeways increased in 1973 over the previous year by 16, or nearly 50 per cent, a department of public safety study indicates. At the same time, trunk highway fatalities declined by 33 or six per cent.

The 49 fatalities charged against the freeways in 1973 are expected to affect the rate per 100 million miles of travel substantially. This rate has been declining for several years and has been one of the lowest in the nation for Interstate travel.

In 1971 it reached 1.10 deaths per 100 million miles of travel, compared with a rate of 4.38 for all Minnesota roads and 2.59 for all Interstates nationally. The 1973 rates will not be known for some weeks, as the data on which they are based have not all been compiled.

Hennepin county, with 14 fatalties, had the most severe freeway experience. Ramsey, with seven, Anoka with six, and Winona with four, followed.

Alcohol was involved in at least 32 of the fatalities, and coroners' reports showed that 23 of the involved drivers who died in the crashes had blood alcohol levels of .10 per cent or more.

Eight of the victims were pedestrians.

Insurance Firm Gives Tips On Fuel Shortage

Keeping the home fires buring could, this year, be a full-time job.

With the energy crisis threntening to curtail home fuel supplies, a major life insurance company offers some safety tips to housewives, especially those with small children or elderly relatives at home who might suffer from chilly room temperatures."

While pointing out that lower-than-usual indoor temperatures can, in fact, be more healthful, the company urges that the first way to conserve fuel is by checking your home heating system to be certain that you are not wasting energy by operating it at less than maximum efficiency. Be sure that insulation is adequate, that the chimney is functioning and that flues are properly connected.

This winter you may gather around the fireplace for a more basic reason than to daydream while the flames flicker. But be certain that you have a well-constructed screen to prevent ashes and embers from spraying out into your room. And keep an eye on small children, especially those just learning to crawl. They should be kept well away from the fireplace area. Remember to close the damper when you are not using the fireplace.

Families without a fireplace in their homes may decide to use a space heater to warm a particular room this winter. Remember that these heaters—whether kerosene, gas or electric—are always hazardous to some degree. Kerosene is especially volatile and gas may leak from the hose connecting the heater to the gas supply. When using an electric heater, be especially careful of direct contact with the electric grid and check cords and outlets carefully. A frayed extension cord or overloaded wiring may cause a fire.

Accidents caused by fires are responsible for approximately 7,000 deaths each year in the United States. Mortality from fires begins to rise with the onset of cold weather and the increased use of heating equipment. Elderly people, who often find it difficult to move quickly, and small children who are left unattended are often the victims. Exercise extreme caution in selecting and using any home heating unit.

Don't store gasoline in your home, on your property or in your car. One gallon of gasoline has the same explosive power as 14 sticks of dynamite. If you must store gasoline, do so in a properly-constructed gas tank that meets professional standards.

MHD Incentive Program May Help Cut Costs

How an innovative operation of a road contractor benefitted the state by $1,637 was told today by highway commissioner Ray Lappegaard in explaining "value engineering incentive," a new provision in specifications for Minnesota Highway projects.

The incentive plan, inaugurated last fall by the Minnesota department of highways, applies to contracts exceeding $100,000 in original contract amount and encourages road and bridge builders to develop cost reduction techniques without imparing the quality of the particular roadway or structure.

In submitting the value engineering proposal, the contractor is required to explain how his recommendations will be performed, the time schedule and a prediction of effects the proposed changes would have on other costs of the project.

Arcon Construction Co., Inc., of Mora, contractor in grading, paving and ramp alignment of a 2.5-mile section of U.S. Highway 12 near Wayzata, executed the first value engineering proposal accepted by the department. Involved was the relocation of catch basins in the drainage system by trenching and using the existing structures. The drain-outs were moved to accommodate concrete median barriers on the multi-lane highway. The cost reduction of $3,275.26 was split equally by the contractor and the State Highway Department.

Although new provisions of the Minnesota highway department contracts, the value engineering program has been in effect by principal construction agencies of the U.S. department of defense since 1965. Similarly, the state highway departments of Iowa, Illinois and Utah use the VEI plan.

A committee composed of members of the Minnesota chapter, Associated General contractors and Minnesota highway department engineers, patterned Minnesota's VEI specifications after those of the U.S. Army corps of engineers.

"The intent of the VE incentive clause is not for the contractor to second-guess the designer in the design area, but to take advantage of the contractor's special know-how to obtain the most for the construction dollar," Commissioner Lappegaard said. "The policy provides a means by which capable contractors can realize additional profits and the government gain additional taxpayer savings."

THE QUEST FOR NEW TRAILS

The history of man is a story of progress. Each of its thousands of volumes could bear one common title: The Quest for New Trails.

Even in childhood we display this strange genius which has brought us from primeval forests to this atomic age. We love to penetrate the untouched spaces . . . to open trails where none have ever been.

But this quest could destroy us more rapidly than it has profited us. History recounts the fall of many a civilization too busy with its search for new trails to understand its deeper needs.

For man can truly progress only when his spiritual growth keeps pace with his cultural and scientific advancement.

Or, bluntly, the future of this young Arctic explorer and of his world depends on the Church. The truths of God are unchanging—and ever more essential—as we seek new trails into the Unknown.

Thought For The Day

The book of Proverbs has much to say about "words" and the importance of how we use them. Here are a few truths from Proverbs concerning "words":

(1) They will be honest. "Righteous lips are the delight of kings" (16:13)

(2) They will be few. "Even a fool may pass for wise, if he says nothing" (17:28 Moffatt)

(3) They will be calm. Three reasons can be found for this praise of calmness: it allows time for a fair hearing (18:13); it allows tempers to cool (15:1) its influence is potent (25:15).

(4) They will be apt. "To make an apt answer is a joy to a man, and a word in season, how good it is." (15:23)

A Case In Point

Attorney Andrew P. Engebretson of St. Paul has sent a printed letter to editors of the weekly press in Minnesota, warning of "what we stand to lose if no-fault insurance goes through" (passes the state legislature and is signed into law).

Engebretson states that such laws usually take away damages for physical distress and as such would take away the insured's bargaining power in dealing with the insurers.

"The majority of claims for wages and medical expenses are now settled very promptly by the carriers in the well grounded hope that they can forestall a possible substantial exposure for physical distress," he writes.

"To illustrate," he writes, assume an accident victim has a wage loss of $300 and medical expense of $300; total out of pocket damages of $600. Under our present set-up the insurers are most eager to settle for $600 since they know a proper award for physical distress can bring the value of the claim to anywhere from $1,000 to $2,000 or more.

"But under no-fault, since the most the victim can get anyway is the $600, the insurer can say to the victim that, arbitrarily, the medical bills are $100 too high, the wage loss is $100 too high and so the true value of the claim is only $400. But, out of the goodness of its heart it will pay $500. What can the victim do? If he gets a lawyer and fights out his claim and gets the full $600 he still comes home with only $400."

The mathematics of that last sentence is the key to the reason no-fault insurance is gaining in popularity. A $200 legal fee in a $600 damage suit is a little tough to swallow. Retention of a third of the spoils by the lawyer certainly minimizes the suffering of the victim—whether the claim is made under the present get-all-you-can-while-you-can system or the new no-fault system.

It should be possible to devise an insurance system whereby an insured person can be assured of recovering out-of-pocket loss quickly and equitably without a long and costly legal litigation period—which is what we understand no-fault insurance is designed to do. Prompt payment and avoidance of a court hassle goes a long way toward alleviating "physical distress" as well as mental distress—especially when one looks at a one-third settlement fee.

We would suppose there are some problems with no-fault insurance. There are some real problems with the present system. On a general run, however, in the greatest majority of accident claims, no-fault would be preferable by far. And at premium-paying time it would be most attractive.

Testing Adulthood

Following editorial is from the Wheaton Gazette:

A good deal of attention on the part of people associated with schools is now being focused on a lawsuit which has been initiated in Minnesota. An 18-year-old high school boy—sorry, man—is bringing action against his school district because he has been banned from extra-curricular activities after having been found drinking in a local pub.

Now there certainly is no question, legal or otherwise, about an 18-year-old drinking in Minnesota. The voters of this state approved lowering the legal adult age to 18 at an election in 1972, so any 18-year-old is indeed an adult and duly qualified to drink.

But for years the Minnesota High School League, which pretty well regulates the extra-curricular activities of all schools in the state, has had a specific ruling which requires banning a student from such activities for a given period of time if he or she is known to have consumed any alcoholic beverage.

The question being raised in the lawsuit now in progress is one dealing with discrimination. The contention is that an 18-year-old involved in extra-curricular activities is discriminated against because another 18-year-old in high school can drink and not receive any form of retaliatory action.

We hardly believe that this is a reasonable question—or that the obvious conclusion one must draw is really quite as obvious as the asker of the question would like to believe. The fact of the matter is, the rule applies to all. The students who do not take part in extra-curricular activities are no less affected by this rule than one who does take part. The rule is laid down for all. Because a student is not involved in extra-curricular activities mans simply that he chooses not to be involved—not that he is privileged above another.

As we have mentioned before, we have grave doubts about the wisdom of lowering the legal age of adulthood in this state. Before the voting, we did favor the legislation, feeling that the young were fully capable of accepting their adult responsibilities. Since then we have more than once been given cause to find this untrue. It's untrue perhaps not in all cases—but in enough to make one believe that the legal age should be put back to the 21-year-old level; or at the very least up to 19 and out of the high school age group.

It just doesn't make sense to us that a school should be hamstrung in setting down reasonable regulations for ALL students. Age really has nothing to do with this. The school, in its function of providing educational opportunity, is dealing not with youth and adults, but rather with students. They're all students. They should all be treated like students. There is no reason to believe that the normal restrictions or reasonbale regulations laid down for the well being of both the institution and the student body should simply vanish for any student on the morning of his 18th birthday.

Among other things a student might well learn during his school days is that when he is a part of any society he must abide by the rules of that society. That's what life is really going to be for him after high school. The rules established for the good of the whole society are going to apply to every member—including him.

The rules that are established for the good of the whole school should apply to all—including the 18-year-old. He may be of legal age by the calendar, but for the purposes of the operation of the educational institution he is not an adult—he is a student.

It perhaps might be pleasant enough if any of us could do exactly as he pleases at any time he desires. But we can't. That's not quite how the world goes 'round. And there's no better time for anyone to learn that—adult or otherwise—than in his school days.

Think About This

John Weida, a three-sport athlete at Litchfield high school, penned his own thoughts on the suspension of high school athletic events during the Christmas holidays in an article in the Litchfield high school paper. This is what he wrote:

"Now that the State High School League suspension of holiday athletics is over, I think it is time to take a long look at its effects in perspective.

"A lot of people will be surprised to know that we saved approximately 30 to 40 per cent of the energy that would have been used had the school remained open. You may say, 'So what?', but those two weeks could have saved us from going to school in June because now we have sufficient supplies to last us in February.

"The 30 to 40 per cent of energy saved was accomplished by lowering the temperature in the building by about 25 degrees. Room temperatures ranged from about 40 to 50 degrees. also, a substantial amount of electrical power was saved by not having lights on for the two-week period.

"The league received a lot of heat concerning the shutdown, but they should be commended for their leadership. I feel they were trying to set an example by being the first to sacrifice for the good of the whole. No one can say they haven't made a gallant effort to stave off the energy shortage.

"I think most athletes will agree they enjoyed the vacation. With all the Christmas games and tourneys of the past, it was hard to get any real meaning out of Christmas. The league should follow up and propose a permanent Christmas ban for one week."

Fuel savings were, we believe, a by-product of the shut-down rather than its primary benefit—although fuel saving was the stated purpose. As Weida says, most athletes enjoyed the vacation. We imagine their families did, too. And probably, in spite of the complaints and vocal concerns, the coaches didn't really find it too bad after all.

A little family time doesn't hurt any family and there is no time like Christmas for family togetherness. A one-week ban would be a good idea and it should be set while schedules can still be arranged around it. Well said, John; Merry Christmas!

Senate Report

— by —

Senator Richard Fitzsimons
Minnesota District One

Debate on the floor of the Senate has varied from very low key to one of high intensity during the past week.

The debate on gun registration was long and many times emotional, with a great many members of the Senate taking part in the debate. When all the oratory had subsided, the bill was defeated by a vote of almost two to one on a preliminary vote. Contrary to what many people believe, this action does not kill the bill as it is still on general orders and could be brought up for vote almost any session. I opposed this bill and doubt if the authors will attempt to revive it this session, but it is still possible.

A bill dealing with certain returnable cans and bottles has been debated two days on the floor of the Senate. On both days, the bill was defeated on a preliminary vote, but the bill still remains on the Senate general orders and is scheduled for debate again next week.

This bill would not take effect until 1978 and is strongly opposed by organized labor and the container industry. I think we can ill afford the apparent loss of jobs this bill could bring to Minnesota people under its present form. There is no escaping the fact all of us must reduce our consumption of non-renewable resources and this bill has alerted everyone to this fact. The Legislature must address itself during the coming interim to a better approach to this problem than this bill offers.

Veteran's Day will again be commemorated on November 11th under bills passed by both the House and the Senate. Almost without exception, people have expressed their displeasure at having this moved to October. I am happy at this action of this Legislature.

One of the advantages of this annual session is the opportunity to pass local bills. I have introduced four local bills so far this session and have requests for two more. These are the kind of bills that are very necessary and formerly took up much of the time of a session. I like this opportunity to have them processed.

Remember the precinct caucuses on Tuesday, February 26th. Attend and make your voice heard.

Protecting your dollar!

By
Warren Spannaus
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

A long over-due reform of the Minnesota mechanics' lien law became effective on January 1, 1974.

In the past a Minnesota homeowner has sometimes paid a contractor for work done on his home, but the contractor for one reason or another has not paid an electrician, plumber or other subcontractor or supplier his share of the money. Without warning, the homeowner receives a notice that the subcontractor has filed a mechanics' lien against his home. The homeowner has to pay the subcontractor's bill a second time or face the loss of his home. As one writer has said: "Of all the law's victims, perhaps none is more deserving of sympathy than the honest homeowner who is cheated of his property courtesy of the mechanics' lien laws."

The new law will assure that homeowners are given clear and understandable notice of their rights and liabilities and will help assure that no Minnesotan will be victimized by a prime contractor who refuses to pay his subcontractors. This law will permit a homeowner to pay his contractor without fear of double payment until a subcontractor notifies the homeowner that he is doing some of the work. After the homeowner receives the notice, he can avoid double payment by either of two methods: He can pay the subcontractor directly instead of continuing to pay the contractor, or he can obtain the permission of the subcontractor through a lien waiver to keep paying the contractor. The new law also requires anyone who files a mechanics lien to serve the homeowner immediately with notice of that fact. Under the old law there was no requirement for such notice.

The new law will insure that everybody gets paid when a home improvement is made, but that nobody pays twice. The law will increase the fairness of dealings among homeowners, subcontractors and contractors.

notes from the governor

There was great concern throughout 1973 regarding the state of our national economy and its performance.

I am pleased to report that in Minnesota 1973 was a good year by several standards. I say this in full knowledge of the serious problems caused by continued inflation and by the energy crisis.

However, at year's end, Minnesota's industrial base had expanded by more than 8,000 new jobs. The capital outlay that accompanied those new jobs was nearly $425 million, a record of which we can all be proud.

Since becoming governor, I have pursued a plan of action designed to curb the movement of people from our rural communities to the metropolitan area. I'm pleased to report that of the 8,000 new jobs, 5,923, or 74 per cent, were created in our rural communities.

On the basis of preliminary figures, international trade in the form of manufactured exports appears headed for our first $1-billion year. We signed more industrial revenue bonds (59) than in any previous year. The bonds are valued at $95 million and provided 3,056 new jobs for Minnesotans.

Through October our average personal income had jumped to $15,638, an increase of 14 per cent in the same period of 1972.

The outlook for 1974, although clouded by rising unemployment and shortages, has its positive aspects.

This past week brought announcements by two taconite mining firms, Hanna Mining Co. and Oglebay-Norton & Co., of plans to invest more than $250 million to expand existing taconite plants on Minnesota's Iron Range. The two projects are expected to provide more than 2,300 jobs during the construction period and more than 800 permanent new jobs when the expansions are completed.

It is my hope the near future will bring announcements of other major industrial projects in Minnesota.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—My education allowance check for last month has not arrived from the Veterans Administration. What should I do?

A—Write to the VA regional office which has custody of your claims file. Be sure to provide your name, address and claim number.

Q—Does the Veterans Administration provide care for veterans who are unable to make it on their own because of age or general disability?

A—Yes, the agency has 16 domiciliaries. Any VA office will provide assistance in filing application for this benefit.

Thursday, Feb. 7, was the regular meeting day for the Senior Citizens. Many of our members were absent, but those present worked on Valentines. They really got some very pretty ones made that are now on display. Next Thursday will be our Valentine's Day party. Hope all our members will be there to enjoy the fun. Visitors were Carol Nelson, Pam Nelson, and Charmaine Johnson. Dennis Brekke joined us at lunchtime. He donated $1 to the Center. Thank you, Dennis. Eldor Westman gave the Center $2 for the use of 15 chairs last week for the farewell party. Thanks to you too, Eldor. It was nice to see Swan Lindstrom at the Center again. Inga Johnson was the hostess. And now we have turned to another year at last, hoping the future will be brighter than the past. Although winter's snow and blustering winds have kept us close to our homes, we've observed many grateful and harmonious holiday blessings. I guess the fun of life are the four seasons; it's the glorious changing of passing fantasys that many never see. So we can be thankful for the growing energy given us, and that we can survive the blessings of our private world. Mabel Borsvold, reporter.

Savor Asparagus In Cream Soup

Bunches of fresh asparagus in the market are always a signal for rejoicing for all lovers of this very special vegetable. Serve it often while it is in season. Before cooking, wash in cold water to remove any sand that may be clinging to the stalks or hidden under the scales. Then cook just until tender, 10 to 15 minutes, preferably in a covered tall pot with about 2 inches of salted water. Dress it with Hollandaise or Cheese Sauce—or make Cream of Asparagus Soup. Making your soup from the fresh vegetable is very simple and it will have real gourmet flavor. Thicken it delicately with Argo corn starch and add just enough nutmeg for seasoning.

Cream of Asparagus Soup

2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons corn starch
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
½ cup asparagus broth
1½ cups cooked, chopped asparagus
⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg

Melt margarine in 2-quart heavy saucepan. Add corn starch, salt and pepper and mix well. Remove from heat, gradually add milk and ½ cup of the broth left from cooking asparagus, mixing until smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens, comes to boil and boils 1 minute. Stir in asparagus and nutmeg. Makes about 1 quart.

Plans Underway For Annual Charity Ball

Plans are underway for the 13th annual Mrs. Jaycees Charity ball to be held Saturday, March 9, at 9 p.m. at the Thief River golf club, according to Mrs. Judy Dimich, publicity chairman for the fund-raising event.

All proceeds from the charity ball will go to the Falls day activity center for retarded persons for use in financing improvements on a recreational area which the center has purchased. The recreation area will be open for use by all members of the local association for retarded citizens.

Theme for the charity ball is "Together We Can Make It Happen", symbolizing the joint effort and community support necessary to make the event a success and to support the day activity center. Such support has been given in the past and Mrs. Jaycees hope it will continue as they strive to help the area's retarded to live happier, more useful and rewarding lives.

"City of New Orleans" will be the band which will play for dancing during the evening. Entertainment program is scheduled for 10 p.m. with Larry White as master of ceremonies, and hors d'oeuvres will be served throughout the evening.

White is employed by Arctic Enterprises in Thief River Falls and is a member of the local Toastmasters club. Program will feature Mrs. Kate Campbell and Greg Sorenson, both of Thief River Falls. Miss Thief River Falls of 1973, Laurie Ford, will attend and participate in the evening festivities.

Mrs. Campbell is a member of the Mrs. Jaycees and teaches English at Marshall county central school in Newfolden. She performed at the charity ball last year and sang at the Miss Thief River Falls pageant last summer. Sorenson is a senior at Lincoln high school where he has had lead roles in musicals, including this year's title roll in "The Music Man". He also sang at the Miss Thief River Falls pageant last year.

Mrs. Karen Lehrer is general chairman for the 13th annual charity ball. Sub-committee chairmen include Mrs. Sharon Sims, hors d'oeuvres; Mrs. Gayle Walter, program; Mrs. Maureen Sharpe, special events; Mrs. Lorraine Seaverson, decorations; Mrs. Valerie Larson, tickets; and Mrs. Dimich, publicity.

Tickets at $2.50 per person are available from any of the Mrs. Jaycees chapter members and will also be available at the door. Purchases of tickets by persons who may be unable to attend will also be appreciated by the chapter in its fund-raising effort.

BOOSTER BUTTONS for the Mrs. Jaycees Charity ball to be held Saturday, March 9, at the Thief River golf club, are beginning to show up on lapels in Thief River Falls. Larry White, who will be master of ceremonies for the evening's entertainment program, and Mrs. Marvin (Gayle) Walter, president of the Mrs. Jaycees, show two of the button styles.

GOP Announces Delegates To Be Named At Caucus

Pennington county Republicans have announced delegate numbers to be elected at the precinct caucuses to be held February 26 at the agricultural class room in Goodridge school and the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

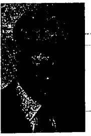
Convener at Goodridge at 4 p.m. caucus will be Dr. David M. Brown while David Olin will be convener at the Thief River Falls caucus at 8 p.m.

Caucusing at Goodridge to select one delegate each to the county convention will be the village of Goodridge and townships of Clover Leaf, Goodridge, Reiner, Kratka, Highlanding, Star, Mayfield, Deer Park and Hickory.

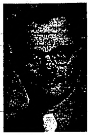
Caucusing at Thief River Falls to select the following number of delegates will be: Thief River Falls Ward I, 8; Ward II, 8; Ward III, 11; Ward IV, 10; Ward V, 12; Village of St. Hilaire, 1; III, 11; Ward IV, 10; and Ward V, 12; Village of St. Hilaire, 1; and townships of Sanders, 1; Bray, 1; Polk Centre, 1; Black River, 1; River Falls, 1; Wyandotte, 1; Numedal, 1; Norden, 1; North, 3; Silverton, 1; Smiley, 1; and Rocksbury, 4.

Precinct caucuses are the level at which state and national political party work comes closest to the people, Republican party officials said. Persons who hope to effect changes in the party or wish to take an active role in politics can have their greatest initial involvement at the precinct caucus level.

Resolutions to be considered at the county convention will be adopted at the precinct caucuses as well as delegates to the county convention elected.



J. J. Womack



George Schwartz

Womack Elected Board Chairman; Schwartz Named

John J. Womack has been elected to the position of chairman of the board of First Northwestern state bank in Thief River Falls by the board of directors and George Schwartz of Fargo has been elected bank president.

Schwartz is vice president of the First National bank and trust company of Fargo, also an affiliate of Northwest Bancorporation, and has been with that bank for the past seven years. A graduate of North Dakota state university with a bachelor's degree in agricultural education and economics, he also holds a master's degree in guidance and counseling.

Womack has been president of First Northwestern (formerly Union state bank) for the past 15 years, during which total assets of the bank have grown from $7 million to $31 million.

Prior to coming here as president 15 years ago, Womack worked in the organization for 23 years, moving to Thief River Falls from St. Paul. In addition to his banking career here he has been active in community work, serving as president of the Chamber of Commerce in 1965, chairman of the board of trustees of Northwestern hospital services, president of the Thief River golf club and member of the Lions club. He and his family are members of St. Bernard's Catholic church.

Mr. and Mrs. Womack have three children, John of Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. Mary Odden of Minneapolis and Robert who is presently at home.

In his new position as chairman of the board Womack will continue active in the operations of First Northwestern bank.

Leonard Melins Valley Farmer And Homemaker

Sixteen farmers and their wives from northwestern Minnesota—including Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Melin of Pennington county—will be recognized at the 36th annual honor banquet for Valley farmers and homemakers Thursday at 6 p.m., at the Trinity Lutheran church dining parlors in Crookston.

Red River Valley development association sponsors this event each year. A committee representing farm organizations in each county, chaired by the county agent, identifies the candidates to be honored. The honored couples have made a notable success at farming, have rendered unusual service to the community and have been good stewards of their environment.

Jaycees To Have Program Tuesday

Jaycees, wives and guests are all invited to the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Jaycees on Tuesday, according to John Harrington, club president. General membership meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

Donald Cavalier of the Crookston Jaycees will present a program on alcohol and drug abuse. The program will coincide with the state Jaycee project of "Operation Threshold", which places major program emphasis on responsible drinking habits, Harrington said.

St. Bernard's To Hold Catholic Education Week

Several activities have been planned for national Catholic schools week observance at St. Bernard's school in Thief River Falls, February 17-23 according to Sister Deanne Benoit, O.S.B., principal.

"Choose Catholic Schools—Different Where It Counts" is the theme of the observance. Theme is based on a document prepared by American Bishops which states, "Integration of religious truth and values with life distinguishes the Catholic school from other schools."

Activities planned include a 10-minute slide presentation at the Sunday liturgies held yesterday, school personnel interview on local radio and cable television this morning and parents' night on Wednesday. The latter will include discussion on curriculum with teachers in classrooms, physical education demonstration with children instructed by Mrs. John Wolbeck and coffee and discussion sessions with school board and faculty. Public is invited to share in these events, Sister Deanne said.

"Message, community and service is the three-fold dimension of Catholic education," the principal noted. It is the integration of these three elements with the educational process which makes Catholic schools different.

"Message is perhaps the most widely understood element of the three. Catholic parents have traditionally chosen Catholic schools so that their children would be taught the precepts of the faith and develop an awareness of commitment to basic Christian values of love, peace, brotherhood and respect for others," she said.

Pennington 2nd In Winter Show Stock Judging

Jeff Knutson of the Smiley 4-H club won high individual honors and the Pennington county team placed second over-all at the 4-H club general livestock judging competition held Saturday at the Red River Valley winter shows at Crookston.

Other members of the Pennington team were Michael Sorteberg of the Smiley club and Neil Johnson of the New Solum club. Becker county won first place.

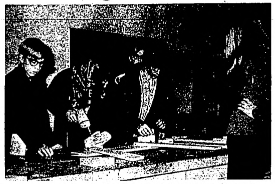
Knutson also fared well in the sheep show as he showed the grand champion ram and grand champion ewe in Shropshire competition. The Knutson family also had the reserve champion ewe in the Shropshire contest.

Thief River Falls residents took home honors in the senior citizens day program Friday. Martin Karlstad, 98, was the oldest man among the 200 people present and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Helland, aged 86 and 78, were the oldest married couple in combined ages.

KaCrest Holsteins of Angus, which has representative animals at Northwest Dairy day in Thief River Falls each year, showed the reserve champion bull at the overall Holstein show and took all but two spots at the District Nine Holstein show. In the latter KaCrest captured grand champion bull and female and junior champion bull and female.

The winter shows officially opened Friday with opening day attendance of 1,611

FFA Week To Recognize Area Agricultural Youth



INCREASING NUMBERS of girls are enrolling in agriculturally oriented classes and participating in Future Farmrs of America. This photograph of a co-educational woodworking class includes (left to right) Russell Sparby, Gail Espeseth, Ken Johnson, Joe Courneya and Annette Peterson. Other pictures of students in Lincoln high school's agricultural classes will be printed in Wednesday's paper in observance of FFA week, February 16 through 23.

Teaching leadership, cooperation and citizenship are the expressed goals of the Future Farmers of America. About 80 members of the Thief River Falls FFA chapter, like nearly 450,000 other FFA members across the nation, strive to develop these traits through the programs of the organization which is being recognized during FFA week, February 16 through 23.

FFA membership is voluntary and open to young people between the ages of 14 and 21. The basic requirement is that a prospective member must be or have been enrolled in a vocationally oriented course in agriculture, agri-business, natural resources or environmental improvement.

Lincoln high school is presently conducting several agricultural classes including ornamental horticulture, greenhouse and nursery management, ag power, hydraulics and equipment, advanced livestock and dairy science, ag career exploration, agri-business placement, and animal science and mechanics. Courses offered during other semesters include agricultural chemicals and advanced crop science, agricultural building mechanics, agricultural materials and handling, agri-business management and agricultural credit and law.

Courses which have been offered in the past include forestry management, natural resources management, soil and water management, meat selection and utilization, farm business management and surveying. Horses and horsemanship are being discussed as possible offerings for future classes.

The curriculum goes beyond field work and farmyard activities. In addition to teaching basic farming skills such as carpentry, mechanics, welding, horticulture and animal husbandry, these courses are designed to acquaint students

AGRICULTURALLY ORIENTED classes at Lincoln high school cover a variety of topics. About 80 of the students in these classes are members of the local chapter of Future Farmers of America. Since the week of February 16 through 23 has been officially designated for observance of FFA week, a Times photographer recently recorded activities of some of these students and the resulting photographs will be printed in Wednesday's paper. Pictured here are Mike Sorteberg (left) and Milan Iverson working on a woodworking project.

Group Of Women Pushes Kraemer For Council Post

As members of the Thief River Falls city council consider possible appointments to two vacancies existing on the council, a group of women has organized to support the candidacy of Mrs. Lovanell Kraemer for the "at large" position.

Mrs. Kraemer's name was advanced late last week by a coalition of women whose spokesman, Mrs. Merle Kruschke, said were suggesting that one of the vacant council seats should be filled by a qualified woman. The bipartisan group reportedly has secured support from women active in both the DFL and GOP organizations as well as other women's groups in Thief River Falls.

The group reportedly contacted Mrs. Kraemer in regard to her serving on the council and ascertained her availability and willingness to serve.

Accoring to a summary of activities prepared by the organization, Mrs. Kraemer is no stranger to public service. She has served as mayor of Winsted, a community of 1,266 residents in McLeod county west of Minneapolis. She also was a policewoman in Hennepin county and is a charter member and past president of the state policewomen's organization.

Resident of Thief River Falls since 1968, she is coordinator of the cosmetology department of the area vocational-technical institute. She has been chairwoman of the McLeod county DFL and a candidate for the state legislature. Mrs Kraemer is president of the state board of cosmetology, president-elect of the local business and professional women's club, past Seventh district preident of the VFW auxiliary, past president of the Thief River Falls education association and past treasurer of the Thief River Falls American Legion auxiliary.

Mrs. Kraemer organized and served as treasurer of the Winsted Community chest campaign, was a civil defense director, secretary of St. Mary's hospital advisory board and home board of directors, and ruling elder and treasurer of First Presbyterian church at Winsted.

She is married and the mother of three daughters.

Renee Rud-James Mabey Vows Said In Newfolden

Miss Renee Louise Rud and James Edward Mabey exchanged marriage vows recently in a candlelight ceremony at Bethlehem Lutheran church in Newfolden.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Rud of Newfolden. The groom is the son of Mrs. Marion Mabey of this city and the late Richard G. Mabey.

Officiating at the double-ring, ecumenical ceremony were Rev. Clifford Kalmoe of Newfolden and Rev. James Bernauer of Thief River Falls. At the organ was Mrs. James Duray of Viking. She accompanied David Morken of Thief River Falls as he sang Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," for the processional, and "The Lord's Prayer," at the close of the ceremony. The recessional was Beethoven's "Postlude on Hymn to Joy."

Candelabra and red poinsettia formed the altar setting. A decorated Christmas tree graced the sanctuary together with pine boughs and gold votive candles in the windows.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in an empire silhouette gown of white velvet with Venice lace trim. Her gown was styled with bishop sleeves, high neckline, and a bib with lace and pearl trim. The A-line skirt swept back into a chapel length train. Complementing her attire was a chapel length mantilla edged with Venice lace. She carried a cascade of red sweetheart roses, starburst mums and variegated holly. For sentiment, she also carried her grandmother's blue handkerchief.

Sandra Routier of International Falls was the bride's personal attendant.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Merilee Collin of Moorhead. Other attendants were Nancy Johnson of Newfolden and Vicki Magstadt of Bismarck, N.D. All are friends of the bride. They wore identical cranberry red velour gowns styled with high necklines and full sleeves. Each attendant carried a gold votive candle in a honey-gold stand accented with red carnations and variegated holly.

Leland T. Johnson of Grand Forks, N.D., a friend of the groom, was bestman. Groomsmen were James Kotaska of Grand Forks, a friend of the groom, and Keith Rud of Newfolden, brother of the bride. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos, white ruffled shirts and black bow ties. The groom's boutonniere was a cluster of three red sweetheart roses with holly. His attendants wore boutonnieres composed of red carnations.

Serving as ushers and acolytes were the groom's uncle, Ole Engelstad of Thief River Falls, and cousins: Don Engelstad, also of Thief River Falls and Bill Groslie of Grand Forks.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rud selected a heather green double-knit, floor-length gown with braid trim. Her corsage of white mums was accented with green star flowers. Mrs. Mabey wore a navy blue polyester floor-length gown with gold belt and a corsage of white mums and blue star flowers.

Special guests at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Presley Williamson of Baudette, grandparents and godparents of the bride; Mrs. Hartvik Engen of Thief River Falls, great-grandmother of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Ole Engelstad of this city, godparents of the groom.

The parents of the bride hosted a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony. Serving as hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Gustafson of Warren, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Swan of Newfolden.

Centering the serving table was a four-tiered, all-white wedding cake, topped with a gold Christogram. Mrs. David Williamson of Fort Rucker, Ala., aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Don Engelstad of Thief River Falls, cousin of the groom, cut and served the cake as Mrs. Cecil Routier of International Falls, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Ole Engelstad, aunt of the groom, poured.

Mrs. Keith Ranum of Newfolden, a friend of the bride, registered the guests. Presiding at the punch bowl were Linda Thompson of Williston, N.D., friend of the bride; Pam Engelstad of Thief River Falls, cousin of the groom; and Mrs. Russel Nelson, Jr., of International Falls, cousin of the bride.

Brian Rud and Kristy Williamson, brother and cousin of the bride, distributed the wedding scrolls. Mrs. Halward Anderson of Viking, aunt of the bride, pinned the flowers.

At the gift table were Melany Tetrault and Mrs. Leland T. Johnson, both of Grand Forks, and Mrs. Dennis Skjerven of Newfolden, friends of the bride. Tamie Anderson and Dawn Engelstad, cousins of the bride and groom respectinely, were gift bearers.

Waitresses were Mary Jo Swan, Deane Anderson, Sherri Johnson, Mary Frances Engelstad and Pam Engelstad. In charge of the kitchen were friends of the bride's family, Mrs. Harvey Stokke, Mrs. Wallace Johnson, Mrs. Clyde Swenson, Mrs. Verne Green and Mrs. Omar Broten.

The newly-weds are now residing in Grand Forks where the bride is a junior at the University of North Dakota, majoring in physical therapy, and the groom is employed at the Red Owl Family Center.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

Mrs. Harry Christianson of Pencer

His hands trembled as he handed me the letter, asking me to read the contents. The letter had arrived in the Christmas mail, but the message was anything but "Peace on earth, good will towards men". Instead it was a bigoted masterpiece, violently condeming a certain denomination, and in this case the denominational beliefs of the person receiving the letter.

What can be done in a case like that? Exercising freedom of religion is one thing still permissible by the peoples of this nation. Our forefathers believed that freedom of religion was so sacred that in the first amendment to the constitution, they included "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof..."

The bigoted is protected by the constitution; he has as much right to express his opinion as anyone else expounding religious beliefs. However, in this case, the manner in which it was done was anything but inducive to gaining a convert for the writer's faith. Nor did it do anything for cementing freindly relations.

The writer of the letter was retired and had been for many years, and he, like so many gossipers, had too much time on his hands. How much nicer it would have been if he had used the same amount of time bettering conditions in this world as he used in condemning various faiths.

There are people everywhere that need people with too much time. Consider the couple who is existing on their old age allowance. Each time they go shopping for groceries, they spend two dollars of their meager income for taxi fare. How they would appreciate a call offering them a ride. The rest homes, nursing homes and boarding homes are filled with people longing for someone to call on them, to take them shopping, or to do their shopping for them. More then anything, many need to know that someone cares. Some of these people are in a strange community, and a visit would help pass the lonely hours. Some are longing for a certain fruit, candy, or a piece of piel If those foods are allowed inthier diets the administration, in most cases, do not object to people bringing special treats. The time spent in bringing cheer to the lonely shut-ins is of greater benefit than checking and passing along the information who is visiting the shapely next-door neighbor while her husband is on a business trip.

There are many people doing volunteer work in this city. They spend hours mending clothes for the sick and elderly, visiting the sick and shut-ins, runing errands, reading to them or bringing them books and magazines to read. It is impossible for a few to do it all. Why not volunteer your help. Even if you can "adopt" only one person, it would help dispell loneliness. Your help is needed.

Todays recipe comes from the kitchen of a Times reader, Mrs. Harry Christianson of Pencer. We are grateful for receiving one of her favorite recipes.

Chocolate Chip Date Bars

1 cup dates, cut fine
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup boiling water
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter
½ cup shortening
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¾ cups floor plus 1 ta[illegible]
3 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon salt
1 small package [illegible]
Chopped nuts

Method: Pour boiling wa[illegible] over dates and soda. Let stand while creaming the sugar and shortening. Add the remaining ingredients. Add the date mixture and pour into a greased 9x12 inch pan. Sprinkle chocolate chips and nuts over the top. Bake in a 325 degree oven for 30-40 minutes.

The Christiansons are engaged in grain and dairy farming in the Pencer community, southeast of Roseau. They have four children: a son, Wayne, at home; and three daughters: two are married and one is employed in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Christianson enjoyes sewing, except when it is a rush order for a wedding. She also enjoyes crocheting. When questioned as to her favorite hobby, she stated that it was collecting recipes, a hobby she has pursued for a number of years.

The Christiansons are members of the Pine Grove Lutheran church.

Humphrey Says USDA Figures Are Misleading

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey recently declared that the reporting on agricultural exports by the department of agriculture is "incomplete and misleading."

"Such inadequate reporting is particularly disturbing," he said," as we observe wheat reserves plummeting to increasingly dangerous levels.

"A careful examination of USDA data on production, domestic needs, and exports, reveals that the nation faces an alarming and critical situation of a carryover of approximately 32 million bushels of wheat by July 1.

"Such a minimum supply would have serious consequences for domestic food prices and international trade."

The Minnesota Democrat based his charge on agricultural export reporting on a preliminary study of USDA's weekly report of agricultural export sales prepared for him by the Joint Economic committee, with the assistance of the General Accounting office.

Humphrey said the study shows that major deficiencies of the reporting process include failure to provide cumulative sales data, historic data and analysis of data.

And he also said it indicates that there are substantial contradictions with USDA supply and demand estimates as well as an "unknown destination" category that seriously reduces the value of the entire report.

Humphrey says he has written to Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz pointing out these and other specific deficiencies in this reporting and has urged him to act immediately to improve it.

"The costs to the American people of poor decisions on export policy, based on inaccurate or incomplete data, simply are too great to ignore any longer," he stated.

Humphrey's remarks were made at a hearing on wheat and feed grain supply by the Subcommittee on Agricultural Production, Marketing, and Stabilization of Prices, of the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee on which he serves.

He told the Subcommittee that he soon will introduce legislation which will require prior approval by USDA of all grain sales to a country that already has imported 120 per cent of last year's level from the United States.

"This is essential," Humphrey concluded, "if we are to bring our international sales of grain under some degree of control and have an adequate supply for American consumers."

While he believes that the feed grain supply situation is not as critical as for wheat, Humphrey observed that "we are moving into a period in which these key grains, the basis for all meat, egg and milk production, are fast approaching the danger zone.

"Even a minor trick on mother nature's part could move us from a tight market situation into chaos and disaster for American consumers and our trading partners throughout the world."

As a result, Humphrey said, "all of these factors require that Congress act now to build a national grain reserve system.

"If steps are taken now, we will have in place by the summer and fall harvests, a means of setting aside part of that production to protect against potential crop failures or sharp changes in world demand in the future.

"For one who has called for creation of such a system for many years, it was gratifying to see recognition for reserves in the President's annual Economic Report.

"But it will be up to the Congress to push the Administration toward creating such a system if one is ever to be adopted."

Humphrey said he intends later this week to introduce a revised version of his Consumers and Marketing Reserve Bill (s. 2006), which he introduced last June.

NW Community Plans For Head Start Programs

Recently Northwest community action head start director, teachers, and parents were involved in planning for local Head Start programs to better serve children with handicaps.

Head Start personnel and parents formed a committee which included Victor L. Johnson, head start director, Bev Thygeson, head start nurse, Doris Miller, educational coordinator, Peggy Monsrud, head start parent, Joleen Pederson and Becky Melby, head start teachers. They met with Barbara Greene, Minnesota state representative of the head start technical assistance and management system (HS-TAMS).

HS-TAMS is a six state regional program based at Ohio state university and funded by the office of child development in Region V of health, education and welfare(HEW).

HS-TAMS is designed to give technical assistance to head start programs as they expand their services to children with handicaps.

Northwest community action head start was selected recently to receive HS-TAMS services on the basis of a grant proposal submitted to TAMS.

Last week the Head Start committee worked together to assess Head Start needs and to determine what HS-TAMS services would be. Among the needs given high priority were the following: assistance to teachers to individualize programs, parent involvement training, and training in attitudes and feelings. Also discussed, were ways in which Head Start and local schools, special education programs, and other resources can work together in the Head Start handicapped effort. One of HS-TAMS major goals is to strengthen the linkages which already exist between Head Start and community agencies.

Victor L. Johnson said "Many Head Start programs have served handicapped children but resources for help have been limited. We hope now that with HS-TAMS assistance, we can increase our services to children with handicaps." "The goals of Head Start and TAMS will benefit all the children in the program and help remove the stigma society has placed on children with handicaps."

Carrier Permit Hearings To Be Held Tuesday

Applications for carrier permits will be discussed tomorrow in Thief River Falls at a hearing of the state public service commission. The permits are being requested by the Badger trucking company and Curtis D. Haugen of Pinecreek.

Both companies are asking for contract carrier authority to serve the Badger co-op elevator. Haugen is also requesting authority to serve the Greenbush co-op grain and seed association.

The hearing has been set for 9:30 a.m. in the Pennington county courthouse. All interested parties will be given an opportunity to be heard.

North Central Boardings Here 792 In January

North Central Airlines set new January passenger and cargo traffic records, accoring to David E. Moran, vice president of traffic and sales. Locally, there were 792 boadings and 701 passengers who deplaned here in January.

Revenue passenger miles for January of 1974 were up nine per cent to 81.7 million, compared with 75.2 million last year. The airline carried 340,847 passengers, seven per cent more than the 319,463 in January 1973.

"These records are particularly significant," Moran said, "since available seat miles increased only two per cent over last January. The results reflect normal growth and the extra traffic generated by travelers choosing to fly rather than drive.

Cargo ton miles rose six per cent to 1,063,981 in 1973, compared with 1,006,714 the previous year. Fright ton miles alone jumped 11 per cent.

Allen Resigns As RIC Director For 17 Schools

Northwest regional inter-district council (RIC) for handicapped children, headquartered at Marshall county central school at Newfolden, announces the resignation of Eric G. Allen as director of special education effective March 1.

Allen was employed in April of 1969 as director of special education to develop programs for handicapped children in a special education cooperative comprised of 17 school districts. During his term of office and with the cooperation of local school districts, the professional staff working with handicapped children in the special education cooperative has grown in number from approximately 20 in the 1968-69 school year to 64 professional personnel for the 1973-74 school year.

"I wish to thank the school personnel and the many other agencies with whom I have worked for their splendid cooperation of the past five years in the cooperative development of programs for handicapped children in Northwestern Minnesota. There are still a number of children whose needs are not being met, but I feel the schools have made a superb effort in expanding programs as the need arose and as finances permitted," Allen said.

Among other activities Allen was instrumental in the formation and served on the board of the Thief River Falls nursery school, was also on the planning committee and is currently on the executive committee of the Northwest Sheltered Workshop, Inc., with branches located in Thief River Falls and Crookston.

He has served on the developmental disabilities advisory committee and was instrumental in the re-establishment of St. Alban's Episcopal Mission in Thief River Falls.

Allen has also been active in the association for retarded children in the region and with a group of parents of hearing impaired children who are receiving special education in a resource room in Thief River Falls.

Allen's future plans have not yet been announced.

2 Roseau Youths Sentenced In Lodge Vandalism

Sentencing of the youths who vandalized the Bemis Hill lodge on Christmas has been completed.

Wesley L. Otto and Myron G. Olson, both 18 and of Roseau, pleaded guilty to the charges. Each was sentenced to a 30-day jail term with 15 days stayed providing each pays $96 in restitution. They must also complete a project, not to exceed 10 days, to be selected by the Department of Natuaral Resources in the spring. Olson is also to pay $75 for fees of the court appointed attorney.

The 15 day jail sentences may be served under the Huber law which allows prisioners to be released from custody during the day to continue their employment. They are required to return to their cells at night.

The court also stipulated that the youths must not consume any alcoholic beverage, including 3.2 beer, for a full year. In addition, during his confinement, Olson has been ordered to attend weekly sessions conducted by Alcoholics Anonymous in Roseau.

President Moos To Deliver Area Speech Friday

Dr. Malcolm Moos, president of the University of Minnesota, will present his final speech in this area while serving as university president, when he appears on Friday at the higher education day seminar and luncheon held in conjunction with the Red River Valley winter shows.

Moos will address the noon luncheon audience, speaking on "How the University Serves the State".

The luncheon, which will be served in Bede hall at the University of Minnesota technical college, will follow a 10:30 a.m. seminar that will explore "The Place of Technical Education in Minnesota".

A 2:30 p.m. coffee hour in Bede hall will be held that day in honor of Moos, sponsored by the UMC faculty.

All higher education day activities are open to the public. Cost for the luncheon is $1.75 per plate. Higher education day is sponsored by UMC and the Northwest Educational Improvement associaton, in conjunction with the Red River Valley winter shows.

Moos was named president of the University of Minnesota in 1967. Last year he announced plans to resign his duties in that capacity. He has authored several books, and worked with the President of the United States from 1957 through 1961, in addition to a varied educational background. He has served as university president during the formative years of UMC, and has often been guest at the campus. He delivered the 1973 commencement address, during which he expressed his support of the technical college method of post high school training.

Nonsmokers May Also Be Harmed By Smoky Rooms

Nonsmokers may have as much cause for alarm over reports of the harmful effects of cigarettes as those who smoke.

It is becomeing increasingly apparent that the nonsmoker who must be present in the traditional "smoke-filled room" characteristic of many conferences and social gatherings is exposed to tobacco by-products similar to those inhaled by the smoker.

Concern about this hazard is supported by studies reported in a recent issue of "Dental Abstracts."

Smoking several cigarettes in a closed room soon makes the concentration of nicotine and dust particles so high that the nonsmoker inhales as many harmful tobacco by-products as a smoker inhales from four or five cigarettes.

In a poorly ventilated, smoke-filled room concentrations of carbon monoxide can easily reach several hundred parts per million, thus exposing both smokers and nonsmokers to a toxic hazard.

Smoke from an idling cigarette contains almost twice the tar and nicotine of smoke inhaled by a smoker puffing on a cigarette.

Turkey Numbers Are Up 12 Per Cent For 1973

Minnesota shattered production and income records and strengthened its grip on the national championship for number of turkeys raised in 1973, and the industry has filed intentions to protect that crown again in 1974.

According to the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service the state's growers raised 23,323,000 turkeys last year. That was nearly 12 per cent more than the prior record of 20,880,000 turkeys raised in 1972.

An official estimate of the value of that turkey crop is not yet available, but it is apparent that the old record of $73,226,000 gross income for Minnesota's 1972 turkey production will be exceeded.

The mid-month price average Minnesota farmers received for turkeys in 1973 was 36.9 cents per pound. At that figure and a minimum average of 15 pounds per live turkey, Minnesota's 1973 production had an estimated gross value of $128-million.

December surveys by the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service revealed Minnesota turkey grower intentions to raise 22,650,000 of the birds in 1974. That would be the second largest total in history, three per cent below record 1973.

Minnesota's 1973 turkey crop represented 18 per cent of the national total, comfortably ahead of second ranked California's 17,548,000 turkeys, 13 per cent of the U.S. total.

Nationally this year, notwithstanding current energy crisis related agricultural shortage problems, the turkey industry filed December intentions to increase production. Growers in the 20 major producing states estimated they will increase turkey numbers by six per cent above 1973.

FFA Week To Recognize Area Farm Students with agri-related careers which they might be interested in pursuing.

Membership in FFA provides an opportunity to carry a student's development still farther. While participation in FFA enables young people to associate with others possessing similar interests, it also provides an opportunity to try some of the techniques learned in classrooms and gain valuable experience as well.

FFA projects in grain and livestock production allow participants to practice farming methods. By carefully planning their projects; employing the latest techniques, as well as proven methods, and maintaining detailed records, FFA members develop skills and practice techniques which can be useful later.

Some FFA members choose to participate in agricultural placement projects. Through this program a student works in a non-farm business in the agricultural filed. Included are grain elevators, fertilizer and chemical companies and farm equipment dealers.

FFA members who do not live on a farm may select a farm placement project. Participants might work in fields during planting or harvesting, do some of the "chores" associated with dairying, or get a taste of any of the other tasks involved in farming.

One project which some of the local FFA members will be participating in this summer will provide experience in ornamental horticulture. They will be caring for some of the flower plots and shrubbery which contribute to the appearance of this city.

Although participation in FFA is intended to stimulate development of its members, activities are not limited to strictly educational pursuits. Young people in FFA chapters also conduct a number of fund raising campaigns.

With the support of local businessmen and other interested city citizens, as well as farmers, the FFA is a self-supporting organization. It does not receive any direct financial aid from schools or other sources. All money for chapter activities, such as participation in judging events and trips to camps and conventions, is raised through activities like sales of Christmas decorations. The donkey basketball game which is planned for March 7 is also an FFA fund raising event.

In addition to campaigning for funds to support the organization, FFA members conduct an annual grain drive to solicit grain donations which are sold to provide money for Camp Courage. This project has continued to grow and resulting contributions are a significant factor in providing rehabilitation and therapy for handicapped people utilizing Camp Courage facilities.

Collegiate FFA chapters offer an opportunity for active participation beyond high school and membership may be retained until a participant reaches 21. Although this normally permits three years of FFA participation beyond high school, eligibility may be extended until a member is 25, providing the persons's active status was interrupted by military service. However, the effects of FFA participation are not intended to end with a person's membership. The traits and character developed through involvement in Future Farmers of America can be an influencing factor throughout a person's life.

of a sense of community is an inherent part of faith education. Through liturgy celebrations, school activities and as reflected in the basic concern for growth of the individual, which is evident in increased personal attention to students, the schools build in their students a recognition of man's need for, and responsibility to, his fellow man," Sister Deanne added.

"The giving of service to the human community follows the teachings of the gospel message and the building of community. Service is the end result of effective education in the teaching of Christ: That love of God is reflected through love and service to man."

Snack Habits Are Linked To Dental Health

Like the rest of you, your teeth and gums need a well-balanced diet to stay healthy.

That's why, says Dr. Carlton H. Williams, the slogan "Kick the Sweet Snack Habit" has been chosen for this year's National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 3-9. Dr. Williams is president of the American Dental Association which sponsors the annual observance.

"Eating between meals or 'snacking' can be fun," Dr. Williams said. "Most of us find snacks relaxing and refreshing, and they can supply energy and contribute to our basic food needs. But it is important not to be careless in the types of foods we choose for snacks so that good dental health and general nutritional well-being are not endangered."

Dr. Williams did emphasize that, like most other things that are carried to extremes, habitual snacking, nibbling and drinking between meals is not beneficial to dental or total health.

"Tooth decay and periodontal or gum disease are the two most common dental diseases," Dr. Williams said. "They are directly linked to what you eat and your dietary habits.

"Both tooth decay and periodontal disease result from the action of bacterial plaque on the teeth and under the gums," he said.

Bacterial plaque is the sticky, almost colorless film that forms continually on teeth. Accumulated plaque has been identified as a major factor in the cause of tooth decay and gum disease.

"When you eat sweet foods, certain bacteria in plaque use the sugars to form acids," Dr. Williams explained. "These acids can dissolve the tooth enamel. Once decay takes hold, it can spread throughout the tooth and to surrounding teeth.

"Periodontal disease, quite similarly, starts when certain bacteria in plaque use sugars to form irritants. These irritants can cause the gums to become swollen and sore. Eventually the gums pull away from the teeth and the disease can reach the supporting bone. Then the teeth loosen and are lost," he said.

Dr. Williams said that gum disease causes the loss of more natural teeth for adults than does tooth decay.

He also suggested that sweets be limited to mealtimes, and then it is best to clean teeth thoroughly after eating.

"You should eat a balanced diet of a variety of food every day to meet your nutritional needs," he said. "When you eat three balanced meals every day, you will be less likely to crave sugary snacks. Good nutrition is vital to your dental health and to your physical well-being.

Standards For Chemicals Are Issued By OSHA

U.S. department of labor has approved permanent standards designed to protect workers against the hazards of working with 14 cancer-producing chemicals.

The standards were developed on the basis of an emergency temporary standard proposed by the department's occupational safety and health administration (OSHA) last May 3. They went into effect February 11.

The 14 carcinogens are used in varous industries, including the chemical and plastics industries, in the manufacture of dyes and pigments, and in the preparation of flame-resistant fabrics.

John H. Stender, assistant secretary of labor for occupational safety and health, said the permanent standards represent "a significant step forward in OSHA's drive to increase worker protection against hazards to health caused by on-the-job exposure to toxic materials.

"We decided to issue 14 separate rules to make it easier for employers to determine what they must do to protect their employees from these hazardous substances," Stender said.

The new standards prescribe work practices and controls intended to protect employees from exposure to the 14 carcinogens. The rules cover contamination control and decontamination, hygiene, medical surveillance programs, employee training and employer reporting.

Before publishing the permanent standards, the labor department considered recommendations of is 15-member standards advisory committee on carcinogens, information provided by the national institute for occupational safety and health of the department of health, education and welfare, and public comments and public hearings.

Gunder Carl Heltne, a son of the late Christopher and Kjesti Heltne, was born March 24, 1872 near Hayfield. There he attended school and was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. In November of 1889, he moved to Roseau county, where he homesteaded in Hereim township, near Greenbush. He was married Jan. 24, 1904 at Greenbush to Carrie Williamson. The couple settled on the original homestead where they farmed until Mrs. Heltne's death in 1960. After the death of his wife, Heltne lived on the farm for a year before making his home with his son Clifford and family in Greenbush. For the past 10 years, he had been a resident of the Greenbush Nursing home.

Heltne was a member of the Bethel Lutheran church and together with eight families organized the congregation and built the church. He served as railroad station agent for a time and for 31 years operated a milk route in Greenbush. He was the first president of the creamery in Greenbush and was the first township assessor for Hereim township, holding that position for 13 years. He served on the school board for 15 years and was also active in other community affairs.

He is survived by seven grandchildren, several great-grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his wife, two sons, five brothers and four sisters.

Joe St. Marie Rites Held At Red Lake Falls

Joseph (Joe) F. St. Marie, 71, of Red Lake Falls died Thursday morning at St. John's hospital where he had been a patient for two weeks.

Liturgy of the funeral for Joseph St. Marie was offered Saturday at 11 a.m., at St. Joseph's Catholic church with Rev. Gerald Noesen, Msgr. Victor Cardin, and Rev. Gerald Foley officiating. The Petterson Funeral home in Red Lake Falls was in charge of arrangements. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers were Frank Shafer, Donald Walker, Arnold Miller, James Mohr, Steve Dondoneau, and Ernest LaPlante.

Joeseph St. Marie was born Nov. 14, 1902 in Louisville township, Red Lake county, to Henry and Mary Goulet St. Marie. He was united in marriage to Dulice Demarais on Oct. 27, 1925 at Red Lake Falls. They farmed east of Red Lake Falls, in Gervais township, until 1959. Since then, they have made their home in Red Lake Falls. He was employed by Detroiter Mobile homes, Inc., from 1959 until his retirement in 1968.

He was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

Surviving are his wife; two sons: Raymond St. Marie of Red Lake Falls and Delbert of Cudahy, Wis.; five daughters: Mrs. Willard (Joan) Brunelle and Mrs. Clarence (Marlys) Vaudrin, both of Crookston; Mrs. Henry (Phyllis) Schmitz and Mrs. Kendall (Carol) Pederson of Red Lake Falls, and Mrs. Jerry (Julie) King of White Bear Lake; and 26 grandchildren.

Also surviving are one brother, Rosaire St. Marie of Tacoma, Wash., and three sisters: Mrs. Maria Lizotte of Red Lake Falls, Mrs. Albert (Florida) Lizotte of Port Arthur, Wash., and Mrs. Kenneth (Evelyn) Columbus of Grand Rapids.

He was preceded in death by a son, Robert Joe in 1948, and one sister, Mrs. Gust (Alma) Williams in 1972.

Name Samuelson To Coordinate Income Program

An area county director has been named by the Pennington county Red Cross chapter to coordinate a new program called SSI Alert which seeks to find elderly or handicapped persons who may be eligible for increased benefits.

Project director is Charles Samuelson, Highway 1 East, Thief River Falls, who is currently with Northland community college.

SSI stands for supplemental security income. It is a new federal program designed to replace the old-age assistance, disabled aid and blind aid programs in varous states, according to Samuelson.

On Jan. 1, 1974, all persons already receiving these types of assistance from state or county welfare departments were automatically transferred to the new program.

Samuelson said an even largergroup of individuals, not able to be reached through existing federal channels, may be eligible for SSI benefits. These are people with low incomes, and with little or no savings, or other resources that are not receiving cash welfare payments. This group must file applications with local social security district offices to receive benefits.

Even though the social security administration has conducted a vigorous public awareness campaign, many individuals who may be eligible have not taken the time to apply.

The Red Cross is one of eight national voluntary organizations joining with federal agencies in SSI alert to help assure that every eligible person is reached.

Other local volunteer groups or individuals who wish to take part in the project should get in touch with Samuelson by calling 681-2181.

Volunteer groups will organize public meetings to explain the program, and will seek out people likely to be eligible through names referred to them for contact, or available through their membersip lists, Samuelson said.

Midwest Breeder Co-op To Hold Meet In Roseau

Annual district meeting of Midwest Breeders cooperative will be held March 15 at the Roseau municipal auditorium. The gathering of the cooperative's membership begins at 11:45 a.m. Adjournment is set for 2:30 p.m.

Following a noon luncheon, reports by management personnel and the regional director will cover previous year results and plans for 1974. A genetic staff member will present the most current information on available sires and mating suggestions. Delegates will be elected to represent the area at the cooperative's annual meeting April 6 at Stewartville.

A record-breaking 891-046 units of sale were utilized by 29,984 members and customers during 1973 and 3,182 new members joined the cooperative. Expansion occurred in various service programs with dollar sales of $6.1 million resulting for the year.

At the close of the year, assets stood at $2.8 million, with working capital of $886,500.

On Feb. 5, 1914, 2nd Lt. J.C. Morrow, Jr., qualified as the 24th and last "Military Aviator" under rules existing at that time. This rating no longer exists.

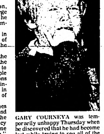
Dr. Knutson To Leave Concordia Post In 1975

Dr. Joseph L. Knutson, president of Concordia college since 1951, has announced that he will retire after spring commencement on May 4, 1975.

He made his decision known in a letter to Carrol Malvey of Moorhead, chairman of the college's board of regents.

Dr. Knutson indicated in the letter that he was making the announcement at this time to provide the board with "ample time for desirable consultations with concerned groups and investigations of candidates in preparation for the selection of my successor.

"Until my successor assumes the office," he declared, "I intend to serve and exercise all the perogatives of the presidency under the commission given me in the charters of the college."



GARY COURNEYA was temporarily unhappy Thursday when he discovered that he had become lost while trying to see all of the activities at the St. Bernard's school carnival.

STUDENTS at St. Bernard's school, including Jill Torfin, managed booths Thursday at a carnival held in place of a Valentine party.

Since Dr. Knutson became Concordia's president in 1951, the college's enrollment has grown from 890 students to last fall's record of 2,482.

Fitzsimons Asks Health Support In Legislature

Senator Richard Fitzsimons submitted a memorandum to the state board of health on Thursday of last week in support of a certificate of need for new University of Minnesota health facilities.

The last session of the Legislature appropriated funds to be matched by federal and private sources to finish the last component of the University of Minnesota medical and dental expansion. Due to a freeze on federal funds, the project has been delayed for a year. The cost of this expansion is $33 million.

Senator John Milton, Ramsey county, has asked that this building be abandoned and clinical facilities be built elsewhere in the metropolitan area.

Senator Fitzsimons pointed out to the board in the memorandum the vital need that still exists for doctors and dentists in rural Minnesota. He emphasized the fact that this new building is the cornerstone of the long-range plans to double the size of the medical school class and greatly increase the dental school class.

Without the certificate of need from the board of health, the project will lose the federal funding and the hopes of meeting the critical health manpower needs of rural Minnesota will suffer a severe setback.

When this building is completed, the University of Minnesota should increase its medical and pari-medical class numbers by more than 1,600 people from what it was in 1965.

On an eight to one vote, the state board of health recommended that the Metropolitan health board reconsider its action in denying the certificate of need.

Senator Fitzsimons indicated that he is prepared to appear before this board at its next meeting on behalf of this proposal.

WARD ARNTSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arntson of Plummer, has been named Pershing high school's Betty Crocker "family leader" of tomorrow. Arntson won the honor by competing with other seniors in a written knowledge and attitude examination and is now eligible to be considered for state and national honors.

Non-Smokers To Meet Saturday At St. Thomas

Association for Non-smokers Rights will hold its first annual meeting on Saturday at the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, in the Murray hall lounge. Registration is to start at 11 a.m. with no charge and formal activities to begin at 11:30 a.m. Noon lunch will be served at $2.50 per person. The program will adjourn at 2:30 p.m.

Feature speaker will be Dr. Jesse Steinfeld, former surgeon general of the United States. He was responsible for the first time inclusion of a chapter on the effects of smoke on the non-smoker, in the 1972 report on "The Health Consequences of Smoking."

School Safety Patrol Week Is Proclaimed

February 17-23 has been proclaimed by Gov. Wendell R. Anderson as school safety patrol week in Minnesota, and the public has been urged to pay tribute to boys and girls who faithfully serve the patrol program.

"For more than half a century, Minnesota has been a leader in the life-saving school safety patrol program," Gov. Anderson notes in his proclamation. "More than 35,000 young Minnesotans contribute their time and efforts to this program and these young people, by their good and important work, have earned the gratitude of all people of the state."

Yutrzenka Will Head Farmers Elevator Group

Medard R. Yutrzenka, Argyle, was elected president of the Farmers Elevator association of Minnesota at the groups annual convention in the Leamington hotel in Minneapolis.

Other officers elected were Willard Busse, LaSalle, vice president; John Plocker, Blue Earth, treasurer; and Darwin Hall, Winnebago, secretary. Directors elected for three-year terms were Elmer Bradlie, Eldred; Hall and Jack Mattson Jr., Rothsaay. R.F. (Gus) Adamek is executive secretary.

An all time record for attendance was set with 2,310 participating in the 68-year-old event.

Dates for the 1975 convention are February 3 and 4 at the Leamington hotel.

PLUMMER high school students were winners recently at business activities day held at the University of Minnesota technical institute in Crookston. Cathy Lineberry placed first in bookkeeping and won a $25 savings bond. Dan Norby received an honorable mention in business math.

"Farmer" Editor Will Speak At Winter Shows

An editor's "Outlook for Agriculture, 1974" will be Robert Rupp's topic as he addresses the Dutch lunch banquet Wednesday at the Red River Valley winter shows.

Rupp, editor of "The Farmer" magazine since 1969, has long been an agricultural leader in Minnesota. His career as an agricultural writer began in 1946 as assistant extension editor at Iowa state university. He moved to Minnesota in 1947 as press editor for the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service, joined "The Farmer" staff in 1950 as associate editor, advanced to managing editor in 1959 and became editor in 1969.

The Dutch lunch banquet and dance, known more commonly as the Sheepherder's Ball, will get underway at 6:30 p.m. at the Eagles in Crookston on Wednesday. The prgram will begin at 7:45 p.m.

Thought For The Day

There is the story of a missionary in Canada whose area of travel was so wide that he could only make visits to any settlement at long intervals of time. His last act in one visit to a settler's home was to teach a small invalid boy the text, "The Lord is my shepherd," and he did it by the method of a word to each finger, saying finally and suiting action to word, "Remember always to hold on to the fourth finger—the Lord is my shepherd." When he came back to that home two years later, the boy was not there. He had died in the dark of a winter night; and, said the mother, "We found him in the morning with his hands outside the coverlet, his left hand clasped round the fourth finger of the right hand."

There's a song by Mendelssohn with the words, "But the Lord is mindful of His own. He remembers His children." Yes, He does.

No Baling Wire

It's a good thing area farmers had top grain prices last fall so they could replace some of their worn out machinery. Reports are now out that a severe shortage of baling wire is expected this year, and large quantities probably would have been necessary this year to hold the machinery together.

With shortages of everything else in the news these days, it was to be expected there would also be a shortage of baling wire. It is the staple quick repair material on the average farm and on quite a few it is still the only repair material. If it can't be fixed with baling wire, well, by golly, it just can't be fixed.

Why is there a baling wire shortage? A major steel corporation blames it on several things. For one, baling wire—for all its utility and importance—is not a big profit maker when compared with other fabricated steel products. For another, foreign competition forced seven of 11 producers out of the wire business in the past few years and those foreign suppliers are now selling their wares at home or elsewhere. That leaves four producers to do the work of 11 in an expanding market.

Furthermore, of the 85,000 or more tons of baling wire shipped during 1973, some 20,000 tons of it was inventory that had been produced the year before. This year there is no inventory and wire is being shipped as fast as it can be produced.

In the meantime, farmers better hope the machinery ordered last fall arrives in time to replace the old stuff. Some of that old baling wire was starting to wear a little thin.

A Good Question

What have you got to do that is more important than planning the future of this country?

That is the question asked in an editorial in the Montevideo American regarding precinct caucuses to be held February 26. There is a great deal riding on the answer to the question. The editorial covers the situation as follows:

It is probably correct to say that the political power base in our country is gradually falling into fewer and fewer hands and when that happens many of us register our displeasure and dismay with the system.

What we fail to realize is that nothing can take place at the national level without it first having taken place or without the foundation at least being laid at the very lowest level.

When we talk of "grassroots" participation in politics, we are often prone to raise an eyebrow; after all, talk of grassroots participation is a corny phrase and many do not believe in its existence at all. But later this month, it's going to happen.

Precinct caucuses will be held, the most fundamental and primary base of our whole political system. For it is from the precinct caucus in your neighborhood and neighborhoods like yours across the country that delegates are chosen, candidates endorsed and party platforms written.

It is easy for us to imagine that most caucuses are put-up jobs, that is we go we really won't amount to much anyway so why not stay at home? Then when things go badly, when we fail to agree with the choice of delegates or candidates or we fail to agree with the platform, we complain long and loud about the big boys in Washington fouling things up again.

They have not fouled up a thing. We did the fouling up, right in our own neighborhoods by failing to get interested in our two-party system; we did the fouling up by conceding that a precinct caucus was really just so much nonsense and that nothing of any good ever came of them.

At this time in our nation's history, perhaps more than any other, it is vital that we maintain a strong two party system. We cannot allow a backlash to occur that would put one party into power with vast majorities and an apparently free license to rule unmolested.

This is the time, with dissatisfaction so apparent, to become involved in our political structure at its most fundamental, most basic and most precious level; this is the time when every man and woman of voting age can go before a group of people with similar philosophies and present their ideas.

If we fail to support our precinct caucuses, if we fail to get involved, hoping that the "other guy" will do it, then we will really have no complaint to make that candidates and platforms do not represent our way of thinking about a given issue.

If you want things to happen you sometimes have to make them happen. As far as politics is concerned, everyone has his chance to make things happen at a precinct caucus. If you're going to be busy that day ask yourself this question:

What have you got to do that is more important than planning the future of this country?

Time To Hold The Line

Following editorial is from the St. Cloud Daily Times:

Some time ago we mentioned the pleasant outlook for North Dakota legislators who could look forward to the 1975 session with all kinds of extra cash to spend. Now it appears that Minnesota legislators also can drool over additional tax revenues. It was reported last week that the state has collected $42 million more in taxes during the last six months of 1973 than lawmakers thought would be available for spending.

The rosy report covered the period from July through December, the first six months of the current biennium.

While DFL legislative leaders have said they will not tinker with the tax program during the present session, still some may cast hungry eyes at the extra cash for pet programs. If the lawmakers manage to resist temptation and economic conditions remain good, the surplus could be even greater when the 1975 legislature convenes. This could reduce or eliminate the need for new taxes if spending is kept under control.

Keeping spending under control is of special importance to the individual taxpayer as, in spite of everything you might hear, it is the individual who shares the biggest part of the state tax burden. For instance, during the period July through December, the state individual income tax continued as the state's top revenue producer, with collections of nearly $349 million, or about 45 per cent of the entire revenue total. Personal income tax collections exceeded expectations by $2.8 million.

Individual taxpayers also play a big part in producing sales tax revenue. Sales tax revenue during the last six months of 1973 totaled nearly $165.8 million, up $10.3 million more than forecast.

As we've mentioned earlier, all of the individual income tax bite and much of the sales tax total comes from the individual—and not from some giant corporation or a benevolent Santa Claus. In fact, although corporation state income tax revenue was at an exceptionally high total for the last six months of 1973, the total of $71.3 million is small compared to the $349 million collected from individuals.

Thus, if the lawmakers should see fit to cut the income tax rate equally for individuals and corporations, it would benefit most of us considerably. But that undoubtedly won't happen. We'll be lucky if we won't have to pay more in state taxes when the 1975 legislature completes its session. One thing is sure, we can be certain that there won't be any tax increase during the present session. Election day for members of the House is too close at hand.

How About That Debt?

Here are some interesting figures on the national debt from a column by Margery Burns in the Detroit Lakes Tribune:

When George Washington left office back in 1797, the federal debt was $82.1 million.

Forty years later, when Andrew Jackson left office, the debt had been whittled down to $300,000.

In 1849, when James Polk ended his term, the debt was up to $63.1 million.

When Abraham Lincoln died in office, the debt had already passed a billion dollars and had gone up to $2.6 billion. The Civil War was involved in that increase.

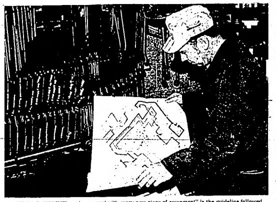
Then, by the time Benjamin Harrison left office in 1893, the debt was reduced to $961 million.

Woodrow Wilson inherited a debt of $1.1 billion, and when he left office, it had grown to $24 billion.

When Franklin Roosevelt was elected, the debt was down to $20.8 billion. And when Eisenhower left office, the debt was $290.2 billion.

After the three years President Kennedy was in office, the debt had gone up to $307.3 billion. When President Johnson left office, the debt was up to $359.3 billion.

And in June 1973, the debt was $459 billion! And this makes it more than the combined debts of all the other nations on this earth



"GET A COMPLETE service manual with every new piece of equipment" is the guideline followed by King Agassiz Duane Ekman (above) and his partner Kenneth Malm. A growing file of service manuals allows the partnership to perform their own maintenance in their well-equipped shop.

King Agassiz Busy Representing Valley

As preparations near completion for the 64th Red River Valley winter shows, the reigning King Agassiz is busy doing what he does best. Duane Ekman of Argyle is busy farming and representing the valley's agriculture, and enjoying every minute of it.

Although his farm partnership keeps Ekman, his wife Alice, and their four sons on the go, they always have time to welcome a visitor into their home. They especially enjoy attending local, county and area meetings promoting agriculture in the valley, as well as the Red River Valley winter shows.

Ekman resides on the farm Duane's grandfather homesteaded in 1879. Upon Ekman's return from the U.S. Navy in 1959, he began operating the family farm. At that time, his father, George, retired and Duane took over the farm in partnership with Walter Malm. Upon Walter Malm's death in 1972, Malm's son, Kenneth, formed the present Malm and Ekman partnership.

The partnership raises 1,000 acres of small grain, 180 acres of beets, and 150 acres of sunflowers and other specialty crops. They are presently Minnesota registered seed growers. Ekman doesn't see expansion of the farm in the near future. Current acreage allows the partnership to meet yearly goals without taking time away from the family.

Ekman is excited about the future of agriculture and is encouraged by the number of young families returning to farms once left vacant. "The movement out of the country seems to be reversing. More people are finding jobs in rural areas. Others commute nearly 70 miles daily to work, having moved to the country to avoid the rat race of city life. The farm is an excellent place to raise a family."

Ekman is a member of the Minnesota and Marshall county crop improvement associatons, the Argyle Lions, an ASCS committeeman, and serves on the board of directors of the Warren hospital. He also works on the Snake river advisory committee. With the Snake river less than a quarter mile away, Ekman is especially interested in that committee's program on flood control.

The church is of main importance to the Ekman family. Ekman is serving on the synod steering committee of the Red River Valley synod and is active with his church, Zion Lutheran of Alvarado.

Ekman's duties as King Agassiz will come to an end at noon Thusday, Feb. 21 as a new king will be crowned. The Argyle native will preside over the crowning ceremony as 16 candidates from northwestern Minnesota vie for the honor. Although Ekman's reign comes to an end, his love for the valley's agriculture and rural life continues. That's what King Agassiz for 1973 is all about.

Tickets for the King Agassiz coronation banquet are now available. The public is encouraged to send for tickets or call the winter shows office for reservations.

Marine Life Is Thriving Near Oil Operation

Marine life can thrive in close proximity to oil operations, and the U. S. Navy is proving it every day in Puget Sound.

An article in the American Petroleum Institute magazine, "Petroleum Today", tells of a Navy fueling facility that lies along the shore of the sparkling clear waters of the Northern Sound.

Hidden underground are 34 large tanks—each with a storage capacity of 50,000 barrels. During 1972, the fuel farm handled more than 400,000 barrels of fuel a month, from marine diesel and jet fuel to Navy distillate and thick Navy "special."

During a typical week, a number of destroyer-type ships will load 50,000 barrels of fuel, off-load 10,000 barrels of bilge waste for oil reclamation, and a tanker will replenish the fuel farm's tanks with 200,000 barrels of various petroleum products.

Yet, immediately adjacent to the fuel farm is another kind of farm, a fish hatchery. Domsea Farms, a salmon-growing project, chose the site next to the fueling area mostly because the water is clean and deep, and the current is swift.

The salmon are harvested from mid-August through January. "At that time they weigh about three-quarters of a pound each—just right for a single serving," says Jon Lindbergh, vice president of Domsea. "The fish taste great. The flavor is delicate, and the flesh is somewhat lighter in color than full-grown salmon."

Lindbergh, a conservationist with a long-established reputation, believes that petroleum and Puget Sound are compatible, given vigilant management. "The risk of a spill is always present," he says, "but we've got to take steps to minimize that risk. We need the oil badly."

Aside from being one of the cleanest bodies of water in the nation, Puget Sound also is one of the few natural deepwater ports in the U. S. While Washington state planners welcome the coming of industry to the area, they intend to keep accidents to a minimum. They have observed the Navy's fuel facility with interest.

Thief River Falls' two game regular season sweep over East Grand Forks, coupled with the Prowlers' two game split against Crookston, will put coach Lee Swanson's Lincoln high school quint in a favorable position to receive the advantageous number one seed in the upcoming district 31 basketball tournament.

At the present time the Prowlers are assured of a first place tie in the final district standings with defending district champion Crookston. However, an East Grand Forks win over Crookston Friday would give Thief River Falls the number one seeding outright. A Crookston win over East Grand Forks would necessitate a Crookston-Thief River Falls coin flip to determine the number one district berth.

The advantage to the number one seeding in the district is obvious since the top team would be positioned in the opposite bracket as the number two and three teams who would knock one or the other out of contention in semi-final play while the number one team faces the smaller schools in first round and semi-final competion, needing to play the other large school only in the finals.

Although Crookston would normally be a heavy favorite against East Grand Forks, things could be different since the status of Pirate standout Pete Schnabel is still questionable. Schnabel broke a small bone in his foot in a freak accident recently and missed last week's Bemidji game. His absence was bore out his true value to the Crookston attack as the Pirates were outclassed by Bemidji in a key Northwest Conference game. In addition to missing Schnabel, Crookston was forced to play without ace Brent Reichert for much of the game because of foul trouble as Reichert totaled only eight points.

Reports are that Schnable may be back in the Crookston line-up this weekend, though.

Similar to the basketball situation, Thief River Falls' success at winning a coin flip with Roseau for the region eight hockey first place north half standings top seeding spot will be a great benefit to the Prowlers who are now positioned in the opposite bracket from defending region champion Bemidji.

Again like the basketball picture, two of the region's top two teams—Bemidji and Roseau—will probably battle each other in semi-final round play if all goes according to plan, with the Prowlers possibly advancing through a not-quite-as-strong lower bracket.

Thief River Falls' first round region opponent will be the winner of the Alexandria-Moorhead sub region game. The other game in the Prowler region bracket will have the Warroad-Indus sub region winner facing the eventual winner of a East Grand Forks-Detroit Lakes-Fergus Falls three way tussle.

The region's top bracket first round games will find Bemidji playing the Hallock-Baudette sub region winner while the Brainerd-Crookston and Roseau-Red Lake Falls sub region winners meet in the other contest.

Also on the tournament trail, Northland's first round MCCAA state basketball tournament opponent will be the runner-up team from the Northeast Division—either Mesabi or Vermilion.

Mesabi, located in Virginia, and Vermilion, situated in Ely, will play this week to decide the Northeast's first and second places. Both teams are assured of state tournament berths.

The MCCAA's Northwest Division picture is still unclear with Northland being followed by either Crookston or Fergus Falls.

Crookston was nearly assured of a state tournament appearance until losing three straight games last week, including two conference games to Fergus Falls and Brainerd—probably the state's biggest upset of the year.

Crookston must face a potent Hibbing team while Fergus Falls goes against Brainerd in the season's last week. If both teams win a play-off game will be needed, with Northland possibly being the site of the state tournament deciding game on Mon., Feb. 25.

TRF-Argyle Game Designated As Autograph Night

Lincoln high school head basketball coach Lee Swanson announced that the Thief River Falls-Argyle basketball game scheduled tomorrow (Tuesday) in the Lincoln gym will be designated as "autograph night" for young Prowler fans.

Youngsters will be able to have their official Thief River Falls basketball program booklet autographed by members of the Prowler team immediately following the game which will start at 8 p.m.

TRF Wrestlers Dominate District 31 Tournament

BARRY NEWTON of Thief River Falls pinned Dan Pape of East Grand Forks at 4:28 of their first round 119 pound match during Saturday's district 31 wrestling tournament in the Lincoln high school gym. Pape tried to ward off Newton's pinning efforts, but failed as the Prowler grappler went on to win the 119 pound title.

After a three year absence Thief River Falls regained its accustomed position atop the district 31 wrestling tournament results Saturday as the Prowlers made shambles out of the rest of the field by advancing 11 of 12 wrestlers into the championship round and coming away with nine individual winners enroute to the 1974 district team title.

Thief River Falls finished the all day event with 135½ points, followed by defending champion Crookston with 101½, East Grand Forks 61, Warren 53½, Plummer 11 and Goodridge 7½.

All eleven Thief River Falls championship round wrestlers will advance to the region eight torrnament scheduled to be held Saturday at Bagley. Only Prowler 138 pounder Daryl Mayers failed to qualify for a region berth as he finished third.

Bringing home championship honors for coach Ed Krystosek's Prowlers were Lonnie Olson, 98; Dan Hallstrom, 105; Mark Swanson, 112; Barry Newton, 119; Joel Kezar, 132; Bryan Steiger, 145; Steve Sorvig, 167; Lee Rolland, 180; and Dave Panek, heavyweight.

Lyle Swanson at 126 and Steve Nordhagen at 155 were second place finishers for the Prowlers, but were wrestling in weight classes with the needed six participants to qualify for a regional entry.

Crookston, winner of the last three district tournaments after a five year Thief River Falls championship reign, gained two individual titles with Ken Beich winning at 138 and Corky Hanson at 155. Warren's Dale Nelson rounded out the individual district winners at 126.

Olson started a string of four straight championship round victories for the Prowlers in Saturday night's final round with a 4-1 decision over Jeff Zak of East Grand Forks. Olson scored on a takedown near the end of the first period and added a reversal in the second standa while Zak counted only on a third period penalty point.

Hallstrom, a freshman, pulled out an exciting 5-3 win over Todd Basgaard of East Grand Forks when he snapped a 3-3 tie by gaining a two point takedown just as the final buzzer sounded. Hallstrom engineered a first period takedown and scored on a second period penalty call before Basgaard rallied in the third period to score on a pair of penalty calls and an escape. The second penalty call against Hallstrom came with only three seconds left and appeared that it would send the match into overtime before Hallstrom pulled out of the last second win.

Mark Swanson scored the only points of the 112 pound championship match in the second period to beat Guy Halvorson 3-0. Swanson scored on an escape and takedown to post the third straight Prowler win. Halvorson was a defending district champion after wining at 98 pounds in 1973.

Newton made it four straight for the Prowlers at 119 with a one-sided 8-3 triumph over Crookston's Tony Newquist. Newton led 4-0 on a takedown and nearfall in the first period and added a second period nearfall and a third period reversal while Newquist scored on a first period reversal and a second period escape.

The Prowler championship round winstreak was stopped at 126 when Warren's Dale Nelson erupted for five third period points to decision Lyle Swanson 5-3. Swanson held a slim 1-0 lead entering the final stanza before Nelson scored on a penalty call, a reversal and a nearfall. Swanson gained a reversal in the wanning moments of the match for the 5-3 finale.

Kezar edged Crookston's Jim Broekemeier 2-0 to win the 132 pound title. The matches' only points were scored in the second period when Kezar maneuvered for a two point reversal.

At 138 Crookston's Ken Beich defeated Warren's Steve Filipi 12-4 in the only championship round match not involving a Prowler wrestler. Beich broke open a close 5-4 match with five second period points to win in easy fashion.

Steiger gave the Prowlers another individual champion at 145 when he decisioned Marlin Brule of Crookston 6-4. Steiger opned a 4-0 lead on a first period takedown and a second period reversal before being outscored by Brule 4-2 in the third period.

Crookston's rugged Corky Hanson, an individual winner at 126 last year, ballooned up to 155 to add another crown this winter with a first period pin of Northhagen to give Crookston its second champion.

Thief River Falls wrestlers won the final three matches to finish the meet in impressive fashion, starting at 167 when Sorvig was awarded a forfeit win over Mike Schulz of East Grand Forks who reportedly suffered an injury during an afternoon match.

Rolland outlasted Crookston's Howard Bye 8-7 at 180 by finally wrapping up the victory with a late third period nearfall. Rolland trailed 3-2 after one period, but rallied to take a 6-4 second period lead on a takedown and nearfall.

Panek recorded the meet's biggest upset in the heavyweight finale by beating East Grand Forks' Fidencio Hiracheta 7-5. Hiracheta had pinned every district wrestler he faced during the regular season and made short work recording a pair of tournament pins before facing Panek. Hiracheta led 4-1 at the end of the first period, but Panek rallied with a strong second period that included a reversal and a pair of two point nearfalls.

Other district second place wrestlers advancing to the region meet along with the two Prowler runner-ups are Zak and Basgaard of East Grand Forks; Newquist, Brockemeier and Bye of Crookston; and Filipi of Warren.

The complete 1974 district 31 wrestling results are listed on page 11.

Virginia Slips By Icers 5-4

Thief River Falls wrapped up its 1973-74 regular season hockey schedule on a losing, but encouraging note Friday as the Prowlers fell to region seven power Virginia by a slim 5-4 margin in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

The loss left the Prowlers with an 11-7 season record, but the strong Thief River Falls effort against the highly regarded Blue Devils reversed a lackluster 5-1 loss to Warroad earlier in the week and gave the Prowlers a needed confidence boost heading into the upcoming region eight tournament.

"It was a great game for us," commented McGann. "Sure we would have liked to win—that's what we go out there for—but I thought we played very well. We're ready now," McGann growled in reference to the region tournament.

A five goal third period outburst snapped what had been an unexplainably unenthusiastic game, though the smooth working Blue Devils held only a 2-1 lead through two periods.

Thief River Falls suddenly ignited the somber crowed midway through the final stanza when Prowler standout Tony Dorn fired a tough angle shot past touted Virginia goalie Brad Harala on a two on one Prolwer rush. Mike Noel set up Dorn's shot from the left of Harala that sailed into the far corner of the net to tie the game 2-2 with 7:12 remaining.

Just as suddenly Virginia appeared to put the game out of reach when the Blue Devils scored twice in 27 seconds to lead 4-2 only one minute after the Prowlers worked to tie the game.

Greg Harala, who collected the three goal hat trick in the game, scored both goals in the Virginia offenseive burst. Harala put the Blue Devils in front 3-2 when his shot from a scramble in front of the Thief River Falls net squirted past Prowler goalie Joel Folger with 6:31 remaining. Starry Dave Joelson, who assited on all five Virginia goals, and Tom Scipioni were credited with assists on the play.

Moments later Harala and Joelson combined for the third time as Joelson's deft stickhandling gave Harala time to find an open spot in front of the Prowler net. Joelson's pass was right on target and Harala cleanly beat Folger from ten feet out for a 4-2 game with 6:04 left.

Surprisingly, the quick Virginia goals didn't subdue the Prowlers who charged back to trim the difference to only 4-3 when Jeff Tunberg converted a three on one Prowler rush with 3:41 to go. Scott Reed and Scott Engelstad sent passes to Tunberg who guided the puck past an out of position Harala.

Virginia scored what proved to be the game winning goal with 1:43 remaining as defenseman Keith Hendrickson, coach Dave Hendrickson's son, drove a long slap shot through a Prowler defenseman and past Folger, again on an assit from Joelson, for a 5-3 contest.

It took the aroused Prolwers just 27 seconds to slice the margin to only 5-4 when defenseman Greg Sorenson scored on an assist from Reed on a beautiful display of Prowler team work. Reed was all set to slam a close range slap shot at Harala when he suddenly spotted Sorenson standing unnoticed in front of the Virginia net. Reed quickly pulled up and slipped a soft pass across the goal mouth to Sorenson who tipped it past a sprawling Harala with 1:16 remaining.

McGann pulled Folger in favor of an extra attacker with 22 seconds left and the Prowlers buzzed around the Blue Devil net with six skaters stationed inside the Virginia blue line, but just missed on several opportunities as the game ended 5-4.

"It was a heck of an effort on our part," praised McGann, "the kids never gave up."

Hendrickson wasn't quite as enthused in the Virginia locker room after the game. "We started well, but had a 5-2 lead and almost gave it away—something we've been doing all year. We gave them (TRF) their last two goals," pointed out Hendrickson who was quick to add however, that "Thief River Falls should be given all the credit they deserve. They (TRF) work real hard out there."

Virginia had opened a 1-0 lead before the late arriving crowd had time to settle into their seats at the start of the first period as Paul Belobaba converted an almost methodical perfect passing play by the Devils, talented first line. Joelson and Harala both assited on the play with only 32 seconds elapsed.

Thief River Falls tied the game 1-1 when Tom Barry's ten foot backhand crawled over Harala with 1:41 remaining. Sorenson was credited with an assist on the play.

Virginia posted their 2-1 second period lead on Greg Harala's first goal, a quick 15 foot slap shot that slipped under Folger, with 10:12 left in the middle stanza. Joelson assisted on the play.

Prowler B Squad Ends Year 16-1-1

Coach Dale Wennberg's Lincoln high school junior varsity hockey team finished its 1973-74 season schedule Friday with a one-sided 14-1 romp over Red Lake Falls.

Kent Ehrenstrom, Dave Wysoski and Mike Malberg each scored twice for the Prowlers Bees while single markers were added by B.J. Broughton, Bob Forberg, Mike Kosel, Chris Biegner, Jeff Lindquist, Mike Jury, Hal Harbott and Tim Stoffel.

The Prowler junior varsity completed the season with an impressive 16-1-1 record, losing only the second game of the season to Bemidji 3-2. The tie was a 2-2 standoff with Roseau.

During the season the Prowler B squad posted wins over East Grand Forks 6-0 and 9-5; Crookston 12-0; Moorhead 9-2; Hallock 10-0; Grand Forks Red River 7-3; Bemidji 4-1; Fargo South 6-0; Roseau 6-4; Grand Forks Central 6-0; Detroit Lakes 5-1; Warroad 7-5, 8-1, 7-1 and 4-2; and Red Lake Falls 14-1.

THIEF RIVER FALLS teammates Scott Reed (left) and Jeff Tunberg combined to beat Virginia goalie Brad Harala on this play with 3:41 remaining in Friday night's hockey game play in the sports arena. Reed passed the puck over to Tunberg who guided the rubber past the out of position Harala to trim the score to 4-3. Virginia outlasted the inspired Prowlers 5-4. The loss finished the Prowler regular season with an 11-7 mark. Thief River Falls will host the 1974 region eight hockey tournament starting Friday in the Sports arena.

NCC Cagers Outlast Hibbing And Itasca

Northland outlasted Hibbing and Itasca in a pair of high scoring non-conference MCCAA basketball games over the weekend to improve the Northman season record to a sparkling 17-4 level.

Coach Chet Engelman's Northmen held off Hibbing 124-119 in two overtimes Friday night before adding an 89-82 triumph over Itasca Saturday afternoon to complete a Northland Iron Range road trip sweep.

Hibbing . . 119

David Dickey and Burnie Stephens once again combined to form a nearly unstopable two pronged Northland attack in Saturday's major league-type 124-119 decision over Hibbing. Stephens, rapidly developing into one of the state's finest centers, "was fantastic," according to Engelman as the 6-5 freshman poured in 33 points by hitting 16 out of 19 field goal attempts, including a perfect six for six showing in the overtime periods, to go along with 16 rebounds. Dickey turned in another of his nearly unbelievable performances as the 6-0 freshman guard scored 32 points, handed out an MCCAA state record 20 assists, picked up another MCCAA record 13 loose ball recoveries and grabbed 10 rebounds.

A sizzling start found the Northmen racing to a 41-26 bulge just ten minutes into the contest before the Northmen suddenly went five minutes with only a single field goal and free throw to enable Hibbing to slice the difference to just 43-39 with six minutes left in the race-horse pace first half. A long shot from mid-court at the buzzer by Dickey provided Northland with a 63-60 lead at halftime.

Hibbing reeled off three short scoring spurts to maintain a small lead throughout most of the second half as the Cardinals enjoyed a 102-95 edge with only 1:41 remaining. Northland rallied, however, behind a field goal by Dickey, a three point play by Dickey and a jump shot by Joe Brown with 32 seconds left to tie the game 102-102 at the end of regulation time.

Northland scored five straight points in the first overtime session to post a seemingly safe 109-106 lead with only 54 seconds remaining, but a free throw and a tip-in with ten seconds left by Hibbing tied the score 109-109 at the end of the first overtime.

The Northmen finally put the game away in the second extra session when Northland rattled off eight straight points, four by Stephens and two each by Brown and Dickey, to lead 117-111.

Northland, after shooting a hot 63 per cent in the first half, settled down to a still impressive 54 per cent figure for the game on 56 of 104 shots. Hibbing, shooting 61 per cent in the first half, ended with a 50 per cent mark on 48 of 97 tries. Northland made only 12 of 25 free throw attempts, though, with Hibbing making 23 of 31 gift tosses. Northland was outrebounded 55-48.

After an opening 2-2 tie Northland raced to a 12-2 bulge to start Saturday's game in Grand Rapids before the effects of Friday's physically tiring game took over and the Vikings rallied to trim the difference to just 18-17 with 10:48 remaining in the first half.

Northland managed to escape a sluggish first half showing with a 40-38 lead.

The Northmen expanded a slim lead to 55-42 on a Brown jumper with 15:47 left and enjoyed several 13 point leads until Itasca fought back to trim the margin to only 73-68 with 5:56 to play.

An eight point Northland scoring spurt hiked the point spread back to 13 as Mike Peterson sank a two pointer for an uncatchable 81-68 cushion with only 3:04 remaining.

Northland shot 45 per cent from the field, making 39 of 88 attempts. Itasca shot 39 per cent on 36 of 93 tries. Northland sank 11 of 13 free throws with Itasca making 10 of 14 gift tosses. Northland held a 56-53 rebound edge with Stephens pulling down 18 caroms and Dickey 11. Dickey was also credited with 14 assists in the game to increase his weekend total to 34—nearly half of the former Northland individual season record of 70.

Northmen Sweep Lakewood

Sophomore defenseman Mike Protz of Thief River Falls notched his second three goal hat trick performance of the 1973-74 season Wednesday afternoon to spark Northland past Lakewood 8-3 in a Minnesota community college hockey conference game played in the St. Paul auditorium.

Freshmen Rob Eisenzimmer and Jon Jensen each scored two goals in the Northland win and Tony Demarais added a single marker to lift Northland over the White Bear Lake school for the second straight day. Northland beat the Lancers 5-4 Tuesday to complete a two game series sweep.

The back to back Northland wins improved the Northman season record to 9-11 and leveled Northland's conference mark at 8-8, moving the Northmen past Lakewood into fourth place in the MCCAA standings. Northland closes out its regular season schedule this weekend when the Northmen travel to International Falls to face Rainy River. Northland will host the 1974 MCCAA state tournament February 28 and March 1.

Northland and Lakewood traded goals to start Wednesday's game with the Lancers holding a 3-2 lead at the end of the give and take first period.

Lakewood owned a pair of one goal first period leads only to have Demarais and Protz tie the game. Demarais, who collected the hat trick a day earlier, scored the first Northland goal on an assist from Jensen with 13:22 remaining, 2:37 after Lakewood had went ahead 1-0. Protz followed a second Lakewood goal at the ten minute mark with his first goal on an assist from Al Eisenzimmer who earned three assists in the game—with 6:58 left.

Lakewood took another one goal lead, 3-2, with 3:50 remaining in the first period, but Northland dominated the rest of the activity as coach Swede Lund's Northmen scored six straight goals to wrap up an impressive win.

Jensen tied the game for the last time at 3-3 when he scored on an assist from Randy Schmitz with 13:21 remaining in the second period. Rob Eisenzimmer followed with a pair of goals with 6:49 and 2:49 left to give Northland a 5-3 lead. Demarais and Al Eisenzimmer helped out on the fifth Northman goal. Protz finished the second period scoring on an assist from Pete Jerome with only 1:44 to go, hiking the Northland lead to 6-3.

Jensen scored an unassisted power play goal with 6:26 remaining in the third period to lift the difference to 7-3 and Protz scored his third goal on assists from Arlan Tveit and Schmitz with just 15 seconds left for the 8-3 finale.

Sophomore goalie Gordon Landin was tested only 18 times in the Northland nets, making period stops of 2-4-12. Gilbertson kept busy with 33 shots for Lakewood, with period saves of 11-8-14.

TRF Stops EGF For Second Time This Winter, 54-44

Coach Lee Swanson's Lincoln high school basketball team completed a regular season two game sweep over East Grand Forks for the second straight year Friday as the Prowlers defeated the Green Wave 54-44 in the East Grand Forks gym.

The two long time basketball rivals played to a 13-13 stand-off at the end of the first quarter with the Prowlers moving out to a 29-25 halftime lead. Prowler guard Duane Dicken finally gave Thief River Falls a firm lead with three consecutive long range third quarter jump shots to propel the Prowlers to a 41-33 cushion heading into the fourth quarter.

Thief River Falls maintained a comfortable lead throughout the final period, despite a rising Prowler turnover total that the Green Wave weren't able to capitalize on. Leading 47-35 with six minutes remaining, the Prowlers went into a semi-stall to coast home with a ten point win.

Thief River Falls beat East Grand Forks by a nearly identical point spread, 71-60, earlier this year to complete the two game series sweep.

"Of course we're happy to get the win, but overall we can certainly play better than what we showed at East Side," said Swanson after the game."

Dicken paced the Prowler offense with 17 points with backcourt mate Jerry Sandahl being the only other Prowler in double figures with 11 points. Steve Wald did the bulk of the Green Wave scoring with 21 points while Dan Driscoll added 10.

The teams shot nearly identical percentages from the field as the Prowlers shot 40 per cent on 19 of 48 attempts while the Green Wave shot 39 per cent on 16 of 41 tries. Thief River Falls made 16 of 21 free throw attempts with East Grand Forks making 10 of 14 gift tosses. East Grand Forks held a 28-24 rebound advantage.

Swanson cited the play of Dicken, Sandahl and Dallas Kemmer in the game with Sandahl handing out eight assists and Kemmer pulling down eight rebounds, most of which were key caroms in the third quarter.

The win lifted the Thief River Falls season record to 10-6 with the Prowlers scheduled to host Argyle tomorrow (Tuesday) in the Lincoln gym starting at 8 p.m. Thief River Falls will play at Warren Friday before closing out the 1973-74 season by hosting Moorhead Sat., March 2.

Region eight post season high school hockey activity gets underway tonight (Monday) with the start of south sub region play at Detroit Lakes.

Games slated to be played in the Detroit Lakes fieldhouse tonight will find Moorhead skating against Alexandria at 7 p.m. while Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls clash at 9 o'clock. The Moorhead-Alexandria winner will advance to the region eight tournament to be held in Thief River Falls starting Friday, but the Detroit Lakes-Fergus Falls game is just a sub region prelude since the Laker-Otter winner must face East Grand Forks Tuesday at 7 p.m., with the winner making the regional field. A second south sub region game on tap Tuesday will find Crookston facing Brainerd at 9 p.m. for a region berth.

Competition in the north sub region event will take place Tuesday at Roseau with six teams looking for regional spots. Roseau will skate against Red Lake Falls at 5 p.m., Warroad and Indus meet at 7 o'clock and Hallock plays Baudette at 9 p.m. in the north region action.

The six sub region survivors will join already seeded Bemidji and Thief River Falls in the 1974 region eight tournament to be played in the Thief River Falls sports arena Friday, Saturday, Monday and Wednesday, February 22-27.

Thief River Falls and Bemidji earned automatic berths into the region classic with their first place finishes in the region's north and south point standings during the 1973-74 regular season.

Nordics Romp Over Roseau Quint 71-48

Newfolden impoved its 1973-74 basketball record to an impressive 12-4 level Friday with an eye-catching 71-48 North Border Conference win over already crowned league champion Roseau.

The Nordic win avenged an early December 48-36 win by the Rams over coach Ron Ueland's Marshall County Central quint. Newfolden will be back in action tomorrow (Tuesday) when the Nordics travel to Karlstad wfor an 8 p.m. game.

Newfolden led 10-6 at the first quarter break Friday before expanding the margin to 30-20 at halftime. The flu-slowed Rams fell behind 46-32 after three quarters.

Wayne Peterson Is Named WCCO All-State Pick

Minneapolis radio station WCCO named Wayne Peterson of Thief River Falls to its all-state basketball team of the week Thursday, marking the second successive week a Prowler player was selected to the honor squad.

Peterson is the leading scorer and rebounder for coach Lee Swanson's Lincoln high school quint with the towering 6-8 junior center averging 15.7 points and 10.9 rebounds per game through the Prowlers' first 14 games. Peterson has scored in double figures in all but two games this winter with his high point production coming against Ada when he poured in 31 points.

Three other northwestern Minnesota players named to the latest weekly all-state team included Dick Watne of Gonvick; Greg Bogestad of Kennedy; and Gary Boman of Alvarado.

A week ago Prowler guard Duane Dicken was named to the WCCO squad.

Each member of the all-state squads will receive parchment certificates suitable for framing from WCCO.

EGF Stops TRF JV Basketball Squad By 64-60

East Grand Forks stopped Thief River Falls 64-60 in junior varisty basketball played Friday night at East Side.

The host Green Wave JV's led at all quarter stops, 18-8, 35-26 and 49-43.

Brian Waale paced the Thief River Falls offense with 20 points while Dave Grothe chipped in 17.

The loss left coach Glen Peters' JV team with a 9-6 season record.

VIRGINIA GOALIE Brad Harala appeared to be in position to stop the puck on this play Friday night, but the shot off the stick of Thief River Falls wing Tom Barry crawled right over Harala's shoulder and settled in the net to tie the game at 1-1 in the first period. The highly regarded Blue Devils eventually outlasted the Prowlers 5-4 in the sports arena.

VIRGINIA GOALIE Brad Harala appeared to be in position to stop the puck on this play Friday night, but the shot off the stick of Thief River Falls wing Tom Barry crawled right over Harala's shoulder and settled in the net to tie the game at 1-1 in the first period. The highly regarded Blue Devils eventually outlasted the Prowlers 5-4 in the sports arena.

Early School Was Sometime Thing

(Editor's Note: Following is the fourth in a series of articles by M. O. Skarsten, early Thief River Falls student and educator.)

Chapter Four

I had attended rural schools in Big Stone county in southwestern Minnesota for four years before coming to Thief River Falls. During each of those four years I was enrolled for a two months term in the fall and for a two months term in the spring—four months per year. I had, by the fall of 1902, progressed through the fourth grade.

During the year that followed I did not go to school at all. For my father had taken a homestead 50 miles east of Thief River Falls, where there was, at that time (so far as I know), no school. By the spring of 1904, however, my father had proved up on his homestead and moved to Thief River Falls. But even that spring I did not get to attend school more than about a month.

In the fall of that year, however, I enrolled in the fourth grade at the age of 12, a retarded pupil. During much of this fall term the fourth grade was housed in a vacant store building. Before long, though, we were transferred to the Central school, near the city center. Yet I did not attend here very long because, early in January, I was taken out of school and sent to Big Stone county to see a doctor about my bum leg. After three months here, in the home of my Uncle Chris Myrold, I was taken to St. Paul to see Dr. Gillette. So I missed school for the rest of that school year.

By the fall of 1905, however, I was back in Thief River Falls, encased in the brace which I have described. At that time I enrolled in grade five, at the age of 13, still a retarded pupil. I finished grade five handily, however, and also grade six; and in the fall of 1907 enrolled in grade seven.

I remember one assignment in grade six that almost stumped me. This assignment was to memorize the Thirteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. The amendment reads:

"Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction."

When I wrote that amendment for my autobiography 60 years later, I wrote:

"Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States or any state subject to their jurisdiction."

I could have sworn that the way I thus wrote it was the correct way. Which may go to show that memory can be fallible. Can that have been the case, also, for the traditions that have been handed down to us by word of mouth for countless generations?

But how did I manage to memorize that amendment in the first place? The language was rather involved; too involved for a mere sixth grader. I did not seem to be able to memorize the passage at all. Finally I hit upon the idea of setting it to music. I made up a tune, and I sang that tune as I began to memorize. And it worked! When I say that Thirteenth Amendment today, I sing it. The tune is as clearly in my mind as it was then; yea, even clearer.

The most remarkable of my school years prior to high school came the next year in the seventh grade. The year was made memorable because of the remarkably capable teacher we had in that grade, and by the part our superintendent of schools played in it.

The teacher I have in mind was the sixth grade teacher at first. The sixth grade occupied the room next to that of the seventh grade. I had noticed Miss Stephens (as I have chosen to call her) as she stood on guard outside the door to her room as school opened in the morning or at noon, and at recess time. She was tall, and straight as a flagpole, without any curves whatever. Her eyes were blue and non-committal; her hair, the color of rhubarb. She was glum as an owl; in short, she did not impress me favorably at all—until, a month after the opening of school, when, for some reason, she became the seventh grade teacher; our teacher.

What a teacher! That year I learned the American colonies almost by heart. Without difficulty I could work problems in arithmetic such as:

A man sold two cows for $60 each. On one he gained 20 per cent, on the other he lost 20 per cent. Did he gain or lose on the transaction, and what per cent? Or:

A man sold a wagon for $70 at a loss of 30 per cent. He sold a buggy for $60 at a gain of 33 per cent. Did he gain or lose on the transaction, and what per cent?

Problems like these scarcely posed for me any challenge whatever.

One day I whispered. This was not a difficult accomplishment in those days, because we sat two in a double seat. But I was caught in the net, by Miss Stephens. She gave me one long, thoughtful look before she said, "Did you do it?" I admitted that I did. I had to stay after school, of course, to memorize a poem.

When, half an hour after everybody had gone, I recited the poem to my teacher, Miss Stephens looked at me again, without revealing how she felt, before she said, "I'm surprised at you." By this time there was a lump in my throat. But the understanding Miss Stephens did not belabor the point. I was permitted to leave the room before the tears came.

Policy Session On Agriculture At Winter Shows

"Who Will Control U.S. Agriculture?" is the theme of a conference scheduled for the Red River Valley winter shows Monday and Tuesday in Crookston.

A session each day will be held in the agricultural research center at the experiment station beginning at 9:30 a.m. and lasting until noon.

Dr. Norbert Dorow, extension economist at North Dakota state university and Martin Christiansen, extension economist at the University of Minnesota, will conduct the programs.

Discussion Topics will include: "Who Will Control U.S. Agriculture?", "What Direction For U.S. Agriculture?" and "What Can We Do To Influence Policy?"

The conference is sponsored jointly by the University of North Dakota's cooperative extension service and the University of Minnesota's extension service in cooperation with the Red River Valley winter shows.

SPECULATING about what he might get, Bob Evans apparently strained for the first glimpse of his prize at the fishing pond of St. Bernard's school carnival. Sister Ricarda discussed the possibilities with him.

"LOOK WHAT I GOT" was not an uncommon phrase to hear Thursday at the St. Bernard's school carnival which was held in place of the usual Valentine party. Kathy Polanski was apparently pleased with her prize as she showed it to Mrs. Roger Amundson. Kathy's necklace, like many other carnival prizes, were made by students.

DFL Chairman Reports Caucus Sites Selected

State DFL chairman Hank Fischer announced recently that his party has completed its work in setting locations for close to 4,000 precinct caucuses which will be held February 26, at 8 p.m.

Fischer stated that everyone wishing to find out the site for the DFL caucus in their precinct should call or write the state DFL office, 730 E. 38th St., Minneapolis, Minnesota, 55407, 612-827-5421. Outside of the metropolitan area, persons seeking this information should contact their DFL county unit chairman, he said. Pennington county DFL chairman is Al Sollom.

Lists of caucus locations by county unit are available to any individual or organization and can be obtained from the state DFL office, according to Fischer.

The party's caucus locations will also be posted on the polling place in each precinct by February 20.

The caucuses are open to anyone who has or plans to support the DFL party. Caucuses last for approximately one hour and the main business of the meeting is to discuss issues, elect precinct officers and elect delegates to county unit conventions.

DuChamp On Lay Advisory Council

Jesse DuChamp, Red Lake county assessor, has been appointed to the St. John's hospital lay advisory council at Red Lake Falls.

DuChamp will be filling the vacancy due to the death of George Thibert who served many years on the council. DuChamp has been county assessor for seven years and resides in Plummer. The council has members from the Brooks, Oklee and Gentilly areas.

'74 Viking-Land Magazine Ready And Available

Viking-Land's 1974 magazine was introduced to the public at the Chicago sportsman's and vacation show earlier this month. The 24-page, full color publication is produced by Viking-Land, USA, a northwestern Minnesota organization active in the economic development of the region it serves.

Each of the 17 Minnesota counties participating in the Viking-Land program has a story and photograph included in the magazine along with a map of the entire region. A municipal vacation facilities guide lists attractions found in 53 regional municipalities also participating in the non-profit organization. Several color pictures of an historical flavor along with a story of the history of the region supports Viking-Land's slogan of, "A Holiday Land Steeped in History".

New in the 1974 issue is a schedule of annual festivals and events which are popular with visitors to the region. Other features are wildlife photographs, a golf course listing, an airport listing and an economic development organization directory.

Sixty thousand of the 90,000 copies produced will be distributed at sport shows in Chicago, Crookston, Minneapolis, DesMoines and Bismarck in addition to the show already attended. The shows will draw crowds of well over one million people. The first show at Chicago's International Amphitheatre hosted 423,000 prospective travelers, an increase over 1973, with Viking-Land representatives distributing 12,000 magazines along with 15,000 pieces of literature from participating regional organizatons.

Interest in traveling to Viking-Land is high in Chicago with the main interest being camping facilities along with other accommodations. Chicagoans are also concerned about the availability of gasoline within the region.

A copy of the 1974 Viking-Land magazine may be obtained by writing Viking-Land, USA, Box 9454, Battle Lake, MN 56515.

ST PAUL,

MISS LYDA BATTEN looks over the many names in her guest book following an observance of her 90th birthday recently at United Methodist church. A teacher and principal in Thief River Falls from 1913 to 1957, Miss Batten considers the turn-out of former pupils at her birthday party as one of the greatest satisfactions of her life. The two boxes at right in the photo above were filled with birthday cards expressing sentiment on her 90th birthday, many of them from former students in the Thief River Falls school.

Miss Batten Recalls Her Teaching Career

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Blessed with a memory which permits her to recall not only her former students but the desks in which they sat, Miss Lyda Batten enters her 91st year of life with the firm conviction that—given the choice—she would live her 90 years the same way over again. For nearly half of that lifetime she was a teacher or principal in the Thief River Falls school system.

Although her actual birthday anniversary is February 5, it was officially observed on a recent Sunday afternoon at United Methodist church. Many of her former pupils came to the open house to visit with her and to bring cards and gifts. Miss Batten considers the attendance of former pupils at her birthday party her greatest satisfactions. She fondly turns the pages of the guest book from that event, commenting that all but a couple of names are completely familiar to her.

Miss Batten expresses her appreciation to the Wesley circle of the United Methodist church and all others who helped in making the birthday party "an outstanding event. The cards, flowers, gifts and visits with my former Central school pupils added so much to my enjoyment of the occasion," she said.

Educated in elementary or high schools in Canby, Tintah, Herman and Donnelly, and holder of a degree from Moorhead state college through spring and summer study, Lyda came to Thief River Falls schools in 1913 after a year of teaching in rural District 69 in Marshall county. She had earlier taught in rural schools in west central Minnesota, moving to the rural Newfolden area to be with her family which had moved there to farm.

"We thought we had come to the North Pole," she recalls of family reaction to the new location south of Newfolden. "But we settled into a fine Norwegian community of good people with a very fine school (District 69) nearby. Norwegian was spoken freely by young and old alike and was preached in church on Sunday. But English was also common and it was really no problem to teach in that school for a year."

After some summer school work at the Central school in Thief River Falls in the summer of 1913, she was asked by Supt. J. H. Hay to apply for a position here. She received the appointment and began teaching third grade at the Central school that fall.

TIME PASSES quickly for Miss Lyda Batten as she continues to actively pursue her interests at age 90. "I do a lot of reading, play the piano for my own enjoyment, learned to knit a year ago and have quite a bit of company. Before you know it the day is gone," she says about life at 90.

Deadline Tues. For Chamber Dinner Tickets

Reservations deadline for the Chamber of Commerce annual meeting dinner on March 5 has been established as Tuesday, February 26, according to Merle Smith, executive vice president of the organization.

Members of the organization have received reservation sheets in the mail and are reminded of the deadline because the chicken kieve dinner is being catered and an absolute guarantee must be made. The meeting will be held March 5 at the National Guard armory.

Name Jorgenson As Second Judge In County Court

Larry G. Jorgenson of Warren has been appointed by Governor Wendell Anderson to serve as the second judge in the Pennington-Marshall-Red Lake county court system. According to the announcement made yesterday (Tuesday) by the governor's office, the appointment will be effective April 15.

Jogenson, 36, is a 1968 graduate of William Mitchel college of law in St. Paul. He is also a partner in the Warren law firm of Myhre, Jorgenson and Drenckhahn.

Arraignment And Postponements In Court Today

One arraignment and three postponements of criminal cases took place at the call of the calendar for the spring term of Pennington county district court today, according to Neil McEwen, county attorney, and Miss Ardith Johnson, clerk of court.

Kurt Raymond Muzzy was arraigned on a charge of criminal negligence in the death of pedestrian Patricia Johnson: Muzzy entered a plea of not guilty and the case will be brought to trial at this term of court.

Criminal cases postponed today but expected to be disposed of at the current court term involved the state vs. Max Lemky, possession of a disabling chemical; Mark Baumgartner, possession of a controlled substance and possession of an amphetamine; and Richard Johnson, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

DFL Announces All Caucuses At One Location

Officers of the Pennington county DFL have announced that all precinct caucuses will be convened at one central location this year. According to county chairman Al Sollom, the Thief River Falls city auditorium will be the site for the 7:30 p.m. meeting on February 26.

According to Sollom, the overflow crowd attending the 1972 DFL caucus forced the party to find a facility with more space. He said that while in 1972 the central political issue was U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war, in 1974 the eroding economic situation, energy shortages and Watergate are areas of main concern to local voters. "If you want to change things the place to start is at the precinct caucus", Sollom said.

Mrs. Francis Stromberg, Pennington county DFL co-chairperson, on February 8 conducted a meeting of local precinct chairmen which served to outline their duties in conducting the individual caucuses as well as pointing out their responsibilities in encouraging voters in their precincts to attend the caucus.

Mrs. Stromberg pinted out that persons not at the caucuses can be elected delegates or alternates to the county convention only if they have indicated in writing their willingness to serve in such a capacity. She also announced that the 1974 Pennington county DFL convention will be held March 17 in the city auditorium.

Penn. Co. Court Calls 22 Jurors

Petit jurors for the Pennington county court have been instructed to be in court tomorrow (Thursday) morning for the first case on the county court trial calendar consisting of five criminal cases and two civil cases. Unlike district court jurors who will be summoned by the county sheriff and notified of the date on which they are to be in court, all county court jurors must be in court for the opening of the session.

County court jurors include Glen D. School Board Okays Report, Termination

Approval of recommended science curriculum changes in grades 9-12, acceptance of a report and adoption of a resolution to continue the beef managment program and approval of initial action to terminate the contracts of three faculty members were among business items transacted by the Thief River Falls board of education Monday evening. The board met at the Franklin middle school library.

Notice of intention to terminate contracts was approved for Mrs. Edna Rondorf, special eduation instructor under a federal Title I program which was funded for one year; Barbara Horien, long-term substitute for a tenured teacher who has been on leave without pay; and Janet Elsperger, German instructor, who is second in seniority in a department which has decreased enrollment. All resolutions passsed unanimously with the exception of Rev. Paul Biegner's request to be recorded as abstaining in the vote on Barbara Horien's discontinuance of employment.

Vern Isaacson presented the proposed changes in science curriculum which included dropping the life and physical science program for which there were no textbooks; changing the number of required years of vocational agriculture to obtain one science credit from three years to two years; tracting biology into three tracts for levels of learning abilities; and adding a second year biology class. Isaacson said the changes requested would cost the district approximately $400 per year more than the existing program.

Considerable interest and discussion was generated by the report given by Dr. Harvey Peterson, beef cattle specialist working cooperatively through the area vocational-techical institute and the Inter-County Community council at Oklee. Following the presentation and discussion the board voted to continue the program through the vocational-technical institute when funds from the Inter-County Community council are terminted at the end of the two-year program in August of this year.

Dr. Peterson, who has been elected to the newly-created Minnesota beef research and promotion board and serves as its treasurer, said that the beef cattle industry in the eight-county area which he serves is a $10 million industry. At the last census, approximately 2,500 farmers in the eight-county area reported beef cattle on their farms.

The specialist said an 18 per cent increase in Minnesota cattle numbers is expected next year and this area of Minnesota is second in the state for beef cattle numbers. Changes are being made rapidly in the beef business, he said, as indicated by a 50 per cent increase in cattle brands registered in Minnesota last year.

Calf values are two or three times what they were a few years ago, Dr. Peterson said. He cited an example of helping a farmer with herd health problems, reducing abortions from 17 one year to none the next year, as one way in which he could contribute to the economic well being of the community.

He looks for continuation of more young people going into cattle production and dairymen turning to production of beef cattle to avoid the twice-a-day milking seven days a week. Utilization of so-called "waste" products such as straw for feeding of cattle is increasing, he said, and producers are hungry

PUBLIC HEARING will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Middle River school regarding establishment of a 4,000-acre wilderness area on the 61,487-acre Agassiz national wildlife refuge. Proposed wilderness area is shown in the above map. All interested persons—including federal, state, county and municipal representatives, local interests and individual citizens—are encouraged to attend the meeting and will be given the opportunity to express their views concerning the wilderness area proposal. Summary reports on the proposal have been distributed throughout the area and a number have been picked up by the interested public. A study of Agassiz refuge by the U.S. department of the interior revealed that approximately 4,000 acres were suitable for inclusion in the wilderness recommendations. Remainder of the refuge is not included because of improvements and developments which would disqualify it.

Janice Carlson Marries Merrill Olson In Mpls.

Candles, white bows and boughs of holly graced the chapel at Northwestern college in St. Paul on Saturday evening, December 22, for the wedding of Miss Janice Louise Carlson and Merrill Dean Olson.

The bride's brother, Rev. Kenneth Carlson of Portland, Ore., officiated at the ceremony together with Rev. Gordon Peterson of Minneapolis.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Arne Samuelson of Viking. The groom is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. Clifford Olson of Slayton.

Jack Symons of Minneapolis provided the nuptial organ music for the double ring ceremony. He played Handel's "Water Suite" and Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" for the processional and "Trumpet Tune in D Major", also by Purcell, for the recessional. He also accompanied Mrs. Jerry Olson of Charter Oak, Iowa, sister-in-law of the groom, as she sang "Wedding Prayer," before the ceremony. Other music during the ceremony was provided by friends of the couple, the "Sing For Joy" folk group of Minneapolis. They sang, "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us," during the ceremony, "Dear Jesus, Thou Art Everything To Us," as the couple knelt at the altar, and "Alleluia," after the benediction.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of crystalline organza, styled in empire silhouette. A combination of Alencon and Venice lace, embroidered with seed pearls, flowed down the front of the fitted bodice, marked the high neckline edged with pleating, and graced the Camelot styled sleeves. A ruffled flounce edged the full skirt. Her finger-tip veil of fine Chantilly lace, trimmed with seed pearls, was held by a satin bow. She carried a cascade of white roses and carnations, accented with holly.

The bride selected her sister, Mrs. Earl Hoefer of Thief River Falls, to serve as matron of honor. Other attendants were another sister, Mrs. John Vogt of Minneapolis, and friends Rindy Karlberg and Mrs. Wayne King, both of Minneapolis. They wore identical floor-length gowns of red velvet fashioned with scooped necklines and long lantern sleeves. At the neckline, they wore red velvet chokers with monogrammed pins, gifts from the bride. To complete their attire, they wore red velvet bows in their hair and carried white muffs trimmed with holly.

Mrs. Stan Brannan of Minneapolis was the bride's personal attendant.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Jerry Olson of Charter Oak, Iowa. Groomsmen were John Hunter of Minneapolis, cousin of the groom, Robert Cummings of Detroit Lakes and Mylan Larson of Slayton, friends of the groom. The guests were seated by Maynard Samuelson of Brookings, S.D., brother of the bride, and Duane Dean of Minneapolis, friend of the couple. All wore black tuxedos with velvet trim, white ruffled shirts and black bow ties. The groom's boutonniere was a white rose taken from the bride's bouquet. His attendants had white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a powder blue polyester floor-length gown featuring long chiffon sleeves and sequin trim. The mother of the groom wore an aqua-blue floor-length gown with coordinating chiffon sleeves, silver braid trimmed her gown.

The parents of the bride hosted a reception in the college Blue Room following the ceremony. Approximately 250 guests were in attendance.

Highlighting the reception was a five-tiered wedding cake featuring a fountain with red bubbling water. The cake was iced in white and decorated with roses and holly. White wedding bells topped the cake.

Serving as reception host and hostess were Mr and Mrs Bert Hook of Tracy, uncle and aunt of the groom. Mrs. Morris Brustad of South St. Paul, aunt of the bride, poured. Friends of the bride living in Minneapolis assisted at the reception. Joan DeNeui and Mrs Dave Larson served the punch, Marily Ames presided at the guest book, and Audrey Martin and Mrs. Dick Gray were in charge of the gifts. Darin Olson of Charter Oakes, Iowa, nephew of the groom, assisted with the gifts. Flowers were pinned by Mrs. Melvin Carlson of Cokato, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. John Lofstrom of Minneapolis, friend of the bride.

Prior to the rehearsal, the parents of the groom hosted a dinner at the couples apartment.

Following a wedding trip to the Telemark Ski resort in northern Wisconsin, the couple is at home in Minneapolis at 5460 Seventh street Northeast.

The bride is a graduate of Newfolden high school and the University of North Dakota. She is employed as an elementary teacher in the Columbia Heights school system.

The groom is a graduate of Slayton high school and Mankato State college. He is employed by Hennepin county in Minneapolis. Photo—Richard's Photography, Minneapolis.

TRF Churches Plan For World Day Of Prayer

Representation from participating churches in this city met recently at the Richard Trudeau home to plan for World Day of Prayer.

The annual world-wide day of prayer has been observed for a number of years in Thief River Falls by the majority of the churches. This year, St. Bernard's Catholic church will host the group.

Mrs. Julian C. Lendobeja, chairman of the Ecumenical Involvement of the Catholic Daughters of America at St. Bernard's, conducted the planning meeting.

Representatives from the churches attending were Mrs. Axel Stoffel and Mrs. Gordon Reierson of Zion Lutheran church; Mrs. Orin Green, United Methodist church; Mrs. Dennis Wojahn, Trinity Lutheran church; Mrs. Dennis Anderson, Redeemer Lutheran church; and Mrs. Richard Trudeau, St. Bernard's Catholic church.

The service was set for March 1 at 10 a.m., corresponding with services throughout the world. Rev. Berton Hushagen, pastor at Trinity Lutheran church will be the speaker, using the universal theme "Make Us Builders of Peace".

Music will be provided by a joint church choir with rehearsals set for 9:15 p.m., February 20 at Zion Lutheran church and at the same time on February 27 at St. Bernard's Catholic church. Anyone is welcome to sing in this choir.

Readers and musicians from the participating churches are planning the program. A fellowship hour will precede and follow the service. A staffed nursery will be provided.

Darold Nordvicks' Wedding Shown At Reception Here

Mr. and Mrs. Darold Nordvick, who were married recently in Puerto Rico, were guests of honor at a reception given Saturday evening, February 9, by members of the local Seventh-day Adventist church.

The event was held at the church school with Mrs. Jerome Bray and Mrs. Leo Herber as hostesses.

Highlighting the reception were slides shown by Alvin Nordvick of the couple's wedding ceremony and reception held in Puerto Rico. Pictures were also shown of the trip to that island in the West Indies; Mrs. Alvin Nordvick served as narrator.

A program was given with Rev. Phillip Young giving the prayer and extending best wishes. A skit, "A Young Bride in a Grocery Store" was given; and Mrs. Maynard Molskness read the poem Bridal Bells" and several appropriate Bible verses.

For the reception, Mrs. Phil Young prepared and served the hot apple cider. Mrs. Darrell Glass served the decorated cake and Mrs. Ervin Kiez was in charge of the table decorations.

The event concluded with the presentation and the opening of the gifts.

The newly-weds are making their home in this community.

Oakland Park Residents Feted Valentine's Day

Residents at Oakland Park Nursing home were remembered on Valentine's day by several groups and organizations in this area.

In addition to the Junior American Legion auxiliary that visited the home, presented a program and served lunch, the first grade pupils at St. Bernard's Catholic church, with Mrs. Jesch as instructor, sent colorful Valentines that were used in decorating the halls and bulletin boards.

The first grade pupils at Knox school with Miss Nelson as teacher, remembered their adopted grandparents and sent each a Valentine. Also sending Valentines were the three and four year olds at the Zion Lutheran church Sunday school at Viking. Mrs. Ronald Shern is their teacher.

Decorated homemade cookies were provided for the home's annual Valentine party by the homemakers of the PM Country club, Rosewood club and the Silverton Homemakers. Five blossoming plants, donated by Melvin Swenson, added to the festivities.

Several residents also attended the rehearsal of "The Carnival" at Northland Community college. Invitations had been received to attend an afternoon basketball game at the college, but due to the storm, those planning to attend were unable to do so.

Mrs. Jaycees At Falls DAC For Monthly Meeting

Evan Armstrong, director of the Falls day activity center, was the guest speaker at the February meeting of the Mrs. Jaycees. The program was presented at the center and included video tapes of activities at the local center and the one in Crookston.

Following the program Armstrong stated that funds raised by this year's charity ball will either be used to purchase the building presently housing the center or to develop a park for center participants. The park would also be open to the public.

Leanne Clark, committee chairman, announced plans for Valentine parties for retarded children. She stated that each child would receive a picture of himself.

Karen Lehrer, general chairman for the charity ball, announced that the band, "City of New Orleans", has offered to donate its services for the ball. Special music will be provided by Greg Sorenson and Kate Campbell. Larry White will serve as master of ceremonies. Tickets were distributed to be sold for $2.50 each. Judy Dimich, charity ball publicity chairman, showed samples of the posters which will soon be on display in the downtown area.

The meeting was concluded with a lunch served by the hostesses, Jan Godfry and Lorraine Seaverson.

If the Shoe Fits..
How long should a leather sole last?
The perplexing aspect of the life of sole leather is that adults' shoes last six months, a year, or more while children who are sitting in school much of the day can go through a good leather sole in four weeks.
Recent studies show that sole leather does not wear out - it washes away. When leather gets wet, the oils that lubricate and hold the fibres together ooze out of the leather. Lacking the oils, the leather shreds and quickly scuffs off.
A silicone chemical solution is available to render shoe leather more water repellent and is reputed to increase the life of leather soles up to 30%.

SCD At Grygla Participates In Recreation Study

Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district is participating in a nationwide outdoor recreation inventory. Information gathered will be compiled into a booklet listing all privately-owned recreation facilities and used to provide guidance in planning recreation development at the local, state and national levels.

Some of the various activities listed include: Campgrounds, field sports, fishing, golfing, historical sites, hunting areas, natural-scenic roads, picnicking, racing, rockhounding, outdoor theatres, zoos, snow skiing, trails, vacation farms, boats and swimming.

Since the main outdoor recreation facility in our area is hunting, we would like help of individuals in completing this inventory," the Marshall-Beltrami district supervisors stated. Questions to which answers are needed include the following:

Do you have public hunting on your land? What is the total number of acres? How many acres are for small game hunting? How many for big game? How many for waterfowl? (These areas may overlap each other.) Do you have hunters staying overnight at your house? How many guests do you have room for? Do your furnish meals for them? Is this a profit or non-profit facility?

The district office will be sending out letters to people who listed in this inventory. Persons who feel that they should also be listed in this inventory are asked to contact the district office in Grygla.

National Guard Surges Ahead On Recruiting

"Minnesota's Guard ranks are filling up", according to State adjutant general, Major General Chester J. Moeglein. "We are continuing our statewide recruiting drive with the goal of reaching full authorized strength of 10,058 men and women in the Minnesota Army National Guard by the end of February. We have passed the 96 per cent mark and recruits continue to come in thanks in great measure to the outstanding cooperation of news media and local communities throughout the state", he said.

Enlisting over 1200 recruits since October 1973, the Minnesota Army Guard now stands at a total strength of 9667. Included in this total are 46 Guardswomen, which comprises over 50 per cent of this year's goal of 90 women in the Minnesota Army National Guard by October 1974.

"Operation Survival, our statewide compaign, has been a success and we expect an increase in enlistments during February, as our program is presented to high school seniors throughout Minnesota", said state recruiting officer, Lt. Col. Maurice H. Plasschaert.

He added that "While some units are overstrength, others still need to recruit. Our recruiters are attempting to fill unit specialties with quality rather than quantity".

Nationwide, more than 50,000 men and women have enlisted in the Army National Guard in the past seven months, producing a net gain of 15,323. In the Air National Guard, now 100.4 per cent of its mandated strength, more than 10,000 came on board for a 2,837 net increase during the same period.

The Army Guard had its largest monthly gain in years during December, normally a slow month. A net gain of 4,868 in December raised the Army Guard strength to 398,743. This is only 1,250 short of the Guard's traditional 400,000 goal. Army Guard officials are optimistic about the future, with a goal of 400,700 set for February 28. According to Major William Roberts, chief of the Army Guard's recruiting branch, "we should pass our goal before the end of the month".

General Moeglein stated, "The latest gains swell the ranks of the Army and Air National Guard, nationwide, to 491,714 men and women prepared to serve community, state and nation.

Coffee Session Will Precede GOP Caucuses

Half-hour coffee session 7:30 to 8 p.m. will precede the precinct caucuses to be held by the Pennington county Republican party Tuesday, February 26, at the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Party officials said the coffee and cookies session will be held to help first-time participants with answers to questions and to formulte resolutions which they want to introduce during the caucuses.

Written resolutions—one copy of which should be available for the caucus secretary—will be much preferred at the caucus and will save a considerable amount of time, party officials said.

David Olin, who will be convener for the caucus, will preside during the election of a permanent chairman and secretary to serve during the caucus. The same procedure will be followed at Goodridge at 4 p.m. where Dr. David Brown will serve as convener.

"CARNIVAL DE MEXICO" will perform for the Thief River Falls concert association at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Admission is by season membership only. Featured performers include Raul and Alphonso Calva, acrobats and jugglers who presented a gymnastic exhibition at the Pan American olympics; the rope twirling Escamilla brothers; Ivonne and Marco, Mexican roller-skating adagio dancers; the Mariachi "Embajadores"; the orchestra of Aurelio Rodriguez: and soprano Mericia Zuniga. Cotumes are theatrical versions of Mexican designs.

History Society Sets Centennial Award Programs

As a part of the Red River Valley centennial in 1974-75-76 the board of directors of the Red River Valley historical society makes three programs available to the nearly 1,000 high schools in the Manitoba, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota valley regions.

They are designed to encourage the study of, to focus attention on and to further maximize interest in the rich pioneer local and regional heritage of Red River country in Manitoba, Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota and to reward and draw public attention to exceptional achievement in the study and teaching of this heritage.

These three awards programs are:

(1) Annual Centennial Red River Valley High School History Student Hall of Fame—one for each: Canadian Valley, Minnesota Valley, North Dakota and South Dakota Valley;

(2) Annual Centennial Red River Valley High School History Educator Hall of Fame—one for each: Canadian Valley, Minnesota Valley, North Dakota and South Dakota Valley;

(3) A Centennial Outstanding High School History Student Award—to be made by each high school.

The recipient or recipients of these awards are nominated by the administration and history faculty of each participating school.

Top three history students and the top three history educators hall of fame annual winners each year are selected by the officers and directors of the Red River Valley historical society.

These rapidly growing Centennial programs pay tribute to scholarship and excellence in the study and teaching of our heritage in our schools. Nominations must be submitted by April 1, 1974.

Additional information about this awards program can be obtained from Don Myrold, Executive Director, Red River Valley Historical Society, Minard Hall, North Dakota State University, Fargo, North Dakota 58102.

Dept. Of Safety Warns of Defect In School Buses

New owners of old school buses were advised recently by the Minnesota Department of Public Safety that some models have a maintenance problem that could result in loss of braking capacity.

The defect is found on 1959 through 1962 GMC and Chevrolet buses. They are so designed that exhaust pipe is suspended above the hydraulic brake hose to the rear wheels, and a break in the pipe or a lowering of the support can result in rupturing the hose, causing loss of braking capacity on all wheels.

This hazard was first called to the attention of owners in November, 1970, by the national highway traffic safety administration (NHISA), which suggested remedial steps. The warning is repeated at this time because many of these buses are now in the hands of new owners—private schools, churches and other organizations, and individuals who are converting them to recreational uses.

The NHTSA has suggested an additional support between the tail pipe and the hose to insure that the pipe cannot come in contact with the brake hose.

Detailed instructions can be obtained from the Office of Defect Investigation, NHTSA, Washington, D.C., 20590.

for information that they can believe and can put to use in their own operations.

Dr. Peterson said he had visited perhaps 10 per cent of the 2,500 beef cattlemen in the area and has now stopped making visits unless invited to do so. Survey form results presented at the meeting indicated strong preference for continuation of the program by persons who had been associated with it as producers.

Approval was also given by the board to appointments to the beef specialist advisory committee. They include Ronald Moe, farmer, Thief River Falls; Lowell Enerson, farmer, Oklee; Ray Maier, farmer, Red Lake Falls; Ralph Wishard, farmer, Trail; Carl Spong, fieldman, Central Livestock cooperative, Fargo, N.D.; Dr. E.C. Stelter, veterinarian, Red Lake Falls; Terry Courneya, county extention agent, Thief River Falls; Fred Sorensen, agricultural banking representative, Thief River Falls; and Maynard Wedul, school board member, Thief River Falls.

In other action Monday the board approved payment of $75 to Calvin Lindberg for assisting the Lincoln high school photography club for the remainder of the school year; assignment of Vernon Treat to ninth grade football coach; and payment of $97.65 each to Terry Lemer and Jes Litzinger as advisors to OEA and DECA clubs, respectively, at the area vocational-technical institute.

In a split vote—which apparently was meant as objection to believed violation of principle—the board authorized the administration to withhold $8 per month "fair share" charge to non-members by the Minnesota Teamsters Public and Law Enforcemint Employees Union Local 320 in compliance with 1973 amendments to the Public Employees Labor Relations Act.

The board has no option and no recourse in the matter Supt. William Corliss explained, since it is required by state law if requested by the union. The assessment requested by the union is for representation of the non-members in the bargaining process.

Kenneth Murphy and Maynard Wedul voted against the authorization with Rev. Paul Biegner, Curtis Charlson, Clyde Christensen and Harry Sjulson voting in favor and Wallace Sparby absent.

Authorization was given to the area vocational-technical institute to exchange a T-28 aircraft in the aviation mechanics school for a Cessna 210 aircraft.

Next meeting of the board will be held Monday, March 11, at the school district service center.

Miss Batten Has Recollection Of Teaching Career

built she moved there to teach for several years and Central school was devoted to seventh and eighth grades. Following a visit to the Central school one day Miss Batten became convinced that it was in the seventh and eighth grades where she belonged. She applied for a teaching position there and when a vacancy was available she got the job.

For 15 years she was principal at the school as well as teacher. When the seventh and eighth grades were moved to Lincoln school in 1939, she moved with them and became assistant principal and teacher. She retired from active education in 1957 at the age of 73. Two years prior to that, in 1955, she was honored by the Minnesota state fair for her service to eduction, receiving a silver pitcher and tray.

"I still haven't forgotten the feelings of young people," Miss Batten said. "I can enjoy myself now as much as ever and can enjoy association with young people as much or more as the age group I should be expected to associate with. And I think I know how young people feel in certain situations; I don't think I have lost that ability."

Miss Batten always considered it an honor and satisfaction to be invited to attend class reunions, and she did so on many occasions. "My former students would tell me, 'You don't look a day older', and I came to the conclusion that it was because I had seemed old to them in the first place."

Although she would live her life over again in much the same fashion she admits to having reservations about teaching today. "If I had to start teaching now I'd be in jail before the week was over," she said. "I wouldn't stand for the answers which I am told that some young people give to teachers today. I don't feel young people are any brighter naturally now than they were years ago.

"Teaching is still a matter of communication. I think I would have to be very careful what I said to avoid asking for trouble in the classroom. When I did have to discipline a student it was with the complete understanding by the student that he brought it on himself by his actions. I never held a grudge against any student because he or she caused a problem for me, and I believe the students were aware of this."

When she retired in 1957, the first card Miss Batten received was from a former student who she had felt necessary to discipline on several occasions. He was then a superinendent of schools himself, and took time from his busy schedule with graduation approaching to write a congratulatory note to his former teacher. It made an impression on Miss Batten.

Although schools were such a major part of her life, Miss Batten now avoids going back into them. "When I'm at home I get along just fine and don't really think too much about the classroom any more. But when I get inside a school I start thinking that's where I belong."

Lyda taught under superintendents Hay, Ziegler, Simley, Bye, Fjelstad, Claffy and Saeter. She was a charter member of the Wesleyan Serivce guild at the Methodist church, served in PTA and community affairs, was a member of the drama group of the women's club and a member of the MEA delegate assembly.

In her house on the corner of Arnold avenue and Third street, across from Washington school, she keeps abreast of current events through newspaper and televison, does a lot of reading, plays the piano for her own enjoyment and entertains for visits from friends and neighbors. She does some crocheting and, to prove a person is never too old to learn, decided to learn how to knit a year ago. She has completed her first knitting project.

A 90-year-old veteran of the education field should have a philosophy of life. Miss Batten does. "Accept everything that comes along and make the best of it," she says.

The voice of experience offers good advice.

Mrs. Hilmer Aga Services Today In Minneapolis

Mrs. Hilmer (Lydia) Aga, 78, former resident of the St. Hilaire community, died Sunday at her home in Minneapolis at 3318 Uptown Avenue North.

Funeral services are being held today (Wednesday) at Zion Lutheran church in Minneapolis. Interment will be in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Aga, the former Lydia Kolstad, was born in St. Hilaire to Mr. and Mrs. Lars Kolstad. Since 1940, she had made her home in Minneapolis.

Surviving are three daughters: Mrs. Roy (Ruth) Trosvig, Mrs. Doris Packer and Miss Helen Aga, all of Minneapolis; 10 grandchildren, five great-grandsons, a sister, Mrs. Lawrence (Vina) Wilson of Warren, and one brother, Henry Kolstad of Albert Lea.

She was preceded in death by her husband, parents and one brother, Oscar Kolstad.

Tina Braseth Services To Be Held Thursday

Mrs. Tina Braseth, 75, of Thief River Falls and formerly of the Grygla community, died Monday at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Braseth will be held Thursay at the Green Funeral chapel with Rev. James Hagemeister, pastor of the Assemblies of God tabernacle, officiating. Interment will be in the Valle cemetery near Grygla.

The body will repose at the Green Funeral home until time of services. A complete obituary will be in the Monday issue of the Times.

Wheat, Corn And Soybeans Have Strong Outlook

Farmers can expect a strong wheat market this year, but University of Minnesota agricultural economist Willis Anthony says he doubts that prices will go to the $40 a bushel level that would be required for dollar-a-loaf bread.

Amidst speculation of wheat shortages and high bread prices in this country, there has been considerable concern about wheat availability in the future. The supply is lower and the wheat market is strong, but it is difficult to say how high wheat prices will go, Anthony adds.

He says he doesn't envision the market going down in the next several weeks, but futures market prices for 1974 crop wheat look high as compared to what farmers can expect for their wheat next year. It makes good sense to consider contracting some wheat, but don't contract it all and don't contract more than you are sure to produce, Anthony advises farmers.

The corn market should be quite strong, the economist says. The Minnesota situation should be near normal with the market peaking in spring and tapering into summer. Exports are running substantially above a year ago while corn feeding is heavy. Farmers will not be hurt much by holding old crop corn for the next several weeks, but they should consider contracting for future sales of the 1974 crop. If the March 1 U. S. Department of Agriculture plant intention report shows a 10 per cent acreage increase, it may be difficult to absorb the 1974 crop at current corn market prices, Anthony says.

Soybean prices may have hit their peak for the year, which would be a little earlier than normal, the economist adds.

Taxpayer Ass'n. Compares Minn. Tax Situation

Members of the Minnesota Taxpayers association this week are receiving a pocket-size folder revealing, statistically, how Minnesotans fared economically during the first year after the 1971 Legislature fired its $600,000,000 salvo of tax rate increases.

"This is our fifth annual edition of 'How Does Minnesota Compare?'," said Charles P. Stone, executive director of MTA. "It includes state-by-state comparisons of the most recent official figures on personal income, state and local taxes, and state and local government spending.

"The statistics are for fiscal 1972—the 12-month period that began July 1, 1971—and reflect the impact of the king-size tax boost package enacted late in 1971. Since some of the tax rate increases did not take effect until November 1 of that year, the statistics necessarily understate the full weight of the added tax load.

"Even so, the story these statistics tell is not a happy one.

"The per capita state and local states and the District of Columbia topped Minnesota in over-all per capita state and local taxing. And we also climbed to ninth place in per capita spending by the state and local governments; at $905.61 per capita we were 13 per cent over the U. S. average.

"Our per capita burden of state individual income taxes climbed to $124.03, up $28.51 from fiscal 1971 and far above the $70.79 average for the 44 states which impose individual income taxes.

"Payment of state sales taxes rose from $54.81 per capita in fiscal 1971 to $69.33 in fiscal 1972," Stone said.

"Possibly the most discouraging aspect of the new statistics concerns personal income. Nationally, per capita personal income climbed 8.1 per cent to $4,492, while Minnesota lagged with a 6.6 per cent increase to $4,298.

"Lagging personal income and higher taxes and public spending just aren't good economic bed partners," Stone concluded.

CECIL ANDERSON, a local implement dealer, recently gave a few pointers to Richard Chapman, a student in Lincoln high school's ag power, hydraulics and equipment class. Chapman and his classmates have been setting up two of Anderson's machines to gain experience in the techniques involved.

Police Report 5 Cases Involving Stealing In TRF

No serious accidents were reported in Thief River Falls during the past week, according to information from the local police department. However, personnel investigated five incidents involving thefts or stolen property.

On Thursday a local store reported the theft of a Minuteman 3 calculator valued at $54.95.

Two boys, 11 and 16, were apprehended in a local store Saturday and admitted stealing from four different stores on the same day. Items taken included comic books, a pen and pencil sets, squirt guns, a key ring, a pin and a New Testament. Total value of the stolen items was reported at $15.29.

A 14 year old boy was apprehended Friday for possession of a stolen snowmobile helmet.

A snowmobile belonging to Kenneth Bergman was stolen from the bowling alley on Saturday. It was located a short time later near Lincoln high school.

Mrs. Virgil Collins reported Sunday that hockey equipment valued at $100 had been stolen from the old arena. Items taken include skates, gloves, shin pads, sweat pants and a stick.

Eagle Population

Caution is urged since threats to future eagle population can be caused by noise of snowmobiles, hunters or woodsmen. The noise causes flights of eagles off their nests. Eggs then may become frozen before the return of the eagles to their nests following such interuptions.

Areas that contain nests may be forbidden to snowmobilers by park rangers and game management personnel if warrented. However, it is almost impossible to regulate snowmobilers except to plead the cause of the eagles—our national symbol bird.

The eagles nest in February and March. People without useful and real purpose should remain out of the eagle nesting areas during these months. Use club trails and areas that you know are not holding eagles. Ask scout leaders to check out the eagle areas and to post the vital information to the various snowmobile clubs, requesting the president of the club inform his members of the need to save our national birds.

Society Of American Foresters

The society of American foresters, with over 17,500 members, is the national organization representing all segments of the forestry profession in the U.S., including public and private practitioners, researchers, administrators, educators and forestry students.

Objectives are to advance the science, technology, education, and practice of professional forestry in America and to use the knowledge and skills of the profession to benefit society.

Gifford Pinchot and six other pioneer foresters established the society in 1900. Members subscribe to a strict code of professional ethics. The society is the accreditation authority for professional forestry education in the U.S.

The Crappie

Back in 1969 this column revealed that the majority of game fish taken by ice fishermen are crappies. At that time we pointed out that the crappie is a member of the sunfish family along with the bluegill and large and small mouthed bass. The winter caught crappie is especially tasty. Unlike other members of the sunfish family, the crappie often co-exists with rough fish populatons of carp and bullheads.

There are two species of crappies in Minnesota—the black crappie and the white crappie. The easiest way to distinguish between them is by counting the spiny rays on the dorsal fin. The black crappie has seven or eight spines and the white crappie has five or six. The white crappie is paler colored and generally smaller than the black crappie. The white crappie may be found in the southern part of Minnesota mostly south of the Twin Cities.

The state crappie record is five pounds and was caught by Tom Christenson in the Vermilloon river in Dakota county in 1940. The size of crappies seem to be growing with many three pounders entered in winter fishing contests. The average age of a 12 inch crappie is eight years.

The best winter bait to be small minnow on a small jig. The crappie will feed on aquatic insects, crusta, small minnows and other small fish. Plant material is sometimes eaten but this is a starvation diet. Crappies continue to feed through the winter.

Crappies usually begin to breed when they are two to three years old. Spawning usually occurs in May and June in Minnesota. The male excavates a nest, often where there is some vegetation, in water several feet deep and on various types of bottom soil. The spawn deeper than other members of the sunfish family; a habit which probably helps them survive carp infested lakes. A female may lay from 20,000 to 140,000 eggs in the sest, which are fertilized by the male. Incubation usually lasts from five to ten days, with the male guarding the nest.

TRF Swimmers Finish With 11-5 Dual Meet Mark

Coach John Kopari's Lincoln high school swimming team closed its 1973-74 dual meet schedule on a winning note last week by beating both Bemidji and Fosston.

The wins left the Prowler swimmers with an 11-5 dual meet record as Thief River Falls defeated Bemidji 49-34 Thursday before adding a 59-23 triumph over Fosston Saturday.

Dan Cork supplied Thief River Falls with a pair of first place finishes at Bemidji, winning the 200 yard freestyle and the 100 yard backstroke events.

Doug Williams also sparked the Prowler win with a new Lincoln school record 2:17.1 first place effort in the individual medley.

Other Prowler winners at Bemidji were Dave Borning in the 50 yard freestyle, Steve Storhaug in the 500 yard freestyle, Jeff Carter in the 100 yard breaststroke and the Prowler 400 yard freestyle relay team.

The Prowler medley relay team paced the Saturday win at Fosston with Cork, Carter, Williams and Berning combining to swim a school record 1:51.9.

Cork and Williams both won a pair of individual titles at Fosston with Cork swimming a 2:06.4 in the 200 yard freestyle and a 1:03.5 in the 100 yard backstroke. Williams was clocked in 2:19 in the individual medley and 1:01.6 in the 100 yard butterfly.

Other Prowler winners at Fosston were Neil Sjulson with a 25.8 in the 50 yard freestyle, Scott Oen with a 59.7 in the 100 yard freestyle, Brian Phelps with a 5:51.5 in the 500 yard freestyle and Carter with a 1:13.1 in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Technicians Are Tested For Car Repair Skills

Finding a qualified service technician to repair your car should be made easier this spring when the national institute for automotive service excellence (NIASE) makes available to motorists a directory of service facilities employing certified technicians, reports the Automotive Information council.

These technicians will have passed one or more stringent examinations dealing with specific systems on your car, such as engine repair, automatic transmission, front end and brakes. The certified technician wears an orange, blue and white gear-shaped shoulder patch with bars underneath indicating his specific areas of certification. A technician who passes all the tests wears a double-gear patch indicating he is a certified general automobile technician. A certificate is also awarded.

To date, almost 26,000 technicians have been certified in one or more specialties, with 8,000 passing all the tests in the series to qualify as certified general automobile technicians.

The tests are developed and administered by the educational testing service of Princeton, N.J.—the same organization that handles college boards and the law school admission test.

They are held twice each year at over 200 locations across the country and are changed each time they are administered. The tests are voluntary. Technicians pay a registration fee plus an additional fee for each test they take.

A technicians' certification is valid for a three year period after which he has to take another battery of tests to be recertified. This is to ensure that the technician is aware of new developments and current practices in his field.

The NIASE program should not be confused with proposed government licensing which concentrates more on ethics in the service industry than on the competence of technicians. The NIASE approach to the current shortage of qualified technicians is also to encourage the development of effective training programs.

ALL WEATHER rain and snow gauges have recently been developed and may be purchased through the local FFA chapter. Mike Sortebert (left) and Scott Nelson are handling this project in Thief River Falls. About 2,000 FFA members in Minnesota are serving as amateur weather observers using the precisely calibrated gauges to record and report precipitation.

Lt. Swenson Is USAF Pilot In Weapons Firing

First Lieutenant John M. Swenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Swenson, Thief River Falls, recently participated in weapons firing training with his Aerospace Defense command (ADC) unit at Tyndall AFB, Fla.

Lieutenant Sweson is a pilot with the 87th Fighter Interceptor squadron at K.I. Sawyer AFB, Mich. The unit is equipped with F-106 Delat Dart all-weather interceptor aircraft.

All ADC interceptor pilots are required to complete training annually to evaluate their skill against a radio-controlled target drone that effectively simulates an "invader" aircraft. The elusive targets fly more than 600 miles per hour at an altitude of 60,000 feet.

Ground crews are evaluated on their weapons loading ability and speed in preparing aircraft for launch during the training period.

Lieutenant Swenson was commissioned in 1971 upon completion of officer training school, Lackland AFB, Tex.

A 1965 graduate of Lincoln high school, he received his B.S. degree in 1969 from Moorhead state college.

Stensrud Joins Mpls. Company

Supt. Hay Enters Skarsten Story

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles by M. O. Skarsten, early Thief River Falls resident and educator, regarding his experiences while attending school in this community.)

Chapter Five

The superintendent of schools, that year—to come to him—was J. H. Hay. J. H. Hay was tall, sparce, with broad, square shoulders. He was immaculately attired, usually in a gray suit. His hair showed traces of gray. His eyes were alert, and the same color as the suit. I had observed Mr. Hay make announcements. I had listened to him deliver addresses. I had seen him handle a crowd. He was a born leader.

He would come into our room about once a week, usually before school opened. He would talk to Miss Stephens for a minute or two, then leave.

Once he was our substitute teacher. While teaching reading that day, he astonished us by declaring that he had paid fifty cents the night before to hear a woman read. "Yes," he added, when a blank array of faces confronted him, "I paid fifty cents to hear a woman read." (Nowdays, the cost for such a privilege might be two dollars or more.)

In the geography class, that day, he said, "Do you know that the end of the Panama Canal that opens into the Atlantic Ocean is farther west than the end that opens into the Pacific?" That was too much for us. Not even when he had said it a second time could we grasp it. So he showed it to us by a neat little sketch on the blackboard.

He also said, "The coast of Chile," (on the western side of South America) "is farther east than New York City." He pulled down a map and showed us. He was almost as good as Miss Stephens.

During the month of May, that year, he came into our room one day and said that he was going to let us take the state board examinations, and that if any of us passed, he would promote us into high school, without our having to go through the eighth grade.

Doubts began to flood my mind. Would I be able to do the work in high school? Was not the work in high school terribly difficult?

I took the state board examinations along with the other pupils. I remember that Mr. Hay wrote the questions on the blackboard. Even though the writing was large and legible (I can see it yet), still it was only with difficulty I was able to make it out, due to my nearsightedness. Once I had to change my seat to make out the questions at all, and even then I had to do some guessing.

But I finally got through, and the next day, and the next, and the next, looked for Mr. Hay to come in to tell us whether any of us had passed. But he never came, and I gave the matter no further thought until in the fall, after I had entered the eighth grade. Then, during the first week of school, Mr. Hay did come in, one day, and then and there told us that two of the seventh graders had passed the state board examinations and could be promoted, as of then and there, into high school. The two who had passed were a boy by the name of Gulrud, whose father was a blacksmith, and I.

I enrolled in high school the next day, for courses in English, English history, algebra, botany and other subjects.

My most difficult subjects were algebra and botany. I mastered the computations in algebra easily enough, but some of the story problems almost had me stumped. I took them home. I worked on them after supper, one hour; two hours. I analyzed them; put down on paper the various facts given in each problem; noted what was called for, restated the problems in my own words. If there were large numbers, I substituted small numbers for the large ones. I asked myself if the answers I got were reasonable. I tried to "prove" my answers. This technique, taught me by Miss Stephens, netted results. I was able to work most of the problems.

But Botany? Verily, I believe the textbook we used was written for college students, certainly not for freshmen in high school. But by analyzing the sentences much as I had analyzed the algebra problems, by trying to get clearly in mind just what each sentence said; and by attempting to explain sentences, and even paragraphs, in my own words—by these means I was able to understand what was printed in the textbook. I came through that first year of high school without difficulty.

Zion Lutheran Church News

The New Spirit outreach team from the Concordia College presented a rally at the Zion Lutheran Church here Saturday evening February 9th. They also had the two services Sunday morning at the local Zion also the Oak Ridge chirch, Feb. 10th.

Sunday February 17th was a special day at the Zion Lutheran Church sponsored by the ALCW with emphasis on Missions. Youth of the Church were dressed in costumes and members of the confirmation class greeted people at the door in the Indian language, special emphasis were on India as this was where Rev. Ralph Hofrenning, pastor of the church served as a missionery. Rev. Hofrenning played the harp while the confirmates sang both in the English and India language—following the morning service a family fellowship dinner was served in the church parlors. In the afternoon Rev. Hofrenning showed slides of his work in India and played three Indian melodies on his harp. Colored slides were shown of Assam India and the border of Bhutan. He also showed pictures of churches which he helped build in Bhutan and at Parkyuli—money was donated by farmers at Elk Horn, Iowa toward these churches.

The committee serving the dinner were Mrs. Carl Krohn, Mrs. Ray Berg, Mrs. Duane Krohn and Mrs. Melvin Grandstrand. The Program committee who planned this day were Mrs. Ronald Shern, Mrs. George Erickson, Mrs. Clarence Jadeke, Mrs. Ralph Hofrenning.

EMPTY BEER AND WINE bottles littered the snow about 15 yards south of County Road 64 Sunday morning. Whether the debris was left by a snowmobiler or motorist is unknown. However, such action would not be likely to earn many votes for an "outdoor sportsman" award. Several of these bottles were broken and posed a danger to anyone trying to pick them out of the snow which hides most trash during the winter. Nevertheless, illegally discarded rubbish accumulates, threatening unsuspecting persons, children, and pets and detracting from the appearance of any area.

It's a tense moment when Felton Perry, Clint Eastwood and Hal Holbrook confront one another in this scene from "Magnum Force," opening Fri., Feb. 22, at the Galaxy Twin theatre. The exciting sequel to "Dirty Harry".

Although Bemidji is the consensus favorite pick by all eight coaches to win its third straight region eight hockey title when the 1974 tournament starts this weekend in Thief River Falls, most coaches—especially coaches of contending teams—are quick to point out the balance of this year's region field.

"I think there's more balance in this year's tournament than in the past," pointed out Thief River Falls head coach Bill McGann, echoing thoughts by Terry Abram at Roseau, Buzz Olson at East Grand Forks, Chuck Grillo at Bemidji and Dick Roberts at Warroad.

"If you want to go with one team, I'd have to say Bemidji's the favoite," said Abram who's team lost a thrilling 5-4 championship game decision to Bemidji last winter. "But anyone of Bemidji, Thief River Falls, Roseau, East Grand Forks and Warroad could win it with a few breaks. Anyone who can put three good games together will be the region eight champion come Wednesday, February 27."

"You have to say Bemidji's the favorite because they are the defending champions and I think a defending champion has to be labeled a favorite until they're dethroned," McGann explained, quickly adding, "But we certainly feel we're capable of winning—anything can happen in a tournament."

Bemidji's the favorite, no doubt, but we're sure optimistic," answered Olson who is in his first year at the East Grand Forks helm. "We really think we have just as good a chance as anyone else at winning the thing," stressed Olson.

"I think Bemidji's the favorite," agreed Roberts, the Warroad mayor-coach. "If we play like we're able to, we'll have a good chance to knock off some of the favorites," said Roberts who avoided labeling his Warriors in a favorite's role.

Tim Hilgert at Hallock, Mike Lundby at Crookston and Mike Hajostek at Moorhead all agreed on Bemidji being the region favorite too, but Hajostek did lean a bit toward Thief River Falls in guessing at an eventual winner.

"We played Bemidji and Thief River Falls back to back during the regular season and we were really impressed with Thief River Falls," said Hajostek who watched his team lose games to Bemidji 6-1 and Thief River Falls 14-2 in successive outings.

"Bemidji has to be the favorite because of their goalie Jeff Wizner and because of Randy Beck—they're both super players," answered Lundby, Crookston's first year head coach. "Bemidji is a solid team, they skate well, play good defense, break out well—they play like I wish we could," mused Lundby who bounced through a 7-9-1 season.

Grillo, who replaced Jim Smalley as Bemidji boss this winter after Smalley resigned following two successive region titles, accepts the favorite's role, but not without caution. "We are the defending champion so we would like to be able to represent ourselves well in the tournament," Grillo stated. "But we have to watch every team we play or we'll be in trouble. Attitude is the biggest factor. If you don't go into a tournament with a right attitude and a full 100 per cent effort there's no way you can win.

1973 Lincoln high school graduate Jeff Bottem totaled 11 goals and 14 assists for 25 points in 22 games for the University of Wisconsin-Superior hockey team.

UWS has a 16-5-1 season record, trailing champion Bemidji State in the ICHA hockey standings.

Dave Herbst, the brilliant freshman center on the Hibbing community college hockey team, continues his season long scoring spree with 40 goals and 29 assists for 69 points in only 18 games.

Ranking two-three-four in the MCCAA scoring charts is a potent Itasca first line of Bob Anderson 27-28 for 55, Dan LeClair 24-25 for 49 and Kevin Singpiel 21-27 for 48. The Itasca threesome has scored 72 goals this winter.

Thif River Falls hosts the 1974 MCCAA state tournament next week, February 28 and March 1.

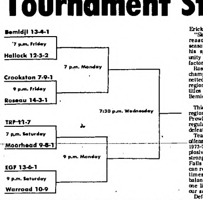
Region Eight Tournament Starts Friday



Led by defending champion Bemidji, eight teams will be battling for the coveted region eight high school hockey title when the first round of the 30th annual region eight tournament starts this weekend in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Bemidji, Thief River Falls, Roseau, Hallock, Crookston, Warroad, East Grand Forks and Moorhead will make up the region field for the 1974 classic. Thief River Falls and Bemidji earned automatic berths in the region tournament on the basis of their first place finishes in the region's north and south half regular season point standings. The other six teams advanced into the region tournament through one round of sub region play.

First round tournament games scheduled Friday will find Bemidji, winner of the last two region crowns and a favorite to make it three in a row this year, going against Hallock at 7 p.m., followed by a Roseau-Crookston match-up at 9 o'clock. Saturday's first round games will send Moorhead against Thief River Falls at 7 while East Grand Forks and Warroad clash at 9 in a game that is expected to highlight the first round action.

The tournament's first round winners will meet in semi-final games Monday at 7 and 9 p.m. with the championship game set for Wednesday at 7:30. All seven region eight games will be played in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

A short summary on each of the eight region teams is as follows:

Bemidji

The Lumberjacks posted an enviable 13-4-1 record through a rugged regular season schedule under the first year coaching of Chuck Grillo who moved up from the assistant ranks to replace Jim Smalley this winter. After a season opening 6-3 loss to Thief River Falls the Lumberjacks went unbeaten until the last weeks of the campaign when the flu slowed Bemidji sextet dropped close games to Iron Range powers Virginia 5-4, Grand Rapids 5-4, and International Falls 4-1.

The smooth working Lumberjacks boast three equally talented forward lines with seniors Bob Johnson, Randy Beck, Andy Kannenberg and Dick Howe, along with sophomores Rod Beck and Dan Dow all within a few points of each other in the Bemidji individual scoring charts.

Veteran Bemidji goalie Jeff Wizner, a senior, rates as the region's top netminder to many observers.

"Our success this year is because we play as a team," pointed out Grillo who coached Bemidji to the state baseball championship last spring. "We don't have any superstars, just a bunch of kids pulling together in a total team effort."

Hallock

Tom Hilgert, in his first year at the Hallock post, guided his team through a solid 12-5-2 season. The losses came at the hands of region eight title contenders Bemidji 4-2, Warroad 7-2, Roseau 4-1 Thief River Falls 6-3 and East Grand Forks 8-5. Most of those losses were earlier in the season, however.

We've been playing pretty good hockey since the middle of January," offered Hilgert. "We're a pretty well balanced team with some good skating ability. Our new arena has helped our program too."

Seniors Paul Nordling and Kevin Reff are the Bears' top offensive threats with senior Brad Soblik rounding out the Hallock first line. Seniors Kerry Costin, also an offensive threat, and Dave Money form the first line Hallock defensive unit. Senior Kim Turner is the Hallock goalie.

Crookston

After losing their first six games of the season the Pirates regrouped to finish the year by winning seven of their last eleven games, including one tie, for rookie head coach Mike Lundby.

Sophomore center Mike Whalen leads the Crookston offensive attack, finishing the regular season as the team's leading scorer with 11 goals and 10 assists for 21 points. Whalen centers the Crookston first line with junior Paul Bakken and senior Randy Heft on the wings. Senior Glen Radi and junior Joel Whalen skate as the Pirates' number one defensive set with junior Jim Froeber, a strong performer, in goal.

"Forechecking and skating are our strong points," pointed out Lundby. "If we stand around we're in trouble—that's what's happened to us a lot this year, although we're getting better."

Roseau

Roseau ranks among the region's favorites after coach Terry Abram's Rams skated through a 14-3-1 season. The Rams lost only to Bemidji 5-3, East Grand Forks 8-7 in overtime and International Falls 2-0 this winter.

Junior centers Mike Burggraf and Bruce Olson spark the Roseau offense, averaging a goal a game each. The Rams skate three well balanced lines with Olson centering Norell Nelson and Chris Skrutvold while Burggraf skates between Mark Harris and Bruce Grafstrom. On defense Abram calls on senior Lew Erickson and junior Murray Odegaard to protect goalie Tim Erickson, a junior.

"Skating is our number one reason for our success this season," explained Abram about his speedy squad. "Our team unity is another big success factor."

Roseau hopes to regain its championship form that once netted the Rams nine straight region championships and ten titles in eleven years before Bemidji's recent power.

TRF

Thief River Falls is also in the region's title picture with the Prowlers finishing 11-7 during the regular season—three of those defeats coming by just one goal.

Team balance and a potent offense earmarked the Prowler 1973-74 success. "Our explosiveness in scoring is our strong point," noted Thief River Falls coach Bill McGann. "We can really turn on the offense at times. We have good team balance, we don't have to rely on one line or one individual to do our scoring for us.

Defenseman Tony Dorn, goalie Joel Folger and forwards Scott Reed and Jeff Tunberg are among some of the Prowler leaders.

Thief River Falls hopes to escape a first round tournament hex that has seen heavily favored Prowler teams upset in first round region games the past two years by East Grand Forks 4-2 in 1972 and by Detroit Lakes 8-7 last year.

Moorhead

Moorhead carries a 9-8-1 season record into the region eight tournament for coach Mike Hajostek.

An all sophomore first line leads the Moorhead offense with Terry Kragero centering Jay Johnson and Mike Nugent. All three first year players totaled over 20 points this winter. Hajostek labels Nugent as the top all-around Moorhead performer.

Randy Flink, a junior, has taken over the Spuds' goaltending duties in recent games and has been playing strong in the nets, according to the Moorhead coach.

"We're weak in our own end," admitted Hajostek, "But offensively we're skating pretty well."

EGF

The high scoring Green Wave earned a 13-6-1 record through sub region competition, averaging a whooping 7.1 goals per game for first year head coach Buzz Olson, a former Thief River Falls athletic standout.

Sophomore Randy Derrick paced the offensive minded Green Wave attack with 16 goals and 34 assists for 50 points, followed by junior Rick Myers with 31 goals and 15 assists for 40 points and sophomore Tim Pesch with 28 goals and 17 assists for 45 points. Two equally balanced Green Wave lines find Derrick centering Myers and Mick Hart while Pesch skates between Manny Hernandez and Bruce Greenwood.

"We've been playing pretty consistant hockey all year and we're optimistic," said Olson.

Warroad

The Warriors skated through "An up and down" 1973-74 season, according to head coach Dick Roberts who watched his team compile a 10-9 record.

Warroad has good scoring potential in its top line of Gordon Olson centering Milt Taylor and Ron Johnson, although Roberts is quick to point out senior Jack Ganyo, moved back to defense during the season, as his best all-around player.

Roberts cited the lack of manpower as the main Warroad stumbling block this winter. "We just don't have enough numbers. The seniors are playing well, but we didn't have our usual crop of underclassmen.

11 TRF Matmen Enter Region 8

A total of 11 Thief River Falls wrestlers will enter the 1974 region eight wrestling tournament at Bagley Saturday, but Prowler head coach Ed Krystosek isn't harboring many region championship thoughts.

Fertile will carry the favorite's role into the all day meet with the Falcons entering eight wrestlers, most of whom received key first place seeds in their respective weight classes. Greenbush could be a title challenger as well with a complete 12 man Greenbush squad advancing into the region meet.

"Fertile has to be rated a favorite with their first seeds," pointed out Krystosek whose team swept the district 31 title last week. Thief River Falls wrestlers meet four of the highly regarded Fertile in their region brackets.

"We've got to have some upsets for us to win," admitted Krystosek who added, "It's just a matter of how we wrestle."

At 98 pounds, Thief River Falls' Lonnie Olson will put his 16-3-1 record on the line against Jeff Zak of East Grand Forks in the region's first round. Olson beat Zak 4-1 in the district championship match. Nestle Grimes of Blackduck is the top seeded 98 pounder with a 20-0-1 record. Dale Bergeron of Oklee, 19-0-1 for the year, is in the same bracket as Olson.

Thief River Falls freshman Dan Hallstrom and his 10-4-1 record will receive a first round region bye before he meets the winner of match involving Chuck Collins of Walker, 15-3, and Todd Basgaard of East Grand Forks in the semi-finals. Don Berg of Walker is the top seeded 105 pounder with a 19-2 record.

Mark Swanson of Thief River Falls, 17-2, will receive a first round bye at 112 before moving into a semi-final match against the winner of a match between Darrell Larson of Fertile, 20-3, and Drew Gauntz of Walker. Wayne Jensen of Park Rapids is the top seeded 112 pounder with a 21-0-1 mark.

At 119 the Prowlers' Barry Newton also receives a first round bye. Newton, 11-7, will meet the winner of a match involving Duane Tougas of Oklee and Tony Newquist of Crookston. Rick Lorenson of Greenbush is the top seeded 119 pounder with an 18-1 record

Thief River Falls' Lyle Swanson, 10-3, will have to face top seeded Jeff Dale of Fertile, 21-1, in his first round match at 126 Terry Brown of Walker, 19-1-1, is another top rated 126 pounder

At 132, Thief River Falls' Joe Kezar, 16-4, receives a first round bye before meeting the winner of a match involving first seeded Don Morvig of Fertile, 22-0-1, and Jim Brokemeier of Crookston.

Thief River Falls will not have a wrestler at 138 where Mark Langved of Fertile is rated number one with a 22-0 record.

Prowler entry Bryan Steiger, 15-3, will receive a first round bye at 145 before meeting the winner of a match between Loren Maustad of Fosston, 16-3-1, and Norm Berge of Cass Lake, 18-4-2. Kirby Shofner of Bemidji is the top seeded 145 pounder with a 16-2 record.

Thief River Falls' Steve Nordhagen will put his 11-9 record against top seeded Kevin Lindberg of Fertile, 20-2, in a first round 155 pound match. Corky Hanson of Crookston is seeded second at 155 with a 20-1 mark.

At 167, Thief River Falls' Steve Sorvig, 12-7, will face Mark Brodin of Fertile, 17-5-1 in a first round round. Gary Kjos of Mahnomen is the top seeded 167 pounder with a 14-1-1 record.

Lee Rolland of Thief River Falls will put his 12-7 record against Gary Hinez of Remer, 18-1, in a first round 180 pound match. Dave Snobl of Bagley is seeded first at 180 with a 17-1 record.

Thief River Falls' heavyweight Dave Panek, 12-7-1, will wrestle top seeded Mark Foldesi of Greenbush, 16-1, in a first round region match.

The first round region matches will start at 11:30 a.m. with semi-finals set to begin at 2 o'clock. Wrestle-backs are scheduled for 3:30, consolation matches at 6:30 and the championship round will get underway at 8 o'clock.

Just the first place region eight wrestler will advance to the state tournament.

PROWLER GUARD Jerry Sandahl had a hard time trying to get off a shot on this driving lay-up attempt in Tuesday's Thief River Falls-Argyle basketball game played in the Lincoln gym. Argyle's Ken Safranski and an unidentified teammate made it hard for Sandahl to shoot on the play. Thief River Falls avoided an upset loss by outlasting the Eagles 62-61.

Prowler JV Cage Team Outlasts Argyle By 67-60

Lincoln high school junior varisty basketball team improved its 1973-74 season record to 10-6 Tuesday with a hard fought 67-60 win over Argyle.

The Prowler Bees led at all quarter stops 13-8, 34-19 and 52-40.

Dave Grothe scored 20 points to lead coach Glen Peters' JV squad while Dick Johnson added 14.

TRF Readies For Regional Swim

Coach John Kopari will enter his Lincoln high school swimming team in the first ever West Central Conference state qualifying regional swim meet at Fergus Falls this weekend.

A total of 19 teams will be taking part in the two day meet with preliminary diving and 500 yard freestyle events scheduled to be held Friday at 7 p.m. All other prelims are planned for Saturday starting at 11 a.m. with the tournament finals set for Saturday night.

The top two individual finishers in each event will qualify for a spot in the state swim meet slated February 28 at the University of Minnesota. Individuals can also make the state meet by meeting pre-set qualifying times even if they finish lower than third in the event.

Hutchinson is a heavy favorite to win the first West Central team title with Brainerd, Willmar and host Fergus Falls expected to battle for the runner-up spot. Kopari feels his Prowlers and St. Cloud Apollo should be able to challenge the Brainerd-Willmar-Fergus Falls trio in the final team standings.

Individually, Kopari has high hopes for a Prowler state entry for the first time in history. The best Prowler state meet bets include Doug Williams in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle; Dave Borning in the 50 freestyle; and Dan Cork in the 200 freestyle and the 100 yard backstroke.

Williams posted the second fastest times amoung region swimmers in both the 50 and 100 during the regular season, swimming the 50 in 23.5 and the 100 in 52.6. Williams has already surpassed the state qualifying time of 23.6 in the 50, but the time must be met or broken in the region meet.

Borning is right behind Williams in the 50 freestyle times, posting the third fastest regional time during the winter with a 23.7 effort.

Cork boasted the fastest regional time in the 200 freestyle during the season with a 1:59.5 clocking to go along with a 1:02 effort in the backstroke—the

Prowlers Struggle Past Argyle 62-61

Underdog Argyle battled down to the final seconds Tuesday before bowing to heavily favored Thief River Falls 62-61 in a wild non-conference basketball game played in the Lincoln high school gym.

The pint-sized Eagles more than made up for their distinct height disadvantage in the game by outhustling the plodding Prowlers throughout the four quarters of ragged action in which a smothering full court press by the quick footed Eagles prompted 29 Thief River Falls turnovers.

The turnovers, a constant nuisance for the Prowlers all year, nearly cost coach Lee Swanson's quint the ball game late in the fourth quarter after Thief River Falls had apparently tucked away a relatively easy win.

A driving lay-up by Duane Dicken, a 5-11 senior who has led the Prowlers with his steady play throughout the season, provided Thief River Falls with an 11 point 60-49 cushion with only 3:11 remaining in a fast paced fourth quarter.

Argyle suddenly erupted for nine straight points, however, to trail only 60-58 with 1:34 left. Gayle Stoltman, a 5-9 junior forward, led the Eagle rally by scoring three fast break lay-ups to go along with a fast break bucket by guard Ken Safranski and a free throw by center Glenn Stoltman who matched his 5-10 height against 6-8 Prowler center Wayne Peterson on even terms all night, outscoring Peterson 14-13.

The unexpected Argyle offensive outburst was a direct result of the Eagles' press as the slow reacting Prowlers turned the ball over three straight times for three uncontested lay-ups in 37 seconds, forcing a pair of hasty Thief River Falls time-outs.

Yet another Thief River Falls turnover, this time with a minute remaining, gave the Eagles an opportunity to tie the game, but the ball changed hands a number of times in the final hectic minute.

Little used Prowler junior Dick Johnson eventually proved to be the game's hero as he hit a short base line jumper with 15 seconds remaining to give Thief River Falls a 62-58 edge.

Glenn Stoltman made his first attempt on a two shot foul situation with only four seconds remaining, but missed his second try and the Prowlers gained control of the ball out of bounds underneath the Argyle basket leading 62-59.

Stoltman's missed free throw turned out to be a costly miss as the never-say-die Eagles promptly stole the inbounds pass with just two seconds left. Thief River Falls players cleared the area underneath the Argyle basket on the inbounds play as Safranski sank an uncontested lay-up with one second remaining for the 62-61 final.

Fans expecting another one-sided Prowler win similar in last week's 76-45 rout of Stephen were quickly shown otherwise at the start of the game as Argyle took an early lead and stayed in front until the Prowlers scored the final eight points of the first quarter to take a 14-11 lead at the break. Dallas Kemmer, Dicken, Peterson and Kemmer again all hit from the field in the Prowler quarter closing scoring spree.

Thief River Falls never trailed again in the ball game, although the Prowlers weren't able to shake free from the scrappy Eagles who never tailed by more than six points in a first half that ended with Thief River Falls sitting on a shakey 29-28 lead.

The Prowlers outscored the Eagles 17-9 in a strong third quarter showing to begin an apparent march to an easy win as Thief River Falls moved out to a pair of 11 point leads before settling for a 46-37 advantage heading into the fourth quarter.

Thief River Falls shot an impressive 50 per cent from the field for the game, making 30 of 59 attempts. Argyle shot only 39 per cent on 24 of 62 tries, but the Eagles made 13 free throws in 21 attempts while the Prowlers made only two out of just seven attempts. Thief River Falls held only 33-35 edge in rebounds over the smaller Eagles. The Argyle victory quest was also hampered by turnovers as the Eagles tossed the ball away 16 times.

Thief River Falls returns to action Friday when the Prowlers play at Warren.

ARGYLE GUARD Mike Adolphson appeared to have an easy lay-up basket on this play in Tuesday night's basketball game played in the Lincoln gym, but the bucket didn't count as Adolphson was called for an offensive foul after bumping into Prowler defender Randy Dallmann (35). Other Prowler players in the picture included Kent Christensen (51) and Duane Dicken (middle). Thief River Falls won the game 62-61.

Northland & Hibbing Meet In Rematch Of Wild 124-119 Game

Northland community college will close out its 1973-74 regular season basketball schedule at home Saturday when the Northmen host Hibbing in a conference game in the Northland gym starting at 2 p.m.

Coach Chet Engelman's talented Northmen carry an impressive 17-4 season record into the regular season finale against the potent Cardinals. Northland has already clinched the Northwest Division pennant and will appear in the MCCAA state tournament to be held at North Hennepin community college in Brooklyn Center February 28, March 1 and 2.

Northland and Hibbing locked up in a memorable high scoring non-conference game just last week when the Northmen outlasted the Cardinals 124-119 in a wild double overtime game played Friday night in Hibbing.

Hibbing owns a 6-14 season record, but the Cardinals were in the thick of the Northeast Division race until just recently when Mesabi and Vermillion asserted themselves and wrapped up the division's state tournament berths. Mesabi is 9-2 in conference play and Vermillion is 8-3. The two division leaders will play this week with Northland meeting the loser in the first round of the state tournament. Mesabi is 16-4 for the year and Vermillion is 11-6. Hibbing holds down third place in the Northeast Division with a 4-6 conference record.

All five Hibbing starters scored in double figures in last week's high scoring affair against Northland with 6-1 sophomore Bob Eggers leading the way with 24 points. Rich Stark, a 6-3 sophomore, scored 22 against the Northmen with 5-8 sophomore Tom Gornick accounting for 20 points. Lou Janezich, a 6-0 freshman off last year's Chisholm high school state tournament team, scored 16 points Friday while the fifth starter, 6-6 sophomore Wade Olson, scored 10 points.

The top Hibbing reserve is freshman Greg Kuznia from Stephen whom Engelman tried hard to recruit last spring. Kuznia, star of two Stephen district championship teams, scored 11 points against the Northmen.

Two Northland sophomores will be closing out their home court careers Saturday for the Northmen, including 6-2 forward Tom Kays from Thief River Falls and 5-11 guard Steve Kerr from East Grand Forks.

Lincoln Frosh Beat Acadia Of Winnipeg Twice

Lincoln high school freshman basketball team posted a pair of wins over the visiting Acadia junior high school freshmen from Winnipeg earlier this week to lift the Prowler frosh record to 8-5 for the year.

Thief River Falls won a Monday night meeting 54-41 and added a Tuesday afternoon 52-40 triumph over the Canadians.

The Lincoln squad led at all four quarter stops Monday, 20-8, 29-15 and 46-26. Four Thief River Falls players hit double figures, including Terry Dyrdahl with 15 points and Brian Peterson, Mark Stenberg and David Poole with 11 each.

Thief River Falls fell behind 11-4 at the first quarter stop Tuesday and still trailed 20-19 at halftime before taking a 37-26 third quarter lead. Dyrdahl poured in 17 points to lead the offense while Peterson added 10.

The Prowler medley relay team of Neil Sjulson, Jeff Carter, Williams and Borning could also be among the region's leaders with their 1:52 clocking during the regular season ranking as the fourth fastest regional time.

The rest of the Thief River Falls region entries will include Brian Phelps and Dan Heieren in the 200 freestyle; Sjulson in the 50 freestyle; Phelps and Carter Green in the 100 yard butterfly; Borning in the 100 freestyle; Mark Storhaug, Wayne Ortloff and Heieren in the 500 freestyle; Carter in the 100 yard breaststroke; and eight potential members of the 400 yard freestyle relay team—Cork, Phelps, Sjulson, Heieren, Storhaug, Ortloff, Scott Oen and Jeff Houfek.

TRF YOUTH HOCKEY

Traveling Teams

Thief River Falls Bantam B team finished a busy weekend with three wins and a tie. Led by Murray Dicken's hat trick and Kurt Klosterman's three assists, the B's posted a 6-1 win over Crookston Friday. On Saturday Roger Roadfelt scored the hat trick and Klosterman picked up five assists to pace the B's over Moorhead 11-5. The Bantam B team defeated Fargo Shanley 8-3 Sunday with goals being scored by Joe Dee, John Froehle, Dicken, Scott Johnson, Tim Hihce and Klosterman. To cap off the weekend schedule the B's played Bemidji to a 3-3 tie in two overtimes with Klosterman picking up two goals and Dicken adding two assists. The Bantam B team, with a 10-6-3 record, will face Bagley Friday at 4:30 and travel to Hallock Saturday.

The Pee-Wee team split their games over the weekend, losing to Red Lake Falls but beating Bemidji 7-6. This week the B's will participate in a tournament at Sprague.

The Squirt B team lost to Fargo Shanley Sunday 7-2. The B's will also be taking part in the Sprague tournament this weekend.

The VFW Bantam A team was beaten by Bemidji 8-6 Saturday before tying Grafton 5-5 Sunday. This week the A's will be playing in the district 15 MAHA tournament. The VFW team will face the winner of a Crookston-East Grand Forks game with the winner then advancing to the sub-state Bantam tournament at Coleraine March 1-2-3.

The Squirt A team lifted their season record to 14-6-2 with a 7-1 win over Moorhead Sunday. Two goals by Jeff Sund and single goals by Murray Jorde, Jim Dillon, Randy Joppru, Steve Olson and Brian Denny led the victory. This weekend the Squirt A team will travel to Hallock Sunday.

The Eagles Pee-Wee A team had an exciting Saturday afternoon in the old arena when the Eagles out-shot Moorhead 49-16, but were baten 8-7 in overtime—marking the first time a Moorhead team has ever beaten a Thief River Falls Pee-Wee team.

The Pee-Wees came back Sunday to defeat Gafton 6-2 with Scott Wiebolt and Wade Hoppe scoring two goals while Scott Langlie and Myles Lund added single markers. The Eagles will travel to Crookston tonight (Wednesday). The Eagles will enter the district 15 MAHA tournament at Crookston Sunday. Thief River Falls will play Bemidji at 3:15, with the winner playing either Crookston or East Grand Forks. The winner of the district 15 tournament will advance to the sub-state Pee-Wee tournament scheduled March 1-2-3 at Grand Rapids.

Favorites All Win In Sub Region 8 Hockey Action

Area post season hockey play-off activity started earlier this week with one round of north and south half sub region games advancing six teams into the first round of the region eight tournament.

Roseau, Warroad and Hallock advanced from the north half event played at Roseau Tuesday while East Grand Forks, Crookston and Moorhead moved through the south half tournament played at Detroit Lakes Monday and Tuesday. Thief River Falls and Bemidji were already seeded into the region tournament.

Scores from Tuesday's north half sub region play found Roseau hammering Red Lake Falls 15-1, Warroad shelled Indus 16-0 and Hallock stopped Baudette 6-3. Monday night's south half action found Moorhead beating Alexandria 5-2 and Detroit Lakes knocking off Fergus Falls 5-1. Tuesday night's south play saw East Grand Forks outlast Detroit Lakes 9-6 and Crookston trip Brainerd 6-5 in overtime.

Roseau-RLF

Mike Burggraf scored four goals to lead a bevy of eight different Roseau marksmen in the Ram's 15-1 rout of Red Lake Falls.

Bruce Olson, Mark Harris, Chris Skrutvold and Jeff Baumgartner each scored two goals for the Rams while Norell Nelson, Deland Broten and Lew Erickson added single markers as Roseau posted period leads of 5-0 and 7-1.

Roseau outshot the Eagles 67-14 in the game.

Warroad-Indus

Gordon Olson scored four goals for Warroad to pace the Warriors to a one-sided 16-0 romp over Indus.

Bob Marvin also had the hat trick for the Warriors while Ron Johnson, Jack Ganyo and Jack Storey each scored twice. Single goals were added by Mitch Knutson, Jim O'Donnell and Bob Fish as Warroad skated to period leads of 4-0 and 13-0.

The Warriors outshot Indus 42-12.

Hallock-Baudette

Brad Sobolik collected the three goal hat trick to lead Hallock past stubborn Baudette 6-3. Single Hallock goals were scored by Dave Money, Kerry Costin and John Bergh.

Hallock outshot Baudette 54-12, but led only 1-0 after one period and 3-1 after two sessions.

EGF-DL

East Grand Forks exploded for six third period goals to subdue upset minded Detroit Lakes 9-6. Randy Derrick, Manny Hernandez and Mark Gust each scored twice for the Green Wave while Mick Hart, Rick Myers and Mark Hangsleben added single goals.

East Grand Forks led 3-1 at the first period break, but the Lakers scored four unanswered second period goals to go in front 5-3 heading into the decisive third period.

Mike Neitzke led the Lakers with three goals while Joe Chrastil and John Griffin each scored once.

East Grand Forks outshot Detroit Lakes 38-27.

Crookston-Brainerd

Upstart Brainerd forced Crookston into overtime before falling 6-5 on Glen Radi's goal 3:38 into the extra session.

Rich Stainbrook and Paul Bakken each scored twice for the Pirates while Mike Whalen and Radi added single goals. Jeff Wiltse collected the hat trick for the Warriors with Chuck Widmark and Tony Jelacie scoring single goals.

Brainerd jumped out to a 2-0 lead, but Crookston cut the margin to 2-1 at the first period break and the Pirates tacked on three second period goals to go in front 4-2. Brainerd scored the first three goals of the third period to lead 5-4 before Stainbrook sent the game into overtime by scoring with just 53 seconds left in regulation time.

Moorhead-Alexandria

Five different players scored for Moorhead in the Spuds' 5-2 win over Alexandria with Jay Johnson, Terry Kragero, Bob Kalso, Rob Torsin and Don Setter all scoring.

Moorhead led 2-0 and 3-1 at the period breaks although Alexandria outshot the Spuds 33-27.

DL-FF

Griffin scored twice to lead Detroit Lakes over Fergus Falls 4-2 in a play-off game between the bottom two teams in the regular season south standings. Neitzke and Mike Evans added single Laker goals.

Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls skated to a 1-1 first period tie before the Lakers moved in front 3-1 after two periods. Detroit Lakes outshot the Otters 34-10.

Northland Icers Meet Voyageurs; Seek 4th Place

Northland community college will close out its 1973-74 regular season MCCAA hockey conference schedule this week when the Northmen travel to International Falls for a two game weekend series against Rainy River.

The Northmen and Voyageurs will meet at 7:30 p.m. both Friday and Saturday in the Bronco Arena.

Northland currently carries a 9-11 season record and an 8-8 conference mark. The Northmen swept a two game home series from Rainy River earlier this season 4-1 and 7-2. Another Northland sweep over the last place Voyageurs would assure the Northmen of a fourth place finish in the final rugged MCCAA conference standings.

Northland will host the 1974 MCCAA state hockey tournament next week in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Itasca of Grand Rapids, Mesabi of Virginia, Hibbing and Northland will make up the state tournament field. First round games will be played Thurs., Feb. 28 with the consolation and championship games scheduled Fri., March 1.

Advance sale tickets to the state tournament are now available from members of the Thief River Falls Lions Club and from the First Northwestern National Bank and the Northern State Bank.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR HUSBAND AND FATHER
ERVIN DAHLE
who passed away 19 years ago
February 24

Of you my dear husband the sweet memories linger on.
They've given me courage and strength even though you are gone.
When I am sad and lonely, I do not feel defeat,
For I know that beyond the sunset
once again we will meet.
Sadly missed by wife, Alice Dahle

Oh so many years have passed since you were laid to rest.
And truly dear Dad, you were one of the best.
How our hearts ache with longing
and I'm sure nobody knows,
How we treasure our memories
but somehow it shows.
For we have forged forward, in Gods love and wisdom we've grown,
We've given you thirteen grand children and to them will never be known,
The joy of seeing you smile or
caressing your face,
But they know as we know that you're in God's loving grace.
Sadly missed by son and daughters

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR HUSBAND AND FATHER
ERVIN DAHLE
who passed away 19 years ago February 24

Of you my dear husband the sweet memories linger on.
They've given me courage and strength even though you are gone.
When I am sad and lonely, I do not feel defeat,
For I know that beyond the sunset once again we will meet.
Sadly missed by wife, Alice Dahle

Oh so many years have passed since you were laid to rest.
And truly dear Dad, you were one of the best.
How our hearts ache with longing and I'm sure nobody knows,
How we treasure our memories but somehow it shows.
For we have forged forward, in God's love and wisdom we've grown,
We've given you thirteen grand children and to them will never be known,
The joy of seeing you smile or caressing your face,
But they know as we know that you're in God's loving grace.

Sadly missed by son and daughters
Lyle Dahle
Mrs. Don (Joyce) Butler
Mrs. Robert (Jane) Anderson
Mrs. Wayne (Barbara) Halvorson

Election Reform To Be Major Issue To Come

Question of "election reform" promises to be a major issue in the months ahead, with the possibility that new laws governing financing of political campaigns may be effective in time for the 1974 elections, says U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

"Out of the Watergate mess have come insistent demands for the mandatory use of tax revenues doled out to political candidates to finance federal election campaigns," states Arch N. Booth, executive vice president. "Ostensibly, evils and abuses of private campaign funding would end."

This drastic plan is traveling under the guise of "election reform," he said.

"Thanks to U.S. Sen. James B. Allen of Alabama and his recent filibuster, final action on such Treasury raids was put off until the current session of Congress. Americans now will have a choice between such new schemes and genuine reform," Booth added.

In the forefront of efforts to strengthen present laws in order to eliminate abuses such as revealed by Watergate is the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. After careful study of numerous proposals, it favors these positive election reform actions:

(1) Limitations on private contributions to individual candidates, with identification of contributors. (It believes $3,000 would be a 'reasonable' limitation.)

(2) Limitations on expenditures by candidates.

(3) Reasonable tax deductions and credits for contributions, in order to encourage smaller contributors.

(4) Use of $1 and $2 contributions under the tax checkoff laws, because it is voluntary.

(5) Establishment of an independent agency to enforce the new law.

(6) Requirement that contributions in excess of $50 be by check.

(7) Strict identification of all contributors of $100 or more.

In opposing mandatory or compulsory public financing of political campaigns the business federation no doubt will be called "obstructionist" by some critics.

On the other hand, true reformers will recognize a genuine effort to eliminate abuses and weaknesses in the present law, rather than an attempt to exploit Watergate for political cash.

Improvement Clinics For Drivers Grow

Driver improvement clinics continued to grow in Minnesota during 1973 at a substantial rate, according to the Minnesota department of public safety, which administers the state law under which they operate.

Driver improvement clinic works with drivers involved in accidents and violations in a program to improve their driving habits and attitudes. During the past two years a specialized type of clinic has developed which deals with drivers convicted of driving while intoxicated. Enrollment in both types of clinics comes largely from referrals by the courts, but the clinics are open to anybody willing to attend.

During 1973 the "DWI clincs" grew from 12 to 23. The regular driver improvement clinics now number 37. In addition, there are five clinics for juvenile offenders in Hennepin county which meet state standards.

The regular clinics serve from 3,000 to 4,000 enrollees a year. Attendance estimates for the "DWI clinics" are not available at this time.

Last year, 13,918 Minnesota drivers lost their licenses upon conviction of driving while intoxicated or for refusing to submit to alcohol breath tests under the Minnesota implied consent law. This represents 90 per cent of all license revocations for 1973. Total revocations were up 2,303 from 1972, continuing a trend of several years and amounting to a 75 per cent increase in the past 10 years. A part of this increase has been ascribed to more stringent laws and better enforcement, including pre-arrest testing and more reliable test instruments.

Most of the DWI clinics, with different administrators and locations. A number of them are attached to colleges, health centers, alcohol treatment, family welfare centers, and the like.

Social Security Number Wanted On Tax Forms

R. C. Voskuil, district director of internal revenue for Minnesota, said recently that many problems in identifying correspondence and checks could be avoided if taxpayers wrote their social security number on each item sent to the IRS.

"Every year, even every day, IRS receives requests for informtion from taxpayers without any identification except a name," he said. "If writers include their social security numbers there is no problem in properly identifying each taxpayer. It is also important to clearly explain when sending in a remittance what type of tax is being paid.

Toll-free telephone numbers are listed on page 2 of the instructions with the 1040 tax package and page 7 of the 1040A tax package. Local numbess are also lited in some instances.

"This service allows taxpayers anywhere in the state the opportunity of obtaining tax information without long distance charges," the director said.

Machines Aid In License Testing Of New Drivers

Automated testing of driver license applicants in the metropolitan area is speeding up the process of qualifying applicants on knowledge of laws, signs and rules of the road.

Driver license office of the department of public safety has installed machines in the three metropolitan area test stations and at 1246 University avenue where written tests have previously been given. At each station, 10-unit testing machines were put in use last week on which the license applicants are given 40 problems. They get their scores immediately upon completion of the tests.

Known as "ITEM" (for Individual Testing and Examining Machine) the system employes ordinary projection slides in carousels, which project a series of problems, each accompanied by four possible answers. The applicant presses one of four buttons to indicate his answer, and the machine then flashes the correct answer so that the applicant knows at once whether he was right or wrong. The answer is also recorded on tape on a central console for the information of the examiner.

The system is now in use in a number of states, and the driver license office has taken advantage of their experience. The office is now in the process of evaluating the test questions and revising them for greater effectiveness.

During this shaking out process, applicants who fail the machine test are given the opportunity to take the regular written test similar to those used in all non-metropolitan examining stations. This option will be dropped when the machine tests meet standards set by the driver license office.

A license applicant can take as long as he wants to answer each question. A question remains on the screen until he presses the answer button. The test can be completed in about 10 minutes.

Old-timers used to rely on this mill. This mill used to depend on the right wind.

Despite man's most valiant efforts the wheel was frequently at a standstill. What then? Waiting, waiting, waiting! What patience they must have learned—only faith sustained them. The wind would blow again.

The patient life also requires a foundation of faith. It can come early or late, slowly or fast.

If you lack the necessary faith to fulfill your life's needs, turn to the Church. The wind will blow again.

Pro-Life Group Backs Counties In Welfare Suit

Minnesota citizens concerned for life (MCCL) recently expressed support for two county welfare boards which are being sued by the Minnesota civil liberties union (MCLU) for refusing to pay for elective abortions with welfare funds.

Marjory Mecklenburg, MCCL president, said, "We find it regrettable that the MCLU would bring suit to force the citizens of Carver and Anoka counties to pay for elective abortions when it is clearly their choice not to do so."

Mrs. Mecklenburg said the action of welfare boards is within regulations put forth by the department of health, education and welfare (HEW). She quoted a November 5 communication from Dr. Louis Hellman, HEW assistant secretary of population affairs, which said, "It would not appear to be the department's policy to mandate state payment for elective abortion."

"In spite of this," Mrs. Mecklenburg said, "the Minnesota state department of public welfare, with the concurrence of the MCLU, has chosen to mandate county payment for elective abortion even though the majority of Minnesotans oppose abortion."

She added that the Metropolitan inter-county council and the Association of Minnesota counties unanimously passed resolutions requesting that the Minnesota state department of public welfare hold public hearings on its abortion policies. "So far," Mrs. Mecklenburg said, "the department has chosen to ignore these requests."

She expressed hope that the court action results in a decision upholding the rights of citizens to determine how welfare monies are to be spent. However, Mrs. Mecklenberg emphasized that the issue in the dispute is not money but rather the purpose for which the money is spent.

She added that MCCL encourages county welfare boards to adopt positive programs to assist women with problem pregnancies. "We support services and programs that foster respect for the life of both the mother and the unborn child. "We oppose any actions taken by public agencies or private organizations that facilitate the degrading and dehumanizing practice of elective abortion."

Strandquist . . .

Gerry Stennes, Strandquist
597-9448

Winners of the February 13 pool tournament at the Daigre Tavern in Strandquist were Norland Windahl first, Dennis Walz second, and Wayne Stromgren third.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stennes, Todd, Tami, and Tricia of St. Paul were weekend guests at the Gilman Stennes home.

The Senior Citizens met at the Legion hall on Thursday, Feb. 14, but many were absent. Some were sick, some thought it was too cold to venture out, but the ones there had a grand time. They must have eaten the same food this day, because they were a riot. They played games as it was Valentine's Day, the day for celebration. There were not enough men for card games, so they joined the women. They all won many prizes. Homemade valentines were exchannged and door prizes were given. Mrs. Polly Stallock won the door prize for women, and Mr. A. Stallock won the men's prize. Ingvald Rokke was the only one who stopped in for a chat and he donated $1 to the Center. Thanks much, Ingvald. Lunch hour was hilarious—too much coffee. Irne Larson was the hostess. If you folks want a real good laugh, come to Strandquist to the Legion hall. There's always time for a lively splash, and they always manage to have a ball. Mabel Borsvold, reporter.

Kelly and Richard Johnson of Thief River Falls were weekend guests at the Joe Adlis home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Borsvold visited at the Clarence Carlson home in Warren on Saturday.

Sherri Daigre spent the weekend at the Oscar Johnson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wikstrom of Thief River Falls and Hattie and Beulah Wikstrom were visitors at the William Wikstrom home last Sunday.

Kevin Nelson is a patient in the Karlstad hospital after an appendectomy. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter were visitors at the Reuben Bennitt home in Holt last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Larson of Newfolden and Eunice Lofstrom were visitors at the Irvin Larson home on Thursday to help Dolly celebrate her birthday.

Visitors at the Herman Nelson home last week were Mr. and Mrs. Gayhard Nelson, Brenda, Carol, Dean, Donald, and Myron, Merlyn Nelson, Pam, Marlin, David, and Bradley, Irene Carlson, and Lori Kline.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Carlson of Langdon, North Dakota, were weekend guests at the Eddie Nelson home.

Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Larson, who is recovering from surgery.

Mrs. Irvin Larson received belated birthday wishes on Saturday from Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gusa of Middle River, Mrs. Lloyd Larson and Mr. and Mrs. John Ness of Newfolden, Martha Gusa of Duluth, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sandberg of Holt, and Ella Thun.

Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter visited at the Leo Renstrom home on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Koland were Sunday evening visitors at the Elsie and Ivan Kimbrough home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Germundson of Karlstad were supper guests at the Elsie and Ivan Kimbrough home on Saturday evening.

The American Legion auxiliary held their meeting at the Legion hall on Feb. 7 with ten members present. The pledge to the flag was given, secretary's and treasurer's reports were read, motion was made by Mildred Nelson and seconded by Toni Kleinwachter to send $2. to the Veteran's Valentine party. We also decided to send a valentine to the forgotten man in St. Cloud. We planned a birthday party for the Legionnaires to be held on March 15 at the Legion hall. We will be playing games and serving lunch with birthday cake. We would like to welcome all Legionnaires. We got a thank you note from the Fergus Falls state hospital for the gift of money sent for the Christmas party. We also received a thank you note from the Fort Snelling chapel memorial window fund for $5 sent to them. We are very happy to have three new members, Dorothy Grandstrand, Bertha Palm, and Delores Donaldson. Welcome to the auxiliary. A very nice lunch was served by Ione Nelson. Secretary, Jean Linstrom.

River Valley . .

Mrs. Orlando Chervestad
Oklee, Minn.

Last Monday evening social callers at the John Cullen home were Mrs. Dennis Moen, Mrs. Glen Hofstad, Mrs. Eddie Stucy, Mrs. Orlando and Juell Chervestad and Mrs. McLain and friend from Grygla.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rustan were Saturday evening visitors at the Harold Anderson home of Goodridge.

Herbert Lundeen and Otelia Mandt visited at the Gilbert Burstad home in Thief River Falls Friday.

Mrs. Josie Rustan, Mrs. Elmer Rustan helped Grandma Ida Mostrom celebrate her birthday Thursday in Thief River Falls.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Stolaas were social callers at the Verner Arveson home.

Mrs. Julian and Birdie Gunderson entertained at a Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Flatland and Mrs. Vantassel of Oklee. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Herbert Lundeen and Harriet came over to visit. Birdie and Shirley were luncheon guests at the Floyd Johnson home Friday afternoon.

Visitors at the Rev. Behren home in Oklee Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Juell Chervestad, Mrs. Darrow Lundeen, Mrs. Atchinson, Mrs. Orlando Chervestad.

Julian Gunderson was a social caller at Orlando and Sena Chervestad homes.

BROOKS . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Don Gagner and family were entertained Sunday at a dinner party at the Leonard Gagner home in Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Morinville, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wychoff, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Rodahl and Mrs. Roy Ost of Detroit Lakes spent Sunday in Thief River Falls where they helped their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Med Mercil celebrate her 75th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bule visited Thursday at the Dwight Robidoux home.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wychoff were Saturday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mercil and Guy in Grand Forks.

Debbie Gagner of Fargo spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gagner.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fournier visited Sunday with Mrs. Clarence Daily at St. Johns hospital and later were supper guests at the Harvey Grandbois home.

Mrs. Paul Wilkens spent Tuesday afternoon at the Gust Torgrimson home.

You're Never Too Old To Hear Better

Chicago, Ill.–A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

This is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so write for yours now. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 9300, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Ill., 60646.

T.W.C.M.I.H.!

Thief River Falls Mrs. Jaycees have selected "Togther, We Can Make It Happen" as the theme for the 13th annual charity ball to be held Saturday, March 9, at the Thief River golf club. It is an appropriate theme, because community involvement is necessary for a successful event.

In the early years of the day activity program in Thief River Falls, funds raised by the Mrs. Jaycees charity ball were about the only financial support received. Retarded people in the area had a very limited program available to them and it was charity ball funds which made even that limited program possible.

Things have changed immeasurably in the past decade as greater recognition has been given to the retarded on a state and national basis as well as locally. The day activity center added staff, expanded its program, acquired a building and improved its services. Number of clients served increased as did the age level of retarded who were able to receive assistance at the center.

More funding became available through various sources as people who saw the need for services for the retarded were successful in obtaining money from governmental and other sources.

Through the evolutionary process the Mrs. Jaycees maintained their effort and support through annual charity ball contributions. Their success continued to grow and their contributions became larger, although less in relation to the total amount needed each year. Often the chapter dipped into its own limited treasury to supplement the actual charity ball receipts.

Now it is time for another charity ball and the day activity center will again benefit from the work of the Mrs. Jaycees and the generosity of the community. Life will be made happier for a number of retarded people whose life revolves around the activity center program. Whether you wish to attend or not, buy a ticket or two or three if you can. The retarded deserve a break.

"Together, We Can Make It Happen!"

Against Impeachment

Speaker of the House John McCormack gave his views on impeachment possibilities in an interview on a Boston television station in January. Here is what he had to say:

"...I'm a very strong Democrat...I don't see any evidence which justifies impeachment as yet...we're talking about the President of the Unied States; we're not talking about somebody going through a red light or spitting on the sidewalk—we're talking about the President and the office of the President of the Unied States. I wish there was a Democrat there, but there's not—he's my President and we're talking about him...

If the President is impeached, that means intense division among the people of our country...Impeachment of the President would have a serious blow upon the national interests of the United States and that's my country—our country...We're not Democrats or Republicans when we consider the national interests of our country...The national interest is paramount...

These are my views as an American: I see no evidence justifying impeachment yet. And if I was Speaker, even if I felt there was, I'd have to pass upon the additional question—do I think impeachment would help or hurt my country? I'd have that additional question to pass upon. So far as the President resigning...All I can say is that I hope he will not."

Writing On The Wall

Northwest Minnesota organizations and institutions are beginning to read the handwriting on the wall as it relates to their effectiveness and perhaps even their survival. United effort and cooperation are keys to any hope for future consideration by state governing bodies which are becoming increasingly centralized in the metropolitan area.

A few weeks ago a meeting was held in Thief River Falls to investigate the possibilities for cooperation among post high school education facilities in northwestern Minnesota. Heads of these vocational-technical institutes, colleges and University branch talked about their futility in going it alone and agreed to meet together on common ground for the common good.

It would be great if the various schools can put aside their established provincialism and petty jealousies and get down to the business of working together for the good of our area of the state. There is nothing wrong with healthy competition, but it must be positive in nature. If attracting students is the goal, it should be because of what a school has to offer the prospective student—not what another school can be prevented from offering.

There will be a radical change in attitude required of the presidents, directors and provosts of the four vocational-technical institutes and three colleges and one university branch involved. They will have to change their perspective from looking inward to one of tolerating and even helping the schools down the road. The change may be distasteful at first, but tasty medicine is not always the best cure.

Administrators must agree, however, that proper consideration for the needs of all students dictates the necessity of total cooperation. Too often the student becomes lost in the political jockeying, maneuvering and manipulation which has become a way of life in today's higher education field. Together with the needs of the students the educational institutions must consider the needs of this area.

In many cases cooperation will mean sacrifices in individual program offerings at one school or another. Unless administrators can agree to look cooperatively at the big picture in light of student and area need and potential state support, such sacrifices may seem hollow or one-sided. Concession must be a two-way street.

Future meetings of these educational administrators will reveal if they can redirect their perspective, summon up some humility and roll up their sleeves to achieve a common purpose. Good men always respond to a challenge. We believe that good men are being challenged to set an example for the rest of rural Minnesoa. Lip service is not enough; actions speak louder than words.

The handwriting is on the wall and reading class is now in session.

Right And Wrong

Protest by independent truckers over price and availability of fuel supplies carries with it vibrations of both right and wrong.

Truckers are right in that governmental regulations strangle their best efforts to make a profit and that they have been victimized by price gouging to at least some degree. They are also right in the belief that parking their trucks will halt the flow of commerce in this nation to a large degree.

Truckers are wrong, however, in resorting to violence or threats of violence against anyone for any reason. Encouraging participation in the stoppage is one thing; causing property damage and-or personal injury is quite another. Concerned businessmen do not have to become thugs to make their message heard.

There will be an eventual settlement and another of the innumerable "crises" which fill the news today will have passed. Trucks will roll and goods will be delivered and Charlie Citizen will smile and the television cameras will focus on a new "crisis" in something else.

Between now and then, however, there will be more bitter words and probably some shortages and most likely some violence. The urge to knock heads sometimes grows out of frustration to an intolerable degree and flare-ups will occur. Generally, however, truckers have conducted themselves fairly well in view of what is at stake for them.

Americans would do well to look at the trucker strike as an example of what happens when too much dependence is placed in one area. Fifteen years ago the truck strike would not have had the influence it has now, and 25 years ago the stoppage would have had to be nearly total to have much impact.

But we have allowed rail service to deteriorate and placed our freight handling in the hands of more convenient trucks—convenient until they cease to operate. Indeed, rail strikes in the past probably helped the truckers in their bid for the nation's freight business.

Trucks will be a necessary part of commerce in the United States for a good many years. They have served the nation well as a mover of goods, although operating on a system of highways provided for them largely at taxpayer expense. The sooner the problem is resolved, the better for America.

How Many Servants?

By the year 2000 there may be as many public servants in the United States as there are masters, according to a trend projection from the United States Chamber of Commerce. There term "public servant" is used as an euphemism for public employee in the projection.

In 1900 the government employed fewer than one million persons or approximately one person for every 26 employed in the private sector.

By 1972 the situation had changed drastically. Government employment has grown about five times as fast as private employment. There were only 5.1 persons on the average employed privately for every civilian government employee.

If this trend continues, the U.S. Chamber projects, for every worker in the private sector by the end of this century there will be one "public servant".

THE VOICE OF BUSINESS

by Arch N. Booth

Executive Vice President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Congress is about to get a big pay raise, by not voting not to get one. If that confuses you, it's supposed to.

Congressmen are traditionally reluctant to vote themselves pay increases, because such votes tend to be resented by constituents who cannot do the same for themselves. So the ingenious legislators thought of a way to avoid this unpleasant responsibility, yet still get the raises: They established a federal commission, in 1967, to recommend salary increases.

This commission makes its recommendations once every four years, and whatever increases it recommends go into effect automatically unless Congress votes against the increase within 30 days.

In other words, as things now stand a congressman does not have to go on record as voting for his own pay raise. He can simply sit on his hands and let it happen.

Rumor has it that the commission is about to recommend a 7.5 per cent pay raise for each of the next three years. That would take the pay of a senator or representative from $42,500 now to $52,726 by 1976.

I don't want to say whether $52,726 is "too much" or "not enough," to pay a member of Congress. I don't know. It's probably not enough for the good ones and too much for the bad ones.

What's Wrong

But three aspects of this process do bother me:

(1) Under the federal wage-price control regulations—duly authorized by Congress—raises are not supposed to exceed 5.5 per cent a year. The government has often bent that standard for unions which claimed they were entitled to more to "catch up" for earlier years in which they got no raise at all. And Congress hasn't had a raise since 1969. But should Congress set an example of bending the rules to it's own benefit?

(2) If the members of Congress believe they have a good case for a raise, they should have the guts to vote for it and then justify their vote to their constituents. This business of hiding behind a federal commission is sheer cowardice. (To their credit, some congressmen feel this way, too, and have been speaking out against the "automatic" pay raise procedure. Better find out which side your congressmen are on before criticizing them for something they may be trying to rectify.)

(3) While it's true Congress hasn't had a raise since 1969, the members have kept up with inflation over the years. Since, 1954, the cost of living has increased a little over 69 per cent. During the same period, congressional pay has gone up 340 per cent, from $12,500 to $42,500.

If we eliminate the effect of a big raise which boosted pay from $12,500 in 1954 to $21,162 in 1955, Congress still comes out way ahead. From $21,162 to $42,500 is a doubling, or a 100 per cent increase, over the years when the cost of living increased about 69 per cent.

Controlling Inflation

Since Congress often creates—or exacerbates—the conditions that cause inflation, it is disturbing to learn that the members are insulating themselves from the suffering that inflation causes others.

Perhaps what's needed is another "automatic" pay-control mechanism to insure that our representatives will be as sensitive to the ravages of inflation as are their constituents.

A short Constitutional amendment should do it:

"The Congress shall not receive an increase in pay or other remuneration in any year in which the consumer price index rises by more than three per cent."

Something like that would give us all an incentive to control the federal budget.

Truck Strike Hurts Milk And Egg Industry

Agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald expressed hope that today's tentative settlement of the nation-wide truck strike can be swiftly confirmed in order to ease a developing crisis in Minnesota's food industry that can have grim consequences for farmers and consumers.

"Within a matter of days at the most Minnesota farmers may be forced to dump their milk and eggs on the ground...some $2.5-million worth each and every day.

"Consumers face the prospect of real shortages of some perishable products, and skyrocketing prices on what is available," commissioner Wefald warned.

He said a survey of major cooperative and independent milk and egg handlers in Minnesota revealed that the transportation shutdown has jammed processing and storage facilities with product backlog.

The situation appears most critical for the egg industry. At least one major handler had to discontinue packaging of shell eggs last Wednesday, because available storage was filled. Also, required open dating diminishes the market acceptance each day the blockade continues. All of that cooperative's egg receipts are being processed into liquid frozen eggs, for use primarily by bakers and food processors rather than individual consumers.

Milk handlers said they will be forced to discontinue farm milk pickup in two or three days. This means when the farmer's storage capacity is reached, he has to begin dumping either the day old or the fresh milk.

"Consumers should be aware of the farmers' problem. Hens lay eggs and cows give milk every day. There is no shutoff switch, other than killing the chicken or the cow," commissioner Wefald explained.

He added that the disruption of transportation is not limited in negative impact to egg and milk producers alone. Turkey, chicken, beef, pork and lamb producers—meat farmers—are also experiencing extreme problems in maintaining feed supplies and in marketing poultry and livestock ready for slaughter. Packers also have curtailed meat processing because of inability to ship the normal volume of products.

Commissioner Wefald said that the food distribution bottleneck is only the most immediate problem, for the food industry and consumers.

"Positive federal action is equally urgent to solve the growing list of agricultural input shortages that can sharply cut future food production, consumer supplies, and again skyrocket consumer grocery costs.

"At this point in time the commendable intentions of Minnesota farmers to increase food crop production this year by more than one million acres is only wishful thinking.

"The fuel shortage problem hasn't even been solved yet, although federal officials have publicly announced that agriculture has been granted priority for 100 per cent of the fuel needs. We've heard the words, but we have not seen the allocation machinery in practical operation. The Minnesota Department of Agriculture is still getting almost daily complaints from farmers who desperately need gasoline and diesel fuel.

"In addition to the fuel problem, our farmers are looking at an estimated 20 per cent or greater shortage of fertilizer essential for field crops, an estimated 15 to 20 per cent shortage of phosphorus—the essential mineral in livestock and poultry feed rations for bone building, milk, egg and meat production.

"Nearly as serious are shortages of baling wire and twine, repair and replacement parts for farm implements, and paper and plastic packaging materials for food products. Right now our dairy processors, feed and fertilizer industries are experiencing serious shortages of the bags and containers for their products."

Commissioner Wefald said the list of shortages is "by no means complete. Every day seems to bring attention to a new problem directly related to food production and distribution." The shutdown of the trucking industry is increasing the severity of these shortages."

Pack a Lunch With Nutritious Apricot Breads

Day in, day out, packing lunches can become dull and routine. Spice up those lunches with some nutritious apricot breads.

Make them quickly and easily from a can of apricot halves. With the swirl of the electric blender, turn the canned apricots into a smooth purée, then add to the basic nut bread batter given below. Pour into a standard loaf pan or several one-pound fruit cans and bake.

Before tucking the bread into lunches, slice and make into sandwiches. Fill with different spreads, like a lemon-flavored cream cheese, orange marmalade or cinnamon-butter.

Such nutritious apricot breads add a flavorful, delicious and healthy surprise to any lunch bag.

LUNCH TOTER'S APRICOT BREAD

(Makes one 9-inch loaf*)

1 can (17 ounces) apricot halves
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped walnuts
⅔ cup sugar
⅓ cup vegetable shortening
2 eggs
3 tablespoons orange juice

Drain apricots, reserving syrup. Purée apricots in electric blender or force through food mill. Add enough apricot syrup to purée to measure 1 cup. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, and salt; mix in nuts. Cream together sugar and shortening in bowl; beat in eggs. Stir in orange juice and apricot purée. Add flour-nut mixture and mix well. Pour batter into greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan or three greased and floured 16-ounce (or 17-ounce) apricot cans. Bake in 350° oven 40 to 45 minutes or until bread tests done. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan and cool on rack.

*Yields: One 9-inch loaf or three 5 x 2½-inch cylinder breads.

Legislative Bill To Allow Council Election In TRF

Mayor Bob Carlson announced Friday that Representative Andrew Skaar was introducing a bill in the state legislature for this city. If passed Thief River Falls would be allowed to hold an election to fill the council vacancies created by the deaths of Art Rambeck and Bill Frolland. Present statutes place this responsibility on the council which normally fills such vacancies by appointment.

Until about six years ago, councilmen were elected to two year terms. However, Rambeck and Frolland were re-elected last fall and had just started serving four year terms. As indicated by Mayor Carlson and several councilmen last week, four years may be a long time for residents to be represented by people who were appointed by the council rather than elected by the people they were to represent.

There are already two members of the council who were appointed to their positions. Milton Reierson is filling the Fifth Ward seat vacated by Gerald Wigness who resigned to accept the position of city clerk. Roger Worth was recently appointed to represent the First Ward following the resignation of Robert Carlson who had been elected mayor of this city. Both have two years remaining on their appointments.

Farm-Merchant Mixer Slated For March 18th

Annual farmer-merchant mixer sponsored by the agribusiness committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be held on Monday, March 18, at the American Legion club rooms, according to Vernon Nelson, committee chairman.

Area farmers will be the guests of Thief River Falls business and professional people at the mixer which has become a popular annual event with both city and farm businessmen.

KING AND QUEEN of Northland community college's "snow daze" were crowned Thursday evening. They are Deb Penning and Steve Thorstad. However, their team, the "skunk-jumpers" didn't fare as well in the week's competition, finishing in a tie for sixth place.

Precinct Caucus Night Tuesday

Precinct caucuses for Republican and Democrat Farmer-Labor parties will be held Tuesday in Pennington county. Both parties have been encouraging turn-out of party members and interested citizens for the caucus-level business sessions because they are at the roots of political action.

DFL caucus will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Thief River Falls city auditorium while the Republican caucuses are set at 4 p.m. at Goodridge school and 8 p.m. at the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

In addition to the adoption of resolutions and election of delegates to the county conventions of each party, the caucuses will include presentation of information and transaction of other party business.

While the DFL will have all precincts at its caucus in the city auditorium, the GOP has divided the county for its sessions. Meeting in Goodridge will be Clover Leaf, Goodridge, Reiner, Kratka, Highlanding, Star, Mayfield, Deer Park and Hickory townships and the village of Goodridge. Meeting in Thief River Falls will be Sanders, Bray, Polk Centre, Black River, River Falls, Wyandotte, Numedal, Norden, North, Silverton, Smiley and Rocksbury townships, village of St. Hilaire and all wards of Thief River Falls.

Deadline Noted To Buy Chamber Banquet Tickets

Reminder has once again been issued by the Chamber of Commerce office of reservations deadline for the annual banquet to be held Tuesday, March 5, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. Deadline for purchasing tickets is Tuesday, February 26.

Merle Smith, executive vice president of the organization, notes that there will be no ticket sales at the door because the dinner will be catered and an exact number of reservatons must be known in advance. The meeting is open to Chamber of Commerce members, their wives or husbands and invited guests.

Members who have not returned their reservation form received in the mail may call 681-3720 and indicate the number of persons who will be attending the annual banquet.

Goodridge Lions To Sponsor Boy Scout Program

Goodridge will soon have its first Boy Scout troop and Cub Scout pack, according to Merlin Drangstveit, president of the Goodridge Lions club which will sponsor the organization.

The decision to undertake this project was reached Tuesday at a meeting of the club's executive board. Volunteers will be needed to serve as adult leaders. This and other details will be discussed at a later meeting.

Anyone interested in joining the Goodridge Lions club is invited to a free supper at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Rick and Trudy's cafe in Goodridge. Terry Courneya, Pennington county's extension agent, will be guest speaker at the membership meeting.

License Plates Must Be On All Vehicles Friday

"New license plates must be purchased and on all vehicles no later than midnight March 1" warns Commissioner W.R. Hoaglund, Minnesota department of public safety.

To better serve late-comers most deputy registrars and the department of public safety office in the Highway building at St. Paul will be open till 9 p.m. Friday.

In addition to the cost of the plates and 50 cents or $1.00 collection fee, plate buyers will have a late penalty fee of $2.50 added to their bill.

Explosion Rocks Lancaster, Fire Destroys Co-op

Lancaster co-op associaton, one of that community's major businesses, was destroyed by an explosion and fire about 6 p.m. Sunday, February 17. The loss has been estimated at $250,000. Property destroyed included thousands of gallons of oil, grease, tires, automotive parts and accessories, repair equipment and tools, a 1972 bulk truck, and a 1972 pickup, in additon to the building.

Although the Lancaster fire department arrived promptly, there was nothing that could be done except prevent the fire from spreading to other buildings.

Melin Family Repeats In Farmer-Homemaker Title

VALLEY FARMER and Homemaker award winners for Pennington county, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Melin, inspect the plaque won by Leonard's parents—Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Melin—for the same honor in 1943. Leonard and Isabel plan to leave the farm this spring or summer after farming southwest of St. Hilaire since they were married in 1939. They received their own award plaque Thursday evening at the Valley Farmer and Homemaker banquet in connection with the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

On Thursday evening—31 years after Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Melin received a plaque from the Red River Valley development corporation as honor farmer and homemaker for Pennington county—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Melin trod in the historic footsteps of Leonard's parents to receive a similar award at the Red River Valley winter shows. The two plaques now hang side by side in the Melin home.

Carl Richard Melin came to the United States when he was eight years old and settled with his family on a farm now occupied by Melvin Melin, half a mile west of the present Leonard Melin farm. The latter farm is located about nine miles west of St. Hilaire and two miles south in Polk Centre township. It has been in the Melin family for about 60 years.

"My sister and I were raised in this house," Leonard said when we visited at the Melin farm home last week. His sister is Mrs. W. G. (Hazel) Maves who for a number of years was an employee in the county ASCS office.

"Until we sold the last few head this spring there has always been livestock on the farm. In the early years we had milk cows, pigs, a few sheep, chickens....just about everything every general farm had in those days. Then we sold the milk cows and went more into beef cattle. Now the cattle are gone and we will probably soon be gone from the farm, too."

The Melins are in the process of selling their farm and have acquired a house near Thief River Falls where Leonard is employed by Hydra-Mac, Inc.

When Leonard was married to Isabel Weiss of Red Lake Falls in 1939, they moved into the Melin house which had been built in 1913 and 1914. Leonard rented the 360-acre farm from his father on crop shares at first, also farming a quarter section of land which he owned. Later he purchased the farm and in 1950 added an adjoining 240 acres. At the present the 760-acre farm has about 720 tillable acres, including land which Leonard himself broke for crop production.

In addition to improving the land and expanding the farm size, the Melins remodeled their house, built a 36x80 grainary and machine shed, moved onto the farm and remodeled a 34x66 building for a beef loafing barn and built a large two-stall garage with shop area.

In an average year the farm recently would produce 150 to 200 acres of wheat, considerable acreage of barley and oats and—more recently—sunflowers. Leonard does some soil testing every year, has his farm soils mapped and uses alfalfa in his crop roation and land development program.

For 24 years Leonard has been a member of the board of directors of Red Lake Electric cooperative and currently serves as its president. He is vice chairman of the Pennington soil and water conservation district board and has served on the council of Black River Lutheran church. He previously was a member of the School District 99 board, the St. Hilaire cooperative creamery board and the board of directors of the Wylie cooperative elevator. A member of the Pennington county crop improvement association he has raised certified seed for about 15 years.

Mrs. Melin has served many years on the Pennington county extension committee and seven years as an adult leader in the Black River 4-H club. She has been a member of the county 4-H leaders council, Black River homemakers club and the county home council. She is secretary of the Sun Brite garden club and a member of the Black River LCW, and was formerly a Sunday school teacher at the Black River church.

"We were able to choose our children," Mrs. Melin said about the Melin's adopted son and daughter. Tom joined the family at 11½ months of age and Shelly at 2½ months, both through Lutheran Social Service in Minneapolis.

Tom, now 23, is a graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls and North Dakota state university in Fargo with a bachelor of science degree in business and agriculture. He has been employed by Hydra-Mac, Inc., since shortly after his college graduation in 1972 and is now sales coordinator. Shelly is a senior at Lincoln high school and

HAULING GRAIN to market is one of the pleasant chores for a farmer—particularly this year when farm prices began to catch up with the rest of the economy. History Society Elects Directors

Annual meeting of the Pennington County Historical society was held Thursday evening in the court house basement in Thief River Falls.

Board members elected for the coming year were Inga Geving, Margaret Weigelt, Violet Lindberg, Eric Hammershoy, Ernest Swanson, Albert Koop and Bob Carlson.

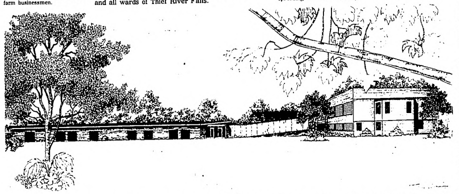
Many expressions of tribute to Art Rambeck, a recent board member, were heard for his untiring efforts toward securing a site for a Pioneer Village and for his leadership in many projects in the past. A standing assembly paid a moment of silent tribute to him.

Inga Geving, president, conducted the meeting. Reports from committees showed much has been done during the past year with $5,447 spent in projects that were mostly connected with establishing the historical village located at the site of the former sewage disposal plant.

Buildings such as country school, depot, loghouse, log blacksmith shop, stores and furnishings have been acquired. Painting of buildings and restoring and repairing has been done. Many gifts have been received, such as barber shop supplies, stoves, furniture, buggy and wagon equipment, old car luggage racks, trunks, books, radios, pictures and clothing.

Future plans are to furnish buildings and rooms, make use of the sewage tank area when vacated, and hold open house when roads and driveways are finished.

The local society is also working with the Red River Valley historical society director, Don Myrold of Fargo, and plans are being made for the Centennial events of 1974-76. Board members have attended sessions in Ada, Crookston, Fargo and Winnipeg and are working with a multi-county organization toward establishing a heritage center as part of the Red River Valley and world wide tourism plan to promote and preserve our history.



GRYGLA HIGH SCHOOL is expected to be ready for use for the 1974-75 school term. Three walls have now been erected and steel decking is being placed for the new building. The above drawing shows the new structure on the left, attached to the existing elementary school by enclosed ramps which will connect with two different levels of the elementary building. Above the rampway is the roof of the gymnasium portion of the school. The view above would be as the artist visualizes the site from the south side. High school enrollment is expected to be approximately 100 students. Sig Rimestad is superintendent of the school with Kenneth Rustan as principal. Grygla students presently attend high school primarily at Goodridge or Marshall county central school at Newfolden. Curriculum for the new high school is now being developed through coordination with the Minnesota department of edication. It is expected to incorporate some educational concepts new to this area.

Debra Ann Swanson Weds Kenneth Johnson In TRF

Original vows, which they had memorized, were exchanged by Miss Debra Ann Swanson of Thief River Falls and Kenneth Carl Johnson of Crookston at a candlelight ceremony on January 26 at the United Methodist church in this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Beverly Houston and Chester Swanson of Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Johnson of Crookston.

Rev. Jonathan Law officiated at the double ring ceremony before a round altar backed by chrysanthemums. Lighted tapers in six-foot candelabras lined the five aisle leading to the altar. Mrs. Sherman Idso, church organist, provided the nuptial music. Soloist George Martin III, played his own accompaniments on the cittern for his selections.

For the wedding, the bride was attired in a candlelight polyester crepe, floor-length gown styled with an empire bodice with scoop neckline and bell-shaped sleeves. Lace trimmed the bodice and flowing train. A matching lace headpiece held her four-tiered, waist-length veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white starburst chrysanthemums accented by orange tipped carnations.

Attending the bride as her personal attendant was Gina Bless of Crookston. Maid of honor was Barb Anderson, also of Crookston. Bridesmaids were Connie Johnson of Minneapolis, sister of the groom, and Karla Houston of Thief River Falls. The attendants were attired in floor-length gowns of moss green polyester crepe fashioned with long puffed sleeves and roll-down collars. Accenting the bodices were boleros of moss green crushed velvet. Matching velvet headpieces held their brief veils. Each attendant carried a bouquet corresponding with the flowers on the altar.

The bride's gown and veil, together with those of her attendants, were all designed and made by Mrs. Laurel Swanson, sister-in-law of the bride.

Best man was Jim Hansen of Minneapolis. The groomsmen were Gene Johnson of Crookston, brother of the groom, and Ricky Swanson of Thief River Falls. Serving as ushers were LeRoy Hougard of Stephen, Kevin Swanson, Jim Thune and Steven Swanson, all of Thief River Falls. Ricky Houston of Thief River Falls served as acolyte. The groom and his attendants wore tuxedos featuring brown trousers and beige brocade tapestry coats with brown velvet trim.

Honored guests at the wedding were Mrs. Chester Swanson of Thief River Falls; the bride's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stene and Mrs. Katharine Swanson of Thief River Falls; and grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hougard of Warren.

A reception in the church followed the ceremony. Serving as host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Steven Swanson. Mrs. Martin Pitzer of Bismarck, N.D., cousin of the bride, attended the guest book. Presiding at the punch bowl was another cousin, Natalie Swanson.

The three-tiered wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. L.M. Graham of Thief River Falls, was cut and served by Mrs. Si Schantzen of this city, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Raymond Hougard of Stephen, aunt of the groom. Pouring were Mrs. Harvey Thune, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Percy Gilbert, aunt of the groom.

Assisting with the reception were Mrs. Russell Thune of Bismarck, N.D., Mrs. Clarence Arneson, Mrs. Wayne Wahlhaug, Mrs. P. Olson, and Tammy and Kimberly Swanson, all of Thief River Falls.

Guests attending were from Bismarck, N.D., Minneapolis, Warroad, Stephen, Karlstad, Warren and Crookston.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and the Agassiz Valley school of practical nursing in Crookston. She was employed at Riverview hospital in Crookston until her transfer last fall to St. Ansgar hospital at Morhead.

The groom is a graduate of Central high school in Crookston. He attended the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school for two years, majoring in electronics. Following a four-year tour of duty with the U.S. Navy, he enrolled at Moorhead State college where he is working towards a degree in business administration.

The newlyweds are now at home at 1204 Third Avenue South, Fargo, N.D.

Hazelnuts Attend Winter Shows At Crookston

Members of the Hazelnuts homemakers club went on a miniwinter vacation on Tuesday, February 19, by going as a group to Crookston to attend the Winter Shows. The decision to take the vacation was made at the meeting of the club held at the home of Inez Mathson.

Those making the trip were Inez Mathson, Elinor Wiskow, Sylvia Nelson, Marlene Johnson, Eunce Grove, Marlene Stroh, Marjene Maynard, Naomi Peterson and Janet Davidson.

The day was spent at the Women's building. The women attended the seminars: "The Total Woman" and "Women Alone", demonstrations: "Pioneer Women at Work," "Hair Cuts and Styling by Hair and Things of Crookston," and "Lefsa Making," and the lecture, "Cooking with Proteinettes." They also viewed the art and hobby displays, as well as all the booths in both buildings, and attended the homemakers' noon luncheon.

BPO Does Will Hold Regular Meeting Tuesday

Regular meeting of the BPO Does will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m., at the Elks club. All members are encouraged to attend.

At the last meeting of the Does Charter members were recognized. It was noted that over half of those attending were charter members. President Esther Gausen was in charge of the meeting and also supervised the entertainment. The attendance prize was awarded to Gladys Loeffler and the special prize to Guida Solheim. Hostesses were Minnie Knight, Mona Johnson and Dorothy Swedenberg.

DeCor Members Attend Historical Society Meeting

Members of the DeCor club of the Minnesota Federated Women's club assembled on Thursday at the Geneva Overum home. From there, the group went to the annual meeting of the Historical Society held at the court house. Following the meeting, they returned to the Overum home for the club's regular business meeting with Mrs. Millard Peterson presiding.

Mrs. Peterson read a letter from Ninth District president Mrs. H.A. Bustrack, giving the information that the district's 74th annual convention will be held at Crookston on Saturday, March 30, at the Kiehl auditorium at the University of Minnesota. She stated that reservations should be made by March 15 for the noon luncheon, which will cost $2.50. Registration for the one-day convention will begin at 9 a.m. State president Mrs. Douglas Rucktaeschel will be the morning speaker and will preside at the installation of officers. Also in attendance will be MFWC treasurer Mrs. Harry Larson of East Grand Forks and conservation chairman Mrs. Warren A. Saetre of Thief River Falls.

A letter was also read from State President Mrs. Rucktaeschel, announcing the 83rd annual State convention dates. The event will be held May 26-June 1 at the Radisson hotel.

As General Council chairman, Mrs. Peterson reported that the history of the Thief River Club, since its beginning in 1914, had been completed and together with the cabinet and all historical records of the club, were now at the Public Library. She stated that these records were at the disposal of the Historical Society.

A report was made of the presentation of plaques to Mrs. Linda Booren, the only living charter member of the Thief River club; Mrs. Marie Bidlick, a member since 1918; Mrs. W.W. (Lois) Prichard, who wrote the history of the club frm 1914 through 1946; Mrs. Sara Mayer-Oakes, who still heads the Mayer-Oakes Student loan fund, and Mrs. Ebba Sagmoen, the last council chairman.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Gary Lofberg.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Peterson. Slides and pictures of the Holy Land will be shown by Geneva Overum and Ellen Peterson.

Carol Dalager Will Speak At Newcomers Club

Carol Dalager will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Newcomers club set for February 26 at 8 p.m., at the Aurelia room at the Elks club. Her topic will be home decorating.

Mary Halvorson Weds C. Radatz At Winona

Marriage vows were exchanged February 1 at the Central Lutheran church in Winona by Miss Mary Louise Halvorson of Goodview and Christopher C. Radatz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Radatz of Lewiston.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Ruth Benson of Goodview and the late John P. Halvorson, who was former superintendant of Marshall County Central high school at Newfolden.

Rev. G.H. Huggenvick officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Jane Lindner was the organist and Steve Pasche, soloist.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Jack Halvorson. She was attired in a floor-length gown of ivory satin enhanced by an overlay of lace on the bodice and chiffon on the skirt. Reembroidered lace motifs were appliqued on the flowing train. Her elbow-length veil was held by a Juliet headpiece. She carried an arrangement of yellow and white roses.

Attending the bride were her sisters Diane Halvorson of Goodview as maid of honor and Mrs. Jon Sorenson as bridesmatron. They wore identical floor-length gowns of brown velvet complemented by Juliet caps of matching brown velvet. Each carried an arrangement of bronze daisies and yellow mums and pompons.

Attending the groom were Robert Hunter of Pickett, Wis., a friend, and Ray Radatz, brother of the groom. The ushers were Robert Dinger and Thomas Wirt.

A reception at the Oak Supper club at Minnesota City followed the ceremony.

Following a wedding trip to LaCrosse, Wis., the bride and groom are now at home at River Falls, Wis., where both are seniors at the University of Wisconsin. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Lewiston high school.

New Officers Of Rosewood Club Preside At Meet

New officers of the Rosewood Homemakers club presided at the January meeting of the club held at the Harold Hall home.

The new officers are Mrs. Gerald Holmes, home counselor; Mrs. Harold Sabo, chairman; Mrs. Dan Salmon, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Elmer Rooker, reporter.

Mrs. Bert Kron and Mrs. Ken Peterson, who represented the club at meetings based on the role of women, gave reports on the topic. During the business session, it was decided that each hostess should provide the door prize, perferably one that she had made. Since the secret pals had been revealed at the Christmas party, new names were drawn. Roll call was answered by members naming the Christmas gift most enjoyed.

Members present were Mrs. Victor Ranstrom, Mrs. Hazel Rooker, Mrs. Elmer Rooker, Mrs. Bert Kron, Mrs. Irwin Johnson, Mrs. Dan Salmon, Mr. Gerald Holmes, Mrs. Harold Sabo and Mrs. Harold Hall.

The next meeting of the Rosewood homemakers will be held Wednesday at the Irwin Johnson home.

Viking Garden Club Studies Pollination

Bees and Pollination was the topic studied at the meeting of the Viking Town and Country garden club held recently at the Axel Gustafson home. Mrs. Bert Kron presented the topic.

Seven members attended the meeting and answered roll by naming an early spring blooming plant. The regular business was conducted with Mrs. Alvin Grandstrand serving as secretary in the absence of the regular secretary.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wayne Peters. As a special feature, Mrs. Carl Krohn will show slides of the Butchart gardens and tell of other highlights of her trip.

The meeting concluded with a dessert lunch served by Mrs. Gustafson.

Chat And Chew Study Consumers Protection Report

Consumers Protection report and information provided by the Food and Drug Administration were discussed at the meeting of the Chat and Chew Homemakers club held recently at the Ken Murphy home.

Mrs. Camille DuChamp led the discussion on the Consumers Protection report. Examples of good and poor advertising were studied and discussed and members told of their experiences.

Mrs. Orville Veragen, who led the discussion on the material provided by the Food and Drug Administration, stressed the importance of checking the dates stamped on articles purchased.

Tenative plans were made for a dinner in April. The club also decided to participate in the homemakers project of providing cookies at the rest homes. Mrs. DuChamp and Mrs. Murphy offered to make the cookies.

Mrs. Laurel Joyner presided at the meeting. All the members were present. A dessert lunch was served by Mrs. Murphy.

Arlene Wold Is Accepted By NCC

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

Featuring recipes from the Kitchen of

of rural Thief River Falls

Thoughts while exercising my fingers...during the past weeks, I've been taking therapy treatments daily at Northwestern hospital, trying to activate the stubborn fingers on my right hand. If I weren't so involved, the treatments would be interesting. It is unbelievable, unless one has had a similar experience, how rapidly strength leaves fingers that haven't been used for just two (short?) months. Muscles that I had taken for granted now quiver at the least amount of stress, or otherwise they just refuse to obey my commands. But there is improvement and that is encouraging.

It is also encouraging to see teen-agers smile again. Just a few years ago it was a fad among the youth to walk around without a smile on their faces. At that time there was a program on television featuring teen-agers dancing. None of the participants showed the slightest sign of emotion. It was a joy to see the faces of the junior college students at the performance of "The Carnival". They all seemed to enjoy what they were doing. I thoroughly enjoyed the performance...

Are "we-the-people" stupid, like the master-minds think, or are we just too complacent to do anything about conditions around us? About a year ago, television authorities were busy repudiating stories that obscene movies would not be shown on their networks, let alone during prime time, between seven and ten at night. Yet more and more of those movies are being shown. They are highly advertised. It is true that parents are asked to decide if they want their children to see those movies, but how many parents are home at that time of the evening to supervise what their children are watching? What happened to those promises made by the networks?...

Remember the incident of the young man who successfully landed the stolen helicipter on the White House lawn? After all the smoke had cleared away, some authority admitted that there wasn't any possible way that that incident could have been prevented. What a terrible admission to make to the world, that our president and White House isn't protected any better than that someone, even an enemy, could land there at any time. Makes one think of the danger we may be facing, especially from the crank groups that have sprung up in our country.

The crank groups have been very much in the news lately. During the past weeks millions of dollars have been requested from a family for the safe return of a daughter, and thousands from a newspaper firm for the return of its editor. Will the poor benefit from the requests? Many have voiced the opinion that they do not want help obtained in that manner. At the distribution of the foods in California, did you notice the clothing and jewelry worn by the "poor"?

We in the United States have problems. The problems are far greater than a newspaper breaking the silly discrimination code by running the advertisement, "Wanted, a girl to share an apartment." A girl who wants another girl to share her apartment should have as much right to advertise for her wants as a school district has to advertise for a science teacher. It would be sad indeed if a school needing a specific teacher were limited by law and had to advertise for "a teacher", in order to avoid discrimination against other teachers. Having to use "person", in place of man or woman, in an ad makes for many unnecessary phone calls. Yet the discriminations code must be adhered to.

Some of the changes made haven't been for a good of the majority. A short time ago, the legal age was lowered and consequently that lowered the drinking age. Now some schools are concerned about the drinking problem among students. Yet another school fired an instructor for teaching the Bible in the school room. What has happened to "Good-old-common-sense"? Has our thinking been dulled by too little use? Maybe our country, like my fingers, needs therapy.

Todays recipe comes from Mrs. Gerald Holmes, counselor of the Rosewood homemakers club. Thanks.

Lasagne

1 lb. hamburger
Green pepper (optional)
½ small onion, chopped
2 (8 oz.) cans tomato sauce
1 can tomato soup
1 package spaghetti seasoning
1 cup water, more if desired
Cheeses

Method: Brown hamburger and onion. Salt to taste. Add the other ingredients and simmer while cooking lasagne noodles according to directions. Pour a small amount of sauce on the bottom of a 9x13 inch pan. Layer cooked noodles, sauce and mozzarella cheese, continuing until noodles are used. Pour remaing sauce over noodles and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

The Gerald Holmes family lives on a farm in the Rosewood community. In addition to being active in the homemakers club, Mrs. Holmes also assits with 4-H club work by serving as director of the 4-H plays. She also enjoys knitting and sewing.

Her husband farms and is engaged in trucking. They have three daughters: Libbe, 10, who was recently selected as queen of the New Solum 4-H club and will represent the club at the 4-H Carnival; Tracey, 8, and Jennifer, 3.

The family attends services at St. John Lutheran church.

Orlan Stolaas Is King Agassiz Shows Candidate

Orlan Stolaas of Oklee, Pennington county's King Agassiz candidate, toured the Red River Valley winter shows Wednesday with other candidates.

Stolaas farms about 700 acres including about 100 rented acres. He is presently milking 44 cows of his predominantly Holstein herd consisting of 150 animals. He also has a few head of Holstein-Maine Anjou and Holstein-Simmental crossbreeds.

In addition to his diary operaton, Stolaas operates an artificial insemination program which services about 1,000 cows annually.

Organizatons of which Stolaas is a member include the NFO, Farmers Union, Deer Park town board, Minnesota real estate taxpayers association, school board and the Ebenezar church council.

A graduate of Northwest school of agriculture, Stolaas and his wife, Clarice, have three children, Gelene, 15; Jodi, 14; and Joel, 11.

The Times carried a feature story about Stolaas in October when he was named as conservation farmer of the year for the Pennington county soil and water conservation district.

Royal Winnipeg Ballet To Appear Wed. In Bemidji

A ballet original, commissioned by the Manitoba Indian Brotherhood of Canada, will be featured when the Royal Winnipeg Ballet performs Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in the Bemidji high school auditorium.

"The Ecstasy of Rita Joe" is vivid testimony to the prejudice the Canadian Indian encounters when moving to the city. The ballet is based on the highly successful play of the same name, written by George Ryga. Norbert Vesak is choreographer of the ballet, which is an original with the Royal Winnipeg. Ann Mortifee composed the music for the ballet.

Terry Schell, programmer for the Bemidji state college performing artists series, states, "I know that many people will remember the Royal Winnipeg from their appearance here two years ago, and I'm sure that the performance of this new ballet will entice many of those people to the production this year. It is an important new addition to the repertoire of this world-famous ballet company."

Federal Aid Not Available For Highway Maint.

Magnitude of the task of maintaining Minnesota's 12,000-mile trunk highway system is reflected in the dimensions of a periodical chore like sealing cracks and expansion joints in concrete pavements.

Last year, state highway maintenance forces report, 500 tons of elastic sealing material were used in sealing 425 miles of cracks and transverse joints in concrete pavements.

Concrete pavement joints are cleaned out and resealed only as necessary. The job is one of the more important tasks in highway maintenance, preventing the intrusion of water, gravel and deicing chemicals beneath the pavement. The joints permit expansion of the pavement in the heat of summer and contraction in the cold of winter.

The cost of maintaining the trunk highway system is borne entirely by the state. No federal aid is available for maintenance purposes.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE resulted from a fire at the Art Fant residence Friday morning. The St. Hilaire fire department was first to arrive at the farm house located about five miles south of Thief River Falls along Highway 32. The local department also sent two trucks to the scene about 8:45 a.m. Fire Chief Duane Noel reports that fire started in the chimney of a wood burning stove.

Phil Jorgenson In 36th Annual BSC Oratorio

Bemidji Oratorio society will present George F. Handel's "The Messiah" as the college-community group prepares the 36th annual Bemidji Oratorio for March 3 at 8 p.m. in Bemidji high school auditorium.

Four members of the Bemidji state college music department will participate in the production as soloists, with Patricia Allen of St. Cloud as solo soprano; Carmen Barnes of Tokyo, Japan as alto; Phil Jorgenson of Thief River Falls as tenor and Joseph Vene of Bemidji as bass. Ensembles in the production include the BSC Women's Glee club, BSC Varsity and Concert Choirs, Bemidji Symphony Orchestra and a group of area residents. Brandvik will conduct the oratorio, and the symphonly is being prepared by conductor Thomas Swanson.

"The Messiah" is credited by director Dr. Paul Bandvik as being the most popular oratorio in history, as well as being the mot frequently performed production by the Oratorio Society in Bemidji.

"The March 3 production is open to the public free of charge and we want to invite all area residents to attend. The work is well enough known so that many children will recognize parts of the work, and we especially invite groups from schools in the surrounding area to join us in the audience," Brandvik says.

2 Young Grygla Men Admit Guilt In Robbery Case

Two young men from Grygla recently pleaded guilty to robbery charges in District court at Roseau. Their charges had been reduced from aggravated robbery with the lesser offense carrying a maximum penalty of 10 years in jail or a $10,000 fine or both.

Jack W. Nomeland, Jr. and Lowell O. Thorson, both 20, were accused of using a rifle to rob Merle Chase of Warroad. Sentences will be set after completion of a pre-sentence investigation.

Middle River Shipping Ass'n. To Meet March 2

Annual meeting of the Middle River Livestock Shipping association will be held in the Middle River Legion hall, beginning with a noon dinner for patrons, Saturday, March 2, according to Selmer Sorter, secretary-treasurer.

Carl Spong, field representative, central livestock association, South St. Paul, and Charles Peterson, county agricultural extension agent, will address the meeting.

Officers of the association will submit their annual reports and three directors to fill the expired terms of William Maijala, Floyd Tanner and John Wagner will be elected at this meeting.

Present officers and directors of the association are: William Maijala, president; Glenn Hammer, vice president; Selmer Sorter, secretary-treasurer; Young & Ness, trucker-manager; Art Matero, John Wagner, Floyd Tanner, Arnold Rokke, Gust Bring and Robert Toren, directors.

The colored agricultural film, "That The Best Will Be Ours", will be shown.

Farmers Should Tell Supplier Of Fuel Needs

"The essential thing a farmer must do to help assure himself adequate fuel for agricultural producton is tell his distributor how much he needs. Unless a local distributor or dealer knows what his farm customers require," said Samuel N. Peterson, executive director of the Minnesota agricultural stabilization and conservation service, "that distributor can not take the necessary steps to get enough fuel for them."

Informing the distributor becomes even more important if a farmer intends to increase his acreage considerably, or if he wants to expand dairy, poultry or other farm operaions. Local dealers will need this information to request additional fuel from their suppliers.

"Agricultural producers are to receive priority allocations, however they will be required to certify to an ongoing fuel conservation program for their operations," Peterson said. "USDA, in cooperation with the federal energy office and the environmental protection agency, has developed a conservation leaflet. This leaflet, scheduled to be available in early March, includes an energy managment certification that there is an ongoing conservation program and that priority fuel will be used for 'agricultural production'."

QUEEN'S TIARA is worn by Mrs. Sam (Deloris) Genereaux as a result of Sam's record-setting sales of life insurance for Farmers Union insurance company during the Minnesota Queen contest promotion. The Thief River Falls agent sold $18,527.55 of life premium to win the contest, placing ahead of six-time winner George Tengwall of Willmar who sold $15,065.81. The trophy was earned for sales of more than $1,500 during the promotion.

Giving To CROP Increases By Forty Per Cent

In a year when many Americans were faced with shortages of fuel, power and even food they increased their giving to CROP by nearly 40 per cent. They gave a total of $3,204,671 to feed needy people in some 30 countries. This amounted to an increase of $863,099 over 1972. An additional $2,036,765 was credited to the clothing appeal which CROP administers.

Earthquake in Nicaragua, drought and floods in India and Africa uprooted thousands of persons from their homes. CROP, the community hunger appeal of Church World service, was able to provide essential food items to many of them because of American generosity.

The West-Central area of Africa called Sahel was hard hit with starvation following a five-year drought, affecting six countries with some 24 million people. The nomadic tribes of the Sahel were dependent on livestock and date palms for their livelihood. The waterholes dried up, grass disappeared, turning it into a desert like the Sahara just north of it. And the date palms were hit with bugs. Similar conditions have also affected Sudan and Ethiopia in East Africa. CROP responded with powdered milk, cooking oil, baby food and a high-protein food supplement, typical of its response to disasters in many areas.

Campaign funds were raised by the canvass of neighborhoods by volunteers, by "Walks for the Hungry" and fasts in which friends gave participants so much per mile walked or hour without food. Farmers donated grain or profits from "Friendship Acres." Corporations contributed food products, seeds, tools or cash worth $638,232.

CROP also provides seeds, fertilizer, tools and materials for self-help projects through church world service. Food-for-work projects give the needy person his respect as well as food he needs. Blankets and clothing amounting to 3,744,413 pounds were sent around the world to help disaster victims. Aid was also given in the United States to flood victims in several states and to inhabitants of Wounded Knee, South Dakota.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I draw compensation for a service-connected disability suffered in Vietnam. If I am hospitalized for this disability, will the Veterans Administration increase my compensation?

A—Yes. If you're hospitalized 21 days or more, your disability rating will be increased to 100 per cent. You'll receive compensation at this rate until discharged from the hospital.

Farm Business Film Shown At Armory Saturday

"Farming Frontiers '74", a film program devoted to the business of farming, will be presented Saturday at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls beginning at 1 p.m., it was announced today by Amundgaard Implement company, John Deere dealer in this area.

The program includes subjects which show the latest developments in farm management and provide guidance which could affect farming plans today and in the years to come.

A 15-ampere battery charger and two weather vanes will be given away as door prizes, Everett and Jerry Amundgaard said. They also said lunch will be served at 12 noon.

Prior Service Veterans Are Sought By Navy

Ben Siebels, recruiter in charge of the Thief River Falls Navy recruiting station, reports the Navy is actively seeking applications from prior service personnel—both Navy veterans and veterans who have served in other branches of the armed forces.

He says personnel applying to reenlist into the U.S. Navy often qualify for the same pay grade they held when they were released from active duty.

Guaranteed assignments will be offered to broken-service naval veterans. Applicants can be given a choice of homeport and ship type, or other activity provided valid billets exist.

Guaranteed schooling is also being offered to broken service veterans who desire vocational training in a field other than that in which they were serving at time of separation.

Personnel who are eligible to reenlist in pay grade E-4 are now entitled to full allowances for dependent travel and shipment of household effects. Married applicants reenlisting in pay grade E-4 will receive a monthly salary of nearly $600.

Complete information on Navy opportunities can be obtained from the Navy Recruiting Station, 209 East 3rd Street, Thief River Falls, Minn. 56701, telephone (collect) 681-2104.

The Veterans Administration says nearly 4.5 million veterans and servicemen have trained in less than eight years under the current GI Bill, compared to 2.4 million during 13 years of the Korean GI Bill.

On March 5, 1962, Capt. Robert G. Sowers, USAF, won the 1962 Bendix Trophy Race by piloting a B-58 on a round-trip flight from New York to Los Angeles. The flight took 4 hours 41 minutes 11.3 seconds, at an average speed of 1,044.96 mph including turn around time.

Night Smokers Develop Cancer At Earlier Age

Men who habitually get up in the middle of the night to smoke a cigarette may be more prone to lung cancer, even though they smoke fewer cigarettes a day than the average smoker.

A study at the University of Virginia medical school, Charlottesville, also found evidence suggesting that nighttime smoking brings on cancer at an earlier age.

Drs. D. Wolfred Abse and W.D. Buxton of the department of psychiatry speculate on the reasons for the greater cancer proneness of nighttime smokers.

Apart from the added lung irritation, there is a possibility that tissues may be more vulnerable, they say, so that damage during this part of the living cycle is especially harmful.

The investigators compared two groups of chest patients. Of those who awoke and smoked during the night, all developed lung cancer. Of those who did not smoke at night, only half developed lung cancer.

The nighttime smokers were younger (56 average) and used 1.3 packs a day on the average as compared with 2.8 for non-night-smokers (average age 60).

"This suggests that night smoking tends to lower the age level at which the patient develops cancer," the psychiatrists say.

What motivates nighttime smoking? The psychiatrists found a difference in personality characteristics between nighttime smokers and smokers in general. "Our feeling is that nighttime smokers display to a somewhat greater magnitude the kind of personality that we felt is characteristic of the lung cancer group," says Dr. Buxton.

"They are more controlled in their emotions. They have greater stability in their married life and fewer psychosomatic complaints."

The night smokers were vocationally stable workers who had reached a plateau of achievement and had no further advancement or recognition to look forward to. They responded to neither events nor other people in an emotional way. They could not express feelings they carried within them.

On the other hand, smokers in general are impulsive, neurotic, more emotional and extroverted.

Nighttime smoking, then, may be a way of compensating for missing emotional satisfactions.

On an average day, the Veterans Administration provides treatment for 135,000 veterans. On a yearly basis, more than one million veterans are hospitalized, and outpatient visits average 12 million.

On March 7, 1954, the Northwest Orient Airlines established a transpacific speed record for commercial aircraft with a flight of 5,000 miles between Tokyo and Seattle in 16 hours 18 minutes.

If two more councilmen are appointed, four of the city's seven council seats would be filled by people who had not been elected to those positions. However, as pointed out by the members citing this reasoning at a meeting held last week, councilmen who are appointed to their positions can represent the interests of their area.

According to Mayor Carlson, the bill introduced by Representative Skaar would provide for special elections to fill vacancies on the council or the mayor's position if more than a year remained at the time the position became vacant. If the remainder of the term were for less than a year, the council would have the option of appointing a person to fill the position or to call for a special election.

Carlson stated that Representative Skaar expects the proposed bill will be passed by the end of this legislative session which is scheduled for March 25. Carlson also stated that he does not believe the council will fill the present vacancies at this time, pending legislative action on Skaar's bill.

Norwegian Home Guardsmen Train At Camp Ripley

Norwegian Home guard platoon consisting of two officers, and 36 enlisted men arrived February 9 at the Minnesota Air National Guard Base, Minneapolis-St. Paul International airport. The Norwegian guardsmen then were transported by bus to Camp Ripley to begin two weeks of intensive winter training with a battalion of the Minnesota Army National guard.

Camp Ripley is a 53,000-acre, state-owned, military reservation seven miles north of Little Falls. For many years Camp Ripley has been well-known as a summer training post for guardsmen and reservists from throughout the country. In recent years, it has rapidly gained an international reputation as the outstanding military ski school and winter warfare training center in the United States.

The Norwegian visitors are mostly young guardsmen between 17 and 20 years of age who have volunteered for service within the Home Guard Youth Organization. The Norwegian Home guard is similar to our National guard in that it is composed of all volunteers, including young men with no prior service as well as experienced Army veterans. The Home guardsmen are organized in platoon and company-sized units throughout Norway. They meet weekly for training and instruction and usually serve two or three years active duty each year.

In case of emergency, the Home Guard is assigned to the Norwegian Army and is charged with local defense missions and neighborhood guerrilla fighting. They could provide 60,000 experienced men on short notice, and would be vital in the event of surprise attack since their weapons are kept at home.

Although quite limited in military training, the young Norwegians all speak English and most are already good skiers. Major General Chester J. Moeglein, Minnesota's Adjutant General, stated, "We do not anticipate any problems with communication. Many of our experienced ski instructors have Scandinavian ancestries and share a common heritage with the visiting students which will help to establish rapport quickly".

During their stay at Camp Ripley, the visiting Norsemen will follow the normal training schedule of their Minnesota counterparts. In addition, they will be given training on American infantry weapons such as the M-16 rifle and the 90 millimeter recoilless rifle and will receive orientation on Camp Ripley and organization of the United States Armed Forces.

Officers and men of the 2d Battalion, 135th Infantry, Minnesota Army National Guard, will act as hosts while the young Scandinavian soldiers are at Camp Ripley. The 2d Battalion is headquartered in Mankato and is commanded by Lt. Col. Allan R. Meixner of Owatonna. In order to assist the visitors in their transition into the American schedule, Brig. Gen. William S. Lundberg, Anoka, has appointed Major James B Fleming, Minneapolis, to be official greeter and escort for the two-week stay at Ripley.

But it will not be all work and no play as several organizations have arranged extra-curricular activities such as a tour by the Sons of Norway and a luncheon with the Little Falls Chamber of Commerce. Also, the 2d Battalion is planning a farewell party at the Camp Ripley mess hall.

The Norwegians will begin the return flight from Minneapolis-St. Paul International airport to their home country via Air National Guard aircraft at noon, February 21.

Fuel Retailers May Not Modify Sales Practices

Gasoline and diesel fuel retailers may not modify their normal business practices to sell gas and diesel fuel only to regular customers, R. C. Voskuil, district director of internal revenue for Minnesota said recently.

Under a regulation issued Feb. 12, by the federal energy office, petroleum suppliers, including retailers, may not discriminate among purchasers of allocated petroleum products.

The regulation also prohibits new preferential arrangements involving volume sales by retailers, Voskuil added. For example, it is illegal for a gasoline retailer to sign up a customer to purchase 1,000 gallons, $30 worth or a month's requirements in advance, he said.

Violations of the regulation could result in a civil penalty of $2,500, or a criminal penalty of $5,000, for each violation.

Voskuil said that if after calling the regulation to the attention of the retailer, a customer is unable to resolve the matter, he should contact his local Internal Revenue office by calling 612-725-7124.

Mickelson Is Named To UMC Student Senate

Three students have been appointed to serve on the student senate for spring quarter at the University of Minnesota technical college, Crookston. The three will complete terms of graduating senators.

Appointed were David Bergh, Hallock, sophomore majoring in agricultural aviation, who will serve as vice president; Harold Mickelson, Goodridge, a freshman in diversified agriculture; and Julie Henderson, a sophomore from Crookston.

Student senate is the governing organization for the student body. It meets at least two times a month, at which time members discuss, recommend or make decisions on matters that affect the student body.

Enrollment For Post Secondary Schools Studied

Changing enrollment patterns necessitate consideration of possible consolidation or merger of institutions of post-secondary education in Minnesota, but policies should not be influenced solely by enrollment criteria, according to a preliminary report by the higher education coordinating commission staff.

Projections show that the pool of high school graduates will decline by 1980 in every region of the state except the Twin Cities area, and this will have a depressing effect on institutional enrollments in post-secondary education, according to the report which was sent to members of the senate education committee and house higher education committee recently.

"But this in itself is insufficient to base conclusions or policy recommendations in regard to the desirability of merger or consolidation because it reflects only one aspect of the post-secondary educational enterprise," the report says.

Concerned with the changing enrollment patterns, Commission members last fall instructed the staff to re-examine its guidelines on access to post-secondary education in order to establish new priorities for the establishment or possible merging of institutions. The report reviews previous recommendations on providing access, examines recent enrollment trends and projections and discusses factors related to consolidating or merging institutions.

Although it is true the number and type of students can have some effect on the costs of operating institutions, institutions provide programs to educate students and they provide services to help the community, the report says.

"Thus, when one evaluates the effectiveness of these institutions, the evaluation should not be based primarily on the number of students that are enrolled," the report says. "Rather, what is more relevant is the types of programs that are being offered, the cost of providing the programs and the extent to which the programs offered by the institutions are meeting the needs of the community and the surrounding area.

"It is conceivable that the cost of operating one institution with small enrollment is considerably more expensive than operating another institution with larger enrollment. But such information is not useful, however, unless we know the programs that are being offered at both institutions.

"Even then, should it be found that the programs are the same and the costs are dissimilar with lower costs at the larger institution, the services provided to the community in the form of trained manpower and continuing education and community service activities for business and industry in the surrounding area might be such that the benefits derived would outweigh the increased costs of maintaining the programs offered in the smaller institution."

Moreover, the report notes, state policies in regard to regional economic development and population dispersal may warrant operating higher cost programs in order to encourage a more desirable distribution of population in the state.

"Although not enough is known about the effects of post-secondary attendance or migration patterns, it might be hypothesized that the area in which a person settles is highly influenced by the location of the post-secondary education experience," the report says.

"Should this be accurate, overall state policy considerations could justify the expenditure of resources to maintain relatively higher cost programs with smaller enrollments in order to stabilize or reverse migration patterns to metropolitan areas."

Nevertheless, the projected decline in the pool of high school graduates points to the need for policy research to develop alternatives for dealing with the problems, the report says.

Included in the research should be an assessment of the factors related to the effects on institutions that declining enrollment might produce.

"Equally relevant is the need for a study of alternative mechanisms for dealing with declining enrollments," the report says.

Although one possibility is to merge or consolidate institutions, other policy alternatives exist. For example:

(1) Limit enrollment in some institutions in order to encourage enrollment in other institutions in the state that are identified as areas for geographic regional development.

(2) Identify areas of regional specialization and through this mechanism redefine the missions of selected institutions and provide programs that would both attract students to them and more adequately serve the regional needs.

Some of the questions that require further research can be addressed by ongoing and developing activities of the Commission such as program review, budget review and enrollment projections and simulations, according to the report.

"As these are developed and implemented and as data become available from these processes, the desirability and necessity for the establishment or merging of institutions will be come more clear," the report concludes.

HONOR HOMEMAKER from Pennington county for the Red River Valley winter shows at Crookston is Mrs. Leonard Melin. She is pictured hanging one of the tiny three-dimensional pictures which she has made as a craft project. Mrs. Melin uses gift wrap to create the figures which are repeated in several spaced layers to provide depth dimension and create a unique effect. Several of the pictures are shown in the top photo. An active member of homemakers club and county home council for a number of years, Mrs. Melin enjoyed the craft projects which the clubs offered. She has been a member of the county extension committee for a number of years and was an adult leader in the Black River 4-H club for seven years.

works part time as a waitress at Johnny's cafe.

Both of the Melin youngsters were active in 4-H club work and Shelly was also a member of the Black River youth group and the Black River Singers gospel music group. "They have been real good kids and we're proud of them," the Melins said.

The Melin family is no stranger to the Red River Valley winter shows. Leonard remembers winning an overall grand championship in the crop show there one year with an entry of durum. Tom won a grand championship there with Chris wheat one year and later went on to capture a championship in the 4-H crops show at the Minnesota state fair.

Recalling his own active 4-H club participation, Leonard remembers taking one of his 4-H dairy project animals to the state fair three successive years as a calf, heifer and cow.

Like the Edgar Naplin family—winners of the farmer and homemaker award a couple of years ago and neighbors of the Melins—Leonard and Isabel have enjoyed the closeness of the people in the Black River community. Their neighbors are going to miss them when they leave the farm later this year—to hang the family's two honor farmer and homemaker plaques in a different house.

Farm Families Out-Migration Seems Reversed

Farm labor statistics for 1973 provide additional evidence that Minnesota's is braking and hopefully reversing three and one-half decades of rural out-migration, agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald stated today.

Minnesota's farm labor force averaged 177,000 workers during 1973, the highest total for the state in two years and an increase of 6,000 workers or 3.5 per cent more than in 1972, according to the annual summary released by the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service.

Commissioner Wefald said the labor report complements the earlier one showing that Minnesota has had no measurable loss of farming units since Jan. 1, 1972, holding firm at 118,000 farms, dominantly family operated.

Family farm workers in Minnesota last year averaged 155,000, an increase of 4,000 over the 1972 average. The new report also showed an increasing Minnesota agriculture industry dependence on hired workers, 22,000 in 1973, up 2,000 or 10 per cent above the 1972 average.

Minnesota's 177,000 farm workers total is exceeded by only six other states, California, Texas, Iowa, North Carolina, Missouri and Wisconsin, respectively.

Commissioner Wefald said the report also identifies Minnesota agricultural workers among the most efficient and productive in the nation, when compared with Minnesota's ranking among all states as having the seventh highest gross farm income in the nation.

"Our 1973 Minnesota farm labor force represented only four per cent of the U.S. total. The statistical breakdown shows the strength of Minnesota's family farm system, too, as we have 4.8 per cent of the nation's family workers, only 1.9 per cent of the nation's hired farmhands," Commissioner Wefald added.

The new report also showed that Minnesota farms pay their hired workers more than the national average, and that the state average for wages paid to farm workers increased by nearly 10 per cent last year.

January 1 average wages for Minnesota farm workers were reported as $416 per month with house furnished; $324 per month with board and room; $15.40 per day with board and room; $17.90 per day without board and room; and $2.12 per hour without board and room.

Licensing Is No Longer Done By Highway Dep't.

"Driver licensing and driver examinations are no longer functions of the Minnesota highway department, nor have they been for some time," explained assistant commissioner F.C. Marshall recently in an effort to dispel a lingering misapprehension that continues to vex and confuse the public.

Commenting on a recent news article in a Twin Cities newspaper whose editions enjoy a wide circulation across the state, Marshall said that the erroneous information published will undoubtedly revive popular confusion in that regard, which had largely subsided since 1970.

In 1970 the legislature divested the Minnesota highway department of peripheral responsibilities not related to the design, improvement and maintenance of state highways. Persons having questions concerning driver examinations and licensing, motor vehicle registrtion, and automotive safety should address them to the department of public safety, or locally, to the state patrol, Marshall advised.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Why is it that coaches run up scores on their opponents? The most recent ones I am referring to are the way Warroad and Roseau clobbered their opponents in the hockey games. (Roseau 15, Red Lake Falls 1, Warroad 16, Indus 0).

It was pretty well established that Roseau and Warroad were favored to win, but does the score have to be like that!! Remember, these are young men playing, not professional players. Once a coach sees that the score is going to be way out of proportion he should start putting in his substitutes (they are part of the team too!) immediately, not the last few minutes of the third period. How anyone can call scores like this good sportsmanship is beyond me. I am not blaming the boys from Warroad or Roseau, but the coaches. It looks like the coaches must be on a Ego trip! They will be able to sit around this summer boasting about their fantastic scores. BRAVO!! Thats something to be real proud of. As far as I am concerned it is the players and coaches from Red Lake Falls and Indus that are the real winners. They are the ones that really know what real sportsmanship is all about.

Sincerely,
Bruce A. Lundsten

Safety Projects On Docket For NW Minnesota

Safety improvement program on the regular trunk highway system estimated at $9.8 million was announced Thursday by highway commissioner Ray Lappegaard.

Projects in Northwestern Minnesota District II include upgrading of guard rail on bridge approaches at some 30 sites in various counties, plus the following: Lake of the Woods county—TH-11, in Williams, extend culvert and shoulder repair; Pennington county—TH1, frm bridge over Thief River to Sherwood Avenue in Thief River Falls, shoulder grading and surfacing.

TH1, north junction with TH 32 in Thief River Falls, signal installation.

Most of the projects will be scheduled for bid letting by June 1. Jobs include guardrail erection, traffic signal installations, shoulder widening and turn lane construction. New or upgraded railroad crossing signals are planned for 18 sites. Last year's safety improvement contracts totaled $4,727,909.

James Westman Enlists In Army

Thought For The Day

In the beginning there was Man; a thinking, laughing, rational creature who decided that He had created the heavens and the earth. And the earth was without expressways and highrise apartments, and darkness was upon the face of the cities.

And the spirit of Man moved over His test tubes.

And Man said, "Let there be light," and there was light—neon light, sodium vapor light, fluorescent light, General Electric and Westinghouse all blinking on and off. And Man saw the light and said that it was good.

And Man said, "Let the earth bring forth vegetation," and He tilled the ground and seeded clouds and brought forth a bumper crop. And Man saw that it was good.

And Man said, "Let there be lights in the heavens," and there were Echo and Early Bird and Skylab.

And Man split the atom, built computers and conquered the sky and it was so. And the Man called the sky "space."

Then Man said, "Let us make God in our own image, after our likeness, and let him have dominion over an hour on Sunday."

So Man created God in His own image: He was white, upper middle class, not a little like an indulgent father, and "on my side." And Man saw everything that He had made and behold—He congratulated Himself.

And Man put His God on a shelf... Returned to His test tubes...And blew Himself to kingdom come.

And in the end there was God.

A Matter of Rights

Following article appeared recently in a publication entitled "Freedom" and published by the Church of Scientology of California:

Freedom of speech does not mean freedom to harm by lies or half truths.

Today we live in a society where hungry computer data banks and files demand a constantly increasing input of information on individuals and organizations. It is a world of endless forms, questionnaires and personal details.

The art of information retention and transmission has reached such a level of advancement that it brings new problems along with its blessings.

It has been said that computers don't make mistakes. But they can only be as accurate as the information which is programmed into them. Our front page story on credit records is a case in point and there are other examples.

Recently the state of Massachusetts has taken on the federal government in oppositon to participation in new federal programs designed to expand the government's computerized citizen background files.

Central to the dispute is an FBI program which involves computerized records of every person in the country who has had a "significant" contact with local and federal law enforcement agencies.

Massachusetts Governor Francis W. Sargent accused the FBI program of posing "one of the biggest threats to our democratic system—the invasion of one's privacy."

California Attorney General Evelle Younger recently voiced his concern over the "improper use of criminal record information, particularly that which is stale, the result of mistaken arrest of an innocent person, or an isolated, youthful indiscretion." He is recommending a purging of some of the state's criminal files and initiating a minimum retention period for less important offender records.

Files and data banks greatly impinge on individual liberty when they provide false or misleading information. Mr. A. might be arrested for stealing a car and the charges might be dropped later because he was innocent. But the arrest is already on record and many times an update or correction is not made. Such material may be made available to numerous inquirers from banks to credit checking corporations to armed services recruiters and the file would only show that Mr. A was arrested. All of this of course happens without Mr. A's knowledge and might well leave him wondering why he was turned down for that loan or job.

Massachusetts has enacted a special law which establishes a civilian board to govern the state's criminal history file (other states' criminal files are controlled by police agencies).

The law forbids the inclusion of arrest records in a file unless such action resulted in a conviction. The law cuts access to files to specific law enforcement agencies and other government bodies.

In addition, the law states "each individual shall have the right to inspect...and copy criminal offender information which refers to him." If inaccuracies are discovered, the law requires deletion or correction.

We applaud the provisions of the Massachusetts law and call for similar measures to be adopted in broader areas of application. Federal law enforcement records, credit records, Better Business Bureau files, psychiatric records (some states keep complete, highly detailed records on any patient who ever received service or treatment—voluntarily or involuntarily—at a state psychiatric institution), scholastic records, insurance and Internal Revenue records should all fall under regulation which, most importantly, permits access, copying and correction of data on the individual and by the individual.

In order for personal liberty to continue through the "Information Age", new freedoms brought about by technological advancement must be balanced by greater responsiblility and integrity.

Differing Viewpoints

"Church agencies and religious groups have joined organized labor to promote a nationwide boycott of clothing made by the Farah Manufacturing company of El Paso, Texas. Nearly one-third of Farah's 9,500 workers have been striking the company since May, 1972. The firm employs 14 per cent of the working population of El Paso. Its employees are 98 per cent Mexican-American and more than 80 per cent female.

"Last year the National Labor Relations board issued a decision ordering Farah to bargain with a union of workers, but Farah refused. The case is now going through the courts. Amalgamated Clothing workers of America is organizing the strikers and promoting the national boycott."

That is one viewpoint.

The other comes from Arch Booth, executive vice president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. He describes the strike action as a move by one of the big international unions to prove a point and says the workers themselves are "reduced to helpless pawns".

"Suppose you find that the workers themselves are not anxious to join the union?" he asks. "That's not too difficult to fix. Pick a target company—one of the biggest producers in the industry. Find a few discontented workers who will picket and loudly proclaim their desire to join the union. Then use the awesome machinery of the AFL-CIO to boycott the products of that company.

Then Booth gets down to cases:

"At this point, you also enlist the aid of various reflexive supporters of liberal causes. These people have their hearts in the right place, but they are too naive to understand that a union may consider its self-preservation more important than the mere preferences of the workers.

"When the pressure on the company gets bad enough—and it will—the company will be forced to lay off workers. It may even be forced out of business. Eventually the loyal employees, fearing for their jobs, may decide to accept a union they do not want to make the best of a bad situation.

"This scenario I have described is not hypothetical. It is taking place right now. The target is Farah Manufacturing Co., a Texas producer of men's slacks. But that's not so important. What is important is that it could be any company, anywhere.

The ACWA has been trying to organize employees at Farah since the fall of 1969. It has consistently failed to get even 30 per cent of the Farah workers to ask for ACWA representation (30 per cent is the legal minimum for a representation election under the rules of the national labor relations board). Even so, the company has been willing for an election to take place, as long as it involves either all the Farah producton and maintenance employees, or at the very least, all the production and maintenance employees at any single Farah plant.

"The union has not agreed to a plant-wide election, and has even taken steps to block one. It has sought elections among smaller sub-groups within several plants. Farah has opposed the creation of a bargaining unit of less than plant size. The union has won one such sub-group election and another is contested.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We are a group of concerned women from Thief River Falls and the area that are writing to express our views on the upcoming city council appointments.

We feel that it is time for Thief River Falls to appoint a woman to one of the vacant positions. The time for political structures to be run exclusively by men is past, and most people recognize that talent and experience are valuable comodities, regardless of the sex of the person.

Thief River Falls is extremely fortunate to have Lova Kraemer willing to accept a position on the city council. Her past leadership experience in social, civic and political organizations is evidence of the extent of her involvement, and her ability to fulfill a commitment. A person of her experience and dedication is a tremendous asset to any organization she becomes associated with.

We urge the mayor and present council members to keep an open mind and carefully consider appointing Ms. Kraemer to a council position. We are assured that thorough examination of her credentials will reveal that she is the most qualified person interested in such a position at this time. Her participation in city policy making will be a very positive step for the Thief River Falls governmental unit and for every concerned individual.

Thank you.

Respectfully yours,
Francis Stromberg, Bernice Nelson, Shelvie Larson, Marge Corliss, Ellen Peterson, Dorothy Bergman, Jeanette Hamerlinck, Thelma Manning, Mrs. Vern Thompson, Betty Roadfeldt, Edna Bellerud, Dorothy Swedenburg, Wilma Sandvig, May A. Larson, Marion Mabey, Mary Munt, Janis L. Hoff, Eileen Horejsh Ethel Monroe, Evelyn Berg, Sue Prichard, Suzanne Steidl, Jo Schug, Mae Stenberg, Bev Grafar, Terri Schroeder, Margaret Moeglein.

Dear Editor:

In the next few days the members of the Thief River Falls city council will be obliged to appoint two members of the council, i.e., the 4th ward alderman and an alderman-at-large. This is significant for the people of our city because it will mean that a majority (4) of the aldermen will have gotten on the council by appointment and only a minority of three will have been elected by the people. In other words, we will be in a situation similar to that of our forefathers, taxation without representation.

I would like to bring out a few points for your consideration.

(1) Inasmuch as two positions are vacant, I believe strongly that one of the appointees should be a woman. It is about time that women be considered a part of the citizenry of TRF. "Why did not a woman enter the race last fall instead of all of a sudden now?" I was asked. The answer is the same reason that many men are now interested in the vacancy. Now, a candidate has to win only three votes to get elected instead of several hundred. Incidently, the councilmen with whom I discussed this made it perfectly clear that they were not interested in appointing an alderwoman.

(2) I do not believe anyone who was a candidate for a council seat and lost in an election should be considered at all. It seems to me that the voters have already spoken clearly on certain candidates.

(3) I do not believe that former councilmen should be appointed to fill a vacancy. This is clearly a case of the in-group trying to perpetuate itself. There are reasons why former aldermen are former aldermen and these reasons should prevail.

(4) I believe that these new aldermen or alderwomen should not be taken from the downtown business community. After all, downtown is well represented on the council even now. If our present councilmen really believe in democracy and in having a representative council, then their choice is clear. If they wish to continue their present control, they, of course will appoint their friends. The business community is well represented. In the past the local Chamber of Commerce has unashamedly publicized the fact that an alderman had been designated as liaison man between the council and the Chamber. I submit that, if a union had done that, it would have been considered a scandalous affair.

(5) I would really prefer that the council contact our legislative delegation in St. Paul in order to press for special legislation to provide for filling these two vacancies by a special election. (Special bills are always a very large part of Minnesota legislative action.) At present, two of the aldermen who will be appointing have been appointed themselves. "Shades of Watergate!!" We have enough problems in government as it is without putting these two people in such an awkward position.

As an alternative, I suggested a referendum and that the council appoint the two winners, but a councilman put me down by saying "we have to watch how we spend the public's money." (In other words, I would rather appoint, I, not the people, will decide.) What better way to spend the public money than to find out what the public thinks?

I respectfully submit the above thoughts for consideration by your readers. The two vacancies in question are both for four-year terms. It is plain to see that what the members of the Thief River Falls city council does in the next few weeks will affect us for several years to come.

Sincerely yours,
Charles R. Samuelson

Carrying Gas In Car Trunk Can Be Dangerous

You normally wouldn't consider playing with dynamite, but that's exactly what you're doing if you tote a container of gasoline in your car, reports the automotive information council.

Gasoline, like any liquid, actually will not burn, but the vapors that it gives off are extremely flammable, to the point of being explosive. The explosive energy of gasoline is frighteningly high—one quart of vaporized gasoline is said to have the potential explosive energy of about three and one-half sticks of dynamite.

Many containers used for the storage of gasoline do not adequately hold the dangerous vapors, allowing them to escape inside the car trunk where they create an explosive condition that can be—and have been—triggered by the slightest spark.

Heat inside the car's trunk can cause vapor pressure inside the gasoline container to build up to 13 pounds per square inch, too high for thin-walled screw-top cans. Gasoline may also "sponge through" many plastic containers—including some which are sold for gasoline.

Turning on the lights, applying the brake or using the directional signals can produce a tiny spark at the base of the tail light bulb in your car's trunk that might be sufficient to cause an explosion.

Gasoline vapors can easily penetrate into the passenger compartment where they can be set off by a lighted cigarette or a spark created by using any number of electrical switches—including the horn.

The possibility of a rear-end collision presents an additional hazard if gasoline is carried in your car's trunk. The impact can produce sparks from sources such as shorted wires and even static electricity.

Northmen Hold Off Hibbing Quint 85-74

Northland community college closed out its 1973-74 regular season basketball schedule by holding off a stubborn Hibbing team 85-74 before a large Saturday afternoon home town crowd.

Coach Chet Engelman's Northmen wrapped up their regular season with a gaudy 18-4 record and will rank among the favorites when the 1974 Minnesota community college athletic association (MCCAA) state tournament begins Thursday at North Hennepin community college in the Twin Cities suburb of Brooklyn Center. Northland, the Northwest Division champion, will play Vermillion, the Northeast Division second place team, in the tournament's first round Thursday at 7 p.m.

Northland and Hibbing played on even terms throughout Saturday's slow moving first half when it became readily apparent the final score wouldn't come close to matching a wild 124-119 Northland-Hibbing affair a week ago.

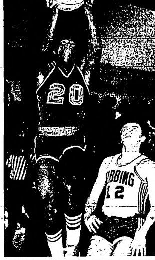
The lead changed hands ten times and the game was tied on four other occasions in the closely matched first half. Northland's biggest first half lead was a six point margin and Hibbing once owned a four point edge before the Northmen posted a 38-34 halftime advantage.

Northland's fast breaking offense quickly expanded the hosts' lead to 51-37 just four and one-half minutes into a suddenly fast-paced second half. Northland coasted to 17 point leads three times before the scrappy Hibbing quint shaved a 71-56 deficit to just 75-72 with 2:01 remaining.

The Cardinals trailed 75-62 with 4:03 left when Hibbing startled the crowd by scoring ten straight points in 1:46. Fast break lay-ups by Hibbing guards Louis Janezich and Tom Gornick, a short jump shot by Greg Kuznia, who preped locally at Stephen, and two fast break buckets by forward Roland Thornton made up the Cardinal scoring spurt as the Northmen suffered through a ragged two minute span.

Northland reversed itself, however, and scored ten straight points of its own to record the win. A pair of free throws by Ralph Fitts finally ended the Hibbing scoring domination and ignited the Northman spurt by putting Northland in front 77-72 with 1:56 remaining.

Northland center Burnie Stephens, who scored a game high 24 points, slipped inside for an easy lay-up to continue the Northman scoring and he was followed by a pair of David Dickey free throws and Tom Kays tossed in a fast break bucket. Dickey capped off his normal outstanding 15 assist game with a fast break short jump shot for an 85-72 Northland cushion with only 39 seconds left.



FRESHMAN GUARD Joe Brown of Northland sailed past flat-footed Hibbing defender Louis Janezich for an easy lay-up during Saturday's MCCAA basketball game played in the Northland gym. The Northmen defeated the visiting Cardinals 85-74 and will carry an impressive 18-4 season record into this week's MCCAA state tournament in the Twin Cities.

Weekly HEALTH TIP

The beginning of a migraine headache is marked by a sudden drop in the blood levels of serotonin, a naturally occurring body chemical. Migraine pain can be relieved by injecting serotonin into an artery in the neck, states Dr. James W. Lance of Australia. This prompt relief from migraine headache is welcome news for many doctors whose patients are so afflicted.

Girl's Sports Conference Is Formed In Area

Seven northwestern Minnesota schools have combined to form a new girl's athletic conference, it was announced last week.

Goodridge, Plummer, Clearbrook, Gonvick, Mentor, Erskine and McIntosh will form the Clearwater Conference for the 1974-75 school year.

Karen Peterson of Goodridge was elected president of the new conference that will compete in basketball and volleyball, with post season tournaments planned for both sports.

Concordia Is Awarded $47,000 Exxon Grant

Concordia college has been awarded a $47,000 grant from the Exxon Education Foundation for the development of an information system that will provide assessment of the efficiency and productivity of college operations.

The program will enable Concordia to initiate a more rigorous program of cost controls by evaluating major college management units, according to Dr. Loren Anderson, director of institutional research at Concordia College.

Actions aimed at strengthening the management process will include further analysis of the curriculum development, instructional cost-productivity studies, a computerized faculty-data system, and the effects of the academic program on student's attitudes.

In implementing the program, Concordia will employ a fully automated accounting system to replace manual handling of financial data. Administrative leaders of the college will work jointly with the consulting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. in designing and implementing the system.

In addition to equipment decisions, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. consultants will identify output measures for college management functions in offices of admissions and financial aids, development, and student services.

As the output measures are identified, the design of the management information system will be coordinated with the implementation of a computerized finaneil system.

As a result, required computer programs will be developed and tested, and prepared management reports will be evaluated by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, and Co. and Concordia administrative leaders.

The management information system, to be completed in a twelve-month period, will also be used in cost-comparison studies with other American Lutheran Church Colleges.

New Tire Rating System Planned

New helps for consumers purchasing ties and new cars will go into effect next September, under a regulation announced by the national highway traffic safety administration.

New tires for 13, 14 and 15-inch rims, including those on new cars, will be graded for quality in the areas of tread wear, traction and high-speed performance, and the grades will be molded into each tire, indicating the quality of the tire in each area as a percentage of the performance of a control tire.

For example, a tire will be graded as 60 per cent to 200 per cent of the quality of the standard control tire as to tread wear. It will be labeled 90, 105 or 120 per cent of the standard as to traction, and it will be rated A, B or C from highest to the minimum for performance at high speeds.

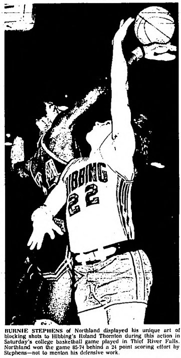
NORTHLAND CENTER Burnie Stephens jumped between a pair of Hibbing defenders to pull down this rebound during Saturday afternoon's MCCAA basketball game played in the Northland gym. Hibbing's Wade Olson (left) and Bob Eggers (44) couldn't stop Stephens on the play. Northland won the game 85-74 to finish the 1973-74 regular season with an 18-4 record. Northland will play Vermillion in the first round of the MCCAA state tournament in the Twin Cities Thursday.



BURNIE STEPHENS of Northland displayed his unique art of blocking shots to Hibbing's Roland Thornton during this action in Saturday's college basketball game played in Thief River Falls. Northland won the game 85-74 behind a 24 point scoring effort by Stephens—not to menton his defensive work.

Sub District 32 Basketball Play Starts Tuesday

Sub district 32 basketball tournament action starts tomorrow (Tuesday) with the west half competition scheduled to be played at Hallock and the east half games slated for Roseau.

Three east sub district games planned for tomorrow will find Newfolden playing Warroad at 5:30 p.m.; Greenbush goes against Middle River at 7; and Badger takes on Baudette at 8:30.

The second round east sub district games will be played Thursday with the Newfolden-Warroad winner meeting the Greenbush-Middle River winner at 7 and the Baudette-Badger winner facing top seeded Roseau at 8:30.

The east consolation and championship games will be played Friday at 7 and 8:30. The top four east sub district teams will advance to the district 32 tournament scheduled to be played March 4-8.

First round west sub district 32 play Tuesday will find Lancaster facing Strandquist at 7 while Humbolt plays Hallock at 8:30.

Thursday's second round west action finds the Lancaster-Strandquist winner taking on Stephen at 7 with the Humbolt-Hallock winner playing Karlstad at 8:30.

The sest championship game will be played Friday at 8 p.m. with the top two west teams joining already seeded Kennedy and Argyle in the district 32 tournament. Site of the district 32 games will be determined later.

Newfolden Topples Gonvick Quint 63-53

Newfolden finished its 1973-74 regular season basketball schedule on a winning note Friday as the Nordics defeated Gonvick 63-53 in non conference action at Gonvick.

The win left the Nordics with a 13-5 regular season record heading into Tuesday's first round east sub district 32 tournament play at Roseau. Newfolden will play Warroad at 5:30 p.m. in the tournament's first game.

Newfolden held a slim 20-18 first quarter edge against the strong Bulldogs before the Nordics outscored Gonvick 17-9 in the second quarter to take a 37-29 halftime lead. Newfolden led 48-38 going into the final eight minutes.

Senior Gary Kujanson paced the Newfolden efforts with 21 points and eight assists while center Dave Strandquist scored 12 points and pulled down 12 rebounds. Dan Magner also reached double figures for the Nordics with 11 points. High scoring Dick Watne was the only Gonvick scorer in double figures with 22 points - still seven points before his season average.

Newfolden shot 41 per cent from the field as the Nordics hit 25 of 61 attempts. Gonvick made 24 of 76 field goal tries for only 32 per cent. Newfolden made 13 of 20 free throw attempts while Gonvick sank only five of 12 gift tosses.

The Marshall County Central varsity, coached by Dave Kragness who has also been handling the varsity lately with head coach Ron Ueland sidelined by the flue, finished its season with a 15-5 record.

NCC Six Sweep Weekend Series

Northland community college hockey team completed its 1973-74 regular season schedule in impressive style over the weekend as the Northmen swept a two game MCCAA hockey conference series from Rainy River in International Falls.

Coach Swede Lund's Northmen won Friday night's series opener 5-3 before Northland recorded its first shutout in its' four year history by blanking the Voyageurs 5-0 Saturday.

The weekend sweep enabled Northland to reach the .500 plateau for the season at 11-11 following a Northland two game sweep over Lakewood a week earlier. The four straight season ending conference wins provided Northland with a solid fourth place finish in the final league standings with a 10-8 conference record.

Northland will host the 1974 Minnesota community college athletic association (MCCAA) state tournament Thursday and Friday in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

The top four teams in the final MCCAA standings, Mesabi of Virginia, Itasca of Grand Rapids, Hibbing and Northland will be taking part in the state tournament. First round tournament games Thursday will send Northland against Mesabi while Hibbing tackles Itasca. The consolation and championship games will be played Friday.

Five different players scored in Northland's Friday night 5-3 win over the last place Voyageurs.

Northland opened up a 3-0 first period lead and skated to a 5-0 cushion after two periods before Rainy River scored three unanswered third period goals.

Freshman Dick Penning began the scoring with an unassisted goal nine minutes into the game. Al Eisenzimmer made it 2-0 on assists from Jon Jensen and Arlan Tvelt with only 3:22 remaining before Rob Eisenzimmer scored on an assist from Al Eisenzimmer just 27 seconds later for a 3-0 margin.

Northland's second period offense was supplied by Pete Jerome on assits from Mike Drury and Penning with 14:27 left and from Tony Demarais with help from Jensen and Mike Protz three minutes later.

Northland freshman goalie Pete Sullivan kicked out 31 shots in the game with period saves of 11-10-10. Rainy River's Jeff Judd was kept busy with 39 shots on period totals of 9-15-15.

Northland goalies Craig Carter and Gordon Landin, both sophomores, combined to record the first Northman shutout in history as Northland skated past the Voyageurs 6-0 Saturday.

Carter started the game and worked the first period and part of the second before giving way to Landin. Carter stopped 10 shots and Landin 13 for a Northland game total of 23. Meanwhile, Judd was peppered with 48 shots on period totals of 19-16-13.

Demarais and Randy Schmitz each scored twice for the Northmen and Al Eisenzimmer scored a single goal as Northland skated to period leads of 2-0 and 3-0.

Demarias scored on an assist from Jensen and Schmitz just two minutes into the game and Al Eisenzimmer scored with help from Rob Eisenzimmer and Jerome four minutes later.

Demarais scored the only goal of the second period on an assit from Schmitz with 15:44 remaining before Schmitz tallied twice in the third period—on an assist from Demarais with 12:23 remaining and on an assist from Jensen with only 14 seconds left.

Tonight's (Monday) region eight tournament semi-final games are a hockey fans' dream come true with the scheduled Bemidji-Roseau and Thief River Falls-Warroad tussels promising to be one of the finest one-two sports spectaculars played in Thief River Falls.

All four teams are championship caliber squads playing at the peak of their game. Thief River Falls, Roseau and Warroad all looked impressive in opening round wins as the Prowlers hammered Moorhead 10-2, Roseau clobbered Crookston 10-1 and Warroad rallied to beat a potential champion East Grand Forks squad 7-6.

Prior to the start of the region tournament most observers felt Bemidji was nearly unstoppable as the Lumberjacks sought their third straight state tournament trip. However, following Bemidji's 3-1 struggle past a good Hallock squad Friday, many people feel the Lumberjacks can be had—although Bemidji still rates as a prime title contender.

"Just because Bemidji's the defending champion it doesn't give them another title automatically," said Thief River Falls coach Bill McGann. "Bemidji's got a fine team, but with a few breaks Hallock could have beaten them."

Tournament fever should reach a frenzied peak sometime tonight with fans being treated to a great night of athletic entertainment.

The Bob Tuff led Warroad Lakers won the Canadian Central Hockey League regular season championship and are now preparing for post season play-off activity.

The Lakers fashioned an 18-5-1 record for 37 points in league play to easily outdistance second place St. Boniface with a 13-10-1 mark for 27 points.

Warroad boasted the league's three highest scorers with Harry Bueckert winning the individual scoring crown with 28 goals and 36 assists for 64 points, followed by Bill Christian with 22 goals and 37 assists for 59 points and Tuff with 20 goals and 26 assists for 46 points. Bueckert and Christian played in 24 games and Tuff played in 22.

Heading into the weekend's scheduled competition in the fifth annual world series of snowmobile racing at Eagle River, Wisconsin, Arctic Cat's Larry Coltom of Thief River Falls ranked third in the SnoPro individual point race.

Stan Hayes of Cranden, Wisconsin, held down first place with 1,053 points on his Polaris; followed by Larry Rugland of Roseau on a Polaris with 910 points; and Coltom with 692.

Charlie Lofton and Dave Thompson of Thief River Falls were also among the top ten point scorers with 369 and 256 respectively for eighth and tenth place.

The three Team Arctic drivers rank among the individual class leaders as well. Coltom ranks third in the SnoPro 440 class with 337 points, trailing first place Ed Schubitzkie on a Yamaha with 426, and fifth in the Sno Pro 340 with 133 points, behind first place Hayes with 562. Thompson was fourth in the 340 with 154 points and Lofton was fifth in the SnoPro 650 with 187 points, trailing Hayes' leading point total of 491.

Sub District 31 Basketball Tourney Opens Here Tuesday

A busy three game slate is scheduled tomorrow (Tuesday) as Thief River Falls hosts the 1974 sub district 31 basketball tournament in the Lincoln high school gym.

Tuesday's first round sub district pairings will find Red Lake Falls playing Alvarado at 5:30, Goodridge and Climax will collide at 7 and Plummer takes on Oslo at 8:30.

Following a Wednesday night break, the tournament will resume Thursday with the Alvarado-Red Lake Falls winner playing the Goodridge-Climax winner at 7 while the Plummer-Oslo winner tackles top seeded Fisher at 8:30.

The sub district meet will conclude Friday with the consolation game between the two Thursday night losers scheduled to start at 7 and the championship game between the Thursday night winners slated for 8:30.

The top four sub district teams (Tuesday night's winners plus Fisher) will advance to the district 31 tournament scheduled to be held March 4-8 at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse in Grand Forks.

The sub district pairings were drawn up in accord with the final regular season Polar Conference standings. Alvarado and Fisher tied for the 1973-74 league title with identical 11-1 records, but Fisher won a special coin flip for the top seed. Goodridge finished third in the standings with an 8-4 record, followed by Plummer 6-6, Oslo 3-7, Climax 1-8 and Red Lake Falls 1-10.

Alvarado fashioned the best overall record with a 16-2 regular season ledger with Fisher checking in at 15-3. Goodridge and Plummer were both 9-9, Oslo 5-13, Red Lake Falls 3-14 and Red Lake Falls 1-15.

Climax is the defending sub district champion, but Alvarado and Fisher are heavy favorites to advance through the tournament into a championship game clash this week. The two small school powers split their regular season two game series.

Fisher and Alvarado possess the sub district's top two individual performers in Steve Kummer and Gary Boman. Both starry players are juniors with Fisher's 6-1 Kummer wining the 1973-74 Polar Conference individual scoring crown with a 20.1 average, followed ever so closely by Alvardo's 6-2 Boman with an even 20 point figure.

Region Eight Semi-Finals Scheduled Tonight In TRF

Well over 3,000 northwestern Minnesota hockey fans are expected to fill every corner of the Thief River Falls sports arena tonight (Monday) to watch what is expected to be a pair of heart pounding region eight hockey tournament semi-final games.

Thief River Falls, Bemidji, Roseau and Warroad all advanced into tonight's eagerly awaited semi-finals following first round weekend wins in which Bemidji got by a strong Hallock team 3-1, Thief River Falls riddled Moorhead 10-2, Warroad outlasted East Grand Forks 7-6 and Roseau blitzed Crookston 10-1.

Games on tap tonight will match defending region champion Bemidji against explosive Roseau at 7 o'clock, followed by a Thief River Falls-Warroad confrontation at 9.

Both games are expected to be fought down to the final horn on even terms with the region's elite boasting more competitive balance than ever before.

"Wow, it should be a heck of a pair of semi-final games," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Bill McGann, with Dick Roberts of Warroad, Chuck Grillo of Bemidji and Terry Abram of Roseau all thinking along the same lines.

Bemidji, currently sporting a 14-4-1 record, prides itself on defense - in sharp contrast to the offensive minded Rams who have skated to an eye-catching 15-3-1 record this winter. Bemidji claimed the only regular season meeting between the two teams by a 5-3 margin.

Thief River Falls, currently 12-7, and Warroad, 11-9, will throw their similar high powered offenses at each other and try to out-gun one another. The Prowlers and Warriors split their regular season series with both teams claiming home ice wins. Thief River Falls outclassed Warroad 11-3 in their first meeting, but the Warriors dominated the Prowlers to win the latest match-up 5-1 just two weeks ago.

Chuck Grillo

"We're looking forward to playing them (Warroad) again," said McGann. "We feel we've got to redeem ourselves after out last game up there."

Warroad's explosvie offense centers around seniors Jack Ganyo and Gordon Olson. When the Prowlers and Warriors met earlier this season Ganyo played center and Olson was a defenseman. Roberts switched the two stellar performers around during the season and the combination has clicked to near perfection with Ganyo's deft stickhandling setting up Olson's bull-like rushes.

McGann was extremely pleased with his team's first round performance in the Prowlers' 10-2 romp over Moorhead. "I thought we really played well, the whole team really moved the puck well. It was a good overall team effort - a real good first game for us."

Thief River Falls' power play, not considered a Prowler strong point during the season, was devastating Saturday as Thief River Falls rattled off six power play goals. "I think we're rolling now," McGann said. "It's a real good feeling heading into the semi-finals, the kids are keyed up - so enthusiastic they're bubbling with excitement and I am too. That first game win gave us the confidence we needed, it finally broke that first game jinx."

Tonight's first game will be a rematch of last year's exciting region eight championship game when the heavily favored Lumberjacks just got by the then sophomore dominated Rams 5-4.

The last time Thief River Falls and Warroad met in a region eight tournament encounter was in 1970 when the Warriors blanked the Prowlers 8-0 in a semi-final game.

Tickets for tonight's semi-finals are being sold today from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the athletic director's office at Lincoln high school. There will be 700 tickets available for the purchase at the arena ticket counter, but they're expected to go fast with the arena doors opening at 6 p.m.

TRF Claims 10-2 1st Round Region 8 Win

Defenseman Tony Dorn scored four goals Saturday to spark Thief River Falls to a one-sided 10-2 first round region eight hockey triumph over Moorhead in the sports arena.

The expected, but still satisfying win against the outclassed Spuds snapped a frustrating Thief River Falls first round tournament hex in recent years as the Prowlers notched their first region tournament victory since 1971 when Thief River Falls dumped Moorhead 10-1.

Dorn scored the first Thief River Falls goal in each period, scoring twice in the middle stanza, as the Prowlers opened up period leads of 3-0 and 7-1 over the Moorhead squad they beat 14-2 during the regular season.

Mike Onkka, another Prowler defenseman, scored two goals in the game while single markers were added by Scott Reed, Pete Hess, Jeff Tunberg and Mike Froehle. Tim Engelstad also turned in a productive night with four assists.

A booming slap shot from the right point by Dorn opened the game's scoring as the power play blast cleanly beat Moorhead goalie Randy Flick with 12:31 remaining.

Flick helped stake the Prowlers to a 2-0 lead when he accidently swatted in a centering pass by Reed. Flick took a swipe at the puck to clear it away from the goal mouth, but caught just a piece of the rubber and sent it into the net with 10:04 left.

A sizzling straight away Onkka slap shot sailed past Flick with 6:51 remaining for a 3-0 Prowler edge.

Although the arena scoreboard stopped working when the score reached 3-0 the Prowlers didn't, accumulating no less than six power play goals.

Dorn made it 4-0 on a pretty give and go power play arrangement with Scott Engelstad 4:49 into the middle stanza.

Just 23 seconds later Hess scored from close range for a 5-0 contest with 9:48 left.

A quick 20 foot slap shot by Tunberg right from a face off on another Prowler power play increased the margin to 6-0 with 7:07 to play.

A minute later the difference mounted to 7-0 when Dorn scored his hat trick goal on a hard ten foot wrist shot while on the move.

Onkka wrapped up the second period scoring when his hard slap shot sailed out of nowhere and slipped just under the top of the goal pipe with 4:17 remaining for a 7-1 game.

Dorn and Onkka both added third period power play goals for a 9-2 margin before Froehle scored a much deserved power play marker with 1:25 left to play. Froehle slipped a close range rebound past Moorhead goalie Dana Carlson with 1:25 remaining for his first goal since a disabling non-athletic arm injury stripped most of the season away from the senior wing.

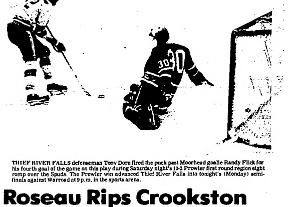
HALLOCK GOALIE Kim Turner stopped this close range uncontested shot by Bemidji wing Dan Dow during Friday night's first round region eight hockey game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Turner turned in an outstanding game for the Bears, but the defending region champion Lumberjacks posted a hard earned 3-1 win.



THIEF RIVER FALLS defenseman Tony Dorn fired the puck past Moorhead goalie Randy Flick for his fourth goal of the game on this play during Saturday night's 10-2 Prowler first round region eight romp over the Spuds. The Prowler win advanced Thief River Falls into tonight's (Monday) semi-finals against Warroad at 9 p.m. in the sports arena.

Roseau Rips Crookston 10-1 In Region Hockey

Eight different Roseau players scored Friday as the Rams skated to a decisive 10-1 first round region eight hockey tournament triumph over undermanned Crookston in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Roseau's Kris Skrutvold scored two goals before the game was a minute old to set the stage for the one-sided contest as the Rams opened up a 5-1 first period lead, coasted to a 6-1 advantage after two periods and punded in four unanswered third period markers.

Skrutvold and starry Bruce Olson, who scored once and picked up three assists, combined for the first two rapid fire Roseau goals as Skrutvold rammed close range shots past Crookston goalie Jim Froeber at 29 and 38 seconds.

Norell Nelson, Olson and Mike Burggraf followed Skrutvold's scoring efforts in order for a 5-0 lead before Crookston's touted sophomore Mike Whalen spoiled Roseau goalie Tim Erickson's shutout bid by scoring with only five seconds remaining in the first period.

Roseau's Jack Lundbohm scored the only goal of the second period for a 6-1 difference.

Third period goals by Deland Broten, Doug Ammerman, Dave Grafstrom and Burggraf concluded the scoring in the then near deserted sports arena. The final period goals by Ammerman and Grafstrom were scored just three seconds apart.

Roseau's game domination was revealed in the final goalie saves as the Rams peppered Froeber with 36 shots while Erickson was tested only 12 times.

Goodridge Ends Regular Season With 72-52 Loss To Bobcats

Goodridge finished its 1973-74 regular season basketball schedule on a disappointing note Friday as the Huskies dropped a 72-52 non-conference decision to Oklee on the Bobcats' home court.

The loss left coach Mike Borgman's Huskies with a 9-9 season record heading into the sub district 31 tournament tomorrow (Tuesday) where Goodridge will play Climax in a 7 p.m. first round game.

Goodridge and Oklee played to a 10-10 first quarter tie before the Bobcats squeezed out a 26-24 halftime lead. Goodridge suffered through a cold shooting third quarter as the Bobcats moved out to a 46-34 cushion after three periods.

Goodridge shot 39 per cent in the physically played game, while making only 10 of 23 free throw attempts. Oklee sank 18 of 28 gift tosses. Oklee held a slim 37-35 rebound advantage.

Prowlers Clinch Top Seed By Beating Warren 57-42

Coach Lee Swanson's Lincoln high school basketball team defeated Warren 57-42 Friday night to assure the Prowlers the advantageous number one seed in the upcoming 1974 district 31 basketball tournament.

The Prowler win over the Ponies, coupled with East Grand Forks' 62-60 Friday night upset win over Crookston, will give Thief River Falls the top draw in the district tournament since the Prowlers finished their regular season district 31 competition with only one loss against a district opponent while Crookston and East Grand Forks both lost a pair of games to district foes.

Thief River Falls will close out its 1973-74 regular season schedule Saturday when the Prowlers host Moorhead in the Lincoln high school gym. The district tournament will be played March 4-8 at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse in Grand Forks.

Warren, beaten 57-38 by Thief River Falls two weeks ago, outplayed the sluggish Prowlers at the start of the game in the Warren auditorium as the Ponies raced to a surprising 12-4 lead.

Thief River Falls still trailed 16-10 at the first quarter break as Warren limited the much taller Prowlers to a single filed goal in the first eight minutes. Center Wayne Peterson scored the only Prowler two pointer in the opening period with his four free throws and four more gift tosses by Dallas Kemmer accounting for the ten Prowler points.

"You can't win a basketball game by standing around and not being enthusiastic and aggressive," snapped Swanson about the early Thief River Falls effort. "We had a terrible attitude going into the game. We've got to learn that we're not going to win by just showing up on time."

Duane Dicken finally snapped the lethargic Prowler performance with four consecutive second quarter jump shots to spark Thief River Falls to a 30-24 halftime lead.

The Prowlers played close to their potential in the third quarter to outscore the fading Ponies 13-6 enroute to a 43-30 cushion at the third quarter stop.

Peterson and Kemmer paced the Prowlers to their win with 16 and 14 points respectively as Thief River Falls increased its season record to 12-5. Steve Goodwin led the Warren scoring with 14 points.

Thief River Falls shot 41 per cent from the field for the game as the Prowlers made 20 of 46 attempts. Warren shot only 30 per cent on just 13 of 40 attempts. The Ponies made only four field goals in the entire second half. From the free throw line Thief River Falls sank 17 of 19 tries while Warren connected on only 16 of 25 gift tosses. Thief River Falls held a slim 29-23 rebound advantage with Peterson pulling down ten caroms.

Warroad Rally Outlasts EGF 7-6 In Region Play

Warroad rallied from a 4-0 first period deficit to beat East Grand Forks 7-6 Saturday in an exciting climax to the first round of the 1974 region eight hockey tournament being played in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

Swarming around the Warroad net like angry bees, the offense obsessed Green Wave peppered 17 first period shots at the Warroad net, missed the net at least that many times more and raced to a 4-0 lead.

Starry sophomore Randy Derrick set the stage for the wild game by beating Warrior netminder Jim Frolander on the first shot of the game with just 17 seconds elapsed.

Tim Pesch, Bruce Greenwood and Manny Hernandez all added first period East Grand Forks goals as the swift skating Green Wave completely dominated the game's first 15 minutes.

Just as suddenly the game's momentum took a drastic change in Warroad's favor at the start of the second period when Warrior standout Gordon Olson scored twice in 44 seconds as the Green Wave, hurrying down the ice in their break-out patterns left themselves vulnerable to the Warroad rush. Olson scored on a clean breakaway just 31 seconds into the middle stanza and moments later he converted a two on one Warroad rush to slice the difference to only 4-2.

Warroad's lightning quick rally shaved the East Grand Forks lead to only 4-3 when Ray Horner scored from a big scramble in front of Green Wave goalie Randy Gust with 12:43 remaining - only five seconds after Olson's second goal.

The unbelievable Warroad comeback tied the game less than a minute later when the Warriors notched their fourth goal in a three minute span - a close range rebound shot by Ron Johnson - with 11:58 left.

The pulsating action leveled off even terms after Johnson's tying goal until Warroad's Milt Taylor scored on a power play two on one Warrior rush with 3:48 remaining in the Warroad dominated second period.

East Grand Forks scored the final goal of the middle session, however, as Greenwood converted a three on one Green Wave rush with only 59 seconds remaining to send the game into a deciding third period knotted at 5-5.

Warroad gained a 6-5 advantage four minutes into the final stanza when Olson scored his third goal of the game on another two on one Warrior rush.

Taylor scored what proved to be the game's winning goal with 4:35 left when his long wrist shot sailed past Gust's outstretched leg for a 7-5 Warroad lead.

East Grand Forks pulled its goalie in the game's final minute and scored on a two skater advantage in the last seconds as Warroad skated off a penalty. Pesch scored directly from a face-off near the Warroad net with only 12 seconds remaining to account for the 7-6 finale.

First Period

Scoring — EGF, Derrick unassisted, :17. EGF, Pesch assisted by Hernandez, 6:40. EGF, Greenwood assisted by Pesch and Weber, 11:56. EGF, Hernandez unassisted, 13:25.

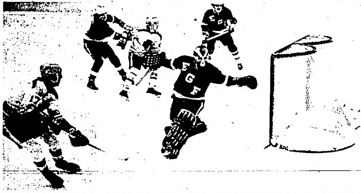
WARROAD SENIOR Ron Johnson stickhandled the puck past East Grand Forks goalie Randy Gust for a second period goal during Saturday night's exciting first round region eight game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. The puck is just crossing the goal line on the play for a momentary 5-4 Warroad lead. The Warriors went on to capture a thrilling 7-6 win.

To insure highest quality medical care, the Veterans Administration follows a policy of affiliating outpatient clinics with medical schools the same as has been the practice with its hospitals since World War II.



EAST GRAND FORKS goalie Randy Gust covered a lot of area with his spread-eagle style on this play, but not quite enough, as Warroad's Gordon Olson (17) scored what proved to be the winning goal with 4:35 remaining in Saturday night's exciting first round region eight game played in the Thief River Falls sports arena. Olson scored a pair of third period goals in 44 seconds to pace the Warriors to a thrilling 7-6 win over the Green Wave.

TRF's Williams And Borning Meet State Swimming Meet Standards

Thief River Falls will be represented in the state swimming meet for the first time in history this weekend with the Prowlers' Doug Williams and Dave Borning both meeting state meet qualifying times during Saturday's first ever state qualifying North Central region swim meet held at Fergus Falls.

Williams, a senior, will be competing in two events in the state meet scheduled to be held Friday and Saturday in the University of Minnesota's Cooke Hall pool. Williams surpassed state qualifying times in the preliminary 50 and 100 yard freestyle region races, swimming a 23.4 in the 50 and 51.7 in the 100. State qualifying times were 23.6 and 52.0. Both performances by Williams established new Prowler school record times.

Borning, a junior, gained a state meet berth by exactly matching the 23.6 barrier in the 50 during preliminary action. Borning was just a tenth of a second off the 52.0 figure for the 100.

As expected, Hutchinson won the North Central team title with 195½ points, followed by Brainerd with 190, Fergus Falls 171, Willmar 141 and Thief River Falls 125½.

"I'm really happy with our performance," reported Prowler swim coach John Kopari. "We set four new school records and everybody did real well. The kids are still battling the flu, too, otherwise we could have evened finished as high as fourth."

Dave Borning

St. Cloud Apollo finished behind the Prowlers in the final team standings with 87½ points, followed by Moorhead with 80, St. Cloud Tech 69½, Cold Spring-Rocori 47, Melrose 35 and Bemidji with 23 points placed 11th. A total of 18 teams took part in the two day affair that was climaxed by Saturday night's finals.

Thief River Falls' top performances in the finals included a pair of second places by Williams in the 50 and 100 freestyle races. Joel Schwartz of Hutchinson won both events in 23.3 and 51.9, followed by Williams' times of 23.5 and 52.0.

Borning placed third in both the 50 and 100, turning in times of 23.6 and 52.7.

The Prowler 200 yard medley relay team of Neil Sjulson, Jeff Carter, Williams and Borning placed third in the finals with a school record 1:49.4 effort. Fergus Falls won the event in 1:49.0.

The other Thief River Falls places finish in the finals was a fourth place effort by Dan Cork in the 100 yard backstroke in 1:05.4. Steve Bergland of Fergus Falls won the event in 1:00.1.

The rest of the Thief River Falls points were accumulated in consolation races where Prowler swimmers placed first in two events. Cork was the top consolation swimmer in the 200 yard freestyle in 2:01.4 and the Prowler 400 yard freestyle relay team of Sjulson, Brian Phelps, Dan Heieren and Cork won the consolation race in 3:49.2. Hutchinson won the 400 relay event in 3:33.6 and John Habben of Willmar won the 200 yard freestyle in 1:58. Phelps and Heieren had eighth and ninth place finishes respectively in the 200 consolation race after failing to make the finals during preliminary races.

Phelps also placed second in the 100 yard butterfly consolation race. Kevin Ortenblad of Willmar won the event in 56.5.

Heieren placed second and Wayne Ortloff was fourth in the 500 yard freestyle consolation race. Heieren set a new Prowler school record in the event with a 5:38.5. Habben won the race in 5:26.2.

Carter finished sixth in the 100 yard breaststroke consolation race - an event won by Kevin Anderson of Brainerd in 1:08.5.

Rounding out the North Central region individual winners were Lydell Jacobson of Moorhead with a 2:11.9 in the individual medley and Dan Dahl of St. Cloud Tech in the diving competition.

Bemidji Hard Pressed To Beat Stubborn Hallock 3-1

Scrappy Hallock gave defending champion Bemidji more than a few anxious moments Friday before the strong Lumberjacks rallied to post a hard earned 3-1 first round region eight hockey tournament win in the Thief River Falls sports arena.

The underdog Bears played on even terms with the heavily favored Lumberjacks and nursed a 1-0 lead through nearly two full periods against the pre-tournament favorite Bemidji squad.

Senior defenseman Dave Money provided Hallock with its lone goal of the night on a partial first period breakaway. Money skated past a fallen Bemidji defenseman, managed to keep his teetering balance and steered a close range backhand past heralded Bemidji goalie Jeff Wizner with 4:05 remaining in a fast paced opening stanza.

The continuous non-stop play carried into the second period and Hallock's inspired play protected the Bears' precarious one goal lead. Just when it looked like Hallock might sneak its 1-0 advantage into a deciding third period Bemidji suddenly scored twice in 38 seconds to snap the Bears' upset dreams.

Bill Israelson finally put the Lumberjacks on the scoreboard when his long slap shot from the left point spoiled the strong play of Hallock goalie Kim Turner. Bemidji standout Randy Beck picked up the first of his three assists on the scoring play with only two minutes remaining in the middle period.

Bemidji went in front 2-1 moments later when Dick Howe capitalized on a Hallock defensive mix-up that left three Bemidji skaters standing along in front of Turner who had little chance to stop Howe's close range shot with 1:22 left.

The never-say-die Bears continued to press the Lumberjacks in the third period until Bemidji iced the game with an insurance goal 9:25 into the final canto. Howe scored his second goal of the game, during a Bemidji shorthanded situation, with a nifty bit of stickhandling past several Hallock defenders before tucking the puck past an already committed Turner from close range.

The final goalie saves were reflective of the closely played game with Turner stopping 23 shots and Wizner turning aside 21 drives.

First Period

Scoring—Hallock, Money assisted by Reff, 10:55.

Penalties—Bemidji, Dow, tripping, 1:48. Hallock, Kirk Costin, tripping, 15:00.

Saves—Bemidji, Wizner 7. Hallock, Turner 9.

Second Period

Scoring—Bemidji, Israelson assisted by Beck, 13:00. Bemidji, Howe assisted by Fairchild and Beck, 13:38.

Penalties—none.

Saves—Bemidji, Wizner 5. Hallock, Turner 4.

Third Period

Scoring—Bemidji, Howe assisted by Beck, 9:25.

Penalties—Hallock, Nordling, interference, 3:58. Bemidji, Rod Beck, tripping, 8:19. Bemidji, Webb, holding, 14:31.

Saves—Bemidji, Wizner 9, game total 21. Hallock, Turner 10, game total 23.

TRF Beats EGF 2-0 In Girl's Volleyball Play

Lincoln high school girl's volleyball team evened its 1974 record at 2-2 Thursday with a 2-1 win over visiting East Grand Forks.

The Thief River Falls junior varisty squad won its first match in four outings with a 2-0 win over East Side.

Thief River Falls was scheduled to be back in action today (Monday) with a 3:45 p.m. home match against Roseau in the National Guard armory.

A bobcat, trapped and tagged by Minnesota DNR researchers near Hill City, was shot by a hunter near Rhinelander, Wisconsin, on November 8, 1973, a distance of 208 miles from the site where it was captured.

LHS JV Cagers Defeat Warren

Lincoln high school junior varisty basketball team defeated Warren 50-39 Friday to improve the Prowler B. squad record to 11-6 for the year.

The two teams played to a 12-12 first quarter stand-off before Thief River Falls opened up a 28-21 halftime lead. The Prowler Beees jumped out to a 40-25 cushion after three quarters.

Dick Johnson paced the Thief River Falls scoring with 11 points while Brian Peterson and Dave Grothe each scored 10.

Fertile Is Region Eight Mat Champ

Pre tournament favorite Fertile advanced all eight participating wrestlers into the championship round and won four individual titles Saturday to win its first ever region eight wrestling team title.

The Falcons totaled 87½ points in the all day meet to easily outdistance second place Greenbush with 44½. Blackduck finished third with 32 points, followed by Mahnomen with 25, Bagley 24, Park Rapids 23½ and Thief River Falls 23.

For only the second time in Prowler coach Ed Krystosek's long tenture at the Lincoln high school helm, Thief River Falls will not be represented in the state wrestling tournament this weekend in Minneapolis.

Thief River Falls entered 11 wrestlers in the region meet, but advanced only one individual into the championship round where 145 pounder Bryan Steiger lost a 4-2 decision to highly regarded John Agre of Greenbush. All of the points were scored in the first period as Agre gained a takedown and nearfall and Steiger rallied for a reversal. Steiger advanced into the championship round after receiving a first round bye and then beating Loren Nastad of Fosston in a semi-final match.

Freshman Dan Hallstrom supplied Thief River Falls with a third place finish at 105 in another strong Prowler effort. Hallstrom received a first round bye and lost to Chuck Collins of Walker in the second round. Hallstrom wrestled his way back through the consolation round, however, beating Gene Stengel of Cass Lake and Burnie Brieger of Greenbush enroute to a third place finish.

Lyle Swanson at 126 and Steve Sorvig at 167 gave Thief River Falls a pair of fourth place finishes after losing first round matches.

Other Prowler region wrestlers who did not gain a final place finish included Lonnie Olson, 98, Mark Swanson, 112, Barry Newton, 119; Joe Kezar, 132, Steve Nordhagen, 155; Lee Rolland, 180; and Dave Panek, heavyweight.

Final team scores — Fertile 87½, Greenbush 44½, Blackduck 32, Mahnomen 25, Bagley 24, Park Rapids 23½, Thief River Falls 23, Walker 20, Waubun and Oklee 19½, Crookston 14 and Remer 14, Bemidji 13½, Erskine 13, East Grand Forks 10 and Fosston 1.

98 — Nestle Grimes, Blackduck, dec. Dale Bergeron, Oklee 6-1.

105 — Don Berry, Waubun, pinned Chuck Collins, Walker, 5:38.

112 — Don Bernard, Erskine, dec. Darrell Larson, Fertile, 2-0.

119 — Dave Hargeshimer, Fertile, dec. Duane Tougas, Oklee, 10-2.

126 — Terry Brown, Walker, dec. Jeff Dale, Fertile, 6-0.

132 — Don Morvig, Fertile, dec. Larry Mach, Park Rapids, 2-0.

138 — Mark Landvig, Fertile, dec. Kurt Yerbich, Blackduck, 4-2.

145 — John Agre, Greenbush, dec. Bryan Steiger, TRF, 4-2.

155 — Kevin Lindberg, Fertile, dec. Corky Hanson, Crookston, 9-2.

167 — Gary Kjos, Mahnomen, dec. Mark Broden, Fertile, 4-3.

180 — Dale Snobl, Bagley, dec. Greg Hinez, Remer, 2-0.

Hwt. — Mark Foldesi, Greenbush, dec. Jeff Kronschnabel, Fertile 1-0.
